

Something Awful Forums - Forum Archives - Something Awful Website - Buy SA Merchandise! - Shop Through SA Affiliates

 LOG IN  - Change Your Custom Title - Change a User's Custom Title - Change Your Username - Buy a Banner Ad - Register an Account - Donate to SA - Upgrade User to Platinum - Remove All Ads - Purchase Bonus Features

User Control Panel - Search the Forums - Member Directory - Private Messages - Download the SA Forums PSD tag - Calendar - Forum Rules - Dictionary/FAQ -

YOU HAVE NOT REGISTERED A SOMETHING AWFUL FORUMS ACCOUNT!

(Or you have not logged in yet. If you do have a forums account and something does not appear to be working correctly, please email forumsaccount@somethingawful.com and we'll try to get you fixed up.)

This annoying message will appear on every screen until you register an account! Please get rid of this annoying message by registering your own SA Forums Account and joining us in our putrid rollercoaster ride to hell. You're only seeing a small slice of the SA Forums, and trust me, there are a ton of other exciting forums you currently lack access to, ones full of wonder and people who enjoy the forbidden Internet fruits of pleasure (pictures of dead fat people). So do us all a favor and join us for the low, low one-time price of \$9.95! We charge money to register because it can cost us up to $2,000 per month for bandwidth bills alone, and since we don't believe in shoving popup ads down your throats, we try to make the money back through forum registrations. The SA Forums are one of the last friendly, troll-free popular communities left on the Internet, and we'd love it if you could become another honorary SA Goon. We've got over 20,000 highly active members yet maintain a strong community full of exciting and moderately psychotic people who may or may not stab you if you meet them in real life. So, in conclusion..

>>> JOIN US! <<<

The Awful Forums > Archives > Comedy Goldmine > This guy is trying to rip me off on ebay. How should I respond to his email

(4): 1 2 3 4 »

Author	Thread	Post	Reply
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003	EDIT - If you don't want to read 2000 posts, go to http://www.p-p-p-powerbook.com or http://www.bootsix.net Well, the bandwidth for www.p-p-p-powerbook.com and www.bootsix.net is up. Mirrors available: http://www.p-p-p-powerbook.com http://www.bootsix.net http://personal.stevens.edu/~achadzyn/powerbook http://easynetworknyc.com/powerbook/ http://www.hot.ee/ppppowerbook/ www.elitegaming.net/powerbook PDF ONLY http://www.gdwebmedia.com/powerbook.pdf http://chat.carleton.ca/~kfennell/thepowerbook.pdf http://www.vegaji.com/documents/thepowerbook.pdf Please help spread the word I'm selling a Apple G4 PowerBook for my friend on ebay. Here's the main part of the discription: You are bidding on my 19 day old G4 Powerbook. This was purchased for a project that fell through. When I tried to return it, I was informed of a 10 day limit for returns! Your new laptop comes with its original box, all of its documentation, all of its original accessories, and the blue tooth mouse. Laptop Details: (blah blah blah) Free Shipping yadda yadda yadda The next day I get this: Hello I am very interested in your unit. I would like to know your best price to buy it now and if you ship international. I am in London UK right now. I would also want to know the condition of

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

the unit. Please let me know I am very interested. Thank you in advance

To view the item, go to: <http://cgi.ebay.com/ws/ebayISAPI.dll?ViewItem&item=4125873654>

Thank you,
msalamon

Ok. All this shit is in the auctions discription. I respond anyways. Basically tell him yes I will ship to London, but he has to pay for it. Paste the auction info again. Buy it now is $2100

The next day, I get this little jewel of an email:

Hello,
I'm very very interested for this item and I'm ready to pay you the best price $2100+ overnight or 2 days shipping charges (UPS DHL FEDEX OR FEDEX OR PARCEL FORCE) if we will use an escrow service to handle this transaction.As for the escrow service , I am already registered with www.set-ltd.net and my uzername is the same with my email address.I will pay the express shipping and also , the escrow fee . The escrow service will release you the money as soon as I will let them know that the item passed the inspection and is 100% ok. The escrow fee is on my charge , don't worry .Please let me know if my offer is good enough for you . If it does , I will initiate the transaction with the escrow service as soon as I will have your confirmation.If is ok please register in order to make the deal and start the payment procedures.Hope that everything will be ok and close the deal in the best conditions.
Kind regards !

I don't even know how to reply! I was thinking of replying with one of the pains or something. Or maybe just FUCK OFF in 72 pt. font.

-I use 40 posts per page-

UPDATE: Ok, I've decided to play along as the helpless new ebayer who is very eager to sell him the laptop.

UPDATE: Response sent. Page 3 (Yes I'm making you read awww)

Update: Response received Not what I was expecting - reply sent- Page 4

Update: He's replied! I am to send laptop to him, and his money willgo to escrow. Page 4

Update: Another email sent including A+ + + + ebay lingo, strong digital defense, and, Hey! It looks lke I'm selling an Amanda Real Doll on that escrow site! Added- My response from Ebay after I reported him and his fake escrow site.

Added-My reply to ebay

Update: Email saying he sent it express to escrow - few hours later - ESCROW RECEIVED! WELL SHIT! BETTER SEND THAT 'OL LAPTOP ON OVER! (Page 6)

Update: The plan has been set. See page 8 for details.

Update: Pics of his new laptop on page 9

Update: Thanks to all the goons who helped raise the money to send our scammer his new laptop! Tracking Number coming within a few hours.

Update: Ringer has been sent. Tracking - <http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/track?res=846563452310>

You had better start reading from page 1. I personally guarantee you will not be dissapointed. Just check the last few posts of people who spent 2 hours only to be as hooked as we all are.

Update:

Apr 30, 2004 3:19 am

Package status

STANSTED GB

Regulatory Agency Clearance Delay

This could last a few hours, may a few days. We wil await in suspense until then.

I HAVE BAD NEWS.

The ringer was not delivered. I just called FedEx. It was never paid for. Probably because the jack ass gave me a bunk phone number.

I got transferred to the International Rep but hung up before I got to them. ☹️

CURRENT STATUS

Waiting for FedEx to SHIP THE GOD DAMN PACKAGE.

WE HAVE EMAIL RESPONSE!!!!!!RFGALEIR%LKTgoieahy53

Update:

He sent me an email saying that he called FedEx and has paid the taxes on his new p-p-p-powerbook. FedEx was told not to allow pick up (By US), so it will be delivered Monday. (So our mark says)

Skip Page 63 - The flames might burn you a little.

May 10, 2004

6:10 pm

Package status

STANSTED GB

Released for Delivery

	6:10 pm Package status STANSTED GB Package available for clearance (Commence Happy Dance)  May 11, 2004 6:51 am Arrived at FedEx Destination Location ENFIELD GB DELIVERED I've sent him another email page 74 Now . . . we wait. MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at May 16, 2004 around 01:43
Apr 23, 2004: 16:40	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
pipebomb Joined: May 12, 2001  TrueAmericanHero	Escrow is very common for expensive items. Suggest using the eBay sanctioned escrow instead.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:41	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
Morbid Florist Joined: Oct 22, 2002  This is not enough golds	I remember reading about people scamming on computer auctions by way of escrow or other middlemen, from other countries. Could I tell you any more details? No, but I DO remember reading about shit like this not too long ago.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:42	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
OhPlz Joined: Jul 25, 2001 	I think I missed the ripping off part..?
Apr 23, 2004: 16:42	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote

Jacob
Joined: Jul 14, 2002

Apr 23, 2004: 16:43

I don't think he's trying to rip you off at all. The escrow service holds his money until he recieves your product, then they release the money to you. It brings a third party into it to make sure there isn't payment without shipment or vice versa.

EDIT: Just be sure you research the escrow service if it isn't the eBay one to make sure its legitimate.

EDIT 2: After browsing the site a bit, I'm suspicious. I'd suggest a different escrow service.

Jacob fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 16:48

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameI sJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 23, 2004: 16:44

quote:

OhPlz came out of the closet to say:
I think I missed the ripping off part..?

He wants to buy it outside of ebay, with some hokey escro company.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joe
Joined: Dec 02, 2002

Sit perfectly still. Only I may dance.

Apr 23, 2004: 16:45

quote:

Morbid Florist came out of the closet to say:
I remember reading about people scamming on computer auctions by way of escrow or other middlemen, from other countries. Could I tell you any more details?
No, but I DO remember reading about shit like this not too long ago.

Me too, I remember a lot fo hoo-hah about eastern people buying computer goods on ebay and not paying for it.

Personally I would not sell to anyone who sends an e-mail like that.

EDIT: Posted in first page of legendary thread! If youa re reading this post you MUST read the rest of the thread, it's like a good novel unravelling.

Joe fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 16:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

fursmbrero
Joined: Dec 27, 2002

Apr 23, 2004: 16:46

Just wait for it to go through eBay. If it's important enough for him to buy, he can bid like everybody else.

EDIT1: or not. Holy shit $pagecount.
EDIT2: BWAHAHHAHA "IS IT BROKEN?"

fursmbrero fucked around with this message at May 11, 2004 around 16:19

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

evilweasel
Joined: Aug 24, 2002

I use the 9th amendment as my answer to everything

Apr 23, 2004: 16:46

Anyone suggesting their own, non-standard escrow service is probably ripping you off.

EDIT: Definittly a fake, look at the address for the 'verisign' link.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Grom Joined: Apr 26, 2002 	Hmmm that escrow service doesn't look very legit - check the verisign secureid link, it's just a javascript pop-up which pretends to be going to verisign's site. The actual page it displays is just http://www.set-ltd.net/VeriSign.php - or have I got the wrong end of the stick? It looks hopelessly unprofessional and doesn't seem right anyway - ask him if he will use a different escrow service. That one is either fraudulent or just plain shit.	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:46	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts
logical fallacy Joined: Mar 16, 2001 	Based on this man's English, I find it hard to believe he's from the UK. At the very least, English is not his first language. I'd tell him to use the ebay sanctioned escrow or paypal, and nothing else. Or tell him any other method he wants to use has to result with cash in your hand before you ship the laptop.	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:46	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts
fuzzi Joined: Oct 14, 2002 	when you click to verify the site is verisigned... it leads you to a page that is hosted on their site quote:To ensure that this is a legitimate VeriSign Secure Site, make sure that:The original URL of the site you are visiting comes from www.set-ltd.net.The URL of this page is https://digitalid.verisign.com.The status of the Server ID is Valid. obviously this is a bunk site and you definately shouldn't do any business through it. edit: damn beaten.	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:47	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	quote:evilweasel came out of the closet to say:Anyone suggesting their own, non-standard escrow service is probably ripping you off. That's what I'm thinking. Should I just be civil, and say no way, or be a jerk and send him something funny?	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:47	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts
Kaiju Joined: Mar 19, 2003  Putting the lotion in the basket since 1975	Heh... he's interested in your "unit".	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:48	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

FunkyBunny Joined: Apr 08, 2003 	Just sell it on ebay, I'm sure you'll find a buyer.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:48	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
HaggieMcFraggle Joined: Aug 19, 2003 	Yep, back when I was trying to buy my iBook, I got an amazing offer for a powerbook. I was skeptical, but traded emails up to the point where the guy asked to use an escrow service. I said that it was an AWESOME idea, but how about we use the sanctioned ebay one. I even offered to pay the price difference between the eBay one and the one he'd suggested. I never got another email from the guy. Moral of the story: Fuck the fucker, he's trying to steal your money.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:48	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
Starbucks Joined: Jul 07, 2002  Strong Coffee Drinking!	quote: <hr/> evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Anyone suggesting their own, non-standard escrow service is probably ripping you off. <hr/> EDIT: Definitely a fake, look at the address for the 'verisign' link. <hr/>
Apr 23, 2004: 16:49	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
OhPlz Joined: Jul 25, 2001 	Ahh, clever Verisign fake out.. I didn't even catch it. I think I'll report them now.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:49	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
darkrabbit Joined: Sep 11, 2001  I want a pony	quote: <hr/> logical fallacy came out of the closet to say: I'd tell him to use the ebay sanctioned escrow or paypal, and nothing else. Or tell him any other method he wants to use has to result with cash in your hand before you ship the laptop. <hr/> quote: <hr/> To ensure that this is a legitimate VeriSign Secure Site, make sure that: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• The original URL of the site you are visiting comes from www.set-ltd.net.• The URL of this page is https://digitalid.verisign.com. L O• The status of the Server ID is Valid. <hr/>
	darkrabbit fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 16:52

Apr 23, 2004: 16:49 Vorpal Bunny X Joined: Nov 11, 2003  If this is about my T-Shirt, I got it off a comedy Website	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote: <hr/> FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say: Just sell it on ebay, I'm sure you'll find a buyer. <hr/> Uhhhhhhhhh	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:49 Jacob Joined: Jul 14, 2002 	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts A Google search for "'set-ltd" escrow' turns up only one hit, which is not relevant. I think that's pretty odd if they're a legitimate business.	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:50 MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts I've reported him to ebay already. I looks like his ebay name is *	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:51 MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote: <hr/> FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say: Just sell it on ebay, I'm sure you'll find a buyer. <hr/> Fantastic Idea! I think I'll go list it now! Oh wai	EditQuote
Apr 23, 2004: 16:51 Nimrod "Felcher" Soames Joined: Jul 07, 2002 	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote: <hr/> Kaiju came out of the closet to say: Heh... he's interested in your "unit". <hr/> Uhuhuhuhuhuhuhh....Huhuhuhuh. Anyway, why not smoke him out - try getting him to do it with the proper eBay Escrow, and see if he accepts. If he does, you've just made a not inconsiderable amount of money, and must live with the fact that you slightly doubted this noble fellow, and if not, then you've just avoided a potential scammer [REDACTED] But I vote "Scammer"	EditQuote

Atmus Joined: Mar 08, 2002 	well if he is trying to rip you off, why not rip him off back? take pictures of the power book, and form them into a carboard prop of one you see in furniture stores. i guess that doesnt really rip him off at all though 😞
Apr 23, 2004: 16:53	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	EditQuote
Kiel Joined: May 26, 2003 	The source of the VeriSign popup: code: <pre><!DOCTYPE HTML PUBLIC "-//W3C//DTD HTML 4.0 Transitional//EN"> <!-- saved from url=(0159)https://digitalid.verisign.com/cgi-...5e81f840e06f164 --></pre> If you follow the link there, you get: quote: WWW.JWCINC.NET is a VeriSign Secure Site Security remains the primary concern of on-line consumers. The VeriSign Secure Site Program allows you to learn more about web sites you visit before you submit any confidential information. Please verify that the information below is consistent with the site you are visiting. Name WWW.JWCINC.NET Status Expired Validity Period 02-JUL-02 - 02-JUL-03 Server ID Information Country = US State = Ohio Locality = Uniontown Organization = J White Computers Inc Organizational Unit = Web Services Organizational Unit = Terms of use at www.verisign.com/rpa (c)00 Common Name = www.jwcinc.net Ohio, UK...same thing, right? Right? Avoid this guy, obviously.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:53	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote
jon3k Joined: Feb 16, 2004 	Broken english from his messages matches the broken english from this escrow service he wants to use. Neither of which are (uk) english. Its a scam, I'm 99% sure of it. Tell him you don't use escrow, and you expect full payment before you'll ship anything.
Apr 23, 2004: 16:54	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote

filo Joined: Jan 27, 2004  Apr 23, 2004: 16:54	Common Scam These Days I suggest you play his game and then in the end say something like "We have contacted the aproprate authorties and have alerted them to your activities. Have a good day." I suck at writing, but something along those lines to fuck with them. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 23, 2004: 16:54	Maybe I can just paste 1000 "yams" for a reply. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
P-niice Joined: May 21, 2001 I like big, fat, juicy booty. Apr 23, 2004: 16:54	quote: How it works After ysour auction or other form of transaction has reached the paying stage (for example, the auction has completed or you have answered an ad in the classifieds), both the buyer and seller need to agree that they will use Set-LTD.net service. The buyer sends the money for purchasing the item to Set-LTD.net (see available options here). Upon receipt of the money, Set-LTD.net contacts and notifies the seller to send the product to us. Once we receive the merchandise, Set-LTD.net will forward the item to the buyer. Then wait for the Buyer to receive and inspect the item. We send the payment on to the seller. Poor and/or "unprofessional" grammar. A litte more evidence why you shouldn't bother with this site. It sounds like it was written by a 15-year old. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Starbucks Joined: Jul 07, 2002  Strong Coffee Drinking! Apr 23, 2004: 16:55	Domain Name..... set-ltd.net Creation Date..... 2004-04-16 Registration Date.... 2004-04-16 Expiry Date..... 2005-04-16 Organisation Name.... Saral Surakul Organisation Address. 851 Foxcrest Court # A Organisation Address. Organisation Address. Terre Haute Organisation Address. 47803 Organisation Address. IN Organisation Address. UNITED STATES "Set-LTD.net is an independent escrow company based in London, UK." O rly? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Starbucks Joined: Jul 07, 2002  Strong Coffee Drinking! Apr 23, 2004: 16:59	http://www.set-ltd.net/register.php If it is a UK Company why has the register.php got US States on it, shouldn't it have UK Counties?? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote

Apr 23, 2004: 17:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: May 21, 2001

Could it be this Saral Surakul?

http://www.indstate.edu/fcs/facprof_surakul.html

Indiana State university is in Terra Haute.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Feb 27, 2004

quote:

Sputnik came out of the closet to say:

Though it's been shown a few times above, I just checked the VeriSign directory and that site's not signed up (obviously). Who would you report that to? VeriSign directly? Or could they not do anything?

They don't want scammers sullyng their good name. The entire VeriSign business is based on the simple assertion that "if the page has our logo on it, you can trust it". Report the site to VeriSign, and the seller to eBay.

As for what you should reply to him... if you can spoof emails, send him a nasty warning letter from cybercrime@fbi.gov or something

Apr 23, 2004: 17:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quinte

Joined: Apr 01, 2003

Another common feature of fake escrow is that they copy all their material from escrow.com

Example:

<http://www.set-ltd.net/solutions.php>

<https://www.escrow.com/solutions/escrow/index.asp>

Text is identical. Also, the fact that nothing I'm looking at is secure on set-ltd is funny.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:03

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Feb 08, 2003

If anyone wants to poke around I registered a fake user account:

code:

```
user: kilroy
```

```
password: kilroy
```

edit: Is anyone buying my Internet?

<http://www.set-ltd.net/trans.php?user=kilroy&sign=3687904042&tid=7517547441> acslater fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 17:11

Apr 23, 2004: 17:06

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

BonzoESCJoined: Jul 20, 2001Vehicular Manslaughter! quote:Sputnik came out of the closet to say: Though it's been shown a few times above, I just checked the VeriSign directory and that site's not signed up (obviously). Who would you report that to? VeriSign directly? Or could they not do anything? I reported it to Verisign through their handy form.	Apr 23, 2004: 17:08User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote
CapnAndyJoined: Feb 27, 2004Ninja Code Monkey quote:P-niilce came out of the closet to say: Could it be this Saral Surakul?http://www.indstate.edu/fcs/facprof_surakul.htmlIndiana State university is in Terra Haute. It's him. After checking mapquest and the ISU webpage, I found out that the given address for the web page (851 Foxcrest Court # A) is about 4 1/2 miles away from Indiana University (probably less, I was measuring to the visitor's parking lot). Maybe somebody should let ISU know what one of their professors is doing?Oh, and is anyone else having Isass flashbacks? 3/17 NEVAR FORGET!!!	Apr 23, 2004: 17:09User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote
GevaltJoined: Apr 15, 2003 Apr 23, 2004: 17:10User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote	It looks like he's using Yahoo for his webhost. Might want to let them know too.
MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 23, 2004: 17:12User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote	I think I will just put all this information you guys uncovered in an email to him.
7.62WorldOrderJoined: Apr 19, 2002 Apr 23, 2004: 17:14User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote	For someone who lives in the UK he sure has poor English skills. Sounds more like Engrish.

Diocletian Joined: Jul 04, 2003 	quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Hello I am very interested in your unit. He's only interested in your unit, man. Anyway, I would try to string him along in a series of funny e-mails..but I'm not witty or creative. 😞 Edit: god damnit, beaten like 14 replies ago. Diocletian fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 17:24
Apr 23, 2004: 17:16	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
CapnAndy Joined: Feb 27, 2004  Ninja Code Monkey	quote: 7.62WorldOrder came out of the closet to say: For someone who lives in the UK he sure has poor English skills. Sounds more like English. Read the thread, man. He teaches Interior Design at Indiana State University. Jeff, you can reach him by telephone. Check http://web.indstate.edu/fcs/facstaff.html for his name, and they've got a phone number listed there. I won't post it here, but if you want it... that's how to find the number.
Apr 23, 2004: 17:18	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	quote: CapnAndy came out of the closet to say: Read the thread, man. He teaches Interior Design at Indiana State University. Jeff, you can reach him by telephone. Check http://web.indstate.edu/fcs/facstaff.html for his name, and they've got a phone number listed there. I won't post it here, but if you want it... that's how to find the number. Thanks! I think I will contact Dr. Frederica Kramer Chairperson, Professor, Teacher Education
Apr 23, 2004: 17:20	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
kdevil II Joined: Aug 18, 2000 Forum Veteran	I think you guys are too sceptical. With a mission statement like this: "Our mission statement is: to bring a sound transaction of a seller and buyer to a quick conclusion." I think you can probably trust them.
Apr 23, 2004: 17:20	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
Sputnik Joined: Jul 21, 2003  I felt like a ninja, and my Kung-Fu was strong.	quote: kdevil II came out of the closet to say: I think you guys are too sceptical. With a mission statement like this: "Our mission statement is: to bring a sound transaction of a seller and buyer to a quick conclusion." I think you can probably trust them. ...trust him to club you with a nightstick, sodomize you and steal your wallet?
Apr 23, 2004: 17:21	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote

CapnAndy
Joined: Feb 27, 2004

Ninja Code Monkey

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

Thanks! I think I will contact
Dr. Frederica Kramer

Chairperson, Professor, Teacher Education

You think she wants an iBook too? ???

Seriously, though, go for it, and enjoy. I just love watching yet another asshole who tried to fuck the goons get speed-hacked and have his life's details laid bare. ☺

Apr 23, 2004: 17:23

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

lushka16
Joined: Apr 08, 2003

This is amazing.. in mere minutes you guys have (possibly) tracked this guy down.

Yay goons.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:24

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

inveratulo
Joined: May 14, 2002

I'm a dumbarse.. but anyway, this guy is from Thailand, that would explain his broken English.

inveratulo fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 17:29

Apr 23, 2004: 17:25

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kdevil II
Joined: Aug 18, 2000

Forum Veteran

quote:

Sputnik came out of the closet to say:

...trust him to club you with a nightstick, sodomize you and steal you wallet?

That is just silly. Look at this:

quote:

A pretty trustworthy FAQ came out of the closet to say:

Q - Is using escrow services secure for me?

A - Our past experience shows it is much more secure to use escrow when selling or buying something.

How can you question facts and experience Mr Sputnik???

Apr 23, 2004: 17:25

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

pipebomb
Joined: May 12, 2001

Apr 23, 2004: 17:25

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

FunkyBunny
Joined: Apr 08, 2003

^^^ my thoughts exactly (any sites we can archive? 😊)^^^

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

Fantastic Idea! I think I'll go list it now! Oh wai

I meant rather than dealing with this idiot and his escrow service (which now turns out to be more than fake).

The question is, should we fuck with him now?

Apr 23, 2004: 17:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

CapnAndy
Joined: Feb 27, 2004

Ninja Code Monkey

quote:

FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:

The question is, should we fuck with him now?

Ehhh, it's a minor infraction. Let Jeff have his fun, there's no need for the rest of us to jump in.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Jack Datsun
Joined: Oct 15, 2002

Apr 23, 2004: 17:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TaintSupportScOtt
Joined: Jan 12, 2001

Tastes like moms!

Apr 23, 2004: 17:30

I passionately hate scammers. I hope this fucks this asshole over.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

FunkyBunny
Joined: Apr 08, 2003

quote:

CapnAndy came out of the closet to say:
Ehhh, it's a minor infraction. Let Jeff have his fun, there's no need for the rest of us to jump in.

Fraud is a minor infraction now?

oh yeah, and

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
I think I will just put all this information you guys uncovered in an email to him.

DON'T DO IT YET! Just go along with his emails. See if he'll send you the money for shipping first, maybe you can get some cash outta this.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Inveigle
Joined: Jan 19, 2004

Apr 23, 2004: 17:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

CapnAndy
Joined: Feb 27, 2004

Ninja Code Monkey

quote:

FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:
Fraud is a minor infraction now?

Bald-faced fraud that was never that believable, with such piss-poor security that we waltzed through it in less than ten minutes? It's hardly an Isass situation. It's not minor for Jeff, which is why I'm providing him every tool of revenge I can. For the goons at large, it's a minor thing. One of our own was fucked with, we fucked back harder, game over. No need for everyone to jump in and start making threatening phone calls, is what I was trying to say.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

withak
Joined: Jan 15, 2003

quote:

CapnAndy came out of the closet to say:
It's him. After checking mapquest and the ISU webpage, I found out that the given address for the web page (851 Foxcrest Court # A) is about 4 1/2 miles away from Indiana University (probably less, I was measuring to the visitor's parking lot). Maybe somebody should let ISU know what one of their professors is doing?

Oh, and is anyone else having Isass flashbacks? 3/17 NEVAR FORGET!!!

Or the information could be fake and the professor guy could have nothing to do with it.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gevalt
Joined: Apr 15, 2003

quote:

FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:
DON'T DO IT YET! Just go along with his emails. See if he'll send you the money for shipping first, maybe you can get some cash outta this.

I don't see how he'd get any cash out of a nonexistant escrow company.

P.S. finding an abuse contact for Yahoo's webhosting is a pain. I haven't had any luck yet -- all I've found is a general non-business related yahoo abuse contact and the name/website of a hosting company in Austrailia that Yahoo farms hosting out to.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

drags
Joined: Apr 07, 2003

Mister grads at your service.

quote:

FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:

Fraud is a minor infraction now?

oh yeah, and

DON'T DO IT YET! Just go along with his emails. See if he'll send you the money for shipping first, maybe you can get some cash outta this.

No, but it's a small incident, which might not have even been perpetrated by the professor ([REDACTED]). Why not just let Jeff take care of it, and if anything comes from it, he can make us a nice e/n thread or something.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Heners_UK
Joined: Jun 01, 2002

quote:

FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:
DON'T DO IT YET! Just go along with his emails. See if he'll send you the money for shipping first, maybe you can get some cash outta this.

This is a truley shitty idea, my right honourable friend. Its dicey at best whether that itself is fraud.

Personally, just bust him.

Apr 23, 2004: 17:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003	quote: Heners_UK came out of the closet to say:This is a truley shitty idea, my right honourable friend. Its dicey at best whether that itself is fraud. Personally, just bust him.
Apr 23, 2004: 17:38	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
ThenipwaxJoined: Jun 20, 2001WHOOMP! THERE IT IS!	I say call this fucker's superiors and let them know the type of person he is. This guy deserves no mercy. [cobra kai]no mercy! no mercy! no mercy![/cobra kai]
Apr 23, 2004: 17:38	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
The_OnionJoined: Oct 01, 2003	I think you should go along with it for a while then ship the guy a jar or piss/shit or something equally horrible.
Apr 23, 2004: 17:39	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
CapnAndyJoined: Feb 27, 2004Ninja Code Monkey	quote: withak came out of the closet to say:Or the information could be fake and the professor guy could have nothing to do with it. Decent point, but if somebody did just pick a name and address out of the phone book, the guy needs to know about the identity theft. Either way him and Jeff have to have a talk.Jeff, would you mind posting the original "buyer"'s email address, so we can see what can be dug up from it?
Apr 23, 2004: 17:39	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
KTFJoined: Jun 10, 2002	Once again the power of the forums rears its head. Amazing that you have seemingly tracked this guy down...
Apr 23, 2004: 17:39	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003	quote: The_Onion came out of the closet to say:I think you should go along with it for a while then ship the guy a jar or piss/shit or something equally horrible. We have this anthrax, you die now...
Apr 23, 2004: 17:40	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote

GevaltJoined: Apr 15, 2003	Edit: Never mind, if he wants to mess with him, getting his site pulled would be counterproductive. Gevalt fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 17:49
Apr 23, 2004: 17:41User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
ChickenMediumJoined: Sep 02, 2001Forum Veteran	quote:Thenipwax came out of the closet to say: I say call this fucker's superiors and let them know the type of person he is. This guy deserves no mercy. [cobra kai]no mercy! no mercy! no mercy![/cobra kai] MERCY IS FOR THE WEAK! FEAR DOES NOT EXIST IN THIS WEBFORUM!
Apr 23, 2004: 17:45User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
Big MarkJoined: Feb 04, 2003hurry up	quote:Organization = Set LTD Inc. I think that's the first time I've seen ltd and inc in a company name.
Apr 23, 2004: 17:48User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	Here is the email I plan on sending:Well, the funniest thing just happened! It seems while signing up for you obviously trustworthy escrow site, I must have clicked the wrong link or something because the strangest thing happened!Domain Name..... set-ltd.net Creation Date..... 2004-04-16 Registration Date.... 2004-04-16 Expiry Date..... 2005-04-16 Organisation Name.... Saral Surakul Organisation Address. 851 Foxcrest Court # A Organisation Address. Organisation Address. Terre Haute Organisation Address. 47803 Organisation Address. IN Organisation Address. UNITED STATEScheck the verisign secureid link, it's just a javascript pop-up which pretends to be going to verisign's site. The actual page it displays is just http://www.set-ltd.net/VeriSign.phpHmm, I wonder how verisign will react to know that you have a fraudulent verisign secure id!"Set-LTD.net is an independent escrow company based in London, UK."You know, if I found out that you were trying to scam me. . . I . . . I don't think I know what I would do! I would just want to die.Could it be this Saral Surakul? http://www.indstate.edu/fcs/facprof_surakul.html Indiana State university is in Terra Haute!Office Location FCS 104A Telephone 812-237-3314 E-mail hesaral@isugw.indstate.edu

	Is this your boss? Dr. Frederica Kramer Chairperson, Professor, Teacher Education Telephone 812-237-3297 E-mail hekramer@isugw.indstate.edu What should I do? Anything I should add?
Apr 23, 2004: 18:00	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	EditQuote
Safrax Joined: Oct 23, 2003	^^I think you need to have more fun with this guy before giving him a textual kick to the balls.
This account paid for by General [M]ayhem
Apr 23, 2004: 18:07	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote
xtothez Joined: Jan 04, 2004	Personally I'd play along and offer to ship the Mac, get his address to confirm those details, then either report him, or ship something nasty in a laptop-shaped box. It's getting near wasp season, right?

Apr 23, 2004: 18:08	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote
karmaflux Joined: Feb 26, 2004	^^^no, you don't want to screw with him; that shit can get you in trouble.
	Send it off. See how he reacts. POST HIS RESPONSE
OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBAR$!!@$!1
Apr 23, 2004: 18:09	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote
Thanos Joined: Apr 28, 2002	I think you need to go along and get an Address of where to mail this thing before you take him down.
	^^^ Beaten 😊
You address Omnipotence. Tread Carefully.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:09	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003	quote: Safrax came out of the closet to say: ^^I think you need to have more fun with this guy before giving him a textual kick to the balls.
	too right. email saved
P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	I am writing another one to string him along. Post any ideas. I think I'll play along with the "newbie ebayer who hardly know how the internet works" thing.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:10	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	EditQuote

lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003	quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: too right. email saved I am writing another one to string him along. Post any ideas. I think I'll play along with the "newbie ebayer who hardly know how the internet works" thing.
--	---

Ask him if it's ok if you ship him a small item, just to see if the escrow service works. Mail him a fork or something.

karmaflux Joined: Feb 26, 2004  OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBAR$!!@$!1 Apr 23, 2004: 18:15	Oh god, please ask him about his strong digital defense. PLEASE User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
filo Joined: Jan 27, 2004   Apr 23, 2004: 18:15	LOLO User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
evilweasel Joined: Aug 24, 2002  I use the 9th amendment as my answer to everything Apr 23, 2004: 18:16	Jesus fucking hell, it's obvious the person who wrote that email is not from the united states. Don't fuck with whoever this professor is, it's not him, and you'll just be harrassing some innocent guy. evilweasel fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 18:21 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 23, 2004: 18:17	quote: karmaflux came out of the closet to say: Oh god, please ask him about his strong digital defense. PLEASE Next email; done, and done. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
Thanos Joined: Apr 28, 2002  You address Omnipotence. Tread Carefully. Apr 23, 2004: 18:18	quote: evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Jesus fucking hell, it's obvious the person who wrote that email is not from anyone in the united states. Don't fuck with whoever this professor is, it's not him, and you'll just be harrassing some innocent guy. Well, he needs to at least let Professor Guy know that someone is using his name to register fraudulent escrow sites. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote

FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003	quote: Thanos came out of the closet to say: Well, he needs to at least let Professor Guy know that someone is using his name to register fraudulent escrow sites. Yes, but that can wait till after on the off chance that this professor is the dumbest person alive. I mean, for all we know, he could have brought this on himself.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:22ThenipwaxJoined: Jun 20, 2001WHOOMP! THERE IT IS!	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuotequote:evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Jesus fucking hell, it's obvious the person who wrote that email is not from the united states.Yeah, cause everybody knows that everybody in the US speaks perfect english.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:23SweeneyToddJoined: May 30, 2002	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuoteIf he closes with the email listing the guy's name and his bosses' name, it will either (a) fuck with him, or (b) let him know the jig is up and that you know he's guilty of identity theft. either way, he's just sending the email to the original address; it's not like he's calling the guy.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:23evilweaselJoined: Aug 24, 2002	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuotequote:Thenipwax came out of the closet to say: Yeah, cause everybody knows that everybody in the US speaks perfect english.Professors in the United States speak better english than whoever wrote that email.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:24karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuotequote:evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Jesus fucking hell, it's obvious the person who wrote that email is not from the united states. Don't fuck with whoever this professor is, it's not him, and you'll just be harrassing some innocent guy.Yeah, hey, if you'd've paid more attention, you'd've noticed the dude is living in Terre Haute AND he's from Thailand AT THE SAME TIME. How bout that? Damnedest thing.edit:quote:evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Professors in the United States speak better english than whoever wrote that email.

	Have you been to college? I can't remember ever having a Calc teacher I could understand.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:25	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	Edit Quote
DarkLotus Joined: Sep 30, 2001 I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!	Its always nice to see the power of the forums at work. Keep up the good work. Hopefully we can get this dipshit good.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:26	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	Edit Quote
AngryLogic Joined: Feb 21, 2004 	What type of email address is this coming from? If its not a hotmail/yahoo account and he's the real professor I'll bet you can track the email headers back to that schools mail server. Even if you can't trace it back to the school if it is going through a non-free email server you can trace it back to the area of the world he's in.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:27	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	Edit Quote
CapnAndy Joined: Feb 27, 2004  Ninja Code Monkey	quote: evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Professors in the United States speak better english than whoever wrote that email.  Not ones who hail from Thailand. Read the man's profile.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:28	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	Edit Quote
evilweasel Joined: Aug 24, 2002  I use the 9th amendment as my answer to everything	quote: karmaflux came out of the closet to say: Have you been to college? I can't remember ever having a Calc teacher I could understand.  Uh yeah, I'm in college. Even professors that arn't native english speakers tend to be able to speak the language better than the writer of that email. quote:CapnAndy came out of the closet to say:Not ones who hail from Thailand. Read the man's profile. quote:Master's degree in Interior Design from Iowa State University. He's been over here for some time.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:28	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	Edit Quote

karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBARS!!@$!1	quote: evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Uh yeah, I'm in college. Even professors that arn't native english speakers tend to be able to speak the language better than the writer of that email.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:29	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003	quote: evilweasel came out of the closet to say: Professors in the United States speak better english than whoever wrote that email.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:30	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	Well, when I looked up the email address that came in on the "Question from ebay member," his ebay account returned * What's strange is his feedback - * 's feedback Left by Date S/B * (37034)) Apr-19-04 03:06 B Praise : sehr schnelle Zahlung, vielen Dank! Besuchen Sie wieder www.copro-computer.com * (1103)) Apr-10-04 01:41 B Praise : schnelle Bezahlung, gerne wieder ,danke * (1274)) All his feedback was left by him! Overall profile makeup 261 positives. 230 are from unique users. 1 neutrals. 3 negatives. 3 are from unique users Only 25 actual feedback entries are viewable. Usually these people have pages of feedback entries! Perhaps it is not our professor.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:31	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
P-niiceJoined: May 21, 2001I like big, fat, juicy booty.	quote: FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say: I disagree.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:31	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote

CapnAndy Joined: Feb 27, 2004  Ninja Code Monkey	Jeff, that makes no sense. Does he have three pieces of feedback, all left by himself, or 265? Or 25? And how does any of that make it not the professor?
Apr 23, 2004: 18:33	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	Look at this one he left for himself! * (367)) Feb-16-04 04:51 B Praise : ø¤°TOP°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°EBAYER°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°SUPER°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°FAST¤ø, ¸, ø¤°PAYMENT°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°
Apr 23, 2004: 18:33	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	quote: CapnAndy came out of the closet to say: Jeff, that makes no sense. Does he have three pieces of feedback, all left by himself, or 265? Or 25? And how does any of that make it not the professor? Well, I can always post the email address that came in as "Question from ebay member" then you all can look it up yourselves and see what I'm talking about. I can't just post a link to his feedback page for some reason. Go ebay. Anyone care to see?
Apr 23, 2004: 18:35	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
Thanos Joined: Apr 28, 2002  You address Omnipotence. Tread Carefully.	quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Look at this one he left for himself! * (367)) Feb-16-04 04:51 B Praise : ø¤°TOP°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°EBAYER°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°SUPER°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°FAST¤ø, ¸, ø¤°PAYMENT°¤ø, ¸, ø¤°
Apr 23, 2004: 18:37	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
ChlamydiaJones Joined: Sep 27, 2002 	I'm in on the university profs do not have to speak or wrie english gud bus; I've had several who I could not understand at all. Passed the classes by reading the book many many times. If you send that info to the department head you will probably rape this guy. Just be sure to tell the department head that you have also sent this to the local news station to investigate (so she can't clean it up quietly). Universities HATE it when they get their names in the paper like that. And "masters in interior design"? good god what a lame degree.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:37	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote

CapnAndy
Joined: Feb 27, 2004

Ninja Code Monkey

Apr 23, 2004: 18:38

quote:
MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
Anyone care to see?

Yeah. At least a couple people are confused right now.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Otokodate
Joined: Jan 15, 2004

All your nuts are belong to me

Apr 23, 2004: 18:39

quote:
Thenipwax came out of the closet to say:
Yeah, cause everybody knows that everybody in the US speaks perfect english.

I had a class taught by a guy from China who had a thick accent AND a lisp.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

b3t3 n0ir3
Joined: Dec 08, 2000

I AM RETARDED RETARDED
RETARDED RETARDED RETARDED

Apr 23, 2004: 18:39

quote:
evilweasel came out of the closet to say:
Professors in the United States speak better english than whoever wrote that email.

This is an out and out lie. One of my calc profs was from russia, and his second language was spanish, and then he learned english in the UK. So, he had a british accent on top of a spanish accent on top of a russian accent. You couldn't understand a SINGLE THING the guy said.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

karmaflux
Joined: Feb 26, 2004

OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH
CUCUMBAR$!!@$!1

Apr 23, 2004: 18:40

This guy?

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DarkLotus
Joined: Sep 30, 2001

I Haven't Been Fucked Like
That Since Grade School!!!

Apr 23, 2004: 18:42

quote:
karmaflux came out of the closet to say:
This guy?

That would be too easy. It can't be him. Plus the location from the auctions he was the seller of is Austin, Texas.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!Apr 23, 2004: 18:43 quote:karmaflux came out of the closet to say: This guy? No. I think ebay is just showing me his feedback, and *-ing his real username. look up scont06@yahoo.com User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
CanSpiceJoined: Jan 12, 2002GO CANUCKS GOApr 23, 2004: 18:45 quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: No. I think ebay is just showing me his feedback, and *-ing his real username. look up scont06@yahoo.com User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
CapnAndyJoined: Feb 27, 2004Ninja Code MonkeyApr 23, 2004: 18:45 quote:CanSpice came out of the closet to say: His username and the usernames in his feedback are *ed out because of European privacy laws. Ah! That makes sense. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
pipebombJoined: May 12, 2001TrueAmericanHeroApr 23, 2004: 18:47 http://cgi2.ebay.com/aw-cgi/eBayISA...userid=msalamon = scont06@yahoo.com User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote
ilovemonkeysJoined: Jun 11, 2002Apr 23, 2004: 18:47 quote:CanSpice came out of the closet to say: His username and the usernames in his feedback are *ed out because of European privacy laws. I don't think you can actually leave feedback for yourself on eBay. So I would assume the other *'s are from other users. edit : And if that is a result of European privacy laws, then I'm willing to bet the good Professor has been inadvertently dragged into this by identity theft. ilovemonkeys fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 18:50 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote

lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003	England to US to Germany. What a twisted web of lies.. or something.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:50User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote
karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBARSI!!@$!1	Yeah, the ascii wave is from a user called "fersanmur" for instance. We fuck your privacy laws here in the states.Edit: msalamon(227) * BEWERTUNGEN BITTE NICHT VERGESSEN *German goons, wtf does that mean? Something please no something?
Apr 23, 2004: 18:50User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote
ThanosJoined: Apr 28, 2002You address Omnipotence. Tread Carefully.	quote:ilovemonkeys came out of the closet to say:I don't think you can actually leave feedback for yourself on eBay. So I would assume the other *'s are from other users.Ahh. That clears up my confusion over what he said.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:51User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote
lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003	quote:karmaflux came out of the closet to say: Yeah, the ascii wave is from a user called "fersanmur" for instance. We fuck your privacy laws here in the states.Edit: msalamon(227) * BEWERTUNGEN BITTE NICHT VERGESSEN *German goons, wtf does that mean? Something please no something?EVALUATIONS REQUEST NOT FORGETTINGYay altavista.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:55User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote
FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003	^^^ yea, that makes tons of sense... ^^^quote:karmaflux came out of the closet to say: Yeah, the ascii wave is from a user called "fersanmur" for instance. We fuck your privacy laws here in the states.Edit: msalamon(227) * BEWERTUNGEN BITTE NICHT VERGESSEN *German goons, wtf does that mean? Something please no something?It means something along the lines of "bear in mind" or "not to mention"

Apr 23, 2004: 18:55	EDIT: about evalutations (forgot the bewertungen). Essentially don't forget about them. FunkyBunny fucked around with this message at Apr 23, 2004 around 18:59 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	quote: Thanos came out of the closet to say: Ahh. That clears up my confusion over what he said. Sorry about that . . I wasn't paying attention.
Apr 23, 2004: 18:55	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
AngryLogicJoined: Feb 21, 2004	quote: pipebomb came out of the closet to say: http://cgi2.ebay.com/aw-cgi/eBayISA...userid=msalamon = scont06@yahoo.com How were you able to reverse the email into an Ebay name?
Apr 23, 2004: 18:56	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
Davedave24Joined: Mar 11, 2004Stuponfucious	quote: karmaflux came out of the closet to say: Yeah, the ascii wave is from a user called "fersanmur" for instance. We fuck your privacy laws here in the states. Edit: msalamon(227) * BEWERTUNGEN BITTE NICHT VERGESSEN * German goons, wtf does that mean? Something please no something? "please don't forget evaluations"
Apr 23, 2004: 18:57	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003	quote: Davedave24 came out of the closet to say: "please don't forget evaluations" Ah, thanks. I forgot what bitte means... (I'm one of the morons who translater earlier)
Apr 23, 2004: 19:01	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote

karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBAR$!!@$!1Apr 23, 2004: 19:02	quote: lushka16 came out of the closet to say:Yay altavista. I work for the Army, and people can use babelfish as an anonymizer proxy, so we have most translation sites blocked. 🤖🔒🚫 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Davedave24Joined: Mar 11, 2004StuponfuciousApr 23, 2004: 19:02	quote: FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:Ah, thanks. I forgot what bitte means... (I'm one of the morons who translater earlier) three years of highschool german and this is the only use i've gotten out of it since graduation :p User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
pipebombJoined: May 12, 2001Apr 23, 2004: 19:04	quote: AngryLogic came out of the closet to say:How were you able to reverse the email into an Ebay name? Ancient Chinese Secret User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003Apr 23, 2004: 19:05	quote: karmaflux came out of the closet to say:I work for the Army, and people can use babelfish as an anonymizer proxy, so we have most translation sites blocked. 🤖🔒🚫 Just as well, babelfish blows. I think it was better when it first started and I used it to pass in French essays. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
LankJoined: Sep 16, 2002Apr 23, 2004: 19:06	I'm on the bandwagon for "Definitely fuck with this guy" but I also have to say I'm on the bandwagon for "This Indiana Prof may have been subject to identity theft and has nothign to do with this". How can I be on two wagons, wtf? Anyway, I think the best thing to do is stick to email only since it's obviously getting to the real person trying to rip you off, whoever it is. Ask him for info on how to contact you, like ask for a phone number, name, anything saying you want to talk to him in person since it's kind of an expensive auction, then go with the info you get back, see if it matches the prof. 3rd band wagon, I'm a math major and my profs suck asshole at the speaking of the Engrish. EDIT: Then, once confirmed, commence megafucking of his life. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote

FunkyBunny
Joined: Apr 08, 2003

Apr 23, 2004: 19:15

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 24, 2004: 19:14

osirisdead
Joined: Jun 23, 2003

I want my MG-42

Apr 24, 2004: 19:31

MonkeyFootPaw
Joined: Aug 21, 2003

...it is a tale told by an idiot,
full of sound and fury, signifying nothing

Apr 24, 2004: 19:32

Jailbrekr
Joined: Apr 08, 2002

You will worship me, even if it kills you.

Apr 24, 2004: 20:09

quote:

Davedave24 came out of the closet to say:

three years of highschool german and this is the only use i've gotten out of it since graduation :p

My grandparents are german, but I haven't spoken german to them in probably 15 years now that they know english.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Well, I didn't get the response I was hoping for:

*Please retry to enter www.set-ltd.net and let me know your user name there.OK.
Thank you.*

Im going to go ahead and sign up on that site. Ideas for next email? I'm going to think about it for a while and will post my reply.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

That site seems fishy...

The grammar is absolutely terrible...

Unless you want to lose you friend's powerbook I'd never, ever send it to this guy...

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

quote:

Davedave24 came out of the closet to say:

"please don't forget evaluations"

in other words, LEAVE ME FEEDBACK, BITCH! ☺

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

quote:

ilovemonkeys came out of the closet to say:

I don't think you can actually leave feedback for yourself on eBay. So I would assume the other 's are from other users.

One person, multiple accounts.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Jadaris Joined: May 09, 2003  mmmmm pie	quote: FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say: ^^^ yea, that makes tons of sense... ^^^ graaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa FOR THE LOVE OF FUCKING FUCK, PRESSING QUOTE IS NOT FUCKING HARD STOP WITH THE GODDAMNED ARROWS
Apr 24, 2004: 20:52	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
phirkel Joined: Apr 01, 2004 SPARC Nazi	Has anyone considered reporting this "website" to VeriSign, because it is using VeriSign's copyrighted materials without their permission... And we all know what American companies like to do to people who violate IP (lol sodomize them lol). Also, I'm throwing my vote onto the "fuck with him" bandwagon, because these scammers are what makes doing transactions on eBay such a pain in the arse. And maybe I missed it when I was reading the thread, but have you suggested an eBay-recommended escrow service to him? I had someone try to pull similar shit on me, but when I told them I would only use an eBay-recommended escrow service, they pretty much gave up.
Apr 24, 2004: 22:05	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
evilweasel Joined: Aug 24, 2002  I use the 9th amendment as my answer to everything	quote: osirisdead came out of the closet to say: Unless you want to lose you friend's powerbook I'd never, ever send it to this guy... R>C>P
Apr 24, 2004: 22:21	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
Tyldak23 Joined: Feb 27, 2004 Nails are like candy to robots and we'll eat tires instead of licorice.	go to register at the site. It is supposedly a London based company and yet it only has American states and Canadian provinces for you to put into your address to sign up...
Apr 24, 2004: 22:24	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	My Reply: -----Original Message----- From: MyNameIsJeff [mailto:mynameisjeff@bootsix.net] Sent: Saturday, April 24, 2004 2:52 PM To: 'scont06@yahoo.com' Subject: What is the next step? Hello! I have just finished creating my account on the escrow site that you suggested. My escrow username is MyNameIsJeffHarris. Before we continue, I wanted to ask; do you know if this site had a strong digital defense? I read that escrow services who do not utilize a strong digital defense can often be attacked, and the buyer and or seller can lose money or their item. I really don't want this to happen! I'm sure you don't either! I don't mean to ask so many questions; as you can see, I am new at ebay. By doing it this way, will I get to skip the extra ebay fees? That would be really great. I don't want to pay them extra money. What is the next step? I have never really used escrow.

	Thank you! Jeff
Apr 24, 2004: 22:54	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
Aeolius Joined: Jul 16, 2003 Uber Lord of Time and Space	quote:Tyldak23 came out of the closet to say: go to register at the site. It is supposedly a London based company and yet it only has American states and Canadian provinces for you to put into your address to sign up... Looks like we've got them europeans whipped. Also, voted 5. Keep those emails coming. EDIT: Ask and ye shall receive.
Apr 24, 2004: 22:55	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	quote:Aeolius came out of the closet to say: Also, voted 5. Keep those emails coming. EDIT: Ask and ye shall receive.  One thing that sucks is, I don't get his replies 'till around 6am PST.
Apr 24, 2004: 22:58	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote
fenderrob Joined: Jan 06, 2004 	quote:phirkel came out of the closet to say: Has anyone considered reporting this "website" to VeriSign, because it is using VeriSign's copyrighted materials without their permission... Nope. No one.
Apr 24, 2004: 23:31	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple	I forgot to subscribe to this yesterday, but subscribing now... I want to know how it pans out (and see if i can hop on the goon justice bandwagon if it comes to that).
Apr 24, 2004: 23:33	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote
Lollerich Joined: Mar 25, 2004  OMG! THEY ARE HERE!	quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Overall profile makeup 261 positives. 230 are from unique users. 1 neutrals. 3 negatives. 3 are from unique users Only 25 actuall feedback entries are viewable. Usually these people have pages of feedback entries! Perhaps it is not our professor. There should be a dropdown menu at the bottom, you can select to display up to 200 feedback entries. http://paintedover.com/uploads/1/dropdown.jpg

Apr 25, 2004: 00:12	Someone determined the ebay name belonging to the email address you provided, and I decided to take a look. If this is indeed msalomon, it might interest you what those negative entries were. Two of the three negative feedback entries were cancelled by the buyers/sellers, because it turned out to be their own fault. The third negative entry stated that the item received had been used prior and was scratched, msalamon responded cryptically because her german seems to be not much better than her english, but I believe she meant to say, that the item had in fact been touched and tried and that it went for a low priece anyway. I determined the fact that msalomom is female from the positive entries that indicate her beeing female. If you need the names of the ebayers who left the negative entries I might be able to provide them. Seeing that there may be privacy issues, I will not post them here. I can also translate the other two negative entries that were retracted if you like. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
NObodiesGeek Joined: Jun 14, 2003 I'm not shy, I just hate you. Apr 25, 2004: 00:22	Maybe I didn't catch it earlier, but you spelled her name three different ways. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Stalemate Joined: Jun 27, 2003 20 dollars my ass Apr 25, 2004: 00:35	no hes legit you can send. i mean what is there to lose? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 25, 2004: 00:46	quote: NObodiesGeek came out of the closet to say: Maybe I didn't catch it earlier, but you spelled her name three different ways. What are you talking about? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
NObodiesGeek Joined: Jun 14, 2003 I'm not shy, I just hate you. Apr 25, 2004: 00:50	quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: What are you talking about? I was talking about Lollerich because he used three different usernames. Forget I mentioned it though, it's not important. I was just wondering if it was the same person using multiple names. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Lollerich Joined: Mar 25, 2004  OMG! THEY ARE HERE! Apr 25, 2004: 12:04	quote: NObodiesGeek came out of the closet to say: I was talking about Lollerich because he used three different usernames. Forget I mentioned it though, it's not important. I was just wondering if it was the same person using multiple names. I am usually low on shortterm memory at 01:12 am. I apologize for mistyping the name, I will chastise myself for the rest of the day with a whip. The correct username is msalamon. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote

RonaldMcDonald Joined: Mar 10, 2001 	At least continue to where he tells you where to ship the laptop to, and if it's not some address in Russia or something, report him to the police. Ebay won't do shit because they get their fees whether a trade is a scam or not.
Apr 25, 2004: 13:48	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
1badkarma Joined: Mar 02, 2004 I'm sorry, uh, I wasn't listening...	Just had an idea to find out whether or not it could be that Professor from Indiana State. There is an email address on the profile website of the Professor. Send him an email asking some bullshit about the Interior Design course. Say you are a prospective student. When he replies, critique the level of English in his email and see if there are any similarities to the dude who is trying to scam you. I somehow doubt they are the same guy. It's just a little too stupid (although it is a very clever scam, going through the trouble of building a fake escrow site, etc.) for an Asst. Prof. in Interior Designing to do.
Apr 25, 2004: 14:01	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Rib Feast Joined: Feb 18, 2003 Half the peanuts, but double the corn!	My little brother sold one of my 20.1" LCD screens to a guy in Indonesia via paypal... If this guy is called Steven Cassay and wants to pick it up from a hotel lobby let me know, I will literally fly there and deliver your laptop and/or kill him.
Apr 25, 2004: 14:07	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Chase Joined: Apr 30, 2002	quote: Jadaris came out of the closet to say: graaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa FOR THE LOVE OF FUCKING FUCK, PRESSING QUOTE IS NOT FUCKING HARD STOP WITH THE GODDAMNED ARROWS Pardon me for the aside. Take a deep breath, Jadaris. Arrows take up less room than a quote does. If I find myself quoting someone whose post winds up directly above mine, I will remove the quote and add arrows. I think it's more polite. I realize that this appears in the MM subforum but it's not your place to scream about it fuckwad. To get back on topic, I hope nobody is fucking with this professor fellow. Good luck Jeff, this is interesting to watch.
Apr 25, 2004: 14:46	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote
Unorthodox Joined: Dec 03, 2001 Retired with career average of 25.38/day.	Subscribed for goon justice. I wait with much anticipation.
Apr 25, 2004: 14:47	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote

Dell_ZinchtJoined: Nov 05, 2003I eat Chaos Emeralds. <td>Also subscribed to see the outcome. Good luck finding this scammer.</td>	Also subscribed to see the outcome. Good luck finding this scammer.
pooper scooperJoined: Oct 23, 2003	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote His English in the original post did seem a little "Germanized." But his German also seems a tad strange as well. My vote, is this guy comes from a slavistic eastern european country, or equally plausible-- Turkey. Whether or not he lives there anymore, who can say.pooper scooper fucked around with this message at Apr 25, 2004 around 15:57
YancyDCjewJoined: Feb 28, 2002	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote have you offered to use the ebay escrow service yet?
RukesJoined: Jan 01, 2001Yes, The Rukes	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote I remember when I sold my Powerbook last year, I got 3 different offers to fake escrow sites...and I sadly didn't think of any good replies 😞
MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!	User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote quote:YancyDCjew came out of the closet to say: have you offered to use the ebay escrow service yet?No not yet.quote:RonaldMcDonald came out of the closet to say : At least continue to where he tells you where to ship the laptop to, and if it's not some address in Russia or something, report him to the police. Ebay won't do shit because they get their fees whether a trade is a scam or not.He wants to settle outside of ebay.New email received!

	-----Original Message----- From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com] Sent: Sunday, April 25, 2004 7:51 AM To: MyNameIsJeff Subject: Re: What is the next step? HELLO First of all I want ot tell you that you will not pay anything because I pay the escrow, UPS and other fees. Ok? I started the transaction with the nr. 6813088950 . Now please enter www.set-ltd.net , acces your account with the uzername that you have and if the transaction isOk with you please accept it. Ok? Once you do that I will send the funds =2100$ plus shipping $180. Ok? Please send the unit express UPS or Fedex.I will send them money and they will let you know as soon as they get the amount. Then you can send the unit at my address. Ok? Do not worry I know a lot of people that used this service and it is OK. Please let me know. THANKS Hmm, when working with an escrow company, don't you send them the item? It seems this guy is so excited he can't type correctly! Unfortunately, no comment on his strong digital defense! For those of you interested: My secure, and reliable escrow username and password : mynameisjeffharris/escrow Just click on 'My Transactions' This is pretty lame. I can't find his address anywhere in, "My Transactions." You think that would be something included. Next email will include questions about his Strong Digital Defense, and his address. Anything you would like me to ask just post it.
Apr 25, 2004: 19:25	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	EditQuote
schmuckfeatures Joined: Oct 27, 2003	I think you should ask him about interior design. Just throw in a random comment. It's almost like the 'stairs question'.
 This avatar needs more Rumsfeld
Apr 25, 2004: 19:33	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts	EditQuote
Gohanks Joined: Jun 04, 2003	I second the motion to mention interior design.
 Agetec is bringing Alter Code F to the US! Rejoice!
Apr 25, 2004: 19:39	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote
DLCinferno Joined: Feb 22, 2003	quote: <hr/> MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Anything you would like me to ask just post it. <hr/>
	You have to somehow make him think the deal is going sour. He has to start to get desperate. Tell him you found another buyer that will pay $2200 and you are thinking about going with him. OK? OK? OK?
Apr 25, 2004: 19:46	User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts	EditQuote

CAN'T FUCKING SHUT UP

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Tell him I just offered you $2300 for the laptop, in addition to paying for all escrow fees and shipping costs. Explain that you also are more inclined to trust me because I have the title of "Mayor" in my username, and obviously that means I'm the mayor of some city somewhere since people would never attempt to lie or defraud others over the Internet. Ask him if he wants to make a higher bid, see what he says.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

You're not convincing him that you are a naive first time Ebay user. You need more exclamation points and pluses!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
This will make you an A+++++ emailer.

~~~~~

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Maybe there can even be a way to include aliens.. or government conspiracies..
I got it!!!!!!!!!!

THE CIA WANTS THE LAPTOP. Why? I dont know, we can work on that.

Now we need some NINJA GOONS at the university this professor teaches.. to drop freaky messages in his teachers inbox, ones that are somehow related to this ebay transaction.

Imagine the possibilities! What do you say? We could string this guy along for a wild ride I think.

pooper scooper fucked around with this message at Apr 25, 2004 around 20:10

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

Hmm, when working with an escrow company, don't you send them the item?

No, the buyer sends them the money which they hold until the buyer has received and approved the item. Then they release the money to the seller.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

You forgot the part where the escrow company inspects the item first before passing it on to the seller. Then if the seller doesn't like it, he returns it to them, who return it to the seller, or he's out the money.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

User's Profile / Image
Send a Private Message
Search For More Posts
Edit
Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Stealth LikeJoined: Apr 27, 2003                                                                                                                                          | Tell him that $2100 is too low, and ask for a price over what it costs to get one of them brand new. If he agrees, it is definately a scam, and you can feel free to harrass him all you like.                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 25, 2004: 20:27User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| evilweaselJoined: Aug 24, 2002I use the 9th amendment as my answer to everything                                                                               | quote:Stealth Like came out of the closet to say:Tell him that $2100 is too low, and ask for a price over what it costs to get one of them brand new. If he agrees, it is definately a scam, and you can feel free to harrass him all you like. It has been already proven this is a scam.                                                |
| Apr 25, 2004: 20:35User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| schmuckfeaturesJoined: Oct 27, 2003This avatar needs more Rumsfeld                                                                                             | Edit: nmschmuckfeatures fucked around with this message at Apr 25, 2004 around 21:04                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 25, 2004: 20:38User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| TheChaplainJoined: Apr 22, 2002God is just the start of your problems, neh?                                                                                   | Read &gt; Comprehend &gt; PostWe've got this thing for a reason:http://forums.somethingawful.com/di...t=3&amp;topicid=129                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 25, 2004: 21:00User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                                                                                         | quote:slothzilla came out of the closet to say:You're not convincing him that you are a naive first time Ebay user. You need more exclamation points and pluses!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!1 This will make you an A + + + + +emailer. YES! I will post my response shortly. I will try to include everything from page 5. |
| Apr 25, 2004: 21:51User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| SecksJoined: Oct 10, 2002                                                      | I love this. There is no better forum in the world. I say that once you find out all these details, you fuck with him, giving him the surprise of his life. I laughed at the wasp idea but indeed that would be too devious. Send him a Fiestacat. That'll show him.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                 |
| Apr 25, 2004: 21:54                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| Rib FeastJoined: Feb 18, 2003Half the peanuts, but double the corn! | Send him a printed A3 of Pain4.Jpg And another picture of a laptop 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                 |
| Apr 25, 2004: 22:06                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| takeshiJoined: Sep 01, 2001                                                    | I wouldn't mail him about interior design but do it the other way around. Ask the prof. from Indiana State something about his course and check if his answer has correct spelling/grammar. Try to control the conversation in such a way that he might replicate an identical error like "uzername". This wouldn't prove anything but might be a good indicator if this is in fact the same person.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                 |
| Apr 25, 2004: 23:07                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| The GreyJoined: Mar 02, 2004The time is near.                                                                                                                  | I think you need to get more personal info about the guy so we can track down who it really is. Just ask for his address so you can estimate shipping costs on the laptop.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                 |
| Apr 25, 2004: 23:45                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| toolboiJoined: Jul 24, 2002I asked for a larger and more obnoxious custom tittle. Krusk bought me this one instead                                             | I think that the answer is obvious. Email him back and say that youve accepted the offer, do the paper work, but dont send it. Meanwhile, wait. Wait for him to say that the Escrow service says you havent sent anything, and ask for a number with which to contact said service and figgure out why, even though youve sent the laptop, they are registering it as not sent. Check the numbers, perhaps get a London goon to trace the number, and figgure out exactly who this whole scam is being orchestrated by. Teach me not to read the whole thread... still, my idea has some merit. toolboi fucked around with this message at Apr 26, 2004 around 00:39 |                                 |
| Apr 26, 2004: 00:33                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| CoreyOuJoined: Jul 23, 2002UNFUNNY RACIST TROLL II                                                                                                             | quote:The Grey came out of the closet to say:I think you need to get more personal info about the guy so we can track down who it really is. Just ask for his address so you can estimate shipping costs on the laptop. If this guy has gone through enough trouble to make a fake escrow site, registering the domain in someone elses name, etc. He is definitely using a drop box registered under a fake name. I would just have as much fun as I could with this guy, maybe involve the police.. this guy obviously isn't the smartest so he had to have slipped up somewhere.                       |                                 |
| Apr 26, 2004: 00:36                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CapnAndy Joined: Feb 27, 2004  Ninja Code Monkey Apr 26, 2004: 00:39   | quote: Mayor Wilkins came out of the closet to say:Tell him I just offered you $2300 for the laptop, in addition for paying for all escrow fees and shipping costs. Explain that you also are more inclined to trust me because I have the title of "Mayor" in my username, and obviously that means I'm the mayor of some city somewhere since people would never attempt to lie or defraud others over the Internet. Ask him if he wants to make a higher bid, see what he says. I'll bid $5 over anything the "Mayor" there goes, just because Captains &gt; Mayors. EditQuote |
| Shii Joined: Feb 17, 2004  Shii Apr 26, 2004: 00:41                    | quote: pooper scooper came out of the closet to say:Now we need some NINJA GOONS at the university this professor teaches.. to drop freaky messages in his teachers inbox, ones that are somehow related to this ebay transaction.  Since he's from Thailand, I do not think that's a likely scenario. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                        |
| pihwlook Joined: Jun 01, 2003  what what what what Apr 26, 2004: 01:34 | Subscribed. Good job with the emails so far. I just wish there were a way to track this guy. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| The Grey Joined: Mar 02, 2004 The time is near.                                                                                                                              | quote: CoreyOu came out of the closet to say:If this guy has gone through enough trouble to make a fake escrow site, registering the domain in someone elses name, etc. He is definitely using a drop box registered under a fake name. I would just have as much fun as I could with this guy, maybe involve the police.. this guy obvisously isn't the smartest so he had to have slipped up somewhere. We would still be able to get a state or country, and maybe a name. That would tell us if it really is the interior decorator professor. EditQuote                   |
| spacey Joined: Jul 09, 2001  DEFENDER OF THE DOG Apr 26, 2004: 04:55 | How far do you live from the University? Subscribing to this tasty thread. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Fascinating. I love the detective work some of the forum members do. I'm not sure I can chime in on any of this, but something that strikes me is that someone mentioned that the escrow website was created a few days ago? Is that reliable data? (I don't know how to find that stuff).

If it is true, and this guy claims he's used this escrow service in the past, then he's definitely up to no good. Of course, maybe everyone is certain this is a con on the buyers' part, so I could just be slow putting together all these clues.

I'm also jumping on the band wagon that this is probably identity theft. I don't know why, but for some reason I'll give the ISU professor the benefit of the doubt...

Finally, Jeff, I love the "password: escrow" bit. It's the small details that make your approach to this so wonderful to read.

I'm curious how this will end up. I hope you win.

Apr 26, 2004: 05:33

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

~@NSA.gov

Apr 26, 2004: 06:13

has anyone reported this site to VeriSign? <http://www.verisign.com/support/site/abuse.html>

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

What's up with the guy's ebay account? <http://cgi2.ebay.com/aw-cgi/eBay1SA...userid=msalamon> looks like a perfectly legitimate ebay account... is this guy just a legitimate ebayer but a scammer on the side or something?

The professor fellow sounds like identity theft indeed. But I think you guys are reading too much into the bad english/grammar. He could just as well be faking that to further confuse his targets no different than jeff is doing in his emails.

I wouldn't ask about interior design, that will tip him off. I think this guy's pretty smart (like I said, i doubt the validity of his poorly typed emails).. the web site, while not perfect, is enough to fool someone who doesn't understand web design. However, if he's guilty of identity theft, then it's also enough to evade authorities I would imagine..

If he says he's in London, then would it not be safe to assume that the address he will provide, even if it's a drop-box with fake info as well, will be in his town, or within driving distance? That would mean he really is from the UK. Maybe Jeff can get the address and then some UK goons can track this guy down in more detail?

Anyway, continue fucking with him.. I would ask for a downpayment on the shipping rate tho... say that you want a good-fait down payment to cover the shipping, and the item will be off, remaining money thru his digitally secure site..

EDIT: Also I hope people aren't reporting this to any authorities yet, because that will kinda kill the joke =/

Apr 26, 2004: 06:18

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

A close-up photograph of a woman with dark hair, a white flower in her hair, and a lollipop in her mouth. The image is framed by a thick, multi-colored border.

Shut the door.

quote:

Spook came out of the closet to say:

has anyone reported this site to VeriSign? <http://www.verisign.com/support/site/abuse.html>

Nope, no one has thought of that. I wish someone would though 😞

Apr 26, 2004: 06:53

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

unconstructive critic

quote:

Spook came out of the closet to say:

has anyone reported this site to VeriSign? <http://www.verisign.com/support/site/abuse.html>

Has anyone read the thread? Anyone?

Apr 26, 2004: 06:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| AeoliusJoined: Jul 16, 2003Über Lord of Time and Space                                                                                                                                                                | quote:Mayor Wilkins came out of the closet to say:Tell him I just offered you $2300 for the laptop, in addition for paying for all escrow fees and shipping costs. Explain that you also are more inclined to trust me because I have the title of "Mayor" in my username, and obviously that means I'm the mayor of some city somewhere since people would never attempt to lie or defraud others over the Internet. Ask him if he wants to make a higher bid, see what he says. quote:pooper scooper came out of the closet to say:Maybe there can even be a way to include aliens.. or government conspiracies..I got it!!!!!!!!!THE CIA WANTS THE LAPTOP. Why? I dont know, we can work on that. I propose that we combine these two ideas; the mayor of the CIA needs it. Can't get much more reputable than that.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 26, 2004: 07:28LuthierJoined: Feb 12, 2002Off we go into the wild blue yonder! | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuoteThe ebay account is stolen from a legitimate ebay user. That's a pretty common thing. The original user was a female and probably had an easy to guess password. They picked it, or got it through some other means, and then changed the password so she could not access it any more. Now the scammers are using her good feedback to trick new ebay users into sending them expensive items.The correct course of action is to report them to authorities. While this may seem like a funny good justice kind of thing, remember that these people are definitely not working on you alone. While you're having your fun, some less internet savvy sellers out there are sending these fucks expensive items and losing a lot of money.There are a lot of naive people out there, and ebay escrow scam is very common, just do a google search. There are thousands of victims each losing thousands of dollars. If you stop playing games and report this guy to the police, maybe some of those less fortunate sellers can avoid being scammed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 26, 2004: 07:44eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuotequote:Luthier came out of the closet to say:The ebay account is stolen from a legitimate ebay user. That's a pretty common thing. The original user was a female and probably had an easy to guess password. They picked it, or got it through some other means, and then changed the password so she could not access it any more. Now the scammers are using her good feedback to trick new ebay users into sending them expensive items.The correct course of action is to report them to authorities. While this may seem like a funny good justice kind of thing, remember that these people are definitely not working on you alone. While you're having your fun, some less internet savvy sellers out there are sending these fucks expensive items and losing a lot of money.There are a lot of naive people out there, and ebay escrow scam is very common, just do a google search. There are thousands of victims each losing thousands of dollars. If you stop playing games and report this guy to the police, maybe some of those less fortunate sellers can avoid being scammed.don't you find it strange that a stolen ebay account that was actively used by the original owner is still there and the scammers have not been caught via some sort of ip trace as to who logged into it? |
| Apr 26, 2004: 07:57                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Luthier Joined: Feb 12, 2002  Off we go into the wild blue yonder!               | quote: esky came out of the closet to say:don't you find it strange that a stolen ebay account that was actively used by the original owner is still there and the scammers have not been caught via some sort of ip trace as to who logged into it? Who do you expect to do IP traces on that account? Ebay? Ha. It's very likely the account owner had the same password for her email and her ebay. This happened to a friend of mine last year, he suddenly stopped receiving emails on his Yahoo account. A while later he found out that somebody upgraded his Yahoo account with a stolen credit card to the one you can get to via POP3, and was just sucking all his emails every at 30 second intervals. The people then changed the password on his ebay account and used it to post some expensive items for sale. They didn't sell anything, this was quickly pulled when he reported it to ebay. The guys were never caught though, all we ever found is they were from Belarus somewhere. |
| Apr 26, 2004: 08:04                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                                      | Boobytrap a laptop-sized box and send it to them! Would UPS and so forth properly scan for explosives? If not, try dumping some other really horrible stuff in the box. Maybe a crapload of wasps and enough sugar and water for them to stay alive but verrrrrry pissed off? Maybe you should start collecting your turds? Make sure that they suffer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 26, 2004: 13:02                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| cunnelatio Joined: Aug 08, 2002 I'M A HUGE FAGGOT                                                                                                                           | quote: scheissmacht came out of the closet to say:No, the buyer sends them the money which they hold until the buyer has received and approved the item. Then they release the money to the seller. What if they receive the item but claim they didn't ??? ☹                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 26, 2004: 13:09                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                                      | That is what you call a scam. Proper sites, of course, don't pull that shit, as they have a reputation to lose (plus they'll get sued).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 26, 2004: 13:13                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| SignalTwoFive Joined: Dec 28, 2003  Bob Sapp is laughing AT you, not WITH you. | quote: Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:That is what you call a scam. Proper sites, of course, don't pull that shit, as they have a reputation to lose (plus they'll get sued). Thank you for reading the thread first.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 26, 2004: 13:57                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| KickwormJoined: Oct 27, 2003situation :emoticon:Apr 26, 2004: 14:04 | Awaiting updates. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| ChlamydiaJonesJoined: Sep 27, 2002                                                               | This thread must come to a confrontational conclusion. Please? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| LytinwheedleJoined: Mar 08, 2004"I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                                             | quote:SignalTwoFive came out of the closet to gibber:Thank you for reading the thread first. I was answering the question of the poster above me. R&gt;C&gt;P. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBAR$!!@$!1                 | quote:Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:I was answering the question of the poster above me. R&gt;C&gt;P. Didn't look that way to me. Hint: establish your flow! 🧐 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                | Hey guys. No, this thread is far from over! It looks like I'm seling something else! (Other seller transactions from escrow site)Transaction details These are the details for transaction with ID 1399872290Item name: Amanda Real Doll Terms DetailsSeller username mynameisjeffharrisBuyer username EuroShipping with FedExWho pays fee BuyerWho pays shipping BuyerInspection period 8Item price 3500 USDQuantity 1Escrow fee 0 from 42 USDShipping cost 143Total cost to Seller 0 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                     |  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Total cost to Buyer 3685 Descriptionslightly used HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA! I encourage you all add many many things like this to my account on his escrow site!!! Add things, and I will tell him I am going to use his preferred escrow service for my other auctions! I wasn't able to email him yesterday, so no new update from him. However, I will compose my email message as I type this reply. I will send it when i get home. Hello sir!Please let me thank you again for being so patient with me! It is too bad we are settling outside of ebay, because I was going to leave you "EXCELENT EBAYER!!!!!!11 A+++++++= WOULD SELL TO ANYTIME" I guess it is ok though becaue I would have to give them an extra $300 when the auction was over. I logged onto your preferred escrow site and saw our transaction. I did not see any place to accept it though! Did I just not see it? Sorry I am new at this. Where do I go to say OK? Where on the site does it say where to ship it to! I am very eager to get this thing shipped so I can hurry up and start the process to get my money! Once I ok our transaction does it tell me where to ship the laptop? I am very positive you will be satisfied with the laptop. One other thing, You seemed to confident about this escrow service, that I think I am going to use it myself for my other transactions. Is that ok? I will be buying and selling other laptops and would like the security. I will be buying many things and will need a escrow service with a strong digital defense to send my money to so I don't get ripped off. Thanks again!Jeff I think the next email I will let him know about someone else who has offered more for the laptop. I think I will tell him that the other person wants to settle outside of ebay, with a personal escrow service too! Perhaps I can get him to call the other guy a scammer! I should have his reply tomorrow morning. |                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Apr 26, 2004: 18:28                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004 Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Now please enter www.set-ltd.net                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                     |  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                | What the FUCK are the pictures on that site supposed to be about? `Building!' `Grinning Eyeless Yuppie!' `Chin Stroker!' EDIT: btw, this might have to proceed at speed - that escrow site appears on the huge list on this site (not quoted for reason of length) of suspect sites under investigation and liable to be closed: http://www.carbuyingtips.com/fraud.htm Pipski fucked around with this message at Apr 26, 2004 around 18:34 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                     |  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                | Apr 26, 2004: 18:28                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                | ChlamydiaJonesJoined: Sep 27, 2002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | You will be happy to know that you are also selling a 2002 Boss Hoss motorcycle; Terms DetailsSeller username MyNameIsJeffHarrisBuyer username looking for a buyerShipping with AirborneWho pays fee BuyerWho pays shipping BuyerInspection period 20Item price 33000 USDQuantity 1Escrow fee 0 from 396 USDShipping cost 485Total cost to Seller 0Total cost to Buyer 33881 Description2002 Boss Hoss motorcycle. 602ci Cadillac engine(1997), NO2, Turbo. 588HP/NOS 812HP. All gear included. 3 speed transmission with reverse. Clear title.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                     |  |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| Apr 26, 2004: 18:48 Mayor Wilkins Joined: Nov 18, 2002  I have two words that are going to make all your troubles go away - "miniature golf." | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA! I encourage you all add many many things like this to my account on his escrow site!!! Add things, and I will tell him I am going to use his preferred escrow service for my other auctions! As per your request, I have done this. I eagerly await my shipment. Edit - huh, it reset some of my prices and deleted some others. What the fuck. I guess I can't use commas. Either that, or I can't have seventeen thousand kidneys. ??? Edit 2 - re-entered, since this amazing site doesn't let you delete transactions. This site also seems to randomly hate certain numbers, and I want to know where the fuck it got these numbers in the millions. What the fuck am I paying six hundred million for? Goddamned kidneys! Seller username: mynameisjeffharrisBuyer username: Mayor WilkinsShipping with Captain Eddie's cargo shipWho pays fee: BuyerWho pays shipping: BuyerInspection period: 7Item price: 34500 USDQuantity: 17250Escrow fee: 0 from 7141500 USDShipping cost: 1200Total cost to Seller: 0Total cost to Buyer: 602267700 Description:A lot of bear kidneys from various bears, including (but not limited to) polar, grizzly, brown, Yogi, black, panda, and Care. Original shipping was "1200 and a case of Bud," but their system doesn't like letters in the shipping field, I guess. What the fuck. Mayor Wilkins fucked around with this message at Apr 26, 2004 around 19:13 | Edit Quote |
| Apr 26, 2004: 18:59 dablakh0l Joined: Sep 03, 2002                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Wow, I'm buying Sauron's Ring!!! ThanksBilbo Boggins Buyer username Bilbo BogginsSeller username MyNameIsJeffHarrisShipping with Dragon PostWho pays fee Split 50/50Who pays shipping Split 50/50Inspection period 30Item price 25 GBPQuantity 1Escrow fee 0.15 from 0.3 GBPShipping cost 1Total cost to Buyer 25.65Total cost to Seller 0.65 DescriptionSauron's Ring dablakh0l fucked around with this message at Apr 26, 2004 around 19:27                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Edit Quote |
| Apr 26, 2004: 19:24                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Edit Quote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SweaterJoined: Feb 19, 2003  Apr 26, 2004: 19:44                 | I think this rates up there with TheHerpes" Adriana Sage thread. Nothing like a good read. 😊 OMG SO AMAZING!!!!!!!!11 A + + + + + + + + WILL READ MORE!!!!!!!!1 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| ArchDemonJoined: Jan 02, 2004 Wolf Software! Teh pwn! Apr 26, 2004: 19:46                                                                        | First thing of course (stated many times) is to get the address or contact number. With that, the police is definately something to consider. Who is hosting his escrow site? Updates plz. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| HalvorJoined: Aug 17, 2003 The black cards all look the same to me...                                                                                              | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: One thing that sucks is, I don't get his replies 'till around 6am PST. I'm kinda surprised nobody's caught this yet. I got to thinking about it, and 6am PST is 8am Central, which is about the time a professor would be rolling into his office to check his Yahoo email and see if that kid from Washington is falling for it or not. edit: Yes, I have also considered that it also is 2pm GMT, or something. But, realistically, who checks his Yahoo mail at 2pm every day? Halvor fucked around with this message at Apr 26, 2004 around 20:16 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| rock lobsterJoined: May 06, 2003  i taught the fruit how to eat itself | At first I thought the internet existed so that we could watch a monkey pee in his mouth. And then I thought the internet existed so we could berate furries. Now I know for a fact that the Internet exists for this thread. And porn. Anxiously awaiting an update. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| ShiiJoined: Feb 17, 2004                                                         | I do hope Rush Limbaugh will enjoy this hot dog I'm selling him! These are the details for transaction with ID 6929777523Item name: World's Largest Hot Dog Terms DetailsSeller username mynameisjeffharrisBuyer username Rush LimbaughShipping with Private aircraft carrierWho pays fee BuyerWho pays shipping BuyerInspection period 30Item price 2500 USDQuantity 1 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                  |

|                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                            | Escrow fee 0 from 30 USDShipping cost 500Total cost to Seller 0Total cost to Buyer 3030 DescriptionIn good condition; some scratches, but still edible. In original bun.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                            |
| Apr 26, 2004: 20:25                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Edit Quote |
| lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003                                                                    | ^^^ I think these fakes are going to be the downfall of this thread. Still funny, though                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                            |
|                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
| Apr 26, 2004: 20:27                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Edit Quote |
| pooper scooperJoined: Oct 23, 2003                                                              | Halvor.. you seem to have a pretty good point. However, in Europe (at least in Germany) lunch breaks are between 12 and 2 in the afternoon. I agree with the above poster. These fakes are funny.. but they might ruin the thread or even expose this too early as a plot to fight back the scammer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                            |
|                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
| Apr 26, 2004: 20:29                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Edit Quote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003                                                                | quote: <hr/> pooper scooper came out of the closet to say:Halvor.. you seem to have a pretty good point. However, in Europe (at least in Germany) lunch breaks are between 12 and 2 in the afternoon. I agree with the above poster. These fakes are funny.. but they might ruin the thread or even expose this too early as a plot to fight back the scammer. <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                            |
| P-P-P-Powerbook.com!  | They're right. Lets Back off on the items for sale for now.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                            |
| Apr 26, 2004: 20:53                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Edit Quote |
| AlexMaxJoined: Nov 04, 2003                                                                     | I'm on the edge of my seat. This thread can only end well... Voted 5.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                            |
| Third Impact                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
| Apr 26, 2004: 21:14                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Edit Quote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003                                                                | Get a load of this! I reported this guy's email and fake site to ebay- Told him everything we discovered! Fake everything! And I get this! Hello, Thank you for writing to eBay's Customer Support with your concerns. My name is John and I appreciate the chance to answer your question. I'm happy to assist you further. An Escrow service allows the buyer to send their money to the Escrow Company, and the Seller then ships the item to the Buyer. Once the Buyer approves the item the Escrow service then pays the Seller. eBay recommends escrow for transactions over $500.00. The Escrow service affiliated with eBay is called Escrow.com. eBay encourages members to take advantage of the assurance that escrow services can provide. For more information on escrow, please see the following eBay page: http://pages.ebay.com/help/sell/escrow.html |                                            |
| P-P-P-Powerbook.com! |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                      |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Apr 26, 2004: 22:01 frozenphilJoined: Mar 13, 2003  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts quote:Kid Antrim came out of the closet to say:It's a canned reply. Copy, paste, send. I did email support for a company for a year. Copy and Paste was my friend, I didn't give a shit if it helped them or not for the most part. LO 😊 Oh sarcasm tags, why hast thou forsaken us so?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| Apr 26, 2004: 22:01 karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote:Kid Antrim came out of the closet to say:It's a canned reply.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | EditQuote |
| Apr 26, 2004: 22:03 MariusJoined: Aug 13, 2003    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts I would stop or remove any fake auctions on the escrow site until we get the last reply from the guy with at least a shipping address. Also once he gets that why not create our own accounts on the site? Does it take a CC or something? What will they think when 400 people sign up on the site to escrow their real dolls and stored bodily fluids? Edit: Forgot, I had a question from earlier on. Someone mentioned something like Isass in reference to goons fucking with scammers. I didnt see anything in dictionary, can anyone explain or point me to a thread? Thanks Marius fucked around with this message at Apr 26, 2004 around 22:11 | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | I went onto the site again, to view my transactions.One transaction: 4189708512 Tyldak23 51 inch flatscreen tv Waiting for sellerAt the bottom, I have the buttons to accept or reject the transaction.The other 2: One for the amanda real doll, and one for the laptop the he created - I do not have the buttons. Is that a problem with his coding?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 26, 2004: 22:14                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| fredwardoJoined: Jul 27, 2003                                   | Is it maybe possible to find out his real IP by including an image in an email to him then finding out what IPs have accessed it. That way you could trace it and find out where they may be.I knocked up a little php script where if you to go to http://www.vdhri.net/images/mrgreen.gif it attempts to log your IP in this text file: http://www.vdhri.net/images/ips.txt.I tested including it in an email to myself and that got my ip (with the www.eml.cc/... referer) when i viewed it on webmail.Another way that comes to mind would be to look at server logs.Don't know if it would be any use, and i might've fucked up while making it, but i was bored and it's an idea i guess.                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 26, 2004: 22:22                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MutiJoined: Oct 20, 2003                                        | Okay detectives!#!! First off, it is not the professor.. you can fill in any name and register a fucking domain. I'm sure someone who went through the effort of creating a fake escrow site and stealing eBay accounts is not going to register with their real name. Stop patting yourselves on the backs for thinking you've "CAUGHT THIS GUY!!". Way to go, you can lookup WHOIS and use google at the same time. Anyway, I really doubt you will catch this person. They most likely have a drop point, or will have you ship to a P.O. box. They are also probably doing most of this from an internet cafe or just using a proxy server so you aren't going to "trace the IP". I'm not sure if you've reported the account to ebay or just the escrow site, but report the account to ebay so it can be closed and report the website to the ISP of whomever is hosting it (http://www.dnsstuff.com/tools/whois.ch?ip=66.218.79.157), which appears to be Yahoo web hosting. |
| Apr 26, 2004: 23:04                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | Wow I didn't even have to wait 'till 6 am for his reply this time! From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com]Sent: Monday, April 26, 2004 2:21 PMTo: MyNameIsJeffSubject: Re: Ready to ship laptopOK I talk with escrow services and now is ok he have a little problem with website.The money is sent express to escrow.Please email me when you will receive the confirmation. It seems his money is on the way! I registered on the site with one of my hotmail accounts, so I can't check for the "confirmation" email until I get home from work in about 2 hours.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 26, 2004: 23:09                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| SuperhausJoined: Jun 09, 2003                                 | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I replied to that ebay emailHi John,R&gt;C&gt;PJeff That would have been easier.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 26, 2004: 23:19                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| karmafluxJoined: Feb 26, 2004OMG WATCH OUT FOR TEH CUCUMBAR$!!@$!1 Apr 26, 2004: 23:26 | quote: Muti came out of the closet to say:blah blah blah im smart blah blah Hey, we've already established that he's a bad scammer. Even if he's using an internet cafe, we can still locate the IP, and if it's in Belgium, it's probably not our Indianan professor. But guess what? We don't give a shit, and all we're interested in is ruining this guy's day. So fuck off and let us have our fun. Dork. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003 Apr 27, 2004: 00:54                                                                                                                                                  | I hope this ends as well as it has been going. I hate to say it, as there is rarely an appropriate time for it these days, but I would love to see this end in a goatse attack of some shape or form. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| ZetsurinPowerJoined: Dec 14, 2003 Apr 27, 2004: 01:12                                               | ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ LQK ~ ~ ~ ~ EXCELLENT THREAD, WILL SUBSCRIBE!!!!!!1111 THX!!! User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| scheissmachtJoined: Oct 23, 2000 Apr 27, 2004: 01:32                                                | quote: cunnelatio came out of the closet to say: What if they receive the item but claim they didn't ??? 😏 Well, if you ship something worth a couple thousand dollars without requiring a signature for delivery then you deserve to get ripped off. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                              | Well here is my email from the Secure and digitally defended escrow site: From : Set-Ltd Customer Service &lt;billing@set-ltd.net&gt;Sent : Monday, April 26, 2004 10:34 PMTo : chemically_balanced@hotmail.comSubject : Payment received for transaction #6813088950     InboxDear customer, Your partner "scont06" has completed the payment for transaction ID 6813088950 Item name: PowerBook G4Item price: 2100.00 USDShipping cost: 180.00 USDQuantity: 1Inspection period: 1 dayEscrow fee: 25.20 USDTotal cost to buyer: 2305.20 USD Your action is required now. The next step of the transaction is to ship the merchandise to the buyer. Please send the shipping details to your partner "scont06". As soon as your partner receives the merchandise and the inspection |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| period ends we will contact you to complete payment. Billing Support Team www.set-ltd.net Ok. The more this progresses, the more I realize how shitty he is at this. At 2 pm PST he said, "The money is sent express to escrow." then I have this a few hours later? Maybe by express sent he mean he opened a new internet explorer window and browsed to yahoo. But wait! What is also sitting in my inbox? -----Original Message-----From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com]Sent: Monday, April 26, 2004 3:44 PMTo: MyNameIsJeffSubject: I'm waiting the track# Hello I receive the confirmation from escrow services about the money is received.Please send it as we agreed: fedex ups or dhl tnt express and please put a small value on the package so I will pay less taxes .Here the duty taxes are 27,5% from the total amount wrote on the package so please do your best and send it as a family gift and with a low value. This is my address:GIANLUCA SESSAREGO9B VARLEY PARADECOLINDALE,LONDON,UKzip code: NW9 6RR Please email me when you will send the package and give me the tracking number. Regards Oh my! What do we have here! I think I actually want to send him a box full of stuff. A jar of pee. Perhaps just some high quality photos of some of the fine images of the pain series or the pic of the girl shitting in that guys mouth. (If you have that let me know k thx) If you can think of anything better let me know. I can't think of anyways to draw this out further. So I'm going to wait for a while. See if I can think up anything. Post crafty ideas -email ideas and/or things to end this well. I will report back with what I come up with. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 03:29                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| emil_muzzJoined: Apr 14, 2002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Start off by fucking with him. Go pick up a FedEx form with a pre-printed tracking number on it and give him that number. It's valid, but it'll just say there is no package in the system. Wait a while for him to bitch about the number not being in their system, then make up some story about the package being sent back to you. This buys you time to fill jars with urine and occult voodoo objects to send to him. Or paint an etch-a-sketch silver and put an apple sticker on it. EDIT: Give him both a FedEx number and a DHL number. "I sent it both ways in case one way doesn't work". EDIT2: I'm not clever enough tonight to come up with a way to do this but we need to wheedle this fucker's phone number out of him. emil_muzz fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 03:48 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 03:45                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| blairericksonJoined: May 18, 2002"I hate Stiffly Stiffersons... I want to prank them... In my basement... for hours."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | quote:GIANLUCA SESSAREGO9B VARLEY PARADECOLINDALE,LONDON,UKzip code: NW9 6RRInteresting, okay... now what.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 27, 2004: 04:00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Dr. VonHugenstein Joined: Feb 16, 2004 They Call Him Monsterrod                                                                                                                                                    | This guy apparently gets around. Googling that address gets at least two pseudonyms using that location to perpetuate fraud:http://www.auctionblacklist.com/vie....php?case_id=86http://www.auctionblacklist.com/vie...php?case_id=182It also reveals a barber shop at that address--with a phone number:Jean Climax9b Varley ParadeLondon NW9 6RRTel: (020 8905 9244)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 04:00                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| blairerickson Joined: May 18, 2002 "I hate Stiffly Stiffersons... I want to prank them... In my basement... for hours." | That "9B Varley Parkade" address doesn't show up on MapQuest or Keyhole. Is it just a really tiny street location?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 27, 2004: 04:11                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Dr. VonHugenstein Joined: Feb 16, 2004 They Call Him Monsterrod Apr 27, 2004: 04:13                                                                                                                     | If you just enter the zip, and then zoom all the way in, you can see it--it's a very short street. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| lushka16 Joined: Apr 08, 2003                                                                                                     | Holy shit!! The next course of action is WICKED obvious, he even said it himself:quote:Here the duty taxes are 27,5% from the total amount wrote on the packagePut like $8000 on the package and make the fucker pay $2200 for it.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 27, 2004: 04:21                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Biter Joined: Apr 05, 2004 Once is never enough                                                                                                                                                                    | [derail]quote:Edit: Forgot, I had a question from earlier on. Someone mentioned something like Isass in reference to goons fucking with scammers. I didnt see anything in dictionary, can anyone explain or point me to a thread? ThanksAlright, but I've forgotten some of the info. A goon posted some stuff for download, I believe it was in The Unnameable Forum (Horse Porn Junction). Peeps DLed it, and a script was run inside it that did something bad. I think it stole SA accounts, although I could be wrong on that. Anyway, some goons deconstructed the download, found out that it created a little file called Isass.bat (not to be confused with Isass.exe), and warned all goons to delete it before their computers would be compromised.[/derail] |
| Apr 27, 2004: 04:21                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

blairerickson

Joined: May 18, 2002

"I hate Stiffly Stiffersons... I want to prank them... in my basement... for hours."

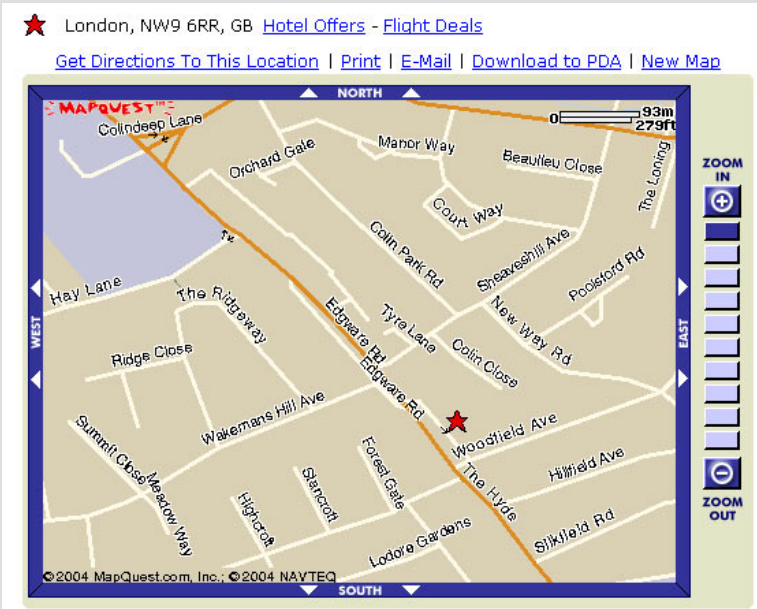

quote:

---

Dr. VonHugenstein came out of the closet to say:
If you just enter the zip, and then zoom all the way in, you can see it--it's a very short street.

---

Wait which one is 9b Varley Parade??

Apr 27, 2004: 04:22

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Tacocriminal

Joined: May 09, 2003

quote:

---

GIANLUCA SESSAREGO
9B VARLEY PARADE
COLINDALE, LONDON, UK
zip code: NW9 6RR

---

I think we should all ship him dog shit. The return address will be his bogus escrow service.

Apr 27, 2004: 04:23

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DarkLotus

Joined: Sep 30, 2001

I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!

quote:

---

Dr. VonHugenstein came out of the closet to say:
This guy apparently gets around. Googling that address gets at least two pseudonyms using that location to perpetuate fraud:

http://www.auctionblacklist.com/vie....php?case\_id=86

http://www.auctionblacklist.com/vie...php?case\_id=182

It also reveals a barber shop at that address--with a phone number:

Jean Climax
9b Varley Parade
London NW9 6RR

|                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  | Tel: (020 8905 9244)click the second link and read a bit, you will see thisquote:this guy Benone asked me what his best price would be (through Ebay contact system) and if I could ship the laptop to London England.Sound Familiar?Also, there is always a chance that the professor is in on the whole scam. They could be buddies and the prof runs the site and splits the profits with this other guy. Lets not forget about him yet, its always a possibility. Apr 27, 2004: 04:24User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote |
|                                              | Dr. VonHugensteinJoined: Feb 16, 2004They Call Him Monsterrodquote:blairerickson came out of the closet to say:[B]Wait which one is 9b Varley Parade??Dunno why it doesn't come up for you, but it's that little circle in the back of the main road: Apr 27, 2004: 04:28User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                   |
|                                              | NextWishJoined: Sep 19, 2002quote:lushka16 came out of the closet to say:Holy shit!! The next course of action is WICKED obvious, he even said it himself:Put like $8000 on the package and make the fucker pay $2200 for it. Apr 27, 2004: 04:37User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                       |

Rib Feast
Joined: Feb 18, 2003

Half the peanuts, but double the corn!

Apr 27, 2004: 04:38

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Halvor
Joined: Aug 17, 2003

The black cards all look the same to me...

Apr 27, 2004: 04:40

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gatsby
Joined: Dec 11, 2003

Hail Doros.

Apr 27, 2004: 04:41

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DSJ250
Joined: Dec 26, 2003

Apr 27, 2004: 04:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

stasis
Joined: Nov 04, 2003

Japan LOL

Apr 27, 2004: 04:59

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lets use goon power to sign him up to every bit of real mail spam possible, I want his house a fire hazard for the next 50 years.

This is probably obvious to everyone else, and it probably doesn't even need to be said... fair warning, if anyone feels like reading further.

It's my guess that he probably gets people's passwords from anyone he can trick into using his "escrow" service. Most people who are dumb enough to fall for it will also be dumb enough to use the same username/password for everything, and so he can get their password from his bogus site, hack their email address, then go to the ebay account, enter the email address and say, "oops! Forgot my password! Can you send it to my email address? THX!"

I hope someone finds this guy and cockpunches him.

Send him like 20 pounds of cocaine and watch on the news as the police storm his house. Yeah, I know that wouldn't work, but...it's fun to think about...in reality, you should probably put a high value on the outside of the box so he pays taxes, and put something wretched inside.

quote:
Gatsby came out of the closet to say:
Send him like 20 pounds of cocaine and watch on the news as the police storm his house. Yeah, I know that wouldn't work, but...it's fun to think about...in reality, you should probably put a high value on the outside of the box so he pays taxes, and put something wretched inside.

HAHAHAHAHAHAHA: You sir just described Utopia.

Don't mark it up $8000; he'll know something is up and won't pay for it. Just don't mark it down any-- he'll probably think you just forgot to help him out, and he'll still probably pick it up. Put a stone slab in the box for weight, and then put a few angry hornets in it (this was suggested earlier and is still the best idea I've read).

|                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| logical fallacy Joined: Mar 16, 2001  | I'm wondering if claiming a low dollar value is just a way to make whatever "authorities" (ebay, shipper, etc) care less about the package when they see such a low value. For example, fraud for $20 doesn't sound nearly as bad as fraud for $2100.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 27, 2004: 05:51                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| pooper scooper Joined: Oct 23, 2003   | Find an old laptop.. a really shitty one, and go OFFICE SPACE on that fucker. Send him a box of busted up barely recognizable laptop parts. ahahah                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 27, 2004: 06:11                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Tyldak23 Joined: Feb 27, 2004 Nails are like candy to robots and we'll eat tires instead of licorice.                 | And then when he complains about the shit in the box we have some London goons show up at his place and kick his ass. It would be so cool if we could get someone from there hand deliver it and watch him open it and take pictures of the look on the douche bags face.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 06:16                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Redmonkey Joined: Dec 31, 2003        | Subscribing in anticipation of a resolution of biblical proportions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 06:43                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| fatman1683 Joined: Jan 08, 2004 Fat Bastard                                                                           | Wouldn't it just be easier to have a couple of said London Goons slap on some blue coveralls and 'hand-deliver' the 'laptop' to our 'buyer'? With digital camera in hand, no less. Maybe even a sneaky little buttonhole cam. They could tell him they have instructions not to leave until he has inspected the package in their presence. I dunno about anyone else, but I'd love to see the look on his face when he opens his FedEx box to find whatever random junk said London Goons acquired, along with a nice 8x10 glossy of this week's popular 'OWNED' image. Edit: Dammit, beaten =( fatman1683 fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 06:46 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 06:44                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| duon Joined: Jun 28, 2002           | Sending pee is illegal I believe. I remember in a thread that sending sperm in the mail was illegal, and I don't think pee is much different. What you should do is get a 10 dollar laptop and send it to him. You can either say "oops wrong one!" or you can put an apple logo on it with whiteout to make him angry.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 27, 2004: 06:52                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| EricFateJoined: Aug 31, 2001Crumpets. Glorious Crumpets. | Send a three ring binder with a hand drawn keyboard taped to the inside of the bottom flap, and a hand drawn screen taped to the inside of the top flap. Crayon preferred.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 06:55                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| AeoliusJoined: Jul 16, 2003Über Lord of Time and Space                                                                                              | quote: duon came out of the closet to say:Sending pee is illegal I believe. I remember in a thread that sending sperm in the mail was illegal, and I don't think pee is much different. But what about vomit? Also, don't put bees in there; they won't survive transit. Use some small, resilient animal, with some food supplies to get it through the trip. I'm thinking something along the lines of an iguana, along with the etch-a-sketch.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:01                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| EpéeJoined: Jun 17, 2003Fencer, Hustler, Poker Playerextraordinaire                                                                            | Go to a butcher, buy and send him a severed pig's head. And I hope he is a muslim too.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:15                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Rooster286Joined: Dec 18, 2000Dr. Rooster Smart, PhD     | quote: Biter came out of the closet to say:[derail] Alright, but I've forgotten some of the info. A goon posted some stuff for download, I believe it was in The Unnameable Forum (Horse Porn Junction). Peeps DLed it, and a script was run inside it that did something bad. I think it stole SA accounts, although I could be wrong on that. Anyway, some goons deconstructed the download, found out that it created a little file called lsass.bat (not to be confused with lsass.exe), and warned all goons to delete it before their computers would be compromised. [/derail] [further derail]That was in the games forum not HPJ, cockmuncher got the link included in a "best of the best free games" thread that exploded before it was found out[/further derail] |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:16                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| UCSDmateoJoined: Feb 25, 2003I WILL STOPPOSTING THREADWHICH CONSISTSOLELY OF "5" OR"GOLD"                                | Question: Is it still illegal (bannable) to post personal info of people who are out to screw or cause mallice to fellow goons?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:29                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003                                                                                           | OK, first of all, you MUST send a crappy $10 laptop after you've beat the shit out of it and painted it white in a VERY crude attempt to make it look like an apple. Mark the package full price to screw him out of money, he'll pay because he's stupid. THEN: Print out every single page of this thread and include it.                                                                                                  | EditQuote |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:33                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                            |
| TwitchJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                                                               | Nooooooo! 7 pages and no closure! My favorite idea is the etch-a-sketch with an apple sticker, or the binder thing. But whatever, I'm just here because this thread delivers (no pun intended).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:36                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| StankCheezeJoined: Aug 04, 2003                                                                                           | quote: <hr/> FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say: THEN: Print out every single page of this thread and include it. <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 07:45                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| barking frogJoined: Mar 15, 2004                                                                                         | quote: <hr/> lushka16 came out of the closet to say: Holy shit!! The next course of action is WICKED obvious, he even said it himself: Put like $8000 on the package and make the fucker pay $2200 for it. <hr/> He can refuse the item... so a more realistic value would be better, so that way he'll still get screwed out of a decent sum of money.                                  |                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 08:15                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| AwesJoined: Nov 03, 2003                                                                                               | Regardless of whatever else is done, I think one thing is clear. Nothing would be funnier than this guy opening the package to be greeted with a swarm of angry wasps, and from my vantage point, all it would take to accomplish this would be one or more London goons with a lot of free time. First, they ship the wasps with no return address, then they camp out with a camera at the 'barber shop' drop off point. Hilarity ensues. |                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 08:44                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| KhisarethJoined: Jul 06, 2003If you give a mouse a cookie, you are supporting underground furry terrorists. | Wouldn't shipping live insects be illegal as well? I'm all for the "$10 laptop painted funny with high claim value so he loses some money" idea. Ebay doesnt give a shit about fraud. I reported a girl selling bootleg CDs full of manga scans of domestically released titles, nothing was ever done. Their answer was: "If the company holding those copyrights don't complain, we can't do anything."                    |                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 09:03                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| LytinwheedleJoined: Mar 08, 2004"I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother." Get into contact with London goons who have time.Freeze turd. Get laptop sized box, fill it with frozen shit and some pain and tub-girl pictures. Declare the value of the contents at 2200$ (whoops, forgot the mail. silly me).Send vial UPS/FedEx. Get tracking number and alert goons when the package is about to get delivered. They will check out the adress and take pictures of the package delivery.Justice will be served in three ways:1)PRANKD!!! Lots of yummy shit and pictures!2)$594 straight down the drain. Awwwww3)Goons taking pictures, posting them here, and on public boards, with adress. Whoever feels like taking a shit will know where to mail it. Pay some yobs to put some stones through his windows, and sign him up for every single item of junkmail in existence.4)'Hello? Police? [And also: Dear Tabloid,]This man was just taking pictures of my 4 year old daughter with a camera phone. He offered her sweets. She always passes his house at &lt;insert adress&gt; , and he often tries to talk to kids and stroke them, and give them stuff. I am scared!'Lytinwheedle fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 09:10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | LytinwheedleJoined: Mar 08, 2004"I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother." Get into contact with London goons who have time.Freeze turd. Get laptop sized box, fill it with frozen shit and some pain and tub-girl pictures. Declare the value of the contents at 2200$ (whoops, forgot the mail. silly me).Send vial UPS/FedEx. Get tracking number and alert goons when the package is about to get delivered. They will check out the adress and take pictures of the package delivery.Justice will be served in three ways:1)PRANKD!!! Lots of yummy shit and pictures!2)$594 straight down the drain. Awwwww3)Goons taking pictures, posting them here, and on public boards, with adress. Whoever feels like taking a shit will know where to mail it. Pay some yobs to put some stones through his windows, and sign him up for every single item of junkmail in existence.4)'Hello? Police? [And also: Dear Tabloid,]This man was just taking pictures of my 4 year old daughter with a camera phone. He offered her sweets. She always passes his house at &lt;insert adress&gt; , and he often tries to talk to kids and stroke them, and give them stuff. I am scared!'Lytinwheedle fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 09:10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 27, 2004: 09:05 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Apr 27, 2004: 09:05 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Dr-NiKoNJoined: Jan 17, 2004foo Another vote for print out thread -&gt; ship -&gt; value it at 2100$.If he receives the package he will be forced to pay taxes and there isn't anything he can do unless you agree to send him a new invoice.Also, send him a new email about how you have to set it at 2100$ for insurance purposes or similar.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Dr-NiKoNJoined: Jan 17, 2004foo Another vote for print out thread -&gt; ship -&gt; value it at 2100$.If he receives the package he will be forced to pay taxes and there isn't anything he can do unless you agree to send him a new invoice.Also, send him a new email about how you have to set it at 2100$ for insurance purposes or similar.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| KhisarethJoined: Jul 06, 2003If you give a mouse a cookie, you are supporting underground furry terrorists.quote:<hr/>Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:Get into contact with London goons who have time.Freeze turd. Get laptop sized box, fill it with frozen shit and some pain and tub-girl pictures. Declare the value of the contents at 2200$ (whoops, forgot the mail. silly me).Send vial UPS/FedEx. Get tracking number and alert goons when the package is about to get delivered. They will check out the adress and take pictures of the package delivery.Justice will be served in three ways:1)PRANKD!!! Lots of yummy shit and pictures!2)$594 straight down the drain. Awwwww3)Goons taking pictures, posting them here, and on public boards, with adress. Whoever feels like taking a shit will know where to mail it. Pay some yobs to put some stones through his windows, and sign him up for every single item of junkmail in existence.4)'Hello? Police? [And also: Dear Tabloid,]This man was just taking pictures of my 4 year old daughter with a camera phone. He offered her sweets. She always passes his house at &lt;insert adress&gt; , and he often tries to talk to kids and stroke them, and give them stuff. I am scared!'<hr/>See, people are offering two routes that don't mix. You can't send biological matter/vandalize someone's house and then tell the police. This guy deserves everything he can get, but shipping what would be considered "hazardous materials" or the like would only get the goons in trouble if found out. What if he sent wasps and customs opened the box? | KhisarethJoined: Jul 06, 2003If you give a mouse a cookie, you are supporting underground furry terrorists.quote:<hr/>Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:Get into contact with London goons who have time.Freeze turd. Get laptop sized box, fill it with frozen shit and some pain and tub-girl pictures. Declare the value of the contents at 2200$ (whoops, forgot the mail. silly me).Send vial UPS/FedEx. Get tracking number and alert goons when the package is about to get delivered. They will check out the adress and take pictures of the package delivery.Justice will be served in three ways:1)PRANKD!!! Lots of yummy shit and pictures!2)$594 straight down the drain. Awwwww3)Goons taking pictures, posting them here, and on public boards, with adress. Whoever feels like taking a shit will know where to mail it. Pay some yobs to put some stones through his windows, and sign him up for every single item of junkmail in existence.4)'Hello? Police? [And also: Dear Tabloid,]This man was just taking pictures of my 4 year old daughter with a camera phone. He offered her sweets. She always passes his house at &lt;insert adress&gt; , and he often tries to talk to kids and stroke them, and give them stuff. I am scared!'<hr/>See, people are offering two routes that don't mix. You can't send biological matter/vandalize someone's house and then tell the police. This guy deserves everything he can get, but shipping what would be considered "hazardous materials" or the like would only get the goons in trouble if found out. What if he sent wasps and customs opened the box? |
| Apr 27, 2004: 09:19 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Apr 27, 2004: 09:19 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| EpéeJoined: Jun 17, 2003Fencer, Hustler, Poker Playerextraordinaire quote:<hr/>Khisareth came out of the closet to say:See, people are offering two routes that don't mix. You can't send biological matter/vandalize someone's house and then tell the police. This guy deserves everything he can get, but shipping what would be considered "hazardous materials" or the like would only get the goons in trouble if found out. What if he sent wasps and customs opened the box?<hr/>I say ship an empty box to some goon in London. That way, you don't pay much shipping yourself. Said goon can use the UPS box with stamps/description/invoice and fake it so it seems it was sent to the frauder from the USA, and fill it with frozen turd/pigs severed head/anthrax or whatever. Goons can then deliver it personally to this guy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | EpéeJoined: Jun 17, 2003Fencer, Hustler, Poker Playerextraordinaire quote:<hr/>Khisareth came out of the closet to say:See, people are offering two routes that don't mix. You can't send biological matter/vandalize someone's house and then tell the police. This guy deserves everything he can get, but shipping what would be considered "hazardous materials" or the like would only get the goons in trouble if found out. What if he sent wasps and customs opened the box?<hr/>I say ship an empty box to some goon in London. That way, you don't pay much shipping yourself. Said goon can use the UPS box with stamps/description/invoice and fake it so it seems it was sent to the frauder from the USA, and fill it with frozen turd/pigs severed head/anthrax or whatever. Goons can then deliver it personally to this guy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 27, 2004: 09:23 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Apr 27, 2004: 09:23 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lucifer Joined: Mar 23, 2004 Old people have sex. Apr 27, 2004: 09:23                                                                                                                                    | Only just saw this thread. I DEMAND at least some of the things suggested here be done. Seriously, it can't be that hard to find some London Goons willing to help. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Khisareth Joined: Jul 06, 2003 If you give a mouse a cookie, you are supporting underground furry terrorists. | quote: Epée came out of the closet to say: I say ship an empty box to some goon in London. That way, you don't pay much shipping yourself. Said goon can use the UPS box with stamps/description/invoice and fake it so it seems it was sent to the frauder from the USA, and fill it with frozen turd/pigs severed head/anthrax or whatever. Goons can then deliver it personally to this guy. Only then, the guy just gets a box of stuff without paying the taxes, which I think is a great plan. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| WhiteHowler Joined: Apr 03, 2001 Yarr.                                                                        | quote: Khisareth came out of the closet to say:See, people are offering two routes that don't mix. You can't send biological matter/vandalize someone's house and then tell the police. This guy deserves everything he can get, but shipping what would be considered "hazardous materials" or the like would only get the goons in trouble if found out. What if he sent wasps and customs opened the box? I agree. You're better off sending something that won't get you in trouble if it's somehow traced back to you (not that someone who's committing fraud is going to run to the police). I definitely endorse valuing the package at $2200 for "insurance purposes" though. Make this shithead pay $500+ for a box full of bricks and scat porn. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                                                                              | Okay, same as previous, but with pain and tubgirl pictures and not shit. Just the ringbinder with the Powerbook-look then. However, you have to destroy that person's life. Paedophilia is a good tool for that. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Epée Joined: Jun 17, 2003 Fencer, Hustler, Poker Player extraordinaire                                                                                                                                              | If I were a goon in London, I would camp outside this dude's address and find out more about him, his habits, go through his mail, find out where he works, his real ID, etc. As quoted before, we need 'retribution in Biblical proportions'. Epée fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 09:42 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 82Brute Joined: Apr 30, 2003 Padawan BAMF                                                                                                                                                                           | Send him Metis's video. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Jussi Joined: Jul 06, 2003 wah wah wah                                                                                                                                                                              | Send yourself in a box and then when opens it climb out and punch him in the face User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

deebo

Joined: Jan 21, 2004

Apr 27, 2004: 09:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

LukeNukem

Joined: Feb 04, 2004

Duct tape is like the Force. It has a light side, a dark side, and it holds the universe together

Holy shit this thread has got so much better since I last looked at it, good luck Jeff.

Apr 27, 2004: 10:07

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Powercrazy

Joined: Feb 15, 2004

I am become death, the destroyer of worlds.

Robert Oppenheimer

quote:

Jussi came out of the closet to say:

Send yourself in a box and then when opens it climb out and punch him in the face

Seems fair.

Just send him a bunch of scat porn a rock for weight and a "friendly" letter. Also value it at 2200, and taxes are good 😊 Also a print out of this thread would be a nice touch, of course then he'd have a target. So I say just stay completely anonymous. You don't need to go totally overboard, and i think that the fact that his address is posted oughta take care of everything. Junk Mail galore.

Voted 5

Apr 27, 2004: 10:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Graviton

Joined: Jun 09, 2002

Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you.

I'll deliver it, i'll be wanting some backup though (in case the address is full of large scary gangsters).

Edit: <http://www.streetmap.co.uk/newmap.srf?x=521276&y=189073&z=1&sv=521276,189073&st=4&mapp=newmap.srf&searchp=newsearch.srf>

Edit2:

Graviton fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 11:37

Apr 27, 2004: 11:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

starvey

Joined: Jul 19, 2001

I am irritable and have no sense of humour to speak of. Furthermore, it is evident that I do not understand Cubism.

Have a London SA goon send him a package locally. That way, we get faster resolution to this this interesting situation. Or at the very least see if we can get some Londoners to wander around the area, ring a few doorbells, and maybe pretend to be selling candy? Something from someone local?

Apr 27, 2004: 11:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Quentin Hardcore

Joined: Apr 27, 2004

Fundamentalist

This thread rocks.

quote:

Graviton came out of the closet to say:
I'll deliver it, i'll be wanting some backup though (in case the address is full of large scary gangsters).

Edit: <http://www.streetmap.co.uk/newmap.s...p=newsearch.srf>

Edit2:

Perhaps you should stake-out the establishment first Graviton. Do you have a digital camera?

I hear you can find out a lot about a person from going through their garbage.

Apr 27, 2004: 12:04

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Graviton

Joined: Jun 09, 2002

Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you.

I was thinking more in terms of 4 guys, a video cam, a mike, car with the motor running in case fast exit is needed, 1 guy dressed in blue shirt black trousers armed with clipboard delivers package and says inspection is required from receiptiant, zoom in on his face as crappy contents of package are viewed along with printout of thread, inform receiptient he has be 'pwned' by forums.somethingawful.com and that scamming is very naughty, exit stage left in car in case of violence 😊

Apr 27, 2004: 12:05

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gort

Joined: Aug 18, 2003

He's a bad dude, dude.

If I wasn't up north, I'd go 😊

Apr 27, 2004: 12:07

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Graviton Joined: Jun 09, 2002  Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you. | quote: starvey came out of the closet to say:Have a London SA goon send him a package locally.That way, we get faster resolution to this this interesting situation.Or at the very least see if we can get some Londoners to wander around the area, ring a few doorbells, and maybe pretend to be selling candy? Something from someone local? I may have an opportunity to 'case the joint' this w/e. Results will be posted. |
| Apr 27, 2004: 12:09                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Starbucks Joined: Jul 07, 2002  Strong Coffee Drinking!                            | quote: Gort came out of the closet to say:If I wasn't up north, I'd go ☺ "I dont cross the river gov"im in the land of sheep and valleys, so I cant help                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 27, 2004: 12:28                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                                        | Don't deliver this locally. a) It might be dangerous.b) By FedExing it to this guy, you are fucking him out of $500 of tax that he will have to pay on the item. He pays and loses. If you deliver it personally, he'll just get a(n) (empty) box and that's it.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 27, 2004: 12:32                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                 | (I'm still reading through this, but anyway) DEFINITELY not English, or even British. No one here would refer to their Post Code as their "zip code:NW9 6RR". So contacting him in London will just be a real address which probably knows nothing about what's going on. Edit: It's 1pm GMT now, expect a beamed in e-mail anytime soon! Refugee fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 12:51                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 12:34                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Halvor Joined: Aug 17, 2003 The black cards all look the same to me...                                                                                                        | quote: Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:Don't deliver this locally.a) It might be dangerous.b) By FedExing it to this guy, you are fucking him out of $500 of tax that he will have to pay on the item. He pays and loses. If you deliver it personally, he'll just get a(n) (empty) box and that's it. NOT an empty box. A Seattle phonebook, for weight.                                                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 12:56                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | Thread delivers. Eagerly awaiting update.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 27, 2004: 13:06                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| dumbass king Joined: Jul 26, 2002 I can now make a joke, but I'm still not funny.                                                                                                               | quote:Biter came out of the closet to say:[derail]Alright, but I've forgotten some of the info. A goon posted some stuff for download, I believe it was in The Unnameable Forum (Horse Porn Junction). Peeps Dled it, and a script was run inside it that did something bad. I think it stole SA accounts, although I could be wrong on that. Anyway, some goons deconstructed the download, found out that it created a little file called lsass.bat (not to be confused with lsass.exe), and warned all goons to delete it before their computers would be compromised.[/derail] The lsass episode was a hacker who posted a couple shareware games in GBS and Games. He tried to pass off a game called Godwars that contained a trojan that imitated the lsass.bat service on Windows machines. It allowed him to control those computers and hijack SA accounts. Several goons tracked him down with their own I33t hacking skillzors and brought his actions to the attention of his school, the local PD and his poor grandparents.First they found the lsass.bat program. Then they decompiled the source and found ICQ and e-mail accounts that were drop points. From there they were able to find a string of e-mail accounts and also trace his IP. The perp ended up giving himself away majorly when he began chatting with his victims over ICQ. Given the user information of various e-mail accounts and ICQ accounts he was, as I said, eventually cornered and ratted out. It was A+ detective work that will never be topped on these forums.quote:Stefan Prodan came out of the closet to say:Lsass.BAT!BAT! NOT EXE! For the love of God, man! I know you got it right the other places, but we don't want people to start replying in THIS thread with "ok cool I deleted lsass.exe, disaster narrowly avoided 🤪"Edited, sorry.dumbass king fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 17:05 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 13:29                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                                                          | Cool. Nice sleuthing there. How much did the I337 hax0r d00d suffer? I hope his AOL CD was snapped in half...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 14:18                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| dumbass king Joined: Jul 26, 2002 I can now make a joke, but I'm still not funny.                                                                                                               | quote:Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:Cool. Nice sleuthing there. How much did the I337 hax0r d00d suffer? I hope his AOL CD was snapped in half... I don't think a followup was ever posted. We got as far as hearing that his college tech services admin was contacted and she was looking into it, since he was using college computers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 27, 2004: 14:21                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

CarnageAsada
Joined: Aug 24, 2001

quote:

lushka16 came out of the closet to say:
Holy shit!! The next course of action is WICKED obvious, he even said it himself:
Put like $8000 on the package and make the fucker pay $2200 for it.

Brilliant! You have to at least do that. How much will it be for you to ship something there?

Apr 27, 2004: 14:33

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

quote:

CarnageAsada came out of the closet to say:

Brilliant! You have to at least do that. How much will it be for you to ship something there?

R->C->P

"Buyer's" already said he'll pay shipping.

Apr 27, 2004: 14:36

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

nikjohns
Joined: Jan 20, 2004

quote:

Refugee came out of the closet to say:

R->C->P

"Buyer's" already said he'll pay shipping.

Yes, but the "Buyer" clearly won't be paying.

Apr 27, 2004: 14:45

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Ataraxia
Joined: Jun 15, 2001

Champion of nothing

quote:

Refugee came out of the closet to say:
DEFINITELY not English, or even British. No one here would refer to their Post Code as their "zip code:NW9 6RR". So contacting him in London will just be a real address which probably knows nothing about what's going on.

well, if the 'zip code' section was off a form, there may be no choice but to fill in the post code in the zip code box (I've had to do this myself before). Also, how can the person at the address NOT know anything about it? It's where the guy has asked him to deliver the item to.

If I wasn't 3.5 hours drive from London, I could drive and had a car I might have thought about doing something.

Apr 27, 2004: 14:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Iznogood
Joined: Jul 10, 2001

quote:

Refugee came out of the closet to say:

R->C->P

"Buyer's" already said he'll pay shipping.

Yeah but he payed the escrow service for the shipping. So I guess he is expecting the sender to pay the shipping and get payed back when the escrow service pays him..

Apr 27, 2004: 14:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DarkLotus
Joined: Sep 30, 2001

I Haven't Been Fucked Like
That Since Grade School!!!

Apr 27, 2004: 14:47

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr-NiKoN
Joined: Jan 17, 2004

foo

quote:

1 guy dressed in blue shirt black trousers armed with clipboard delivers package and screams SOMETHINGAWFUL DOT COM while knocking him to the ground and kicking him, then zoom in on his face as crappy contents of package are viewed along with printout of thread fixed.

Apr 27, 2004: 14:49

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Stefan Prodan
Joined: Jan 07, 2002

Gee, I wish we had one of them doomsday machines.

quote:

dumbass king came out of the closet to say:

First they found the lsass.exe program

Lsass.BAT!

BAT! NOT EXE! For the love of God, man! I know you got it right the other places, but we don't want people to start replying in THIS thread with "ok cool I deleted lsass.exe, disaster narrowly avoided 😊"

Apr 27, 2004: 15:49

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lloyddy
Joined: Sep 27, 2000

Haha, this guy lives in Colindale? I can take the bus or go two stops on the tube and visit him if I didn't fancy going to meet some strange guy from the internet.

On a more serious note, it's nice to see that Colindale has finally got internet there.

Lloyddy fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 16:03

Apr 27, 2004: 15:56

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                            |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| GravitonJoined: Jun 09, 2002Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you. | I think its MyNameIsJeff's call. If he is up for it I will deliver false package and film results. To do this properly I will need at least 2 London or Brighton gooners, 1 with a car (I dont drive) and someone with a decent camcorder. Plus a radio mike on whoever delivers to the door would be good. The following obvious sensible precautions would be followed. If casing the joint reveals that its full of fucking evil looking dudes who will kick our heads in - its off. If whoever opens the door looks like bad news we dont ask for inspection and mock them, we just deliver and leave.                                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |
| Escape Key^3Joined: May 27, 2003yeah well, 20 bux later...                                                                                                                 | I'd do it, but I have to work this w/e, plus I only have a 2-seater (I guess it would be safer to rent one for the occasion anyway). But please do remember to take pics! ☺                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| GevaltJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                                 | quote: <hr/> Refugee came out of the closet to say:(DEFINITELY not English, or even British. No one here would refer to their Post Code as their "zip code:NW9 6RR". So contacting him in London will just be a real address which probably knows nothing about what's going on. <hr/> Not necessarily so. When I've dealt with having things shipped to me from another country, I referred to my ZIP code as a "post code" to avoid confusing the shipper.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | EditQuote |
| blueballJoined: Sep 14, 2001                                                               | quote: <hr/> Graviton came out of the closet to say:I think its MyNameIsJeff's call. If he is up for it I will deliver false package and film results. To do this properly I will need at least 2 London or Brighton gooners, 1 with a car (I dont drive) and someone with a decent camcorder. Plus a radio mike on whoever delivers to the door would be good. The following obvious sensible precautions would be followed. If casing the joint reveals that its full of fucking evil looking dudes who will kick our heads in - its off. If whoever opens the door looks like bad news we dont ask for inspection and mock them, we just deliver and leave. <hr/> This is starting to remind me of Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels. | EditQuote |
| TheChaplainJoined: Apr 22, 2002God is just the start of your problems, neh?   | quote: <hr/> Graviton came out of the closet to say:I think its MyNameIsJeff's call. If he is up for it I will deliver false package and film results. <hr/> That's fucking hot, man. I salute you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Starbucks Joined: Jul 07, 2002  Strong Coffee Drinking! | quote: Graviton came out of the closet to say:I will need at least 2 London or Brighton gooners Yeah, we dont want any chelsea or spurs fans 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 27, 2004: 16:34                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| jood Joined: Mar 20, 2003  victim of a sin-cursed world | I know this is horribly unfunny and a total wetblanketdrag, but how abut just providing all the evidence you've collected and contacting the British authorities? And nailing the guy for fraud and sending him to prison? You know, so you don't get busted for shipping something naughty or get London goons beat up? P.S. Great fucking thread. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Chen Kenichi Joined: Jul 20, 2001                                  | I do not know if this has been said before, but since the guy has to pay that tax/tariff/whatever, a goon SHOULD deliver the package - I mean $500 (demand cash on delivery of course) AND you get to take pics AND enforce GLORIOUS JUSTICE on this guy. This is just too good to be true. Godspeed to you all in this endeavor.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 27, 2004: 16:49                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                             | Listen folks, delivering the package personally might sound cool, but you are missing some things: 1) The packet needs to sent via FedEx, and the sender gets a tracking code. The scammer will want to see that tracking code, or he won't believe Jeff.2) This guy knows exactly what a FedEx/UPS/whatever delivery looks like. Jeff is not the first person he scammed. To be convincing, you guys are missing-the uniform-the van-the paperwork-the pc-thingymabob tool that professional companies use to make you signOn the otherhand, you have a camera. You obviously cannot film him, and the packet will need to be changed so that it looks like it has been sent to him, etc.3) He will expect to pay taxes, as the package will have gone through customs. If you don't ask him to, he'll get suspicious.4) This guy might belong to some Russian mob outfit, as cybercrime is the new thing in the Eastern Block. This explains the shitty English. If you hand-deliver the package, he gets suspicious and starts waving a piece, what then?5) He won't have learnt anything. 'Oh, some losers have found me out. I'll just go to Russia, and they will send Oleg as a replacement, no big deal.' You won't have much of an effect except maybe being able to shriek 'PRANKD!' and leg it. If you send him a telephone book and declare the value of the laptop, Mr. Scammer will have to pay $500 worth of taxes only to find out later that he has been fucked over. This is a lot more painful.To add insult to injury, you may now kick his door in, tape his expression and yell 'PRANKD!' But, Jesus, fuck him out of some tax money first! €dit: By the way, you can even mail him to say that you declared the package at its full value. You are a newbie and you are afraid that you might land him or yorusef in jail because of tax fraud or something, yadda, yadda. He will fall for that, and grudgingly fork out the money. (While still rejoicing that he might have spent 500$ but he will have made another 1600 on re-selling the PC) Lytinwheedle fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 16:56 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 16:51                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MyName!sJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | Ok guys. Heres my email to him: Hello!Well, it looks like I am ready to ship! I got my email from the escrow site too. I also have your email with your address so I will be sending your laptop today or the next day. I told my friend about you and she said that she would like to sell you more if you are interested! Would you like to buy more of the ultra powerful G4 powerbooks? She has them at her work to sell because people only know how to use them for AOL Instant Messenger and flash versions of Asteroid. So please respond as soon as you can. I would like to tell her that you would like to purchase more laptops. You seem pretty cool and trust worthy. So let me know fast. If you want more, send the money to the escrow and let me know. Once I get the email and know that everything is set up I will then send them all at the same time. I save money on shipping this way! Thanks again for all your help with this sale. I only wish I could leave you feedback on ebay because I wanted to leave EXCELENT SELLAR A+ + + W@W LQOK OMGBBQ or something like that. I think feedback is so cool! I like to come up with new and exciting ways to leave it! I was thinking. Since you basically helped me save $250 from ebay fees, I wanted to share some of that with you. So go ahead and tell the Digitally Defended Escrow site that I want to refund you $100 for helping me. They can do that right? That is my gift to you. I eagerly await your response!!!! Jeff(Even if he says he wants more and has sent the money for them all I will say I am sending the one first. Then the others.) Yes. I want to mail him something. <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. I don't really have any laptop to smash up. So I will construct one. Crayons - 3 ring binder - glitter - failed cd burns which I will label as various programs - I will glue keys from broken keyboard. (or should I just draw them?)</li><li>2. A print out of this thread Will be included (sans anything linking to SA)</li><li>3. Gross pictures</li><li>4. The package will be valued at $2100 and will weight the same as a real G4.</li><li>5. Pencil Shavings</li></ol> I will consruct this all as fast as I can. I think I can get it all done today. Yes, I will post pictures! But there is one thing: This will cost me money to send London. So I propose, after I complete this notebook, I will get the exact ammount of shipping. Would any of you be willing to help pay for the shipping? I would post the tracking number of corse. Just a thought. (Its getting shipped - help from anyone or not so stay tuned) |
| Apr 27, 2004: 16:59                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                     | You'll also want pictures of the package before you send it to him. To show us. For our entertainment. Yes. Edit: give us a paypal account and I'll donate some for shipping                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:03                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| thefuNkpuNkJoined: Sep 04, 2003                                | quote: <hr/> MyName!sJeff came out of the closet to say:Would any of you be willing to help pay for the shipping? <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:03                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

|                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Marius Joined: Aug 13, 2003                                         | Sounds excellent. Does FedEx have different weight catagories. I would try to keep the weight down so you pay less. Obviously make it weigh enough to think its a laptop but there is no reason to send him, say bricks. Give it enough weight so he wont doubt its a laptop but make sure its not just overly weighty for you to pay for. Before people me to RCP if you RCP'ed youd see that he is offering to pay for shipping by giving extra money to the escrow account so AFTER Jeff pays for shipping he will be "reimbursed." Oh and if you ask for a signature on delivery, can you find out who signed it and get his name? GL I eagerly await the conclusion                                                                                                                         |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:07                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!   | quote: <hr/> Marius came out of the closet to say:Sounds excellent. Does FedEx have different weight catagories. I would try to keep the weight down so you pay less. Obviously make it weigh enough to think its a laptop but there is no reason to send him, say bricks. Give it enough weight so he wont doubt its a laptop but make sure its not just overly weighty for you to pay for. Before people me to RCP if you RCP'ed youd see that he is offering to pay for shipping by giving extra money to the escrow account so AFTER Jeff pays for shipping he will be "reimbursed." Oh and if you ask for a signature on delivery, can you find out who signed it and get his name? GL I eagerly await the conclusion <hr/>                  |                      |
|                                                                                                                                                                                      | Yeah, I am going to try to match the weight of the G4 exactly. I will wait and find out the exact cost of shipping before I ask for any donations. Thanks guys! This is going to be so awesome.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:10                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| swiss Joined: Jan 29, 2004                                         | quote: <hr/> Lytinwheedle came out of the closet to say:edit: By the way, you can even mail him to say that you declared the package at its full value. You are a newbie and you are afraid that you might land him or yorusef in jail because of tax fraud or something, yadda, yadda. He will fall for that, and grudgingly fork out the money. (While still rejoicing that he might have spent 500$ but he will have made another 1600 on re-selling the PC) <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      |
|                                                                                                                                                                                      | You have to do this. Clearly there is no other option. I hate to sound like a bit of a douchebag here, but perhaps you should cool it with the SA'isms in your emails. Although this guy is extremely unlikely to get any of the references it contains, it could still smack of troll. Now that you've hooked the scumbag, I think it's time to make sure you reel him in correctly. Although, I would rather see this guy face fraud charges than have him pay out a few hundred pounds on taxes. Or is it possible for you to have your cake and eat it too? (In other words, would you sending him a "laptop" as a phonebook or whatever mean that he could escape a potential fraud charge or not?)                                                                                                |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:10                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | quote: <hr/> swiss came out of the closet to say:You have to do this. Clearly there is no other option. I hate to sound like a bit of a douchebag here, but perhaps you should cool it with the SA'isms in your emails. Although this guy is extremely unlikely to get any of the references it contains, it could still smack of troll. Now that you've hooked the scumbag, I think it's time to make sure you reel him in correctly. Although, I would rather see this guy face fraud charges than have him pay out a few hundred pounds on taxes. Or is it possible for you to have your cake and eat it too? (In other words, would you sending him a "laptop" as a phonebook or whatever mean that he could escape a potential fraud charge or not?) <hr/> |                      |

|                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                           | You're right. I'll play the emails down a little bit. About the package: Sending him a fake package would just be a way of helping tracking him down. (Even though I'm sure a fake name will be used.)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:14                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| ChlamydiaJonesJoined: Sep 27, 2002 | I've been smiling since page 2 - that's worth $10$ to me. Post a PP and I'll help with shipping. God DAMN I wish that there was a way to put a remote camera into that box to catch his reaction. I think that, after this is over, I'll just mail all my trash to the guy for the next year or so. And bad copies of prOn that I can't bear to throw away.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:16                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003       | Well, since it will be FedEx and it will have a tracking number, it's plausible that the package delivery can be tracked down to a few hours.. maybe some London goons with time on their hands would like to do a stakeout and at least capture this guy on tape?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:23                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004        | quote: <hr/> ChlamydiaJones came out of the closet to say:I've been smiling since page 2 - that's worth $10$ to me. Post a PP and I'll help with shipping. God DAMN I wish that there was a way to put a remote camera into that box to catch his reaction. I think that, after this is over, I'll just mail all my trash to the guy for the next year or so. And bad copies of prOn that I can't bear to throw away. <hr/> That's not a bad idea, all British Goons sending him shit for a while should encourage him to re-think his game plan.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:23                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003         | quote: <hr/> lushka16 came out of the closet to say:Well, since it will be FedEx and it will have a tracking number, it's plausible that the package delivery can be tracked down to a few hours.. maybe some London goons with time on their hands would like to do a stakeout and at least capture this guy on tape? <hr/> Well.. isn't it more likely that he'll open the package behind closed doors? I would however like to see his face, maybe photoshop it into mugshots (thread idea?), then have the UK goons mail some copies to him along with barbed wire or something.. so can we get some paparazzi goons or somethin? Definately go forward with the fucking-him-out-of-tax-money plan, and try to keep it as legit from now forward as possible so he doesn't get suspicious. Someone mentioned that we should be trying to get this guy persecuted... well apparently his escrow site is already under investigation or something? I doube police will just knock on his door and give him a few months for trying to steal a laptop... if this guy is a big shot scammer he likely has already been under investigation.. P.S. If you send him a copy of this thread, maybe delete all references to SA and nicknames? The thread is comedy, but I dunno about just giving up the whole backstory to him.. P.S.2 How much is shipping costing you? esky fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 17:49 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:47                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Iron DukeJoined: Mar 23, 2004 I am the LAW                                                                                                                                                       | Looks like the guy is trying to sell a motorbike from the same address. http://www.bikez.biz/ads/showad.php?ad=5821                                                                                                                                  |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:49                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                       | quote: esky came out of the closet to say: P.S. If you send him a copy of this thread, maybe delete all references to SA and nicknames? The thread is comedy, but I dunno about just giving up the whole backstory to him.. P.S.2 How much is shipping costing you? |                      |
| You're right. I'll have to think about the thread idea. I don't know how much the cost is yet. I will finish it, and then take it over to the mail office to find out.                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:51                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |
| eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                                              | quote: Iron Duke came out of the closet to say: Looks like the guy is trying to sell a motorbike from the same address. http://www.bikez.biz/ads/showad.php?ad=5821                                              |                      |
| Where is the add to cart button?                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 17:57                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |
| fuckingtestJoined: Mar 31, 2001We can rebuild him. but I don't wanna spend alot of money. | This thread will surpass the I33t SA hacker on so many levels if we get pics, or at least a picture of the house, along with any other info (mailing address, names, etc.) MynameisJeff, would you like a new avatar, or anything else SA related that costs $10?                                             |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:04                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |
| [chavez]Joined: Dec 20, 2003Does your mother know what you do for a living?              | I might have an old laptop you could thrash; I'll look and see if I can find it when I get home from work.                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:17                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003Calculated Karma  | quote:[chavez] came out of the closet to say:I might have an old laptop you could thrash; I'll look and see if I can find it when I get home from work.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                                                                                                                                                                                               | I too have an old laptop or two you could use, apple even. Edit: Shit, you live in Washington. My bad. May I ask what e/n stands for? Voted 5 on this thread. Pure gold. 😊 You could also try to mess with his mind further when the package has been recieved. For example, include instructions on where in London to go to pick up his REAL laptop... ideas?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:19                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| LytinwheedleJoined: Mar 08, 2004"I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                   | That bike auction is a little older. I wonder if that might have been the previous tenant's bike. Of course it might be possible that we are talking about the same person. I'm just looking at the dustbin next to my PC.... I wonder how much it would cost me to send him all that shit. Definitely not more than one or two quid. Also, considering he lives in or near London, the propreties are pretty sought after. How about some ads in the paper, very cheap house, as owner wants to sell in a hurry, with a goon's phone-number to arrange viewings? I digress... But all that after the laptop 'sale' goes through. €dit: I think giving him a real laptop, no matter how trashed and old it is, does not convey the message half as good as a ring binder with keys and glitter would. |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:20                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| black sheepJoined: Jul 01, 2003Ple &gt; Cake                                                                                           | I vote letting fed ex deliver the package to him, but having 2 or 3 goons having a stakeout in a car. when he opens the door to sign the package, bam. we have our pictures. maybe wait about an hr or so after he gets the package and leave a nice note on his door explaining how scamming isn't fun.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:22                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003Calculated Karma | quote:Iron Duke came out of the closet to say:Looks like the guy is trying to sell a motorbike from the same address.http://www.bikez.biz/ads/showad.php?ad=5821 Wow. At this point if I were in london I'd arrange a mass-calling of Goons to call his place. Call in order, one at a time, gradually arguing the price up to astronomical levels as each one of you outbids the other, then finally every one of you backs out. Would be funny, I think.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:23                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| madcosbyJoined: Mar 04, 2003*                                                                                                          | quote:thefuNkpuNk came out of the closet to say:Sounds like a scam to me!!j/k, go get 'em. Of course!! It's so simple. MynameisJeff strings a bunch of goons along in a thread about an ebay scam, and then convinces everyone to help "pitch in" for shipping costs of a bunch of wasps or something. Then he pockets the $8 he made, and laughs all the way to the bank. The money bank. 😊 I like how this is turning out. Can you still send the box and then send the info you've gathered to the british police? I think the best thing you can do is land this guy in prison.                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:25                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Blaise Joined: Sep 10, 2003  Calculated Karma                                   | quote: black sheep came out of the closet to say:I vote letting fed ex deliver the package to him, but having 2 or 3 goons having a stakeout in a car. when he opens the door to sign the package, bam. we have our pictures. maybe wait about an hr or so after he gets the package and leave a nice note on his door explaining how scamming isn't fun. Or a note such as this, fight club style:"Look, the people you are after are the people you depend on. We cook your meals, we drive your ambulances. We connect your calls, we guard you while you sleep. Do not... fuck with us.-SA"?? Humorous or not? |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:26                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Verloc Joined: Feb 15, 2001 Is that a boot? That better be a boot!                                                                                                         | quote: blueball came out of the closet to say:This is starting to remind me of Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels. Subscribed in hopes of bren gun hijinks and bludgeoning with gigantic dildos 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:30                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| OMG LOL BUTSEKZ Joined: Dec 02, 2003 no butseksz plz.                                                                                                                      | oh mann i await.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:30                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| TheChaplain Joined: Apr 22, 2002  God is just the start of your problems, neh? | quote: Blaise came out of the closet to say:"Look, the people you are after are the people you depend on. We cook your meals, we drive your ambulances. We connect your calls, we guard you while you sleep. Do not... fuck with us.-SA" It has the funny, but I'm always against the idea of linking SA to this mess. The Fight Club line alone is pretty cool though.edit - Oh, and DO NOT mail this from your house. Use a facility of some sort.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:31                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| rocco tuna Joined: Aug 03, 2002  chill/smoke an ampersand brah                | why dont you just have the police intervene? that would be much more sane. rocco tuna fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 18:39                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:32                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

|                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| STFU DONNYJoined: Apr 08, 2004V.I. Lenin. Vladimir Illanich Uleninov!                                                                 | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:You're right. I'll have to think about the thread idea.I don't know how much the cost is yet. I will finish it, and then take it over to the mail office to find out. I think it would a great idea to include the thread about this, but cut out / blank out any references to SA, because we don't know how he would respond to this. Excellent thread btw, looking forward to the results.                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:32                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003Calculated Karma | quote: TheChaplain came out of the closet to say:It has the funny, but I'm always against the idea of linking SA to this mess. The Fight Club line alone is pretty cool though.edit - Oh, and DO NOT mail this from your house. Use a facility of some sort. Fine, then no -SA at the bottom. Just that note... should freak him out. Jeff, sound good? London goons?                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:32                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003                        | Actually, before all this goes down, if you guys are going to be collecting evidence, you might want to archive his site (ACTUALLY archive his site, not the SA "archive" his site) for proof, because it'll probably get torn down pretty quickly and changed. Also keep things like the whois information and anything else pertinent. EDIT: and as for my idea of sending a printout of the thread, what I would suggest is really just sending the highlights and editing out obvious leads back to SA. It'll be nice for the guy to be retardedly shocked that he's a moron. |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:33                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| BeekayJoined: Oct 03, 2003StupidNewbieArsehole                                                                                        | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Would any of you be willing to help pay for the shipping? I would post the tracking number of corse. Just a thought.[/B] Around page 7 I thought..."He's gonna ask for $ to send the package. Wouldn't it be crazy if ALL of this was made up BS and all of SA was being PRANK'D?.". Kiddin' dude, you provide pics of the fake G4, I'll see what I can do.                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:41                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

|                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| deebo Joined: Jan 21, 2004  Apr 27, 2004: 18:45      | How about a goon made, "You need to make an appointment at your nearest VD clinic urgently" letter (Maybe mentioning needing a cottan swab down the peehole. Idea from some other thread) User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| dcsmrgun Joined: Feb 25, 2003  Apr 27, 2004: 18:47   | Not to spoil anyone's fun, because I've been laughing my ass off at this thread for the last half hour, but insuring a binder for $2100 can't possibly be legal. I'd be very careful about what you send and what you insure it at. I doubt Customs agents who investigate fraud would be lollerstaking as hard as we are. Edit: whoops, I meant "declaring" instead of "insuring". My bad. dcsmrgun fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 18:54 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                            |
| esky Joined: Apr 15, 2003  Apr 27, 2004: 18:49       | quote: deebo came out of the closet to say:Not to spoil anyone's fun, because I've been laughing my ass off at this thread for the last half hour, but insuring a binder for $2100 can't possibly be legal. lol this is like one of those 'elementary school children in bumblefuck, alabama write letters to be taken on the next NASA moon mission!' headlines User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                   |
| esky Joined: Apr 15, 2003  Apr 27, 2004: 18:51      | quote: dcsmrgun came out of the closet to say:Not to spoil anyone's fun, because I've been laughing my ass off at this thread for the last half hour, but insuring a binder for $2100 can't possibly be legal. I'd be very careful about what you send and what you insure it at. I doubt Customs agents who investigate fraud would be lollerstaking as hard as we are. I doubt it would be illigal until he actually tries to make a claim on a lost package that really was a binder User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| dcsmrgun Joined: Feb 25, 2003  Apr 27, 2004: 18:51 | quote: esky came out of the closet to say:I doubt it would be illigal until he actually tries to make a claim on a lost package that really was a binder Ok, well I'm not a law-talkin'-guy, so I don't know the legality. Just recommending caution, is all ☺ O no, you can't sell grandma's antique binder ☹☹☹vvvvvvv User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003                                                   | quote:dcsmrgun came out of the closet to say:Not to spoil anyone's fun, because I've been laughing my ass off at this thread for the last half hour, but insuring a binder for $2100 can't possibly be legal.I'd be very careful about what you send and what you insure it at. I doubt Customs agents who investigate fraud would be lollerstaking as hard as we are. It has sentimental value roughly equal to $2100. I see no problems...EDIT: plus, I don't believe he's insuring it for $2100. Just declaring it's value at that for customs                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:51User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                 | EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| DohJoined: Oct 07, 2002I'm Rick James BITCH !!                       | Subscribed. Can't wait for the out come.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:54User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                 | EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                         | quote:FunkyBunny came out of the closet to say:It has sentimental value roughly equal to $2100. I see no problems...EDIT: plus, I don't believe he's insuring it for $2100. Just declaring it's value at that for customs Well it does have comedy value of roughly ~$2100, so I see no problems there 🤔                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 27, 2004: 18:59User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                 | EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | quote:Verloc came out of the closet to say:Subscribed in hopes of bren gun hijinks and bludgeoning with gigantic dildos 🤔 But how to get rid of the cabs parked outside?A-Kwika Car9 Varley ParadeLondon NW9 6RRTel: (020 8200 3434)"Hello mate, do you do airports?"EDIT - If the address really does host a barber's shop then we need a goon to go and get their haircut at the time the package is going to arrive. They could take a `friend' or 2 along too, who, while standing and chatting to them, or just sitting, flicking through the magazines, might manage to get a few surreptitious piccies of the package arriving. Recon needed first though, `cause Googling also shows up that address as a vacant lot.Pipski fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 19:17 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:06User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                 | EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

Apr 27, 2004: 19:10

Actually, I seem to remember I ordered some shirts from America to my house (I live in the UK).

I had to pay a collection fee, but the package had been opened because they suspected it of being a bomb. BETTER is to send a none-too busted up, but busted up none-working, laptop or powerbook. If they open it and find it's a binder you could be in the shit. (Sorry, it's taken quite a while for me to remember this)

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

tello
Joined: May 20, 2001

Apr 27, 2004: 19:19

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

This is going to be so awesome.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud
Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

Apr 27, 2004: 19:36

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

Recon needed first

Aren't there any London goons who are willing to go eyeball the place?

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

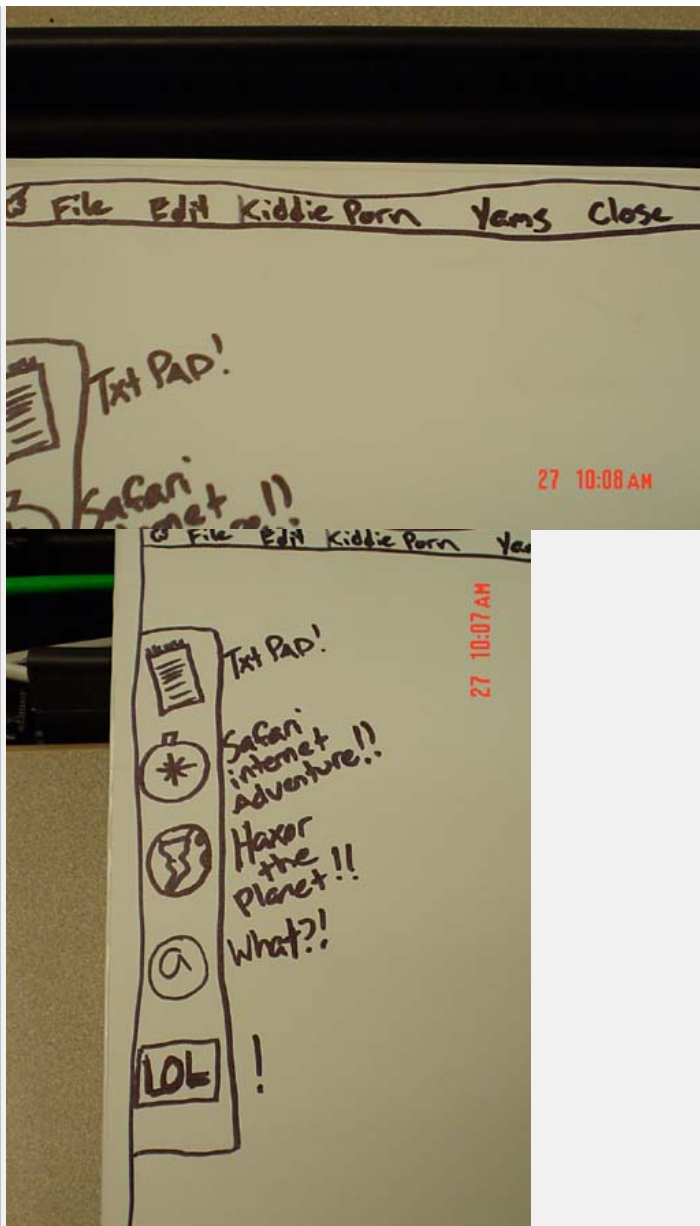

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

BlueTooth mouse!

No track ball!

My cheeks hurt from smiling so big.

MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 07:25

Apr 27, 2004: 19:37

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

EditQuote

black sheep
Joined: Jul 01, 2003

that is a beautiful laptop

Pie > Cake

Apr 27, 2004: 19:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

EditQuote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

Sorry, forgot to resize one.

How can I apply the weight to this thing? (About 6 lbs)

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 27, 2004: 19:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

EditQuote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| HalvorJoined: Aug 17, 2003The black cards all look the same to me...                                                                                           | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:(Its getting shipped - help from anyone or not so stay tuned) Please don't ship from your real address... When he gets fucked over, just remember that he'll know where it was sent from. edit: Naturally, I've been beaten in this sentiment. Halvor fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 19:54                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:39 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | quote: Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: Aren't there any London goons who are willing to go eyeball the place? If no-one else can get it done sooner I can probably make time tomorrow night. Means a hefty commute but Hell, it's a weeknight, I may as well be riding the tube and trying to recce buildings full of Kombinat and Yardies as anything else, right?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:40 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                | Check this out: Email from Ebay:Hello Jeff, Thank you for writing with your concern over the member, msalamon. The recent bids placed with this account were the result of an unauthorized account takeover. Unfortunately, we were not aware of this activity until some time after the bids were placed. Once we became aware of this activity, immediate action was taken. We are now in the process of restoring the account to its owner. I have reported the escrow site to the appropriate department to have it looked at. Since the account holder did not initiate this sale, you may consider the transaction null and void if you have not already shipped the item. Let me also suggest a few ways this takeover could have occurred. If the user had a relatively simple password or password hint question it is possible that a third party was able to gain access to the account by guessing the password. It is also possible that the user could have unknowingly provided his or her password to another party. Some eBay members have reported receiving messages asking for User IDs and passwords. These messages appear to come from eBay Support, but in fact are not. eBay will never ask for sensitive information of this nature through email. Finally, there are a number of computer viruses in circulation that log and record keystrokes. It's recommended that computer users keep their virus alert software up-to-date, and check their system often for problems. A firewall for high-speed Internet users is also highly recommended. I have reviewed your email history and see that the email from &lt;msalamon&gt; was in regards to item # 4125873654. After reviewing this listing, I see that you did end up with a winning bidder, zoeviolet01. We are concerned about violations on the site and have taken the liberty of investigating this member's account. Please be assured that we have taken appropriate action in accordance with our site policies. Such action may include issuing a warning, a temporary suspension, an indefinite suspension or terminating the membership. |

|                                                                                                     |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
|                                                                                                     |  | As you may know, we are unable to provide specific information regarding the result of our investigation to third party members. Please understand that this is for the protection of all eBay users. However, we can tell you that our records indicate that the user you are reporting is currently not a registered eBay user. Since the buyer is no longer registered on the eBay site, you may consider the transaction null and void. You can submit a Final Value Fee credit request by following the instructions below: 1. Click the "site map" link at the top of most eBay pages. 2. On the "Site Map" page, click the link "Request final value fee credit" under the "Seller Accounts" heading in the middle column. I appreciate your interest in the well being of our site. It is assuring to know that we have members who are concerned about the safety of our other users. I encourage you to continue to report all questionable behavior to eBay. This will give us the chance to look into the situation and take action where warranted. Marketplace Safety Tip: Protect yourself from fraudulent emails that ask for sensitive personal information like credit card numbers, passwords, etc. Just because an email message looks like it is sent directly from eBay, it isn't always. To learn more about protecting yourself from fake or "spoof" emails, visit our online tutorial by simply cutting and pasting the following Web address into your browser window: http://member.ebay.com/ad/ck/1065-11789-3840-13 Thanks again for writing, and thank you for being part of the eBay community. Regards, CyanFraud Prevention Group Well isn't that nice! The guy I reported hacked an account, and the person that just won is a fraudulent account as well! yay! |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:45                                                                                 |  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| HamburglarJoined: Dec 31, 2000                                                           |  | I am seriously in tears here from laughing so hard. Your plan is completely brilliant. You won't have a problem with customs opening up your package. At one point last year I sent THREE packages a day for 6 months straight without ever having one opened (selling band t shirts). Also he will gladly pay that tax fee to get that laptop. It's gold in so many ways.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                      |
| ROBBLE ROBBLE/FUCK THE POLICE                                                                       |  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:50                                                                                 |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                      |
| ChaseJoined: Apr 30, 2002                                                                |  | That laptop you made is fucking beautiful.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:51                                                                                 |  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| darkrabbitJoined: Sep 11, 2001                                                           |  | Who the hell names their kid 'cyan'? What are his brother and sisters names, Magenta and Flesh-Tone? Cool thread, btw, the 'computer' is LO genius!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                      |
| I want a pony |  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| Apr 27, 2004: 19:52                                                                                 |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                      |

FunkyBunny
Joined: Apr 08, 2003

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
Pics of the laptop:

<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/topclosed.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/back1.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/back2.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/keys1.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/touchpad.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/functionkey.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/topmenu.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/leftmenu.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/bottomright.jpg>
BlueTooth mouse!
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4...toothmouse1.jpg>
No track ball!
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/laser.jpg>
<http://www.bootsix.net/images/theg4scam/righthand.jpg>

My cheeks hurt from smiling so big.

I thought you were going to send him a fake one?

quote:

ChlamydiaJones came out of the closet to say:
Holy shit that's the funniest spoof on the planet ever in history. I couldn't stop laughing at "fire wire" for some reason.
Just ask for shipping help.

I'm a bigger fan of "LASER!" personally...

Apr 27, 2004: 19:57

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Halvor
Joined: Aug 17, 2003

The black cards all look the same to me...

quote:

Hamburglar came out of the closet to say:
I am seriously in tears here from laughing so hard. Your plan is completely brilliant.

You won't have a problem with customs opening up your package. At one point last year I sent THREE packages a day for 6 months straight without ever having one opened (selling band t shirts). Also he will gladly pay that tax fee to get that laptop. It's gold in so many ways.

But did you insure them for $2100?

Apr 27, 2004: 19:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Shii
Joined: Feb 17, 2004

Mail that laptop.

Apr 27, 2004: 19:59

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Joe-Randomosity Joined: Sep 21, 2003  YOUR STALKER IS WATCHING YOU                                   | This thread transcends awesomeness. Just don't become a huge attention whore like Ellis D did after his "I Cybered with my Uncle!" thread. Keep us updated as to when he sends the laptop. A goonmeet during the arrival is a must too!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:02                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                              | quote: <hr/> Shii came out of the closet to say: Mail that laptop. <hr/> I plan to. Still working on the weight thing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:03                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote: <hr/> RDevz came out of the closet to say: Bags of sand, labelled "silicon chips to be"? <hr/> I'd be afraid of setting off a terror alert with bags of sand. How about taking the bottom metal part (is it called the shoe?) off a household iron and taping it in the middle? Alternative: tire balance weights. edit: Do you have the box the G4 originally came in? That would be a nice detail to include. Mr. Scammer opens the box and it's full of SWEET, SWEET JUSTICE.                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:04                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                            | quote: <hr/> Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: I'd be afraid of setting off a terror alert with bags of sand. How about taking the bottom metal part (is it called the shoe?) off a household iron and taping it in the middle? Alternative: tire balance weights. edit: Do you have the box the G4 originally came in? That would be a nice detail to include. Mr. Scammer opens the box and it's full of SWEET, SWEET JUSTICE. <hr/> Hmm. Good idea. I think I have a ruined iron somewhere. Also - Yes, I have a G4 box. But I think I should keep it to actually sell with the real laptop. |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:08                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

Hamburglar
Joined: Dec 31, 2000

ROBBLE ROBBLE/FUCK THE POLICE

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

I plan to. Still working on the weight thing.

Try shipping it with a real computer part, like an old non working CD Rom drive. That way in the rare instance someone from customes DOES open it (doubt it) they will see a computer part and move along.

Apr 27, 2004: 20:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

The Land Baron
Joined: Oct 05, 2000

human junk just words and so much skin

I did find this googling around:

<http://www.carbuyingtips.com/fraud.htm>

They probably just got added since the site is at the bottom of the list.

Apr 27, 2004: 20:36

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DarkLotus
Joined: Sep 30, 2001

I Haven't Been Fucked Like
That Since Grade School!!!

quote:

Hamburglar came out of the closet to say:

Try shipping it with a real computer part, like an old non working CD Rom drive. That way in the rare instance someone from customes DOES open it (doubt it) they will see a computer part and move along.

This won't be an issue if you don't use your real name or address on the shipping form.

Make up an address, or use an old address or a neighbors address. You don't want the buyer to find you, and you don't want customs to find you either.

quote:

k_killmore came out of the closet to say:

I did find this googling around:

<http://www.carbuyingtips.com/fraud.htm>

They probably just got added since the site is at the bottom of the list.

This was posted a few pages back.

quote:

danslemur came out of the closet to say:

How about books? Bottles of water would also be heavy.

Liquid would be noticable if they shook it or x rayed it. customs would have a hay day. VVVVVV

DarkLotus fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 20:49

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:38 danslemurJoined: May 22, 2003  FRISKEY KITTARN                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: I plan to. Still working on the weight thing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Edit Quote |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | How about books? Bottles of water would also be heavy. edit: quote:DarkLotus came out of the closet to say:Also, bonus if this is somehow legit and the system fucks up and you get $2100. Share the love.This was posted a few pages back.Liquid would be noticable if they shook it or x rayed it. customs would have a hay day.VVVVVVVVVVVVVVVVVVVVV What's wrong with liquid? Also, if it is legitimate, it's not bonus that you get $2100 from someone and send them crap. This is when you feel bad and send them the real laptop with apologies. Sending a fake laptop is fraud if the buyer is actually sending the money.danslemur fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 20:43 |                                  |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:38 PowercrazyJoined: Feb 15, 2004 I am become death, the destroyer of worlds. Robert Oppenheimer                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Just remember the most important part, Claim the value is 2200.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:39 black sheepJoined: Jul 01, 2003 Pie &gt; Cake                                                                                                                          | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Sorry, forgot to resize one. maybe have random car parts? or random pieces of junkyard metal?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Edit Quote |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:41 lostsailorJoined: Jan 28, 2004  The desires we deny will find us in fate. | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts props if you rig a mail bomb that ejects hundreds of 12 penny nails when opened.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Edit Quote |
| Apr 27, 2004: 20:46                                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Edit Quote |

DarkLotus
Joined: Sep 30, 2001

I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!

quote:

---

danslemur came out of the closet to say:

How about books? Bottles of water would also be heavy.

edit:

What's wrong with liquid? Also, if it is legitimate, it's not bonus that you get $2100 from someone and send them crap. This is when you feel bad and send them the real laptop with apologies. Sending a fake laptop is fraud if the buyer is actually sending the money.

---

If you say you are shipping a laptop and you can hear liquid inside, or see it on an x-ray, they will get suspicious and open the box and see the fake laptop. As far as keeping the money if any magically showed up, just forget about it. It would never happen anyways, its a fact that this guy is a fraud.

Apr 27, 2004: 20:48      User's Profile / Image   Send a Private Message   User's Homepage   Search For More Posts

Edit   Quote

Teflon Bob
Joined: Feb 02, 2004

quote:

---

danslemur came out of the closet to say:

How about books? Bottles of water would also be heavy.

edit:

What's wrong with liquid? Also, if it is legitimate, it's not bonus that you get $2100 from someone and send them crap. This is when you feel bad and send them the real laptop with apologies. Sending a fake laptop is fraud if the buyer is actually sending the money.

---

I often lose sleep over scammers losing all that milk money, too. Maybe we can start a support group or something. Can we have name tags and doughnuts?

Apr 27, 2004: 20:49      User's Profile / Image   Send a Private Message   Search For More Posts

Edit   Quote

danslemur
Joined: May 22, 2003

FRISKEY KITTARN

quote:

---

Teflon Bob came out of the closet to say:

I often lose sleep over scammers losing all that milk money, too. Maybe we can start a support group or something. Can we have name tags and doughnuts?

---

they wouldn't technically be scammers if they actually sent you money, now would they?

Apr 27, 2004: 20:50      User's Profile / Image   Send a Private Message   Search For More Posts

Edit   Quote

IdeoPraxist
Joined: Jan 29, 2004

Creating Ideas for Good and Evil

quote:

---

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

Check this out:

Well isn't that nice! The guy I reported hacked an account, and the person that just won is a fraudulent account as well! yay!

---

Apr 27, 2004: 20:52

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

telloc
Joined: May 20, 2001

quote:

lostsailor came out of the closet to say:
props if you rig a mail bomb that ejects hundreds of 12 penny nails when opened.

I was thinking a spring-loaded boxing glove-in-a-box, myself.

Apr 27, 2004: 20:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski
Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

Don't send liquid! I got shipped a bottle of Henderson's Relish through the UK postal system last year - it got broke and caused an anthrax panic at the sorting office.

Apr 27, 2004: 21:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

CapnAndy
Joined: Feb 27, 2004

Ninja Code Monkey

I really hope that there's goons there taking pictures when the guy opens it, for more reasons than comedy value.

As soon as Goon Justice is dispensed, it's time for Real Justice, I think. Turn this entire thread, all your emails, the url of the fake escrow site, and the pictures of the guy opening the box over to the FBI. Enjoy resuling arrest warrants. The FBI eats people who commit mail fraud for breakfast.

Apr 27, 2004: 21:16

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

RDevz
Joined: Dec 07, 2002

A pithy and original quote

quote:

CapnAndy came out of the closet to say:
As soon as Goon Justice is dispensed, it's time for Real Justice, I think. Turn this entire thread, all your emails, the url of the fake escrow site, and the pictures of the guy opening the box over to the FBI. Enjoy resuling arrest warrants. The FBI eats people who commit mail fraud for breakfast.

If it turns out that he's based in the UK, wouldn't the Metropolitan Police be a better idea, due to the fact that he's within their jurisdiction at the moment?

Apr 27, 2004: 21:20

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Headhunter
Joined: Jun 03, 2003

One - You lock the target

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
P-P-P-Powerbook

Thank you so much for this thread. I've had a shit day today but that first picture of the "laptop" made everything right again.

Apr 27, 2004: 21:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| roger Joined: Dec 12, 2003                                                                                       | I &lt;3 the fine touches 😊 Nice work!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 21:43                                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| gav Joined: Nov 08, 2003 hang the dj                                                                                                                                                             | Hahah, it's taken me most the night to get through this but it sure was worth it. Awesome thread.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 27, 2004: 21:44                                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                                | Someone is a little anxious! -----Original Message-----From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com]Sent: Tuesday, April 27, 2004 1:22 PMTo: MyNameIsJeffSubject: Re: One question before I ship! OK What configuration have the apple?Please send me today the package because I need soon.Please email me the track number. |
| Apr 27, 2004: 21:45                                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003 I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Someone is a little anxious! Send it! SEND IT! SEND HIS COMPUTAR MACHENE! edit: Brilliant thread. Love it.                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 27, 2004: 21:47                                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| dcsrmrgun Joined: Feb 25, 2003                                                                                 | quote: lostsailor came out of the closet to say:props if you rig a mail bomb that ejects hundreds of 12 penny nails when opened. But be sure to write "not a bomb" on the package, so customs agents don't needlessly get hurt! 🇬🇧                                                                                                          |
| Apr 27, 2004: 21:47                                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| idolmind86Joined: Jun 13, 2003                                      | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: 5. Pencil Shavings Superb touch. And not to repeat things that have already been mentioned in the thread but I think you can get in serious trouble for shipping human waste and things like that. Some sort of medical biohazard law...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Apr 27, 2004: 21:48User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                 |
| Liquid 2.0Joined: Jan 22, 2003hoep i got ten bux lol!!                                                                                              | quote: roger came out of the closet to say:I &lt;3 the fine touches 😊Nice work!http://www.rstoor.pwp.blueyonder.co.uk/keyboard.jpg I didn't even see that. Amazing job on the powerbook.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Apr 27, 2004: 21:56User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote |
| andrzejpwJoined: Jul 28, 2003has a headphones fetish.                                                                                               | just wondering: when are you planning on shipping the laptop? Note: voted 5 for best thread in a while                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Apr 27, 2004: 22:00User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                 |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!    | I won't get in trouble for sending this claiming it's worth $2000 will I? I know I have to write what it is on the slip, so I will put NOTEBOOK. That can be either one right? What if I put my name, but just a totall fake address? Like to the olive garden or something? EDIT - Can someone archive that escrow site? MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 22:03 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts | Apr 27, 2004: 22:01User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote |
| XakEpJoined: Dec 20, 2002Don't hate me because I'm gay | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I won't get in trouble for sending this claiming it's worth $2000 will I?I know I have to write what it is on the slip, so I will put NOTEBOOK. That can be either one right?What I put my name, but just a totall fake address? Like to the olive garden or something?EDIT - Can someone archive that escrow site? Or you can put your worst enemy on it as the return addy                                                                                                                        | Apr 27, 2004: 22:03User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| wargasmJoined: Mar 04, 2004[M] village drunkard                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | posting for threefold value on this super tuesday 1. subscribed for future generations2. it's a fraudulent buyer and/or seller eBay auction. they are so rare, I'm bedazzled by this thread about it and plan to make copies of it.3. only good can come of this. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                |
| Ice BlueJoined: Mar 20, 2002Sigh.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | How about selling it on SA-Mart or Ars? User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| MyNameI sJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!quote:fuckingtest came out of the closet to say:This thread will surpass the l33t SA hacker on so many levels if we get pics, or at least a picture of the house, along with any other info (mailing address, names, etc.)MynameisJeff, would you like a new avatar, or anything else SA related that costs $10?A new avartar would be really cool! Perhaps one that relates to this thread?Thanks! | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Teflon BobJoined: Feb 02, 2004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | You could always pay homage to the Blues Brothers, and use Wrigley Field as the return address User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| andrzejpwJoined: Jul 28, 2003has a headphones fetish.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Note sure if putting "notebook" on it would be a great idea, as I'm sure a $2100 pad of paper would raise some suspicion. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Jeff, how could you get into trouble? He isn't actually going to pay you, if he pays the tax that's his own problem, you could just ask for proof of intended payment, which he can't give because he sent you to a bogus site. I'm only worried about it getting searched then trashed because customs open it and find a P-P-P-owar Ringbinder. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote |

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Refugee came out of the closet to say:

Jeff, how could you get into trouble? He isn't actually going to pay you, if he pays the tax that's his own problem, you could just ask for proof of intended payment, which he can't give because he sent you to a bogus site.

I'm only worried about it getting searched then trashed because customs open it and find a P-P-P-owar Ringbinder.

That's what I'm worried about!

Apr 27, 2004: 22:15

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Shemp Howard

Joined: Jul 27, 2003

That is the greatest notebook ever created. I laughed so hard I clapped. Bravo.

You're wrong, quiz kid.

Apr 27, 2004: 22:15

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

esky

Joined: Apr 15, 2003

quote:

andrzejpw came out of the closet to say:

Note sure if putting "notebook" on it would be a great idea, as I'm sure a $2100 pad of paper would raise some suspicion.

but notebook would also imply a notebook computer.. besides, i don't think you can get in trouble for something like that, unless you try to do some sort of insurance fraud..

Apr 27, 2004: 22:17

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud

Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

quote:

Shemp Howard came out of the closet to say:

That is the greatest notebook ever created. I laughed so hard I clapped. Bravo.

Hell yeah. I want one of those that's college ruled, for MORE STORAGE...

All kidding aside, have we categorically determined that no funds are forthcoming? The escrow site is def a confirmed fake?

Apr 27, 2004: 22:17

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee

Joined: Apr 08, 2004

What? Customs trashing it? Then the UPS number will say that it got stopped at customs, just tell him to go and collect it.

They can't do anything about it, he's trying to rip you off which you have proof of, he's stolen an account and then asked you to send him something while he 'pays' you. Nothing bad can happen to you, it's just a little less funny if he doesn't get the package.

Fingers Crossed! (Found out how much you'll need yet?)

Apr 27, 2004: 22:18

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                        | quote: Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: Hell yeah. I want one of those that's college ruled, for MORE STORAGE... All kidding aside, have we categorically determined that no funds are forthcoming? The escrow site is def a confirmed fake?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                      | Yeah, read the first two pages.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:19                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Lytinwheedle Joined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                              | Wow! Oh Wow! That 'notebook' delivers with a vengeance! Now, go for the kill!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:27                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| spinflip Joined: Sep 11, 2001 O_o Helo U                                                                                                            | My small contribution to this great thread: Is there a chance that this barber shop is simply a drop point for him? And if in fact it is a vacant lot (someone said this above) it would be a very easy drop point. Just a little something to consider (pix plz?!) Good luck however this goes Edit:Also as far as the custom title/avatar goes, a police badge saying "Goonjustice" or something might be kinda neat. spinflip fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 22:35 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:31                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| lushka16 Joined: Apr 08, 2003                                      | ^^^ Or one that says, "P-P-P-Powerbook!"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:40                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| rhig Joined: Jul 14, 2002 bitches can't hide from this | I would just put computer equipment as the contents and put an old network card or something in with it, then if it is opened there is more chance customs will just send it through not caring what the card is. If there's just the fake laptop they might note it for the courier to mention when they phone this guy to confirm the tax. Insuring/Labeling at $2000 is probably ok if you're not intending to somehow scam the courier.                                                                                                   |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:45                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

|                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Marius Joined: Aug 13, 2003     | quote: spinflip came out of the closet to say:My small contribution to this great thread: Is there a chance that this barber shop is simply a drop point for him? And if in fact it is a vacant lot (someone said this above) it would be a very easy drop point. Just a little something to consider (pix plz?!) I would assume that someone has to be there to sign for it. If they are just collecting it for him then they probably will not open it any way. I think saying notebook should work but you could always say notebook computer and put in a freebie calculator that I hope everyone has. Technically its a notebook and a computer but they cant get mad at you for poor grammar. I would put a return address that isnt your own but is real and try to not make anything that would make them think the package is weird. I dont think its that hard to get it through customs as long as there isnt anything overtly suspicious. Also even if they open it, if there is nothing dangerous inside what would they do other then close it and allow it to continue on to the address. If they feel the objects inside are NOT worth the outside value they would change the value? Or just try to make some money for the govt? No one is insuring this object and if the object is damaged the value suggested is not the one UPS would use to reimburse? They have their own system? Good Luck and mail it soon, dont forget to require a signature and make sure you say like ok the package has just been shipped to the address. I was afraid I would get in trouble so I valued it at $2100. Like I said earlier I want to give you 100 dollars back anyways from what you are offering for being so nice. I also required signature so no one tries to con you. |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:46                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Sejanus Joined: Jun 15, 2001    | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:EDIT - Can someone archive that escrow site? Here you go: set-ltd.zip.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 27, 2004: 22:49                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| solorca Joined: Mar 29, 2004  | Your best bet is to include an old book. Go to a local bookstore, and pay about 2 bucks for an old book that looks somewhat fancy. Since book values can be extremely high, no one will question it.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:03                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                   | I really wish I had something of value to add to the thread, but in the meantime I'm going to use this thread as a reason to convince a few more co-workers to buy accounts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:04                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                   | quote: solorca came out of the closet to say:Your best bet is to include an old book. Go to a local bookstore, and pay about 2 bucks for an old book that looks somewhat fancy. Since book values can be extremely high, no one will question it. That works well with the "play on words description" of the item. Include a "Note" of some sort, maybe a goon-justice note of terror? And then the "Book". Item descript when shipping could be "Note Book", which seems reasonably bad grammar to not arouse any wierd suspicions anywhere. Yah... sounds pretty dumb now that I typed it out, but meh... POST.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:08 MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote Ok, I just got back from the "Pack Man." For those of you interested, It's going into a 18x18x5 inch flat panel box wrapped in brown paper. This trip to london will be accompanied by a broken cdrom drive and an informative excel 97 book. (And yes, I taped the fuck out of it.)FedEx Priority $80.41 2-3 DaysGlobal Express $63.44 Week or soSome other service $40-something 2 weeks ughOk guys, I'd like to go priority if possible. If we get close enough I will eat the rest. So if at least 70 people give a dollar we are in business!Watch for a post letting you all know we reached the goal! I will refund any payments made past $80 -but it will just be easier if they stop after $80.Paypal: mynameisjeff@bootsix.netThats a really good idea rhig. For contents I will just put "Computer Parts." There will be a broken cdrom drive in there.Thanks for zipping the site Sejanus!MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 23:15 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:09 XakEpJoined: Dec 20, 2002 Don't hate me because I'm gay             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote paypal addy would be nice                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:13 MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!               | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote quote:<hr/>XakEp came out of the closet to say:paypal addy would be nice<hr/> I guess it would! mynameisjeff@bootsix.net                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:16 YossarkoJoined: Jan 22, 2004 The little Armenian boy who could... | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote I'd love to contribute but have no paypal account 😞But I wish you the best of luck and find your p-p-p-powerbook simply fantastic 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| atomjack Joined: May 17, 2003  Still a stupid newbie, but no longer cheap | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: I guess it would! mynameisjeff@bootsix.net this thread really delivers. totally worth the $1. so come on guys, pony up!                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:20                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Moses66 Joined: Feb 06, 2004 Who wants a body massage...?                                                                                                            | I sent my .15 cents and now my paypal is empty.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:22                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Dart Joined: Nov 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                       | If there's anyone else up for it (don't want to go on my own 😞) I may be willing to hang around the delivery address, but that's dependent on the time of day. Adding my dollar's worth, too. Dart fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 23:24                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:22                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| kiimo Joined: Jul 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                      | Glory glory hallelujah. Avatar should read "Marshall of Goonjustice" with a blank badge that has a sticker on it that says "badge". Like this Attachment: us-marshal-badge.gifThis has been downloaded 3297 time(s).                                                                         |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:28                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Vince McMahon Joined: Dec 18, 2003                                                  | Don't want to be a killjoy but did you check with the mods about the paypalisaiton of the thread?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:29                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Aeolius Joined: Jul 16, 2003 Über Lord of Time and Space                                                                                                             | quote: RDevz came out of the closet to say: Bags of sand, labelled "silicon chips to be"? More like "silly con." 🤪 quote: Blaise came out of the closet to say: May I ask what e/n stands for? http://forums.somethingawful.com/di...ct=3&amp;topicid=50 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:30                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Some say Entertainment/News, some say Everything/Nothing. I prefer the latter. EDIT: Donated 1/2 of $10$. Don't spend it on booze or anything; I clearly designated in the subject line that it was to be spent on Goon Justice. Aeolius fucked around with this message at Apr 27, 2004 around 23:35 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| ScudJoined: Apr 02, 2002 disposable assassin                                                                        | quote: <hr/> solorca came out of the closet to say:Your best bet is to include an old book. Go to a local bookstore, and pay about 2 bucks for an old book that looks somewhat fancy. Since book values can be extremely high, no one will question it. <hr/> Bonus points if that book is "Crime and Punishment"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:32 MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 27, 2004: 23:34 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote quote: <hr/> Vince McMahon came out of the closet to say:Don't want to be a killjoy but did you check with the mods about the paypalisaiton of the thread? <hr/> No, I didn't. I didn't think I needed to. Checking rules now.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| jstirrellJoined: Aug 08, 2003                                                                                            | I will gladly donate $1 to this noble cause.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:35 savinis_acolyteJoined: Mar 24, 2003 Say hello, Bub! Say hello to your Aunt Alicia! | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote PayPal'ed a couple bucks for Goon Justice.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:37 ®Joined: Nov 20, 2002                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote Fucking AWESOME. You should definitely put "computer equipment" on the claim form (and $2200, obviously). And either: A)He will assume you got flustered, being an ebay newbie, and forgot all about his mini tax scam, or B)Maybe you should just tell him that you are claiming $2200, because you are worried about getting in trouble, that way he will be prepared to pay the $500 when the 'laptop' comes in. What are the odds that he would be able to pay if he wasn't prepared? He should be willing to pay, since he will be getting the laptop for free. I am definitely willing to contribute PayPal. I'm really tight on money now, so I will only send $5, but if you still need money on Friday (when I get my paycheck), I can contribute as much as $20. Rock on!!! |

|                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                             | Edit: My name is Kevin, just so you know which payment is mine. I forgot to include my username anywhere in the transaction. @ fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 00:12                                                                                              |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:42                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                 | EditQuote |
| GuberJoined: Sep 02, 2003Optimus Prime ate my uncle  |  love the thread, $3 heading its way to you.                                                                                                                                                                      |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:45                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                 | EditQuote |
| gibsonisacrippleJoined: Feb 24, 2001CHAMPIONS        | paypal sent to the value of $1.74, the current equivalent to £1 limy pound.                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:47                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                 | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | Your contributions are awesome guys! $16.03 so far(Stupid paypal takes that fee. The fuckers.)                                                                                                                                                                                     |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:48                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                 | EditQuote |
| OilpipelineistanJoined: Mar 23, 2004                          | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: I guess it would! mynameisjeff@bootsix.net I am sending you the HUGE donation of 1 US Dollar (CASH MONEY!). Oh, and P-P-P-PowerPay(&amp;trade)! |                      |
| Apr 27, 2004: 23:50                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                 | EditQuote |

Yossarko

Joined: Jan 22, 2004

The little Armenian boy who could...

Ideas for avatar:

With the custom text "P-P-P-POWERBOOK!"

Apr 27, 2004: 23:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Yossarko came out of the closet to say:

Ideas for avatar:

With the custom text "P-P-P-POWERBOOK!"

Those are awesome! I hope he is still going to do it!

Apr 28, 2004: 00:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Teflon Bob

Joined: Feb 02, 2004

I sent a couple bucks, don't let us down man! 🙄

Apr 28, 2004: 00:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Trampus

Joined: Sep 28, 2001

I smell shenanigans!
Shenanigans, I say!

Apr 28, 2004: 00:06

$5 sent

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ChlamydiaJones Joined: Sep 27, 2002  Apr 28, 2004: 00:10                                                  | $10$ I love how paying more makes justice happen faster. Appropriate somehow! User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                  |
| rottingcorpse Joined: Dec 12, 2003 you forgot to renew your domain.com Apr 28, 2004: 00:12     | Just a bit of unimportant information, the address set-ltd.net is registered to has an ebay account:http://cgi2.ebay.com/aw-cgi/eBayISA...art007&amp;items=25 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                  |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 28, 2004: 00:15                     | $32 guys!Thanks! I wouldn't be able to send him his laptop without you all. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                           |
| Fillerbunny Joined: Jul 25, 2002  Apr 28, 2004: 00:16                                                     | quote: Yossarko came out of the closet to say:Ideas for avatar: I like that one. Paypal sent. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| atomjack Joined: May 17, 2003 Still a stupid newbie, but no longer cheap Apr 28, 2004: 00:18 | Jeff, why don't you let the amount go up to $90 so that you can get that custom avatar. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                    |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| The Grey Joined: Mar 02, 2004 The time is near.                                                                                                                        | Just ponied up $1 As far as London Goons, I'm guessing you don't want to waste an entire day hanging around a Barber Shop waiting for a FedEx guy. Even when he does show up, I'm sure the scammer will take his package in right away. However... Could someone at least post a picture of the place?       |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:18                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Marius Joined: Aug 13, 2003                                                            | Computer Parts will make him suspicious. Why would it be parts? Maybe Computer stuff or Powerbook and accesories. Actually Powerbook and accessories I think would be pretty good. I dont know, but something.                                                                                                |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:21                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Yossarko Joined: Jan 22, 2004  The little Armenian boy who could...         | quote: atomjack came out of the closet to say:Jeff, why don't you let the amount go up to $90 so that you can get that custom avatar. I'd be honoured if he did get it. I think it needs the text too though.                                                                                |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:24                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                        |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                     | quote: atomjack came out of the closet to say:Jeff, why don't you let the amount go up to $90 so that you can get that custom avatar. Well, an avatar was offered by fuckingtest. I asked for goons to donate to help send the package.                                           |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:25                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                        |
| atomjack Joined: May 17, 2003  Still a stupid newbie, but no longer cheap | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Well, an avatar was offered by fuckingtest.I asked for goons to donate to help send the package. yeah i know, but it'll be less of a hit on 10 extra people donating a buck than to him donating ten. your decision though ☺ |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:26                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                        |

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Marius came out of the closet to say:
Computer Parts will make him suspicious. Why would it be parts? Maybe Computer stuff or Powerbook and accesories.
Actually Powerbook and accessories I think would be pretty good. I dont know, but something.

He will still open it.

Apr 28, 2004: 00:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Curufin
Joined: Oct 06, 2003

Fifth Son of Fëanor

Why not just put the description as "Computer"? Clear enough for customs, not fishy to the scammer until he opens it.

This thread is so awesome. I may just have to give up some cash to see this plan executed.

Apr 28, 2004: 00:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

AngryLogic
Joined: Feb 21, 2004

My $2 just sent. I can't wait to watch the tracking on this package.

Apr 28, 2004: 00:30

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski
Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

quote:

The Grey came out of the closet to say:
Just ponied up $1

As far as London Goons, I'm guessing you don't want to waste an entire day hanging around a Barber Shop waiting for a FedEx guy. Even when he does show up, I'm sure the scammer will take his package in right away. However... Could someone at least post a picture of the place?

OK, if no-one else can make it, I will go looking for this place after work tomorrow. However, non-digital cam means no pics til the day after at the earliest if I go. Looks like there's a pub next door anyway, so it can't be an entirely wasted trip.

Apr 28, 2004: 00:32

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pale
Joined: Sep 18, 2003

8=:3O

Half of $109 sent! I love justice.

Apr 28, 2004: 00:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Menidan Joined: Nov 21, 2002                                                                                                                                               | sent $1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:38                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                                                                                               | Sent $20, which will (hopefully) cover any PayPal deductions from your overall total.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:41                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| jhnrksn Joined: Mar 07, 2003 OL LOL LOL LTacticalPenis bought me this title because he is a worthless bastard and i have to help him do shit all the time. | If you are sending fedex, you can also have the buyer pay shipping on pickup.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:47                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Mayor Wilkins Joined: Nov 18, 2002 I have two words that are going to make all your troubles go away - "miniature golf."                                       | quote: jhnrksn came out of the closet to say:If you are sending fedex, you can also have the buyer pay shipping on pickup.                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:49                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                                                                                             | quote: jhnrksn came out of the closet to say:If you are sending fedex, you can also have the buyer pay shipping on pickup. Find out if that's possible for overseas, too. If it is then mail him saying you don't have the money for shipping, and so you'll refund him the money when the payment's cleared. or something. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 00:49                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| KoalaReReJoined: Apr 20, 2003The Breast Plate of RighteousnessApr 28, 2004: 00:50 | $1 sent.good luck! User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                |
| TheophilusJoined: Oct 05, 2002nazi naziApr 28, 2004: 00:52                        | i am with you in spirit. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                |
| MaelJoined: Sep 29, 2000Apr 28, 2004: 00:54                                                  | Put a book in there and write POWER on the front cover. That way you can still legitamitely write "Power-book and accessories" as the descriptionPS Awesome thread User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| johnevvbJoined: Apr 21, 2004My farts taste like chocolateApr 28, 2004: 00:55     | Sent ya One Fifth of $10$ to help out in the effort. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                       |
| DragobichJoined: Jan 05, 2001fuck, being banned sucksApr 28, 2004: 00:59                                                                                          | Awesome thread! I hope that steak out still happens. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                    |
| Dell_ZinchtJoined: Nov 05, 2003I eat Chaos Emeralds.Apr 28, 2004: 01:12         | Sent you $10$. That's 5.74 of my british pounds. Cant wait to see the results of this. Get that sucker sent off 😊 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                          |

Piglet

Joined: Jan 22, 2002

ZUB! ZUB!

Apr 28, 2004: 01:12

It's really too bad we won't see his face as it transforms from smug satisfaction to shocked embarrassment as he opens the box while gloating in front of his friends.

Edit

Quote

Yoda

Joined: Dec 11, 2003

A Jedi I am

Apr 28, 2004: 01:21

We need to stake out his place on the day of shipment, then maybe we can see it 😊

Edit

Quote

ChlamydiaJones

Joined: Sep 27, 2002

Apr 28, 2004: 01:22

What I wouldn't give (except money) to be there....

Edit

Quote

Dell_Zincht

Joined: Nov 05, 2003

I eat Chaos Emeralds

Apr 28, 2004: 01:24

I'd travel down south and hide behind a bush or something if it wasnt for the fact that i'm way too lazy. However I believe pics are a must if anyone is going to try to be there when he opens it.

Edit

Quote

WarningRobo

Joined: Feb 20, 2004

Apr 28, 2004: 01:35

Sent $5.

Good luck.

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ChewblaccaJoined: Feb 07, 2004Arrrooomph! Humph Humph Humph! Apr 28, 2004: 01:37  | Jeff should have his home made laptop for an avatar. That way we shall never forget the majesty and glory of this thread. Ooops...beat(sort of). Yeah, I was beat. Curse my metal body. Chewblacca fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 01:48 EditQuote |
| Arse Porn CageJoined: Oct 09, 2003Your head is empty. Apr 28, 2004: 01:39         | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: LOLOLOLO  EditQuote        |
| lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003 Apr 28, 2004: 01:46                                             | 20 quarters sent. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| ChewblaccaJoined: Feb 07, 2004Arrrooomph! Humph Humph Humph! Apr 28, 2004: 01:53 | You've got my $1. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| down1nitJoined: Jan 09, 2004Title text (optional: no images are allowed, only text, buttmonger) Apr 28, 2004: 01:54                                                          | sent my dollar like a good goon should. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Rocksee Joined: Apr 10, 2003  my boyfriend got me addicted.                                                            | quote: rottingcorpse came out of the closet to say:Just a bit of unimportant information, the address set-ltd.net is registered to has an ebay account:http://cgi2.ebay.com/aw-cgi/eBayISA...art007&amp;items=25 It wouldn't be that hard to fugde 8 auctions and feedbacks.Good luck. I really hope end results pictures are to come.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 01:58                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| HypeTelecon Joined: May 19, 2003  I AM GAY AND I DON'T CAREWHEN SOMEONE'S DOG DIES Apr 28, 2004: 02:10 | $15 bucks sent. I can not wait for the response. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Bungeejump Joined: Nov 09, 2003 Bungeejumpingpeopledie                                                                                                                                                            | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I won't get in trouble for sending this claiming it's worth $2000 will I?I know I have to write what it is on the slip, so I will put NOTEBOOK. That can be either one right?What if I put my name, but just a totall fake address? Like to the olive garden or something?EDIT - Can someone archive that escrow site? I KNOW that Fedex's policy as far as customs duties etc are concerned is to pay them to get the package through customs there and then, then recoup them from the recipient if they can. I THINK if that fails then they (try to) recoup them from the sender, this could be a problem if they can find you from the info you give them, also it could backfire if it's just a drop point for this scammer. A better option might be to send it by a method that ends up being delivered by the royal mail, since their policy is no fees paid no parcel, but that might make your 'buyer' suspicious since most of those options are uninsured I think. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 02:12                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Reideee Joined: Apr 13, 2004                                                                                                    | The trick would be to make sure you couldn't be charged. Ie/ fake address and pay in cash.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 02:15                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| vegaji Joined: Apr 14, 2004 Owned by Hawk989s                                                                                                                                                                     | $1 sent. How can I resist?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 28, 2004: 02:17                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Rocksee Joined: Apr 10, 2003  my boyfriend got me addicted. Apr 28, 2004: 02:18                                          | Can we get a Paypal total update? I'm pretty sure you're about to top $100.  EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| vegaji Joined: Apr 14, 2004  Owned by Hawk989s Apr 28, 2004: 02:21                                                                                                                                       | I'd say he is pushing $100 easy by now. Just the people that posted their donations probably tops the goal of $80 or whatever.  EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." Apr 28, 2004: 02:23 | FedEx normally requires a recipient name, address, and phone number...  EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| metaxus Joined: Nov 14, 2003 I WANTED A BIG RED TITLE... SO I BOUGHT ONE. Apr 28, 2004: 02:24                                                                                                                       | Jeff, is your webhosting broken? All I get is a slew of red Xs instead of the pics of the P-P-Power binder!  EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| rhig Joined: Jul 14, 2002  bitches can't hide from this Apr 28, 2004: 02:27                                            | Airborne Express don't deliver the parcel till they have the money from the recipient, it'll also probably be more like $50 charge and should be 2-3 days AFAIK. The parcel usually comes from Business Post when it gets to the UK if theyre still doing it the same way they did two years ago, it has online tracking too including status of tax payment. Edit: I'm not sure if their procedure is the same now they are DHL, Priority delivery is also 4 - 8 days. rhig fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 02:30 EditQuote |
| Ionized Joined: Nov 13, 2003 WHOA, it's a Star Destroyer!!! Apr 28, 2004: 02:32                                                                                                                                     | Even if you are close to $80, I sent another $1. This is too good to pass up. The powerbook pictures are utterly hillarious!  EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Teflon BobJoined: Feb 02, 2004                     | quote: metaxus came out of the closet to say:Jeff, is your webhosting broken? All I get is a slew of red Xs instead of the pics of the P-P-Power binder!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 02:59                                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| vegajiJoined: Apr 14, 2004Owned by Hawk989s                                                                                                   | Those images were really hilarious. The look on that guy's face when he opens up his box to find P-P-P-Powerbook. Absolutely priceless.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 28, 2004: 03:01                                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| bluremiJoined: Sep 11, 2003I don't like your face. | Can somebody mirror the images? Hosting appears to be down and I haven't seen the funny yet!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 28, 2004: 03:03                                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| vegajiJoined: Apr 14, 2004Owned by Hawk989s                                                                                                   | http://www.vegaji.com/images/righthand.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/laser.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/bluetoothmouse1.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/bottomright.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/leftmenu.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/topmenu.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/functionkey.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/touchpad.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/topclosed.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/back1.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/back2.jpg Edit: Back2/Firewire picture added. Forgot that one. vegaji fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 00:36 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 03:10                                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| IlephenJoined: Apr 04, 2004Master Bowler                                                                                                      | subscribing.. I just spent all afternoon reading this thread.. excellence!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 28, 2004: 03:32                                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| MakaJoined: Mar 18, 2001                                    | Jesus Christ those laptop pictures had me cracking up for like 15 minutes. Good show. Maka fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 16:40                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 03:39                                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DLCinfernoJoined: Feb 22, 2003  Apr 28, 2004: 03:47                                 | I wouldn't be too worried about customs stopping a package like this. First, they aren't looking for people who overquoted the value of the object...that's completely fine by them. Second, if they stopped many priority packages that are marked computer parts alot of people would start to get upset when their department didn't get the critical server component they needed because it was held up at customs, although that does occasionally happen. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                       |
| HalvorJoined: Aug 17, 2003 The black cards all look the same to me... Apr 28, 2004: 04:00                                                                           | I want to send money, but I don't want you to have to refund it. If I see (after 3rd period of Red Wings game) that you haven't reached your total yet, I'd be happy to donate to the fund. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| highmeJoined: May 25, 2001 It's golfin time, da? Apr 28, 2004: 04:06           | I was going to say I'd donate the broken Dell laptop I picked up at a garage sale last summer, but then I saw the P-P-POWERBOOK and my Dell is weak in comparison. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| MrTeatimeJoined: Aug 08, 2003  Apr 28, 2004: 04:22                                  | I would definitely send him an email telling him you were too nervous about lying about the value of the "powerbook." He'll probably pay the tax thinking he's still getting a great deal on an expensive laptop. Will there be anyway to tell if he paid the fee or not? I'd like to see his face when he opens the box, but it would be comfort enough to just know he got screwed out of a few hundred bucks. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                       |
| paul V1.333Joined: Feb 16, 2004 purple monkey dishwasher Apr 28, 2004: 04:29 | 5 bucks sent, Good luck! User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| kapJoined: May 30, 2003 no paprika? Apr 28, 2004: 04:34                                                                                                             | quote:Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say:FedEx normally requires a recipient name, address, and phone number... True, but I can't tell you how many times I've put my email address in the phone number slot instead, or just left it blank. Fake email address is the way to go. The other stuff will obviously have to be filled out somehow, though FedEx will deliver just based on the address usually. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |

El_Spankio
Joined: Jan 28, 2004

When i first read the thread i only read the first post and a few comments and i thought that you should have just told them to fuck off, then the thread stayed around and has now amused me.

AAAAA+++++++ would read another story like this!!!~!

| El_Spankio     |                         | Folding@Home Team: SAGoons |  |
|----------------|-------------------------|----------------------------|--|
| Work Units: 62 | / 62 for current team   | Team Stats                 |  |
| Score: 3,319   | / 3,319 on current team | Team Rank: 16th            |  |
| Active CPUs: 1 | User Rank: 33,674th     | Team Score: 6,933,759      |  |

Apr 28, 2004: 04:38

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

Kaneda
Joined: Jan 02, 2003

Best thread ever, can't wait to see what Goon Justice will bring to the UK. Subscribed and voted 5, tomorrow can't come fast enough.

Apr 28, 2004: 04:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

Aeolius
Joined: Jul 16, 2003

Über Lord of Time and Space

quote:

---

vegaji came out of the closet to say:
God have mercy on my 4gb/month bandwidth limit.

---

You're missing the "FIREWIRE" pic.

EDIT: So, has this guy's account been deleted or suspended? If not, you may as well start planning your response for when he leaves negative "SCAMMER" feedback. Something like "Buyer wished to use a fraudulent escrow, outside of ebay. Reported him, and he was confirmed as a scammer. Sent him the "Powerbook" as a gag, afterwards. Ignore."

That should do it.

Aeolius fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 05:25

Apr 28, 2004: 05:14

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Sorry I haven't responded faster. My power has been out for a while.

You can stop donating now! Thank you very much for the donations! I will start the transfer to my bank account now.

Thanks for mirroring the images too!

Apr 28, 2004: 05:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

wargasm
Joined: Mar 04, 2004

[M] village drunkard

quote:

---

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
Sorry I haven't responded faster. My power has been out for a while.

You can stop donating now! Thank you very much for the donations! I will start the transfer to my bank account now.

Thanks for mirroring the images too!

---

sonuva...8.00 american dollaroos coming your way regardless. spend it on a fancy bowtie to wear when you go to ship this beast of a laptop.

Apr 28, 2004: 05:41

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

wargasm came out of the closet to say:

sonuva...8.00 american dollarroos coming your way regardless. spend it on a fancy bowtie to wear when you go to ship this beast of a laptop.

Well, thank you.

I think I am going to change my avatar to:

Chief Goon Justice

OR

P-P-P-POWERBOOK!!

(Thanks for those Yossarko)

Apr 28, 2004: 05:50

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Moses66

Joined: Feb 06, 2004

Who wants a body massage...?

do the power book avatar. Chief GOon Justice is a bit far fetched in this situation, although commendable.

Lets not forget the magenta alert.

Apr 28, 2004: 05:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Moses66 came out of the closet to say:

do the power book avatar. Chief GOon Justice is a bit far fetched in this situation, although commendable.

Lets not forget the magenta alert.

Too right. Powerbook it is then.

Apr 28, 2004: 05:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

EricFate

Joined: Aug 31, 2001

Crumpets. Glorious Crumpets.

Perfect.

And yes, if you write Notebook, then you're being honest with customs. That will make them happy.

As for the dollar amount, well, it is worth whatever the hell you say it is worth. After all, you've already agreed in the price with the buyer. Now ship that fine work of art so we can go back to anxiously waiting. Don't bother to weigh the thing down, just go with it as is. If you must, just add a piece of plywood to the box. 3-5 pounds is plenty. Duct tape it to the bottom. And remember. LOTS AND LOTS OF PACKING PEANUTS on top. Wouldn't want it to get damaged.

Apr 28, 2004: 05:57

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Elftor
Joined: Jan 10, 2003

quote:

Aeolius came out of the closet to say:

EDIT: So, has this guy's account been deleted or suspended? If not, you may as well start planning your response for when he leaves negative "SCAMMER" feedback. Something like "Buyer wished to use a fraudulent escrow, outside of ebay. Reported him, and he was confirmed as a scammer. Sent him the "Powerbook" as a gag, afterwards. Ignore."

That should do it.

I don't think feedback is even possible, since they settled outside of ebay

Apr 28, 2004: 05:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Jadz
Joined: Jan 08, 2004

Jeff, you have made my week with this. The P-P-Powerbook alone is worth the price of admission to these forums 🙏 I was laughing hysterically for ten minutes straight when I saw those pictures.

"When you know not of what you speak, your mouth is best used for chewing." - Walter Slovotsky

Thread delivers, voted 5 , and subscribed so I can get closure in a few days 😊

Sexcellent work, you gorgeous, gorgeous man. I would bear your children, were I a woman. Keep up the good work!

Apr 28, 2004: 06:21

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

pahnub
Joined: Jun 09, 2003

Ah goon justice is a wicked thing indeed, subscribed...

Good Luck nailing the bastard, what happened with Gravitron staking out the place?

Smurfin' Booty Since 1982

Apr 28, 2004: 06:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Soos

Joined: Mar 03, 2004

Since the monetary goal has been reached, and I really want to contribute to this incredible display, I will mirror the images.

<http://www.soosed.com/images/righthand.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/laser.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/bluetoothmouse1.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/bottomright.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/leftmenu.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/topmenu.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/functionkey.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/touchpad.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/topclosed.jpg>
<http://www.soosed.com/images/back1.jpg>

Edit: Here is the missing image:

<http://www.soosed.com/images/back2.jpg>

Some images aren't there from the original, anyone have copies?

Great work, Jeff.

Soos fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 07:35

Apr 28, 2004: 08:15

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| mangler103Joined: Jun 06, 2003DVD's are my anti-drug...but now I'm addicted to DVD's. | quote:Der Shovel came out of the closet to say:Oh, also include a condom (possibly used?) in the box, against viruses. Put it on the mouse...those things will stretch.                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:30                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.                   | OK, procured a cheap, utterly disposable 0.3MPx digital cam in my lunch hour. Will make the commute after work and see if I can find this place. Will take a few hours though. Hopefully will be able to post pics by 9pm GMT at the latest.                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:34                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Der ShovelJoined: Dec 26, 2003Just a 10$ hoe                                                                                                                                    | quote:mangler103 came out of the closet to say:Put it on the mouse...those things will stretch. Yeah, a virus COULD get in the mouse through the firewire port!                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:39                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| ELeemingJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                                    | What a great thread.Should anyone ever be conned by some one living near me (Edinburgh), I would like to volunteer to stake out/stalk/grass up the conner, a la Donal Macintyre or whatever the dude's name is.                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:44                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| OtokodateJoined: Jan 15, 2004All your nuts are belong to me                         | quote:DarkLotus came out of the closet to say:This won't be an issue if you don't use your real name or address on the shipping form.Make up an address, or use an old address or a neighbors address. You don't want the buyer to find you, and you don't want customs to find you either. I would suggest using the local police, sheriff, or FBI office address. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:49                                                                                                                                                                                               | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

|                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| LytinwheedleJoined: Mar 08, 2004 "I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                        | Aye, same thing for the Stirling area 🇬🇧 Good luck with your stake-out, Pipski!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:49                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!   | Ok. I am on my way to work now. Because I don't want to wait the 3 days for paypal to transfer the money to my bank account, I wrote a check to my savings account at washington mutual. I will be sending this about 930-10ish pst Stay tuned for your handy fedex tracking number. The ringer should arrive in the UK in 2-3 days.      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:56                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                             |
| thezyJoined: Jan 09, 2001                                    | Dam! now we have to wait 2-3 days...it'll be worth it.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:59                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                             |
| nikjohnsJoined: Jan 20, 2004                                 | So what did you eventually go with in the parcel? Other than the laptop, of course.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 28, 2004: 14:59                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | quote: nikjohns came out of the closet to say:So what did you eventually go with in the parcel? Other than the laptop, of course. You mean what is in it? Or who am I shipping through? FedEx Express - G4 P-P-P-Powerbook, BlueTooth Mouse, Broken cdrom, Excel 97 book, pencil shavings, Foam. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 16:20                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DartJoined: Nov 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | quote: Pipski came out of the closet to say:OK, procured a cheap, utterly disposable 0.3MPx digital cam in my lunch hour. Will make the commute after work and see if I can find this place. Will take a few hours though. Hopefully will be able to post pics by 9pm GMT at the latest. Damn. Wish I'd read this in class instead of at home. Colindale is fairly close to where I go to college train-wise (Met Line to Northern Line at King's Cross), but I live quite a bit further away, so it's out of the question for me today. I'd have liked to tag along for this.                                                                  |
| Apr 28, 2004: 16:23                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| wargasmJoined: Mar 04, 2004 [M] village drunkard                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | p-p-p-p-posting to express my fondness for fucking with computer terrorists and the like. gg mynameisjeff                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 28, 2004: 16:25                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Just got this in:-----Original Message-----From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com]Sent: Wednesday, April 28, 2004 4:31 AMTo: MyNameIsJeffSubject: RE: One question before I ship!Please email me with all infoo soonResponded with:[i]Hello! I am sorry for the delay! I was not able to send your new G4 Powerbook to you yesterday! But I am able to send it today! I am going to be taking it down the the united states post office to fedex it to you. I am told it will take 2-3 days. I apologize, but that is the fastest I can send!I will send another email with your tracking number when I get back!!!chao!Jeff Apr 28, 2004: 17:01 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:You mean what is in it? Or who am I shipping through?FedEx Express - G4 P-P-P-Powerbook, BlueTooth Mouse, Broken cdrom, Excel 97 book, pencil shavings, Foam. what about the horrid pics and the thread with sa references whited out?Also, this just occurred to me, you should keep emailing him after he gets it and not break character. Like, hey buddy! Did the notebook pass your inspection?! Maybe we could do business in the future!!!! I own a great PDA that is for sale!!!kiimo fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 17:06 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:01                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | quote:  klimo came out of the closet to say:  what about the horrid pics and the thread with sa references whited out? Also, this just occurred to me, you should keep emailing him after he gets it and not break character. Like, hey buddy! Did the notebook pass your inspection?! Maybe we could do business in the future!!!! I own a great PDA that is for sale!!!  I decided not to do the thread idea. I doubt he would read it anyway.There is still time to open the box back up and stick some nasty pictures in there.                                                                                       |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:09                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| ShiiJoined: Feb 17, 2004                                        | quote:  Jeff was quoted as saying:I decided not to do the thread idea. I doubt he would read it anyway.  Good idea. quote:  Jeff was quoted as saying:There is still time to open the box back up and stick some nasty pictures in there.  Maybe just a quick "Scammers Suck" message inside the Powerbook would get the point across. 🤪                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:13                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| TekilahJoined: Apr 15, 2004Everything good was taken                                                                                            | This thread is awesome, btw. I didn't see anyone mention postal redirection. Is there a way to find out if your parcel is going to be redirected? http://www.postoffice.co.uk/portal/...0&amp;catId=5000004 It can be redirected anywhere, so if it's redirected to the states would he still pay customs? Edit: Yea, he'd probably have to be the resident of the vacant lot at some point...but maybe... oh CANNOT...I see. Sorry, for some reason I read that as "absolutely can, with no question." vv Tekilah fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 17:43 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:13                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| MutiJoined: Oct 20, 2003                                      | quote:  Tekilah came out of the closet to say:I didn't see anyone mention postal redirection. Is there a way to find out if your parcel is going to be redirected?  Notice in the "key features"... * We cannot redirect mail from overseas to UK addresses Muti fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 17:29                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:26                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| AeoliusJoined: Jul 16, 2003Uber Lord of Time and Space                                                        | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: I decided not to do the thread idea. I doubt he would read it anyway.There is still time to open the box back up and stick some nasty pictures in there. Voting fiestacat. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:33                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                            |
| DSJ250Joined: Dec 26, 2003    | quote: Aeolius came out of the closet to say:Voting fiestacat. I second.                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:36                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                            |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003                                                                                             | quote: Aeolius came out of the closet to say:Voting fiestacat.                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 17:45                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                            |
| WoodmanJoined: Aug 13, 2003  | stutter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:13                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                            |
| WoodmanJoined: Aug 13, 2003 | You should include his photo &amp; a copy of all of his personal info you have dug up. That would really fuck with his head.                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:13                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SchroeJoined: Feb 06, 2004Apr 28, 2004: 18:15                                                    | Wait for the London goon to take the digital photos and include a printout of the location it's being sent to. EditQuote                                                                                                                                  |
| PowercrazyJoined: Feb 15, 2004I am become death, the destroyer of worlds.Robert OppenheimerApr 28, 2004: 18:18                                                        | quote:Woodman came out of the closet to say:You should include his photo &amp; a copy of all of his personal info you have dug up. That would really fuck with his head. YES. This is the correct answer. EditQuote |
| HalvorJoined: Aug 17, 2003The black cards all look the same to me...Apr 28, 2004: 18:24                                                                                          | Me is retarded. Halvor fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 18:26 EditQuote                                                                                                                                                  |
| AeoliusJoined: Jul 16, 2003Über Lord of Time and SpaceApr 28, 2004: 18:33                                                                                                        | quote:Schroe came out of the closet to say:Wait for the London goon to take the digital photos and include a printout of the location it's being sent to. That would be incredible. EditQuote                       |
| YossarkoJoined: Jan 22, 2004The little Armenian boy who could...Apr 28, 2004: 18:37 | I'm glad you liked the avatar Jeff 😊 EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| SchroeJoined: Feb 06, 2004Apr 28, 2004: 18:44                                                  | quote:Aeolius came out of the closet to say:That would be incredible. I also think it'd be immensely more creepy than tossing in personal information that may or may not be true. EditQuote                        |

dablakh01
Joined: Sep 03, 2002

Apr 28, 2004: 18:49

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

[QUOTE]MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
...and an informative excel 97 book. (And yes, I taped the fuck out of it.)

Too bad.. you should have sent him the Dianetics "power book"

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Well, I just got back from the post office.

It seems, you need a phone number for the person your sending to when shipping international.

I paid for it, and it will sit until I can call them with the persons phone number. Hopefully he responds to this email.

-----Original Message-----

From: MyNameIsJeff [mailto:mynameisjeff@bootsix.net]

Sent: Wednesday, April 28, 2004 10:40 AM

To: 'Gianluca'

Subject: Problem with shipping

Hello,

I took the package to the post office, but FedEx requires a phone number for the recipient if the package is being sent internationally.
As soon as you reply with that I will call them and tell them so they can send it.

Thanks!

Jeff

Let's hope he does:

For those of you who can make it out, the tracking number is 846563452310 (there is a package ID too, I don't know if you need it: 17913) Again, It's not going anywhere until I get a phone number.

It took way to long to find an angle where that shit all showed up!

When the lady asked me what the worth was, I said, $2000. She looked at me and said, "He will have to pay a lot for customs." I said, "I know." hahaha

I asked what would happen if he rejected it, and she said that I would have to pay to have it shipped back. Something about billing her. So lets hope he takes the ringer. I don't want to pay another $97 dollars.Thanks again all of you who donated.

I'm actually really nervous. 😬 I hope I don't get in any kind of trouble.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:50                                                                                                                                                                              | MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 18:55 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| dablah0lJoined: Sep 03, 2002                                                                     | is it just me, or are all the images MyNameIsJeff is hosting showing up as red x's?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:52                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 28, 2004: 18:53 | Let me just say I hate my host. The shit goes up and down so much. One sec. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| truavatarJoined: Mar 03, 2004                                                                    | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:...chao!Jeff LO I love the "chao".                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:55                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| NodelphiJoined: Jan 30, 2004                                                                   | Damn this is one of the best threads I've read in a while, thanks for the updates!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:56                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| swissJoined: Jan 29, 2004                                                                      | quote: dablah0l came out of the closet to say:is it just me, or are all the images MyNameIsJeff is hosting showing up as red x's? He maxed out his bandwidth on the server on which he hosted the laptop images, and I couldn't see the last pic he posted either. quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:When the lady asked me what the worth was, I said, $2000. She looked at me and said, "He will have to pay a lot for customs." I said, "I know." hahaha |

|                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                  | You sir, would give the ebola monkey man a run for his money. gg internet.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:56                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |
| -jp-Joined: Jan 15, 2004Avant Guardian Angel                                                                                  | Scamming the Scammers Now there is a buisness idea. You sir are a genius. I would dread to think how much time I have spent reading this thread but I know I did not regret any of it!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 18:58                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |
| ChlamydiaJonesJoined: Sep 27, 2002            | I may have to sit at this desk and hit refresh for the next three days. If only we had an SA spy-sat-orbiting-justice-cam to catch there expression.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:00                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |
| TomarseJoined: Mar 07, 2001Grr            | quote: <hr/> MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: I asked what would happen if he rejected it, and she said that I would have to pay to have it shipped back. Something about billing her. So lets hope he takes the ringer. I don't want to pay another $97 dollars.Thanks again all of you who donated. I'm actually really nervous. 😊 I hope I don't get in any kind of trouble. [/B] <hr/> |                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:01                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |
| benhamtrollJoined: Mar 08, 2004             | I just want to add my stamp of approval to this wonderful thread.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:06                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |
| HypnosiaJoined: Mar 04, 2004Gjalar Cock | how'd i miss this. goddammit this is hilarious. gj jeff                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:11                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Edit Quote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| esky Joined: Apr 15, 2003                                                       | Should the tracking number ( 846563452310 ) be working yet? http://www.fedex.com/us/tracking/?l...ascend_header=1 Also what's the status on team bravo? (UK paparazzi)                                                                  |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:17                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| thisdude23 Joined: Jul 10, 2001 "All of the days have passed us by,All of the sun is gone... away."                                                 | I just finally finished reading this. Sounds like he's a scammer and his escrow site is fake. ☹ Seriously though, gg and subscribed.                                                                                                                                                                                   |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:18                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!               | quote: esky came out of the closet to say:Should the tracking number ( 846563452310 ) be working yet?http://www.fedex.com/us/tracking/?l...ascend_header=1Also what's the status on team bravo? (UK paparazzi) |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:21                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| Schroe Joined: Feb 06, 2004                                                    | If all else fails, give them a fake phone number. Like Rare's old HQ or something.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:21                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| Yossarko Joined: Jan 22, 2004 The little Armenian boy who could... | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:When the lady asked me what the worth was, I said, $2000. She looked at me and said, "He will have to pay a lot for customs." I said, "I know." Hahahahaha, this thread is just too good. Kudos my friend.                            |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:22                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |

Duckrasta
Joined: Sep 21, 2002

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

I asked what would happen if he rejected it, and she said that I would have to pay to have it shipped back. Something about billing her. So lets hope he takes the ringer. I don't want to pay another $97 dollars.Thanks again all of you who donated.

I'm actually really nervous. 😞 I hope I don't get in any kind of trouble.

How can they charge you to have it shipped back? You didn't use your actual address, did you?

Apr 28, 2004: 19:24

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Duckrasta came out of the closet to say:

How can they charge you to have it shipped back? You didn't use your actual address, did you?

No. What happens the next time I go in there?

Apr 28, 2004: 19:25

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

HypeTelecon
Joined: May 19, 2003

I AM GAY AND I DON'T CARE
WHEN SOMEONE'S DOG DIES

I AM STUPID AND SKIPPED A PAGE LOL!! Deleted.

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

No. What happens the next time I go in there?

Just act naturally and fill out the phone number field. Then it is on it's way. I had to ship something to the great white north one time and they just held the package until I came back in with the guy's phone number. Once they got the number they processed the ticket and it was on its way. You really shouldn't be all the worried since you didn't use your own info.

HypeTelecon fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 19:36

Apr 28, 2004: 19:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

lostsailor
Joined: Jan 28, 2004

The desires we deny will find us in fate.

I'm sure if he declines or it gets shipped back for some reason, it will try to be delivered to what ever address you put on there. Once they try to deliver and it gets rejected there it will sit at the post office for a while. Once its unclaimed for so long, they will open it, see that its junk. laugh about it for a couple days and throw it away. As far as goin back in there for further business in the future, i don't think they will remember you. They get so many people delivering all different types of things all over the place daily.

Apr 28, 2004: 19:30

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                | quote:HypeTelecon came out of the closet to say:MyNameIsJeff, you really shouldn't use your personal info as the shipper address. Pay in cash, and use a high school address or pick some poor sap's P.O. Box. Just in the small chance he actually rejects it, you don't want to be footing the bill. Also, use the high school's phone number or something, you want NOTHING that leads back to you for collection 😊. I can't wait to see if he takes it and his response on the email. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:31                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | I am totally there! Seriously! Details later! Post from within!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:31                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| YossarkoJoined: Jan 22, 2004The little Armenian boy who could...    | Posting while getting a hair cut?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:32                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| cheesebotJoined: Jul 21, 2002I cheesebot                          | quote:HypeTelecon came out of the closet to say:MyNameIsJeff, you really shouldn't use your personal info as the shipper address. Pay in cashLooks like he paid in cash according to the receipt pic - smart move.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:33                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                                     | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:No, because I cannot continue until he replies with a phone number for me to give the post office people.Ah ok, I just figured that it would be marked 'pending processing' or something.                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:33                                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 28, 2004: 19:33

Dershiva
Joined: Jun 08, 2001

My spoon is too big

I don't know why, but I just have this very un-easy feeling in my stomach. If I go to jail or get into any other kind of trouble you guys will have to come bail me out. I can use my phone call to my my gf post for me. hahaha . . ha . . sigh.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

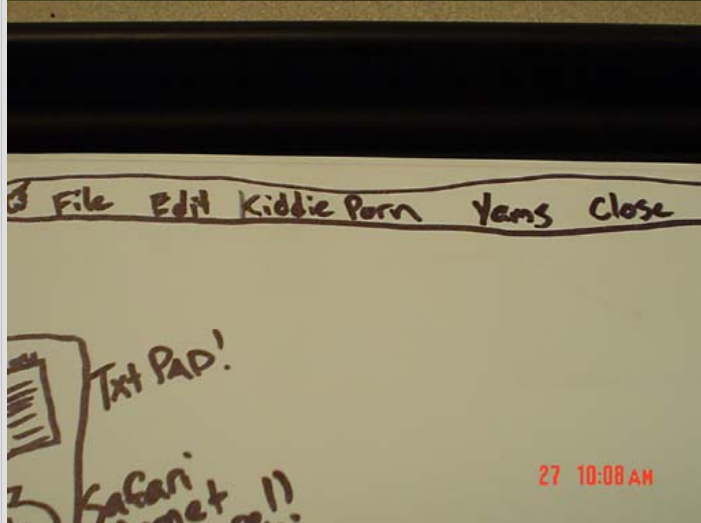

Quote

Wow, very nice.
Since I have bandwidth to burn, have fun. Fell free to pop these right into your first post man.

When they turn off the drum machine and I can think again...

Apr 28, 2004: 19:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Yossarko

Joined: Jan 22, 2004

The little Armenian boy who could...

What you are doing is fine, IMO. He's a scammer, he tried to rip you off. Unless he ACTUALLY sends you all the money (in which case you will feel the right boob) he can't possibly contact the police.

Apr 28, 2004: 19:36

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Yossarko came out of the closet to say:

What you are doing is fine, IMO. He's a scammer, he tried to rip you off. Unless he ACTUALLY sends you all the money (in which case you will feel the right boob) he can't possibly contact the police.

In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.

Apr 28, 2004: 19:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

esky

Joined: Apr 15, 2003

Apr 28, 2004: 19:39

Yossarko

Joined: Jan 22, 2004

The little Armenian boy who could...

Apr 28, 2004: 19:40

Squiggle

Joined: Sep 29, 2002

Engage the musical saw!

Apr 28, 2004: 19:43

Bonk

Joined: Aug 04, 2002

Apr 28, 2004: 19:46

Schroe

Joined: Feb 06, 2004

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

I don't know why, but I just have this very un-easy feeling in my stomach. If I go to jail or get into any other kind of trouble you guys will have to come bail me out. I can use my phone call to my my gf post for me. hahaha . . ha . . sigh.

I really don't see why you would get in trouble.. You're not mailing anything illigal.. so it's a prank mailing, to an obvious ebay scammer.. The post office is making money on it, as will customs. Why would they care??

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.

Personally I think the comedy value would sky rocket - but for your sake, I hope that doesn't happen.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Ahahahaha, oh god this thread is beautiful.

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.

In the highly unlikely event that he actually sends you the money, I would recommend just sending him a note letting him know the contents of the box are fake and why you were convinced he was a scammer. Then send him the real Powerbook. I doubt you'll need to do anything of the sort though.

That said, I'm eagerly awaiting the "OMFG ILL KILL U" emails you'll be getting once the package arrives. I imagine after paying customs and bringing it home thinking he's got a working Powerbook, he'll probably trash his urine-soaked basement of an apartment after finding out what's in it.

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

quote:

Bonk came out of the closet to say:

In the highly unlikely event that he actually sends you the money, I would recommend just sending him a note letting him know the contents of the box are fake and why you were convinced he was a scammer. Then send him the real Powerbook. I doubt you'll need to do anything of the sort though.

That said, I'm eagerly awaiting the "OMFG ILL KILL U" emails you'll be getting once the package arrives. I imagine after paying customs and bringing it home thinking he's got a working Powerbook, he'll probably trash his urine-soaked basement of an apartment after finding out what's in it.

But what if he's just a scammer with a sense of humour and hangs it on his wall, content in that even though he's lost a bit of money on this job, he's already acquired much, much more?

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:49 OrgophlaxJoined: Aug 26, 2002                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote You need to add to the "screen" a bad rendition of the Home Alone kid with the text "OH NOES!!11 I'VE BEN SCAMEREDED!!11"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:49 WoodmanJoined: Aug 13, 2003                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I don't know why, but I just have this very un-easy feeling in my stomach. If I go to jail or get into any other kind of trouble you guys will have to come bail me out. I can use my phone call to my my gf post for me. hahaha . . ha . . sigh. Assraped &amp; then B&amp;! LOL That would be the perfect* ending * For comedy value I personally hope you don't receive either. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:49 PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004  Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote OK, still there but this PC is a bit more discreetly placed. It's a barbers / Internet Cafe, lots of customers. None you'd buy a used car from, few schoolkids. 9B has its own mailbox out the front of the shop, not sure where the entrance is. Going to take a quick tour of the street and see if I can see any other entrances to flat 9B. Will post again in a few hours when I get home.                                                                                                               |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:49 YossarkoJoined: Jan 22, 2004  The little Armenian boy who could...        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote quote:Schroe came out of the closet to say:But what if he's just a scammer with a sense of humour and hangs it on his wall, content in that even though he's lost a bit of money on this job, he's already acquired much, much more? We go to the next step: Offer him an account.                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:50 lostsailorJoined: Jan 28, 2004  The desires we deny will find us in fate. | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote very much looking forward to the details of london goons doin the stakeout. this thread will reach super goldmine if someone posts some pics of this cock wrangler walking out to his mailbox to retrieve.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 28, 2004: 19:50                                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|   DLcinferno Joined: Feb 22, 2003                                                                                                                |  quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.  If he does send it the escrow site should do its job and you shouldn't get the money.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|   Apr 28, 2004: 19:51   Yossarko Joined: Jan 22, 2004      The little Armenian boy who could...      |   User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts   quote:  lostsallor came out of the closet to say: very much looking forward to the details of london goons doin the stakeout. this thread will reach super goldmine if someone posts some pics of this cock wrangler walking out to his mailbox to retrieve.   If in two to three days we have a few goons in the area, maybe two outside, two inside, equipped with Nikons and Canons, then this will truly be awesome. Video would be asking too much but...just the thought of it...                                                                                                                                              |
|   Apr 28, 2004: 19:54   eclipse Joined: Mar 12, 2003      It's gone rather dark all of a sudden...   |   User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts   quote:  ChlamydiaJones came out of the closet to say: I may have to sit at this desk and hit refresh for the next three days. If only we had an SA spy-sat-orbiting-justice-cam to catch there expression.   Don't we? (from the last "goon justice" thread)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|   Apr 28, 2004: 19:58   Bonk Joined: Aug 04, 2002                                                                        |   User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts   quote:  Yossarko came out of the closet to say: If in two to three days we have a few goons in the area, maybe two outside, two inside, equipped with Nikons and Canons, then this will truly be awesome. Video would be asking too much but...just the thought of it...   Why asking too much? A digital camera video would be fine. Though I doubt he'd open it on the street or anything, so unfortunately I don't think we're going to get a direct reaction to it. However, watching the box get tossed out a window and him throwing a temper tantrum in the street would be nice.  |
|   Apr 28, 2004: 19:59                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |   User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts   Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| YossarkoJoined: Jan 22, 2004  The little Armenian boy who could...        | Well I'm hoping that when he recieves his "free scammed powerbook" he won't wait till forever but open it up in the shop only mere minutes after FedEx leaves. That way the few lucky goons "surfing the cyber galaxy" or "getting their hair cut" can get a good glimpse. Maybe buy a few hours internet time and point a webcam at him?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| lostsailorJoined: Jan 28, 2004  The desires we deny will find us in fate. | sweet sassy molassy... Pipski is at the drop site already. That's sure one way to break out of your noob shell and earn some respect. awaiting further details ...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| ChlamydiaJonesJoined: Sep 27, 2002                                                   | quote: Pipski came out of the closet to say:OK, still there but this PC is a bit more discreetly placed. It's a barbers / Internet Cafe, lots of customers. None you'd buy a used car from, few schoolkids. 9B has its own mailbox out the front of the shop, not sure where the entrance is. Going to take a quick tour of the street and see if I can see any other entrances to flat 9B. Will post again in a few hours when I get home.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| k\o\wJoined: Sep 11, 2003  fear the floppy                             | Won't he just get a little ticket stub at the internet cafe, and then he'll have to go to the fedex office to pay customs?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| AlowishusJoined: Jan 08, 2002  My name is Mud                           | Don't worry about the return shipping. They're just saying that if the recipient refuses it and you want the box back, you'll have to pay their fees to bring it back across the ocean. If he refuses it and you don't want it either, you can just do nothing and FedEx will junk the parcel. Or maybe they can redirect it to one of our on-the-spot-at-the-cafe-with-digicam-in-hand-private-eye UK goons to keep as souvenir. And don't worry about getting in trouble. You're not taking anyone's money, and if there's anything even slightly questionable about the declarations that anyone over at customs or FedEx would care about (which I doubt there is), you always have the "he was scamming me, look here" evidence. |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003                                               | quote:k\o\w came out of the closet to say:Won't he just get a little ticket stub at the internet cafe, and then he'll have to go to the fedex office to pay customs? Not to get carried off... but if this is true, can someone tail him to the fedex office? If he's anything like me, he'll walk out of the office, into his car, where he will rip apart the packaging to discover his brand new toy*binderEdit: For recon goodness, maybe UK goons can find the locations of nearby FedEx offices, determine the most likely pickup location, and plan ahead... although I guess the final pick-up (if it is pick-up) location will be on the tracking web thingy... someone call fedex and ask if packages with high tax value in customs ever get delivered?esky fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 20:33 Apr 28, 2004: 20:31User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple</td><td>quote:esky came out of the closet to say:Not to get carried off... but if this is true, can someone tail him to the fedex office? If he's anything like me, he'll walk out of the office, into his car, where he will rip apart the packaging to discover his brand new toybinderGood call...On a side note, even if the pictures of his place can't be included in the package, the UK goons could always print off a few and mail them to him seperately with pics of his place, a printout of this thread, and general goon justic literature.Apr 28, 2004: 20:32User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>TY2KJoined: Sep 01, 2001Internet O.G.</td><td>quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.Hahaha there's no way that will happen.Best thread in a very long time sir.Apr 28, 2004: 20:36User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders</td><td>There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr></td></tr> | LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                            | quote:esky came out of the closet to say:Not to get carried off... but if this is true, can someone tail him to the fedex office? If he's anything like me, he'll walk out of the office, into his car, where he will rip apart the packaging to discover his brand new toy*binder Good call...On a side note, even if the pictures of his place can't be included in the package, the UK goons could always print off a few and mail them to him seperately with pics of his place, a printout of this thread, and general goon justic literature. Apr 28, 2004: 20:32User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>TY2KJoined: Sep 01, 2001Internet O.G.</td><td>quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.Hahaha there's no way that will happen.Best thread in a very long time sir.Apr 28, 2004: 20:36User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders</td><td>There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr> | TY2KJoined: Sep 01, 2001Internet O.G.                                                                                                                  | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London. Hahaha there's no way that will happen.Best thread in a very long time sir. Apr 28, 2004: 20:36User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders</td><td>There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr> | NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders | There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                            | quote:esky came out of the closet to say:Not to get carried off... but if this is true, can someone tail him to the fedex office? If he's anything like me, he'll walk out of the office, into his car, where he will rip apart the packaging to discover his brand new toy**binder Good call...On a side note, even if the pictures of his place can't be included in the package, the UK goons could always print off a few and mail them to him seperately with pics of his place, a printout of this thread, and general goon justic literature. Apr 28, 2004: 20:32User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>TY2KJoined: Sep 01, 2001Internet O.G.</td><td>quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London.Hahaha there's no way that will happen.Best thread in a very long time sir.Apr 28, 2004: 20:36User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders</td><td>There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | TY2KJoined: Sep 01, 2001Internet O.G.                                                                                                                  | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London. Hahaha there's no way that will happen.Best thread in a very long time sir. Apr 28, 2004: 20:36User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders</td><td>There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders | There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| TY2KJoined: Sep 01, 2001Internet O.G.                                                                                                                  | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:In the event I actually get the money I will feel so bad I think I might actually fly out to London. Hahaha there's no way that will happen.Best thread in a very long time sir. Apr 28, 2004: 20:36User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders</td><td>There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders | There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| NevermoreJoined: May 11, 2003Evil Goddess of Cheerleaders | There's no reason to sweat the value you placed on the package. After all, you created "a piece of modern art that symbolizes the plight of the online seller against the forces of evil and their fraudulent escrow services." Hell, you should have valued it at more than a piddling $2000.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Sinless Joined: Jun 18, 2003                                                           | quote: Pipski came out of the closet to say:OK, still there but this PC is a bit more discreetly placed. It's a barbers / Internet Cafe, lots of customers. None you'd buy a used car from, few schoolkids. 9B has its own mailbox out the front of the shop, not sure where the entrance is. Going to take a quick tour of the street and see if I can see any other entrances to flat 9B. Will post again in a few hours when I get home. Not meaning to be a paranoid dumbass, but logging on to your forums account at an Internet Cafe that is associated to a scammer who steals accounts might be a bad idea. They may have a keystroke logger on the computers. Possibly this is how the ebay accounts were stolen. Change your password on NOW! Apr 28, 2004: 20:54User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote |
| DarkLotus Joined: Sep 30, 2001 I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!                                                                                   | quote: Sinless came out of the closet to say: Not meaning to be a paranoid dumbass, but logging on to your forums account at an Internet Cafe that is associated to a scammer who steals accounts might be a bad idea. They may have a keystroke logger on the computers. Possibly this is how the ebay accounts were stolen. Change your password on NOW! Changing his password while logged in on their computers would be equally stupid. Apr 28, 2004: 20:57User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Sinless Joined: Jun 18, 2003                                                           | quote: DarkLotus came out of the closet to say: Changing his password while logged in on their computers would be equally stupid. He said his next post is going to be from his house. So there fore I assumed the next time he would read the forums would be at home. Either way get somewhere safe and change the password. Edit: Added explanation Sinless fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 21:02 Apr 28, 2004: 20:59User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| lostsailor Joined: Jan 28, 2004 The desires we deny will find us in fate. | quote: DarkLotus came out of the closet to say: Changing his password while logged in on their computers would be equally stupid. he already left to go home. and yes, when he gets there he should change. Apr 28, 2004: 20:59User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003                                                         | I have a hard time believing that a german speaking eBay user will be logged in at a random Internet cafe somewhere in London. On the other hand.. Germans... yeah.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:01                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!                                                                                   | quote: <hr/> Sinless came out of the closet to say: He said his next post is going to be from his house. <hr/> Good deal, I agree. Time to change password.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:02                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| GravitonJoined: Jun 09, 2002Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you. | Plot thickens dont it. Is the culprit the manager of the barber/net cafe or one of the locals, or are they all in cahoots? Gosh how jolly exciting what. Edit: Has to be the manager or one of his underlings doesnt it, only people who could sign for mail at address. Graviton fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 21:05                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:03                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                          | quote: <hr/> lushka16 came out of the closet to say: I have a hard time believing that a german speaking eBay user will be logged in at a random Internet cafe somewhere in London. On the other hand.. Germans... yeah. <hr/> Remember that the account -was- stolen. This might be the first use or so, and the old german stuff may have been from the previous and rightful owner. Then again, what's so hard to believe about a German speaking guy in London who's ebay scamming? Bet it's happened before. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:05                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| CountOfNowhereJoined: Feb 26, 2004.....there's 20 of them!                                                                                                           | gawsh bi-golly it's like reading a Secret Seven or Famous Five books... &lt;3!!! (j00 brit goons should send me Enid Blyton books... I'll pay)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:07                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:15                                                                                                                                                                                                               | So what's the timeframe for it to wing it's way over there and for delivery (so I can schedule my "lunch break" on the appropriate day/time to be able to watch this). I also heartily approve of London goons arranging for webcam/digicam/dv-cam capturing of the event (live entertainment). (not that my approval means much, but still...) 🙄 Lukano fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 00:15 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| lushka16Joined: Apr 08, 2003                                                               | Reverse phone lookup anyone? ..betting that it's fake, though User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| GravitonJoined: Jun 09, 2002Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you. | Ive a feeling fed-ex may phone the number to confirm the large shipping charge. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| IcedudeJoined: Mar 30, 2004                                                                 | quote: <hr/> lushka16 came out of the closet to say:Reverse phone lookup anyone?..betting that it's fake, though <hr/> Both Google and Google UK turn up nothing. It was google that gave adresses for phone numbers, wasn't it? User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                              |
| SpannaliciousJoined: Oct 13, 2003O_o                                          | I just rang.. it says the phone is switched off.. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

lushka16
Joined: Apr 08, 2003

quote:

---

Spannalicious came out of the closet to say:
I just rang.. it says the phone is switched off..

---

Hahahah awesome

Apr 28, 2004: 21:25

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

cplhades
Joined: Nov 17, 2003

Could be fake.. I'm pretty sure that's a UK cellphone number.

Directory services tend to only list land lines.

Oh, and it's probably a bad idea if a bunch of people actually called him (if anyone gets through). He'll figure out something is up and might not pay the customs charge.

Apr 28, 2004: 21:25

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Graviton
Joined: Jun 09, 2002

Baby, this is gonna hurt me more than it hurts you.

quote:

---

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:
*********

---

"The mobile phone you have called is switched off, please try again later"

Edit: B-B-B BeatenBook!

Graviton fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 07:36

Apr 28, 2004: 21:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Otokodate
Joined: Jan 15, 2004

All your nuts are belong to me

quote:

---

Lukano came out of the closet to say:

This alone makes me wish we had teleporters or something... I want my justice, and I want it now 😊

So what's the timeframe for it to wing it's way over there and for delivery (so I can schedule my "lunch break" on the appropriate day/time to be able to watch this).

I also heartily approve of London goons arranging for webcam/digicam/dv-cam capturing of the event (live entertainment).

(not that my approval means much, but still...) 🙏

---

For extra points, shave your heads and dress all in gray.

Apr 28, 2004: 21:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                                  | quote: Otokodate came out of the closet to say: For extra points, shave your heads and dress all in gray. ... I just guffawed at the top of my lungs as I stand here reading this on the sales floor where I work. That you very much for making me look like an idiot! Total lollerskates. Apr 28, 2004: 21:29 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003 I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote: gianluca came out of the closet to say: gift or small value Note the "please send gift or small value" crap. He's not anxious to pay any duties. edit: Corrected attribution. Dr.SchadenFreud fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 21:34 Apr 28, 2004: 21:32 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                           |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                                  | quote: Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: Note the "please send gift or small value" crap. He's not anxious to pay any duties. fixededededed. Lukano fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 21:37 Apr 28, 2004: 21:33 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                          |
| bri Joined: Nov 25, 2003 Hail to the King!                                                                                                                                                     | quote: Graviton came out of the closet to say: "The mobile phone you have called is switched off, please try again later" Edit: B-B-B BeatenBook! Um, all of you calling this guys phone just after he gave the number to Jeff is surely going to make him suspicious?!?! Apr 28, 2004: 21:45 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Teflon BobJoined: Feb 02, 2004   | I wouldn't worry too much about it as long as people knock it off. That happens to everyone with a cell eventually.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:47                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| rogerJoined: Dec 12, 2003        | quote:Alowishus came out of the closet to say:If he refuses it and you don't want it either, you can just do nothing and FedEx will junk the parcel. Or maybe they can redirect it to one of our on-the-spot-at-the-cafe-with-digicam-in-hand-private-eye UK goons to keep as souvenir...i think they prefer to be referred to as OTSATCWDIHPE for short (i think its german or something)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:47                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| MariusJoined: Aug 13, 2003       | Jeff I would be apologetic in your next email and say that when you gave them the phone number they asked what you were shipping and you got nervous and just told them it was a notebook (or whatever you did put on the cover). Say your sorry but you can take the money you pay out of the money in escrow.Also nice job scoping it out. Does London have lots of barbershops/internet cafes?Its been said a thousand times but change your pw's.And to reiterate an earlier post. We could easily have a few people in the cafe day of have a digital camera resting next to you and casually put it on video mode. And maybe have someone walk out to smoke a cig and go to their car if he just picks up a slip and goes to fedex office. Someone who is in league with the cafe makes sense. I mean he has a box there at the cafe? Has to have some connection.Edit Fast; Stop calling his phone! Ok its turned off thank god, dont ruin it just because you want to call the guy. What would you do if he did pick up? We have come so far. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:48                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| briJoined: Nov 25, 2003Hail to the King!                                                              | quote:Teflon Bob came out of the closet to say:I wouldn't worry too much about it as long as people knock it off. That happens to everyone with a cell eventually.Sure, I've recieved calls from random strangers over the years, but not 100 calls in 10 mins :P                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:48                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Hazed_blueJoined: May 14, 2002 | Did anyone save all of the "Powerbook" pictures and such? They don't seem to be loading anymore.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:50                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

|                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Teflon Bob Joined: Feb 02, 2004                                    | Haha, yeah that many would not be so great 🤔                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:51                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | I just called the place, and they said that our ringer will be scanned in around 4(PST)                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:51                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                      |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                       | If the phone number's fake he won't get the parcel. Fed Ex will phone him for credit card info to pay the shipping. UPS did this for me when I ordered an iTrip from Griffin in America.                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:51                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                |
| warning Joined: Feb 04, 2004                                      | Great thread. I hope he sends you some emails after he gets his new toy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:52                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                      | quote:Hazed_blue came out of the closet to say:Did anyone save all of the "Powerbook" pictures and such? They don't seem to be loading anymore.                                                                                                    |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:53                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                |
| DarkLotus Joined: Sep 30, 2001 I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!                                                               | I think you should get his correct phone #, tell him you tried calling him to let him know the tracking #. You were very excited that the deal was nearly complete and wanted to tell him on the phone, but obviously you must have written down his phone # wrong. Then you at least have it for later use. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 21:54                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                      |

rottingcorpse
Joined: Dec 12, 2003

you forgot to renew your domain.com

quote:

bri came out of the closet to say:

Um, all of you calling this guys phone just after he gave the number to Jeff is surely going to make him suspicious?!?!

He's probably given the number for a sim card he'll never use, hopefully.

Apr 28, 2004: 21:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee

Joined: Apr 08, 2004

If he's in the UK then please think a little.

It's 10pm, he's probably got it turned off and might even be in bed.

Apr 28, 2004: 21:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dart

Joined: Nov 24, 2003

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

I just called the place, and they said that our ringer will be scanned in around 4(PST)

So, assuming FedEx have a policy of shipping same day if the order is confirmed before 5pm, the package should arrive either Friday or Saturday. Depending on how accurate their tracking is, I think I might pay a visit to this internet cafe around the time of delivery. I mean, he's bound to open it behind the counter or whatever, right?

quote:

Edit Fast; Stop calling his phone! Ok its turned off thank god, dont ruin it just because you want to call the guy. What would you do if he did pick up? We have come so far.

Unfortunately, I think their phone will still show X amount of missed calls when they turn it back on.

Apr 28, 2004: 22:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lukano

Joined: Apr 28, 2003

Ungood's Disciple

quote:

Dart came out of the closet to say:

Unfortunately, I think their phone will still show X amount of missed calls when they turn it back on.

Well here's hoping the mass goon-calling stopped before more than 3 or 4 went through, and the #'s will be unknown or however they show up in the UK and he won't think anything of it.

Apr 28, 2004: 22:01

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

CthulhuBill

Joined: Aug 17, 2003

Guru of GWAR

Just say you were really anxious to call him. And you were traveling the country using other peoples phones. At the same time in different places ocasionaly.

Apr 28, 2004: 22:01

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Pet RockJoined: Jul 31, 2003Well, it's like a pet dog, only, it's a rock...                                                                                     | Godamn I want to see what happens here. Color me subscribed!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:02                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MahnkimanJoined: Jan 15, 2003Sup dooder                              | I just got done reading this whole thread after seeing it on the front page of GBS for days. Bookmarked the tracking number page on fedex.com to see what happens next 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:02                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| rottingcorpseJoined: Dec 12, 2003you forgot to renew your domain.com | quote: Dart came out of the closet to say:Unfortunately, I think their phone will still show X amount of missed calls when they turn it back on. AFAIK the phone has no way of knowing how many missed calls its had unless it's switched on.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:04                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MyNameI sJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                | Here is his email with his tracking number:Hello again! Here is your tracking number. 846563452310. The package ID is 17913. The lady at the post office said that FedEx comes at 4:00pm to take shipments. So in about 2 hours it will be scanned in the fedex thing I guess and you can start tracking it. I shipped it express, so it should be there in 2 to 3 days. Also, the post office lady asked what it was, and I didn't want to lie, so I said laptop computer. When she said how much it is worth, I said, it is a family gift, but she said I couldn't do that. She said I had to tell her how much I paid for it. I don't want to get in trouble for mail fraud, or evading taxes or anything so I told her $2000. I am sorry if that means you have to pay more. Since I screwed up, I will share the cost with you. Please let me know how much it was, and just have the escrow service refund you half of the amount. Can they do that? If not I will gladly send you how ever much you spent on it. You can even have the escrow hold my payment until I send you money for what you pay. I hope this doesn't make you want to cancel. As I'm sure you noticed, no one ever bid on it and it didn't sell. I really need the money, so I am willing to work with you how ever to complete the transaction. Thank you my friend! Jeff |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:05                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                                   | Fairly certain that if the phone was off it won't record missed calls, because they're stored on the phone, not the network.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:09                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| sneakymango Joined: Apr 28, 2004  Apr 28, 2004: 22:10 | very good call with telling him right now about the value declaration. alone with what seems like just about everyone else here, i cant wait till we see how this plays out =) User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                    | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say:Fairly certain that if the phone was off it won't record missed calls, because they're stored on the phone, not the network. That is how my phone here in the great white north works. I assume any cellular service network would work in roughly the same way. Lukano fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 22:13 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                              |
| LukeNukem Joined: Feb 04, 2004 Duct tape is like the Force. It has a light side, a dark side, and it holds the universe together                 | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:latest email Yeah, that's quite a good idea.Awaiting reply/next dramabomb. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                    | quote: Lukano came out of the closet to say:That is how my phone here in the great white north works. I assume any GPRS/GMS/AGP/PGP/RIAA/WTFLOL network would work in roughly the same way. Well I'm on Orange and it doesn't do that, but they now text you to say "Free missed call alert!! From (number) at (time)", but again, I don't know whether that'll work if it's off or not.Orange are the only people who do it, so you've got what? A 1/5 chance of it happening. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote |
| Bad_Mojo Joined: Jan 11, 2002                                  | Best thread in a very long time. Can't wait to see pictures of this place. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| rottingcorpseJoined: Dec 12, 2003you forgot to renew your domain.com                              | quote:  Refugee came out of the closet to say:  Well I'm on Orange and it doesn't do that, but they now text you to say "Free missed call alert!! From (number) at (time)", but again, I don't know whether that'll work if it's off or not. Orange are the only people who do it, so you've got what? A 1/5 chance of it happening.  The number is on Virgin.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:14                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| PowercrazyJoined: Feb 15, 2004I am become death, the destroyer of worlds.Robert Oppenheimer                                                                                       | Hopefully everyone has stopped calling. Am anxiously looking forward to some Live Video Feed of the event. Much love to London Goons.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:16                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Dr.SchadenFreudJoined: Jul 16, 2003I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote:  MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Here is his email with his tracking number: Hello again! &lt;snip&gt; When she said how much it is worth, I said, it is a family gift, but she said I couldn't do that. She said I had to tell her how much I paid for it. I don't want to get in trouble for mail fraud, or evading taxes or anything so I told her $2000. &lt;snip&gt; Thank you my friend! Jeff  Good job on giving him the heads up. Now he has time to turn tricks, scam someone else, or do whatever else he can do to raise the money before the package arrives. Nearly laughing myself out of my chair now. edit: Still laughing. When he opens the package...oh.my.god. Hilarity! |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:17                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004STUPIDNEWBIE                                                    | quote:  rottingcorpse came out of the closet to say:  The number is on Virgin.  Oh, we're saved then. Virgin are wank, Girlfriend was on them for a while, but moved to O2 because the phone would ignore incoming calls and stuff. IT'S OK! Carry on! When thingy gets back home with pictures of the place, we'll need to find a website for it. This is going to be fucking awesome.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:18                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| skoorbevad Joined: Mar 27, 2004  OMG | SUBSCRIBED! Excellent work, Jeff... this can only be good. Voting a 5, cant wait for live video feed... =]                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:18                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                     |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                    | quote: Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: Good job on giving him the heads up. Now he has time to turn tricks, scam someone else, or do whatever else he can do to raise the money before the package arrives. Nearly laughing myself out of my chair now. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:19                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                     |
| Unixmonkey Joined: Jul 03, 2002                 | it took me nearly two hours to read this whole thread. The anticipation is likely to ruin my sleep, and any plans I had tonight.                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:25                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                     |
| Curufin Joined: Oct 06, 2003 Fifth Son of Féanor                                                                                | This thread just keeps getting better and better. I wholeheartedly salute you MyNameIsJeff for providing all of us with a thread that delivers more than we could have ever imagined. You rock. 🤪                                                                                                       |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:27                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                     |
| wargasm Joined: Mar 04, 2004 [M] village drunkard                                                                               | another post in this thread; it's brim-full of anticipation for antics to make lowtax proud and horny for more of the same. this is most pleasing, and I surely hope london/UK goons are standing by, ready to nab pics of this guy/girl/thing when the package arrives. s00t!                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:34                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                     |
| evilhanz Joined: Mar 05, 2002                 | I've enjoyed this thread very much, but there is a fatal flaw in the plan. He will pay the duty with a stolen credit card. Let me repeat that. He will pay the duty with a stolen credit card. Sure, he'll be annoyed, but this won't actually cause him any financial loss. Sorry.                         |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:35                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                     |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| guandiJoined: Feb 07, 2004 ARSEHOLE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Oh man, I am SO There! I have sweet FA to do on friday and saturday, so if anyone else is gonna be there let me know and we'll meet up. best. thread. evar. edit: will donate some lubberly $$ to the cause when i get paid. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:36                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! New email:-----Original Message-----From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com]Sent: Wednesday, April 28, 2004 2:32 PMTo: MyNameIsJeffSubject: RE: Problem with shippingOK I will email you when I will receivedAlso do you have any other laptops?I have a friend ho is interested..Please let me know.HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA I BET YOU WILL EMAIL ME!!!!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:42                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003 quote:evilhanz came out of the closet to say:I've enjoyed this thread very much, but there is a fatal flaw in the plan. He will pay the duty with a stolen credit card. Let me repeat that. He will pay the duty with a stolen credit card. Sure, he'll be annoyed, but this won't actually cause him any financial loss. Sorry.yeah well hopefully there will be a picture of him doing it from team bravo that can be posted on the net. Almost as good.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:45                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. OK, I have good news and bad news. btw, thanks for all the concern but 1st thing I did when I got in was alter my p/w. I figured it was worth running the risk, but I guarantee you this is me, not the scambarber.The bad news is about the photos. Just had a quick butchers at them - lousy cheapo cam doesn't have a screen - and they ain't so hot. In my defence, it is damned difficult to take snaps from underneath a barber's gown or a computer desk. Also, this cam is a horrible piece of crud with no image-stabilizing or anything. I'll autobalance them in PS and then sort out hosting for the very few that are even worth the effort.On the plus side I picked up a fair but of HUMINT. For a start, the street map is misleading. The entrance to the shop is actually on the Edgware Rd. The address given is a grotty little non-street that the properties back onto. Do we care? Well, I dunno if FedEx or UPS or whoever we're going with use GPS, but if the two streets have different postcodes and the driver just follows his GPS he might go straight to the back entrance, so that would bear watching. That said, I still think he'd end up out front because the back of the properties are totally anonymous afai could see, he would have no way of knowing which one was which. Plus there's high walls and bins and it's all very unprepossessing.OK, so, the shop itself. Two barber chairs, four or five very cramped terminals downstairs and, I think, some upstairs too. Big window, easy visibility inside from without. Under the window (on the outside) is a mailbox for `9B' but there is no way on Earth our man is going to get a laptop-sized package in it. Were I the delivery guy I would take one look at that and then go into the shop and ask. Oh, the shop also sells toy guns for some inadequately explored reason.The owner, or at least the guy in charge while I was there, is a black guy in his mid-20s (estimate). Credit where it's due, the haircut he gave me was of a pretty good standard (not a bad barnet, for Barnet). Not the sharpest knife in the box and he has some odd ideas relating to the police.[They have a TV there and while I was being barbered the news story came on about a nurse here in the UK, who's been arrested - or tried, i forget which - for murdering four of her patients. Whereupon my man expressed incredulity that they could possibly know that and went on to say that he thought Harold Shipman probably only actually killed `one or two' people and that a serial rapist of the elderly currently plagueing London, who has been confirmed as of Caribbean descent by DNA tests, probably `only' actually raped one person. Although that, he tells me, `is bad enough'.]I am a notoriously bad judge of character but I have my doubts that this is our man. He doesn't strike me as a scammer, for all his other faults. That isn't to say that I couldn't well imagine him taking a cut (no pun intended), but I don't think he's the real culprit.No-one else turned up there for a haircut. When I arrived (and when I left) a big black guy (who looks just like the cook who has a heart attack in Crimson Tide) was listening to banging choons on one of the PCs and a pasty, ginger sort was on one of the others. While I was there a rather skanky looking Kappa-slapper came down from upstairs - she was clearly a regular btw, a bunch of schoolkids arrived and went straight upstairs - also well known to the owner. In fact, now I come to think about it, everyone there but me seemed to be a regular. Oh, and a dude in a red t-shirt (photo'd - badly) also came d'stairs and left the place.The street itself is - well, it's the Edgware Rd. Rub-a-tug shops, takeaways, pool halls, minicab firms and dodgy boozers. There is a Wetherspoons pub right next door to the shop. That could |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:45                                                                                                                                                                          | be handy if - on the day of arrival, and assuming the package didn't arrive before opening time - we could occupy seats by the window with a good view. Waiting in the warm with a beer sounds infinitely preferable to shuffling about on the pavement in the pissing rain. Not sure about local parking restrictions but it ought to be possible to park up in a position with a good view of the entrance too, at reasonable times of day. The scenario that presents itself as plausible - although it is arguably pointless to try and predict these things - is that UPS man (or whomever) will end up going into the barbernet cafe, with his delivery. If I was our scamboy, I would make a point of heading for the place - assuming I didn't own it - when tracking suggests delivery is imminent. That would be ideal for our purposes because a goon watching the front, one watching the back and one inside, all with mobile ` phones, could pretty much sow that location up. Apart from a parked car or the pub there are no real vantage points sadly. Of course, what would be ideal for any `capture-the-moment-when-the-long-arm-of-SA-reaches-out-&amp;-touches-someone' exploits would be a couple of yuppie-goons with Wifi laptops and webcams. Anyway, I shall go and find hosting for my crappy (and apologies for that to all waiting with barely contained frustration) pics. This post is already WAY too long. | EditQuote |
| SmeepJoined: Jan 20, 2004Apr 28, 2004: 22:46          | subscribed This was exactly what I needed to liven up my work week. Thanks, MyNameIsJeff!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | EditQuote |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's DiscipleApr 28, 2004: 22:46                                                                        | quote: <hr/> MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:New email: -----Original Message-----From: Gianluca [mailto:scont06@yahoo.com]Sent: Wednesday, April 28, 2004 2:32 PMTo: MyNameIsJeffSubject: RE: Problem with shipping OK I will email you when I will receivedAlso do you have any other laptops?I have a friend ho is interested..Please let me know. HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA I BET YOU WILL EMAIL ME!!!! <hr/> This just keeps getting better... unbelievable! 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003Apr 28, 2004: 22:46 | AIM from smitz6969: smitz6969: maybe I could nick it back and frame it MyNameIsJeph: nick it back? smitz6969: 1. take pic of his face as he open it 2. punch face 3. steal laptop back LOLO                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DudleyJoined: Feb 24, 2003I am the Walrus. I am not on speaking Terms with the eggman | Email nothign, I suspect you'll hear the scream                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:47                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                      | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:AIM from smitz6969:smitz6969: maybe I could nick it back and frame itMyNameIsJeph: nick it back?smitz6969: 1. take pic of his face as he open it 2. punch face 3. steal laptop backLOLO HAHAHAHAHAH!!!!                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:48                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| dcsmrgunJoined: Feb 25, 2003                                                                     | Dude I've totally got a lot of old highschool "powerbooks" he can buy. Shit, tell your boy to escrow away!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:54                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                                   | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:AIM from smitz6969:smitz6969: maybe I could nick it back and frame itMyNameIsJeph: nick it back?smitz6969: 1. take pic of his face as he open it 2. punch face 3. steal laptop backLOLO Attachment: timmy.gifThis has been downloaded 3224 time(s). |
| Apr 28, 2004: 22:57                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Dik Hz Joined: Feb 22, 2004  Apr 28, 2004: 22:57         | For those of us over here across the pond, could you explain what a Kappa-slapper is? Or a rub-a-tug shop? Also, does the package have any distinguishing features? If these guys are hardcore scammers, they might conceivably get multiple packages that day. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| benhamtroll Joined: Mar 08, 2004  Apr 28, 2004: 22:57    | quote: Pipski came out of the closet to say:[Long post, peppered with beautiful british slang] You, my friend, are like a fucking James Bond. I love the casing you did, and the splendid dossier you just submitted. Keep up the good work, both of you. I can hardly wait for the conclusion. . . User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| ChlamydiaJones Joined: Sep 27, 2002  Apr 28, 2004: 23:02 | quote: Pipski came out of the closet to say:*SNIP*Anyway, I shall go and find hosting for my crappy (and apologies for that to all waiting with barely contained frustration) pics. This post is already WAY too long. I'll mirror if you want to send them my way.geno3166@hypperbone.com [edit] or host or whatever[/edit] User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| bri Joined: Nov 25, 2003 Hail to the King! Apr 28, 2004: 23:05                                                                           | quote: Dik Hz came out of the closet to say:For those of us over here across the pond, could you explain what a Kappa-slapper is? Or a rub-a-tug shop? I guess its what you'd call a girl with a ghetto look? She wears a Kappa tracksuit (and big gold hoop earrings I imagine) - not the classiest of ladies... Now a rub-a-tug shop I dunno ☺ User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Marius Joined: Aug 13, 2003  Apr 28, 2004: 23:07       | Pipski Nice Job. That sounds like a weird place. www.imageshack.us is where you can upload the pictures to if they are small enough. I was impressed by how hard some of what you wrote was to read because of British slang but that sounds relatively good. Like you said, you could easily sit in the bar to watch, or if there are terminals for peoples laptops, a laptop with cam would be very awesome. Is the back where you said the package might be delivered to really shady? Is there any way to watch it without akwardly standing in a backalley? Edit because I am retarded. vvvvv Obviously not being a dick. Thank you. You have no idea how often I type shake whenever I am typing that link. Marius fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 23:15 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Curufin Joined: Oct 06, 2003 Fifth Son of Féanor                                                                                                                                                      | quote: Marius came out of the closet to say:www.imageshake.us www.imageshack.us Not trying to be a dick, just making sure he gets the right URL. |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:10                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                             |
| omoshiroi Joined: Sep 08, 2003 I GOT THIS CUSTOM TITLE FOR SHOWING MY BOOBS Apr 28, 2004: 23:16 | This is the best thread I've read in ages. 🤔🍅🤔 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                   |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                                     | Yes, Pipski definitely deserves a trophy. About the multiple package thing - I packed it all in a flat panel box, and then put it in a larger white box (20x20x6).                                                                                        |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:17                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                             |
| Upuaut Joined: Jan 16, 2003 Proconsul to you mate...                                                      | This is entertainment. Pipski mail your pics to me sa@upuaut.net and I'll get them hosted for you. Upuaut fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 23:24                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:21                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                             |
| grey. Joined: Dec 19, 2003 big digs BITCH                                                                                                                                                             | LO Safari internet Adventure!! LO Jeff, you should have filled the box with used, shitty toilet paper for "stuffing" or something...                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:23                                                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                             |
| LukeNukem Joined: Feb 04, 2004 Duct tape is like the Force. It has a light side, a dark side, and it holds the universe together                                                                      | Pipski ❤️                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

Makes me proud to be British.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:24

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

deebo

Joined: Jan 21, 2004

It's near end of month and I got about 5 gig of bandwidth to spare so email me pics web@lebowski.ws if you want more mirrors

Apr 28, 2004: 23:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DLCinferno

Joined: Feb 22, 2003

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
OK, I have good news and bad news.

Pipski deserves a silver star for this. Or whatever the hell you brits have that are comparable. Hopefully he won't need a purple heart too. 😊

Apr 28, 2004: 23:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Sinless

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

quote:

evilhanz came out of the closet to say:
I've enjoyed this thread very much, but there is a fatal flaw in the plan. He will pay the duty with a stolen credit card. Let me repeat that. He will pay the duty with a stolen credit card. Sure, he'll be annoyed, but this won't actually cause him any financial loss. Sorry.

Not to be a killjoy but evilhanz is probably right. Possible contacting the police with information about the 2 people that this person has already scammed and with information about what is going to go down might be good. Just a thought.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Blaise
Joined: Sep 10, 2003

Calculated Karma

quote:

Sinless came out of the closet to say:

Not to be a killjoy but evilhanz is probably right. Possible contacting the police with information about the 2 people that this person has already scammed and with information about what is going to go down might be good. Just a thought.

Yes, and Fedex would be able to provide the Credit Card number.

I doubt that he'd be worried enough about the box to move from his location immidiately though.

Or would he?

Apr 28, 2004: 23:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kdevil II
Joined: Aug 18, 2000

Forum Veteran

quote:

bri came out of the closet to say:

Sure, I've recieved calls from random strangers over the years, but not 100 calls in 10 mins :P

Agreed. MyNameIsJeff, you and everyone who quoted you, really should remove the number. This is an awesome thread, and I would hate for it to be ruined right before the punch line. A public forums means lots of readers / potential callers.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

oob
Joined: Nov 19, 2002

1.21 Jiggawatts!

Holy shit, YES!

This is going to be the longest 2-3 days of my life. 😊

Apr 28, 2004: 23:30

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Upuaut
Joined: Jan 16, 2003

Proconsul to you mate...

quote:

DLCinferno came out of the closet to say:

Pipski deserves a silver star for this. Or whatever the hell you brits have that are comparable. Hopefully he won't need a purple heart too. 😊

A beer usually does the trick 😊

Apr 28, 2004: 23:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

kdevil II came out of the closet to say:

Agreed. MyNameIsJeff, you and everyone who quoted you, really should remove the number. This is an awesome thread, and I would hate for it to be ruined right before the punch line. A public forums means lots of readers / potential callers.

Good idea. Number removed.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...fightscopy1.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?loc=img9&image=bin.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...eSpiderHole.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...yShittyCity.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...dInTheSting.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...rIsAFagcopy.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...eleonsghost.jpg>

OK, for starters. Will review rest and see if any are salvageable.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Blaise

Joined: Sep 10, 2003

Calculated Karma

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...fightscopy1.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?loc=img9&image=bin.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...eSpiderHole.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...yShittyCity.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...dInTheSting.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...rIsAFagcopy.jpg>

<http://img9.imageshack.us/my.php?lo...eleonsghost.jpg>

OK, for starters. Will review rest and see if any are salvageable.

Thank you kind sir. Is 9B in any way related to the stores? Any way to find out?>

Blaise fucked around with this message at Apr 28, 2004 around 23:39

Apr 28, 2004: 23:36

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Upuaut
Joined: Jan 16, 2003

Proconsul to you mate...

Mirrored :

The Owner (Not
That He's Owning SA)

A Internet-Using Customer
Is This 'Gianluca'???

ok, less than impressive shot, but THAT guy is the owner, heading upstairs to find change for a customer.

ok, this is from under a computer desk, but those stairs are in the middle of the shop & lead up to the 2nd floor. On the left we see the barber's chair nearest the door.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:42

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 28, 2004: 23:43

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud

Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

quote:

Upuaut came out of the closet to say:
Mirrored : pics of Scamville, U.K.

Classy looking joint...how the hell does a place like this stay in business? Oh yeah, eBay scams. I forgot.

edit: Props to Pipski for the undercover action!

Apr 28, 2004: 23:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee

Joined: Apr 08, 2004

Pipski needs an avatar.

Image of Sean Connery/Roger Moore 007.

Text: "The Name's Bond. Goon Bond"

Also, that's the oddest shop ever.

Apr 28, 2004: 23:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee

Joined: Apr 08, 2004

quote:

Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say:

Classy looking joint...how the hell does a place like this stay in business? Oh yeah, eBay scams. I forgot.

edit: Props to Pipski for the undercover action!

9B (Hereby called "THE DROPOINT!!!!!!11") is outside the shop, we don't know whether the shop is connected to 9b. It could just be that a regular uses it to commit eBay fraud.

Idea: Can we get a trace route on a recent email to see if it came from this shop?

|                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:49                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| deeboJoined: Jan 21, 2004                                                             | http://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/...fightscopy1.jpghttp://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/bin.jpghttp://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/...eSpiderHole.jpghttp://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/PrettyShittyCity.jpghttp://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/...rIsAFagcopy.jpghttp://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/...dInTheSting.jpghttp://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/...eleonsghost.jpgold ones also there http://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/ |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:49                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| LytinwheedleJoined: Mar 08, 2004"I'd go easy on the details of the death when telling their mother."                                                              | Would have made it even better if we could have slipped some of these pics into the box. Anyway, save them, and mail them when he gets the package and goes 'WTF??!1111!!'                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:53                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| savinis_acolyteJoined: Mar 24, 2003Say hello, Bub! Say hello to your Aunt Alicia! | Delivery time is only minutes away!Edit: nm, misread.quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I just called the place, and they said that our ringer will be scanned in around 4(PST)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:53                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                                          | Should've gone in with a stutter and asked "I-i-i-i-if I-i-i-i-i c-c-c-c-can rent a P-p-p-powerbook?"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:54                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                                         | quote:savinis_acolyte came out of the closet to say:Delivery time is only minutes away!If it's going to be delivered at midnight then, yes, yes it is.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                      |
| Apr 28, 2004: 23:55                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | EditQuote |

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 28, 2004: 23:55

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 29, 2004: 00:00

Pipski
Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

quote:

---

Refugee came out of the closet to say:
Pipski needs an avatar.

Image of Sean Connery/Roger Moore 007.

Text: "The Name's Bond. Goon Bond"

Also, that's the oddest shop ever.

---

Bravo Leader: UK Goon Recon

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

Bravo Leader: UK Goon Recon

 Attachment: images.jpg
This has been downloaded 2755 time(s).

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit Quote

quote:

---

bri came out of the closet to say:
Now a rub-a-tug shop I dunno 😊

---

lol, `rub-a-tug shop' == a massage parlour where the emphasis is on genitostimulatory, rather than physiotherapeutical endeavours.

quote:

---

Marius came out of the closet to say:
Is the back where you said the package might be delivered to really shady? Is there any way to watch it without akwardly standing in a backalley?

---

Watching it would involve standing in a backalley, but you'd have a decent enough view of any comings and goings, plus - as far as I could tell - it's a cul-de-sac with entry from one end only, which makes it easier. It was very quiet there when I went, it's not what you'd consider a pedestrian route, you might get spotted by people from their windows but I doubt they'd give you a second glance.

quote:

---

Blaise came out of the closet to say:
Thank you kind sir. Is 9B in any way related to the stores? Any way to find out?>

---

OK, as best I can see, the shop is at number 9, but it's a big ol' tenement-style building that goes quite far back from the main road - so there's room for a residential flat in there too. Main access to which would be from the rear. However, all the buildings on that terrace have rear entrances, so it's hard to say which exactly would be the one. It's possible that the flat is the same property as the shop - i.e., where the owner of Jean Climax (barbers) lives. Or it could be a seperate entity, in which case both the shop and the flat are probably seperate freeholds or rented separately.

On a practical note, if we're seriously going to stake this place out waiting for the delivery, then volunteers are going to be needed. It could be a long, dull job requiring shiftwork. Also, some quality equipment would be handy - digital camcorders, digital cams, parabolic / laser mics (jk) ... oh, and private transport would probably be a plus, in case, as has been suggested, chummie heads for the sorting office.

|                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:01                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003Calculated Karma           | quote: savinis_acolyte came out of the closet to say:Delivery time is only minutes away!  'WTF He sent it via 2-3 day mail. Edit: Fuck, beaten by you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:01                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003Calculated Karma           | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say:Idea: Can we get a trace route on a recent email to see if it came from this shop?  You can do that?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:02                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | Internet Headers: Return-path: &lt;scont06@yahoo.com&gt;Envelope-to: mynameisjeff@bootsix.netDelivery-date: Wed, 28 Apr 2004 17:32:01 -0400Received: from [66.218.93.77] (helo=web41411.mail.yahoo.com)by h-2.properhosting.com with smtp (Exim 4.24; FreeBSD 4.8)id 1BIweu-000CLR-WCfor mynameisjeff@bootsix.net; Wed, 28 Apr 2004 17:32:01 -0400Message-ID: &lt;20040428213158.18228.qmail@web41411.mail.yahoo.com&gt;Received: from [81.196.100.243] by web41411.mail.yahoo.com via HTTP; Wed, 28 Apr 2004 14:31:58 PDTDate: Wed, 28 Apr 2004 14:31:58 -0700 (PDT)From: Gianluca &lt;scont06@yahoo.com&gt;Subject: RE: Problem with shippingTo: MyNameIsJeff &lt;mynameisjeff@bootsix.net&gt;In-Reply-To: &lt;001001c42d64$3186e4c0$70c9a8c0@STEALTHBOOK&gt;MIME-Version: 1.0Content-Type: multipart/alternative; boundary="0-770428758-1083187918=:17958" |                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:04                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |
| sneakymangoJoined: Apr 28, 2004                               | pipski&gt;god                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:04                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Gohanks Joined: Jun 04, 2003  Agetec is bringing Alter Code F to the US! Rejoice!                                                                                             | Dear god, I never imagined it would get this good. I'm waiting on the final results with baited breath. You rock, Jeff, and so do you, Pipski.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:08                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| mizzoutigers Joined: Feb 03, 2004  When we hear the Tiger War Song, And when the fray is through, We will tramp, tramp, tramp around the columns with a cheer for ol' Mizzou! | I've been following this thread for a few days, and it just keeps on getting better! Best of luck to our British brothers!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:08                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                                                                                                             | 81.196.100.243 &lt;-- That's the computers IP, yes? If it's from the Cafe then it'll be a leased line of some sort, so checking it anytime could work? If not, then it might reveal where he lives, if it was sent out of business hours. Unless it is the barber, in which case he'd just use his own machines anyway.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:09                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                                                                                                      | So what are we going to give Pipski for his avatar and custom title? I like the "Bravo Leader: UK Goon Recon"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Muti Joined: Oct 20, 2003                                                                                                                                                              | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say:Idea: Can we get a trace route on a recent email to see if it came from this shop? 12 90 ms 121 ms 90 ms ge-2-1.hsa4.sanjose1.level3.net [209.245.146.25]13 30 ms 40 ms 31 ms so-2-1-0.bbr2.sanjose1.level3.net [4.68.114.157]14 90 ms 100 ms 101 ms so-0-1-0.bbr1.newyork1.level3.net [64.159.1.41]15 160 ms 171 ms 160 ms as-0-0.mp2.london1.level3.net [4.68.128.105]16 * 180 ms 180 ms so-2-0-0.mp1.frankfurt1.level3.net [212.187.128.93]17 180 ms 170 ms 180 ms so-10-0.hsa2.frankfurt1.level3.net [195.122.136.162]18 170 ms 171 ms 170 ms fra2-cr2-p6-1.rdsnet.ro [62.231.127.41]19 200 ms 201 ms 190 ms buh1-gsr1-p6-1.rdsnet.ro [193.231.252.229]20 190 ms 201 ms 190 ms buh1-htb-ge0.rdsnet.ro [62.231.74.30]21 370 ms 311 ms 280 ms buh1-cr1-vlan4.rdsnet.ro [193.231.252.73] |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  Apr 29, 2004: 00:11                                                                                                                                                                                              | Was sent from a hijacked connection/proxy in Romania. http://www.dnsstuff.com/tools/whois...=81.196.100.243 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote: <hr/> Refugee came out of the closet to say:81.196.100.243 &lt;-- That's the computers IP, yes? If it's from the Cafe then it'll be a leased line of some sort, so checking it anytime could work? If not, then it might reveal where he lives, if it was sent out of business hours. Unless it is the barber, in which case he'd just use his own machines anyway. <hr/> That IP is in Romania. edit: Beaten.                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:11                                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                                    | quote: <hr/> MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:So what are we going to give Pipski for his avatar and custom title? I like the "Bravo Leader: UK Goon Recon" <hr/> Your one was better than mine. But that doesn't show how covert his operation was, he had a hair cut and did secret photography. He was Behind Enemy Lines! But maybe I'm just a sensationalist.                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:12                                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| protactin Joined: Jul 19, 2001                                                                                 | quote: <hr/> MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Internet Headers:Received: from [81.196.100.243] by web41411.mail.yahoo.com via HTTP; Wed, 28 Apr 2004In-Reply-To: &lt;001001c42d64$3186e4c0$70c9a8c0@STEALTHBOOK&gt; <hr/> Your computer is called stealthbook? How appropriate.. ☺ Anyway, that IP address comes from... Romania?! code: <hr/> 81.196.100.224 - 81.196.100.255RO-COLIMA2001Romania Data Systems NOC <hr/> Edit: doubly beaten |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:13                                                                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

roger
Joined: Dec 12, 2003

quote:

---

Muti came out of the closet to say:

[IP trace info]

Was sent from a hijacked connection/proxy in Romania.

<http://www.dnsstuff.com/tools/whois...=81.196.100.243>

---

I used <http://www.arin.net/whois/> - it said Amsterdam me confused

quote:

---

*OrgName: RIPE Network Coordination Centre
OrgID: RIPE
Address: Singel 258
Address: 1016 AB
City: Amsterdam
StateProv:
PostalCode: Country: NL*

---

Apr 29, 2004: 00:16 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote

deebo
Joined: Jan 21, 2004

Was reading paper this morning <http://www.thewest.com.au/20040429/...-sto124055.html> had and article about mail scammers.

The more I think about it the more I think this place is just a mail forwarding service. If he's smart enough to use a proxy for his email, would he be dumb enough to give a home address, or a place where people could trace him from?

Apr 29, 2004: 00:17 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud
Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

quote:

---

roger came out of the closet to say:

me confused

---

Do a traceroute on the IP.

Apr 29, 2004: 00:18 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

Someone at that point has to forward it. Fed Ex says they won't redirect it themselves. So something's up.

Apr 29, 2004: 00:19 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Dr.SchadenFreudJoined: Jul 16, 2003I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote:deebo came out of the closet to say:Was reading paper this morning http://www.thewest.com.au/20040429/...-sto124055.html had and article about mail scammers.The more I think about it the more I think this place is just a mail forwarding service. If he's smart enough to use a proxy for his email, would he be dumb enough to give a home address, or a place where people could trace him from?I was just thinking the same thing. I was shocked to see the email bounced off a hacked box--rather, I was convinced it would resolve to that shop's Internet terminals.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| protactinJoined: Jul 19, 2001                                                                                | quote:roger came out of the closet to say:I used http://www.arin.net/whois/ - it said Amsterdam me confusedThat's because it's redirecting you to RIPE -- the European IP registry -- which is based in Amsterdam.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| EdgyJoined: Apr 16, 2003"Today's my birthday."Apr 29, 2004: 00:21                                                                                                                 | This thread easily kept me from working on a paper for like two hours. Voted five and subscribed.User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003Calculated Karma                                                        | quote:deebo came out of the closet to say:The more I think about it the more I think this place is just a mail forwarding service. If he's smart enough to use a proxy for his email, would he be dumb enough to give a home address, or a place where people could trace him from?quote:Refugee came out of the closet to say:Someone at that point has to forward it. Fed Ex says they won't redirect it themselves. So something's up.Good points. How do we track the package if it gets picked up and moved/reshipped?User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.                             | Hmmm. Romania?Scam #4) Get a gullible patsy's checking account for the scammers to receive money from victims: This is a scary shocker. The checking account owner is an innocent job seeker posting their resume on HotJobs, Monster, or CareerBuilder. They get a spam email response to their resume, telling them they are perfect for a "National Accounts Manager" job for a group of "independent distributors, well known in Europe selling electronics", and now they want to enter the U.S. market. The naive job seeker is duped into using their bank account or PayPal account for what they think is a legitimate company seeking a reliable U.S. citizen to setup a U.S. presence to wire proceeds from "large equipment sales to the company headquarters" overseas, usually in Latvia, Estonia, Romania, or Cyprus. The patsy is told to keep 8% of the transfer as his commission. These foolish middleman patsies are the core of the whole scam, and have no idea they are illegally laundering money overseas which was stolen from escrow fraud victims. For still other job seekers, they are duped into becoming postal forwarding patsies to receive cameras, computers, cell phones, and jewelry from seller victims on eBay. The sellers think they are selling their item to a "buyer", but they end up sending it to the moron patsy who, thinking he is getting paid to do a legitimate job, forwards the packages usually to Austria, Romania, or Russia.Hey Stupid! Don't you think it's suspicious that a stranger you've never met wants to use YOUR account to wire money to Russia, and you're getting 8% for sales that you never made? Why would some large foreign company trust little old you with all their money? Why can't they setup their own bank account? Are you really that gullible? Give me a break! If this happens to you, just start singing, I'm not fool no siree! |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | (from http://www.carbuyingtips.com/fraud.htm) Christ, mebbe the Hairnet Cafe is just being used by some dumbfuck who is not involved in the scam except to forward on parcels to Romania? EDIT: Beaten EDIT 2: This fucking sucks, we HAVE to get this guy!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:22                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| DartJoined: Nov 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                               | ^ ^Hmm quote: <hr/> Pipski came out of the closet to say: On a practical note, if we're seriously going to stake this place out waiting for the delivery, then volunteers are going to be needed. It could be a long, dull job requiring shiftwork. Also, some quality equipment would be handy - digital camcorders, digital cams, parabolic / laser mics (jk) ... oh, and private transport would probably be a plus, in case, as has been suggested, chummie heads for the sorting office. <hr/> I wish I didn't have to be so dicey about this, but if the delivery date is on Friday, there's little I can help with. However, if it's Saturday I'm up for hanging around the area, even if I can't offer any kind of transportation. So useless 😞 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:23                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| SLOSifiJoined: Aug 10, 2002                                                                                                                                                            | Damn, I got here during the 9th inning. Oh well. Can't wait to see how it ends!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:23                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004 Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | quote: <hr/> Dart came out of the closet to say: I wish I didn't have to be so dicey about this, but if the delivery date is on Friday, there's little I can help with. However, if it's Saturday I'm up for hanging around the area, even if I can't offer any kind of transportation. <hr/> If it arrives Friday then I doubt we'll get much cover. I know I can't make Friday. Unless there are a lot of goons at LSE, we all still gotta work. But, if it arrives Saturday, I'll prob'ly see you there.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:26                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| deeboJoined: Jan 21, 2004                                                      | quote: <hr/> Pipski came out of the closet to say: Hmmm. Romania? <hr/> If it is just a dumb guy forwarding packages to romania or someplace, who pays the tax? Edit: Anyone think of a way to find out if this guy is forwarding mail, without letting us know we are onto him if he isnt? deebo fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 00:31                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

|                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:28                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                               | The credit card. Fed Ex will ring him and want him to pay the tax before the ship to him. (So, once it's in Britain, but before they dispatch it to him, hence the 2-3days thing).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:30                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                           | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say:The credit card. Fed Ex will ring him and want him to pay the tax before the ship to him. (So, once it's in Britain, but before they dispatch it to him, hence the 2-3days thing). So they won't deliver to the door of the destination until they call him for his CC# to pre-pay the taxes? Any chance this might cause a snag or snafu to our little plan? I can't see how it would, but that one additional step has me a little concerned.... (maybe I'm just being paranoid). Jeez, I leave this thread alone for an hour and have two pages to read through. 😊 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:35                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| YodaJoined: Dec 11, 2003A Jedi I am                                   | quote: Lukano came out of the closet to say:Jeez, I leave this thread alone for an hour and have two pages to read through. 😊 lol, i'm just sitting here with auto-refresh, changing pages when need be                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:38                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| solorcaJoined: Mar 29, 2004                                             | You have to believe that he has done this sort of thing before, so any problems that could result from an incorrect phone number has been thought out.My guess is that he works with the person at the shop, who accepts the package, and then ships it directly to our criminal.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:40                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | We need a friendly copper. Any goons in the Met? Any goons with relatives in the Met? Or that go to the same Masonic lodge as someone in the Met? That way, if anyone at that address does go to forward the package, I'm pretty sure an on-the-spot polis could persuade the Post Office counter staff to divulge the new address. Another option would be to follow the guy to the Post Office and then threaten to kick the living shit out of him if he didn't tell us where he'd sent it to, but that really lacks style. (Although if he is some dumb patsy he might roll over on `Romanian Imports International'if told what was going on.)                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:42                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| no v.20Joined: Jun 26, 2002It's Random! Random! Random Random! Random! RANDOM!                                                                                                                                        | If for any reason he winds up not biting and the PPPPowerbook gets sent back to you I call dibs on buying it from you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 00:57User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| ewileyJoined: Jul 09, 2003I am constantly bored.                                                                                                                                                                             | Looks like fedex just picked it up.. GO GO P-P-P-POWERBOOK! Have a safe journey!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:02User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| AngryVictimJoined: Feb 20, 2004                                                                                                              | quote:no v.20 came out of the closet to say:If for any reason he winds up not biting and the PPPPowerbook gets sent back to you I call dibs on buying it from you. You have the $2100 ready?                                                     |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:05User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Li'I RedJoined: Feb 16, 2004                                                                                                                 | http://paintedover.com/uploads/2/threadpair.jpg zing! edit: sighs beaten in this thread by not being in another thread shakes fist vehemently Li'I Red fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 01:10                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:05User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                                                                 | quote:Li'I Red came out of the closet to say:http://paintedover.com/uploads/2/threadpair.jpgzing!                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:06User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                                                                  | http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310 Just figured I'd post up the direct link to the tracking (maybe edit that into the first post Jeff?) VVV - bwahaha.. I beat you (probably the first time in history I haven't been beaten at something like that). |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:08User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| vegajiJoined: Apr 14, 2004 Owned by Hawk989s                                                                                     | I really hope the Romania thing doesn't relate to the guy, this would be about the best thread ever if we can get a picture of the guy opening the P-P-P-Powerbook. And in case anyone missed them (with added Firewire picture I forgot earlier)... http://www.vegaji.com/images/righthand.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/laser.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/bluetoothmouse1.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/bottomright.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/leftmenu.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/topmenu.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/functionkey.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/touchpad.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/topclosed.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/back1.jpghttp://www.vegaji.com/images/back2.jpg |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:08                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| BlaiseJoined: Sep 10, 2003 Calculated Karma | quote: <hr/> ewiley came out of the closet to say:Looks like fedex just picked it up.. GO GO P-P-P-POWERBOOK! Have a safe journey! <hr/> Bookmarked. http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:08                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| ought tenJoined: Feb 05, 2004 we ride spinners                                                                                   | quote: <hr/> Edgy came out of the closet to say:This thread easily kept me from working on a paper for like two hours. Voted five and subscribed. <hr/> Fuck, I didn't even do a paper because of this thread. Thanks a lot pipski and mynameisjeff, you jerks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:10                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                     | quote: <hr/> ought ten came out of the closet to say:Fuck, I didn't even do a paper because of this thread. Thanks a lot pipski and mynameisjeff, you jerks. <hr/> I've been neglecting work for two days now reading this and constantly refreshing 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:11                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| deebo Joined: Jan 21, 2004                                                        | quote:  Lukano came out of the closet to say:  I've been neglecting work for two days now reading this and constantly refreshing 😊  You know what would be really cool, RSS feeds for threads                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:14                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Powercrazy Joined: Feb 15, 2004 I am become death, the destroyer of worlds. Robert Oppenheimer                                                         | Lets assume that the barber shop owner is just an innocent 'patsy.' Then couldn't a London area goon casually ask him what he is doing with the package that just arrived? Something a long the lines of "Hey whats in that package?" As an extension of Barber Shop conversation. Might inadverdantly uncover the address, or at least get a lead.                                                         |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:15                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Pipski Joined: Apr 18, 2004  Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | quote:  ewiley came out of the closet to say:Looks like fedex just picked it up..GO GO P-P-P-POWERBOOK! Have a safe journey!  That's looking like a Friday delivery then. Shit.                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:17                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Schroe Joined: Feb 06, 2004                                                      | quote:  Lukano came out of the closet to say:  I've been neglecting work for two days now reading this and constantly refreshing 😊  I'm so happy I don't have any papers to do.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:21                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| kiimo Joined: Jul 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                   | quote:  Refugee came out of the closet to say:Pipski needs an avatar.Image of Sean Connery/Roger Moore 007.Text: "The Name's Bond. Goon Bond"Also, that's the oddest shop ever.  Attachment: connery.jpgThis has been downloaded 2878 time(s). |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:24                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Otokodate Joined: Jan 15, 2004  All your nuts are belong to me Apr 29, 2004: 01:24                                                                    | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say: Well I 'm on Orange and it doesn't do that, but they now text you to say "Free missed call alert!! From (number) at (time)", but again, I don't know whether that'll work if it's off or not. Orange are the only people who do it, so you've got what? A 1/5 chance of it happening. Thank you! I keep seeing the Orange logo's at Formula 1 races and I never know what it is. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| esky Joined: Apr 15, 2003  iawtp Apr 29, 2004: 01:25                                                                                                  | quote: Powercrazy came out of the closet to say:Lets assume that the barber shop owner is just an innocent 'patsy.' Then couldn't a London area goon casually ask him what he is doing with the package that just arrived? Something a long the lines of "Hey whats in that package?" As an extension of Barber Shop conversation. Might inadvertantly uncover the address, or at least get a lead. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| froobly Joined: Sep 12, 2003  User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote  | Anyone considering writing this up and sending it to a news agency? It seems like a really interesting piece of investigative journalism. The barber sounds like he might make a good interview if he's really just a patsy (which seems likely, considering the Romania connection). froobly fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 01:28 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Marius Joined: Aug 13, 2003  User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote | I sorta just thought of something really horrible. So lets say this patsy thing is true. Ok so now this patsy has to pay a 300 dollar customs tax to transfer the object (although the scam involved cash, where is his commision?) and then he ships it off to Romania. The guy in romania may have contacted the patsy and said sorry but its gonna cost you 300 dollars we will reimburse you whatever. The patsy forwards the package. The romania guy gets it opens and thinks the patsy has fucking screwed him (what barber/Interweb Cafe Host/Toy gun seller is really that clever)? cuz he had to pay. He gets angry and contacts his underground contacts and said patsy gets offed. YAY! Win one for the good guys, the system has been beaten...oh wait man now im depressed. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |
| CapnAndy Joined: Feb 27, 2004  Ninja Code Monkey Apr 29, 2004: 01:28                                                                                | Heh, I'm sitting here just being madly amused at what a bit of hacking on page 1 turned into. Somebody really does need to call that professor and tell him about the identity theft, y'know... User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Gizmo_Gun Joined: Mar 21, 2004  Pow! Bang! Smack! Kablooy!                                           | quote: deebo came out of the closet to say:Was reading paper this morning http://www.thewest.com.au/20040429/...-sto124055.html had and article about mail scammers. The more I think about it the more I think this place is just a mail forwarding service. If he's smart enough to use a proxy for his email, would he be dumb enough to give a home address, or a place where people could trace him from?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:32                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote: AngryVictim came out of the closet to say:You have the $2100 ready? I hear set-ltd.net is a good escrow service.. Dr.SchadenFreud fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 01:36                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:33                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Otokodate Joined: Jan 15, 2004  All your nuts are belong to me                                       | quote: deebo came out of the closet to say:http://P-P-P-POWERBOOK.lebowski.ws/...r1sAFagcopy.jpg Um...Is that floor up to standard? It doesn't look like it would be strong enough to support people being upstairs. Or maybe I watch too much "This Old House".                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:38                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| FunkyBunny Joined: Apr 08, 2003                                                                               | quote: CapnAndy came out of the closet to say:Heh, I'm sitting here just being madly amused at what a bit of hacking on page 1 turned into. Somebody really does need to call that professor and tell him about the identity theft, y'know... There really seems to be alot more wrong than that anyways. So far, with what's come up in this thread, the operation seems relatively sophisticated: 1. identity theft on ebay account2. fairly complex fake escrow service - I mean, he set up all the forms and all with fake account crap and everything. Which is more than I can say for many other lazy scammers. Sure there was tell tale signs, but a great deal of them you wouldn't notice unless you were looking for them (which we were)3. probable mail scam involving mail forwarding from patsy - which I wouldn't be too worried about screwing him out of cash, because it seems like this is a regular patsy given the address's location in other scam attempts. So he probably gets paid for the mail forwarding BEFORE he sends it off or he wouldn't have kept doing it. He'll probably just take his commission off the top like that scam site said4. proxy'd email[internet activities really] - I highly doubt that this guy has anything to do with romania in general unless by coincidence. We'd also be better served finding out where this guy lives by asking the barber shop guy where he's sending the package. Who knows, if the guy is some sort of patsy, after told what's going on, he might be more than willing to help out. There's really alot of options with this. EDIT: HEY! Maybe the barber shop IS the escrow service... (you know, since you're supposed to send the package to the escrow to have it delivered, and not to the client itself) |

|                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:40                                                                                                                          | FunkyBunny fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 01:43 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| JustinSJoined: Jan 14, 2003 | Dont forget Identity Theft                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:47                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| SchroeJoined: Feb 06, 2004  | Maybe, just maybe, everyone's making the scammer out to be much more intelligent than he is. Maybe he'd just read a site on common scams and decided to try one of his own, making him an inexperienced doofus out to screw people using the internet café he regularly goes to as a shipping point. Owner wouldn't see a problem with this, right? He's a regular ordering something off ebay and is a-scared of those e-stalkers.                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:50                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| skrollJoined: Jun 24, 2002  | Once again, a thread in SA proves that worldwide mobilization of goons is one of Earth's most powerful forces. Every time I see something like this go down, I am totally blown away how internet acquaintances can raise hell for the unsuspecting (but deserving) general populace. I mean, we had surveillance, monetary donations and superb internet detective work. If we had SA working with the FBI, 9/11 could have been prevented. 😊 _____ When all is said and done, there's no love lost. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:52                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| eskyJoined: Apr 15, 2003  | I doubt the final destination is some dude in Romania... I think the scammer is right there in London. It would make no sense to have a middle man like that.. gives you no more security, cuz if the middle man gets busted he'll prolly rat your ass out.. and in fact i'm sure the authorities could easily trace where he was rerouting the goods. While I don't know a whole lot about the email tracking stuff.. I wouldn't be surprised if they're somehow faking Romania..                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:53                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| kaww of courseJoined: Jul 11, 2003i dont care what                                                          | No matter what happens with the P-P-P-Powerbook, I think we need to be ready to present the authorities with all the evidence we have. Without getting him caught, we really only pissed him off and made him spend some money, which he no doubt will make back by scamming more people. Get this fucker arrested after he opens his package and shits himself.                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 01:57                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Avatar Joined: Jan 23, 2002  RESUME INCLUDES:Spent a few minutescombing throughnumerous images of menwith enlarged anuses inorder to compare a | Subscribing for justice.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Joyrider Joined: Jun 30, 2003                                                                                                                                                      | Re: the Romanian connection, from http://www.auctionblacklist.com/vie...php?case_id=182: quote: Today, they are operating as http://www.set-ltd.net and it appears to be run by Romanians, as they have told another seller victim to mail their item to an address in Romania, as well as the barber shop address vvv The emails have been sent from Romanian IP addresses, that's about all we know. But the auctionblacklist.com entry ties in nicely with what we've found out. Joyrider fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 02:10 Apr 29, 2004: 02:01 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                       |
| UnnamedPlayer Joined: Jan 20, 2004                                                                                                                                                 | This thread has ruined a good night's sleep but it was worth it. Subscribed and on the edge of my fucking seat. BTW, who's our man in Romania? Apr 29, 2004: 02:07 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| hellocruelworld Joined: Feb 28, 2003  Dude, I See God!                                                                                                                | Boy has this thread occupied a lot of my time. However it looks like there may be an actual romanian connection to the whole thing afterall...(makes sense because many of these scammers tend to come from poorer countries...)I find that fascinating...I'm starting to doubt the whole "patsy" thing and thinking that the barbershop guy is in on the whole thing...especially due to the possibility that the cybercafe in there is logging keystrokes...in that case that operation NEEDS to be shut down. Also, I hope that everyone does not forget about the professor as it is becoming evident to me that this guy has probably fallen victim to identity theft. Great job so far goons. Apr 29, 2004: 02:13 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| AngryVictim Joined: Feb 20, 2004                                                                                                                                                 | "How should I respond to this?" indeed. Day 1: Hehe, send him a funny email! Day 5 (I think): ... well, you all see what's happened here. We have a fucking international force, chock full of hacking, face-men, spies, and some really cool characters, even. I thought it was before, but now I'm sure of it -- these forums are well worth the $10. You guys are heroes. Apr 29, 2004: 02:13 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| FunkyBunnyJoined: Apr 08, 2003                                    | quote: UnnamedPlayer came out of the closet to say:This thread has ruined a good night's sleep but it was worth it. Subscribed and on the edge of my fucking seat. BTW, who's our man in Romania?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:16                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| skrollJoined: Jun 24, 2002                                        | quote: AngryVictim came out of the closet to say:"How should I respond to this?" indeed. Day 1: Hehe, send him a funny email! Day 5 (I think): ... well, you all see what's happened here. We have a fucking international force, chock full of hacking, face-men, spies, and some really cool characters, even. I thought it was before, but now I'm sure of it -- these forums are well worth the $10. You guys are heroes.                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:23                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| IonizedJoined: Nov 13, 2003WHOA, it's a Star Destroyer!!!                                                                                         | One thing to do would be to go back to the shop, get onto some webmail service you don't care about getting keylogged, send yourself an email, and take a look at the IP address that it comes from. Although, if this is a proxy IP he's using, going there to find the shop's IP would kinda be worthless... Is the IP the same (or from the same subnet) for each email Mr. Scammer has sent?                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:23                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| deeboJoined: Jan 21, 2004                                       | His yahoo username was scont06 wasnt it? Maybe a coincidence (= sconta in romanianvt to discount; (fig) to expectvi (pe) to count (on) scont sconta P-P-P-POWERBOOK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:26                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | Oh god I am so excited. Tomorrow will be sleepless I am sure. And Friday will be spent refreshing FedEx. I'm hoping wherever I am at I can here, "NNNNNNNNNOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!" all the way from London. I bet he tries to play it off. "Hey Mister! You sent me a fake laptop! How dare you! I was really going to buy this one! I swear!" At this point, I will respond with 72pt font "OH NO! YOUR SCAM FAILED!" MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 02:30 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:26                                                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

evilweasel

Joined: Aug 24, 2002

I use the 9th amendment as my answer to everything

Has anyone considered involving the police in any way?

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

BrokenDynasty

Joined: Dec 24, 2003

Took me a good hour and a half to read from front to end. I wish I could have donated to the cause. F5 is my new best friend.

Apr 29, 2004: 02:30

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

SgtScruffy

Joined: Dec 27, 2003

dear god, this thread is absolutely brilliant... I'm sorry I missed it Babies.

Apr 29, 2004: 02:30

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

quote:

BrokenDynasty came out of the closet to say:

Took me a good hour and a half to read from front to end. I wish I could have donated to the cause. F5 is my new best friend.

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

If you really feel like donating, you can still buy Pipski a custom title.

We decided on "Bravo Leader: UK Goon Recon"

I dont like the picture i found though. I will edit the conenry one down to size. Lets use that one. EDIT - Nevermind. Doen't look good at the right size.

MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 02:39

Apr 29, 2004: 02:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

quote:

evilweasel came out of the closet to say:

Has anyone considered involving the police in any way?

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Not yet. We want him to pay lots and lots of pounds or whatever for his new "g4"

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| BukanzaJoined: Sep 28, 2001                                                                     | I will now sum up my attitude towards this thread with the forum's newest smiley:  Great work.                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:37                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                            |
| votejuancafe2020Joined: Apr 20, 2004                                                            | I realize this has been mentioned a few times, but haven't heard anyone comment on it. Has anyone contacted the Indiana prof? I'm sure he would probably like to know about the situation. Greatest thread ever. I love you all. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:37                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                            |
| kaww of courseJoined: Jul 11, 2003 i dont care what                                                                                                                             | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Not yet. We want him to pay lots and lots of pounds or whatever for his new "g4"                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:37                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                            |
| mausJoined: Jul 25, 2003 Amigos! Look! It is El Macho...The Thief of Hearts!! | Oh, wow, I just not found this thread. Bravo, bravo. Anxiously awaiting more news.                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:42                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                            |
| XaneJoined: Jan 29, 2003 Dyslexic's of the world uniet!                                                                                                                         | Man i love this shit but im getting no work done ;/                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:45                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                            |
| PigletJoined: Jan 22, 2002 ZUB! ZUB!                                                     | quote:evilweasel came out of the closet to say:Has anyone considered involving the police in any way? Hell no. They have no sense of humor and would ruin everything.               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 02:51                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| NObodiesGeekJoined: Jun 14, 2003 I'm not shy, I just hate you. Apr 29, 2004: 03:02                                                                           | I'm not too sure about the whole Romania thing. I was messing around with one of my friends one day and kept pinging him, he then traced my IP back to Korea or Japan, I forget which, even though I live in CA. I know nothing of computers and whatnot so they could be two totally different things. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| RSPsych0Joined: May 22, 2002 Anyone seen Super Joe? Apr 29, 2004: 03:04 | I really should have been painting. Far too entertaining, I am now subscribed and waiting. 😊 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| LuciferJoined: Mar 23, 2004 Old people have sex. Apr 29, 2004: 03:04                                                                                         | Shit. I have to leave for nine hours soon. Attn: Lowtax Requesting SA "live update" service whereby I can get SMSed vital information regarding goon adventures. [Edit] Also, this thread will be made into a major motion picture which will win four Academy Awards. Lucifer fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 03:07 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| grzydjJoined: Oct 04, 2000 I will answer your questions about Gore-Tex Apr 29, 2004: 03:07                                                                   | You could make a movie out of this! Great, great stuff. I thought at first it was just going to be some lame ebay shit. 😊 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| TLAJoined: Jun 24, 2003  Apr 29, 2004: 03:08                                                                                                                 | Donated $104 for these beautiful, beautiful forums. You guys are fucking amazing. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| DLCinfernoJoined: Feb 22, 2003  Apr 29, 2004: 03:08                        | quote: <hr/> Lucifer came out of the closet to say:Shit. I have to leave for nine hours soon. Attn: Lowtax Requesting SA "live update" service whereby I can get SMSed vital information regarding goon adventures. <hr/> Actually he thought about doing a website where someone posts the major daily updates regarding SA so you wouldn't have to spend all day on the forums just to stay abreast of the current issues. RSS or SMS related things could have easily been integrated when I think about it. Not sure what happened with that though. Maybe he couldn't find enough people to do updates. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004                                                       | Actually I've been thinking. We know when the delivery will be. We have evidence of everything for the deliver, including how we know it's a scam. So (as a UK Goon) I was thinking of just telling the police about the delivery address, including the Fed Ex number, the delivery address and time. We're not going to stop him, this is fun, but from the looks of it we're either going to do one of two things; 1)Lose the package in Europe2)Not get any form of money shot So I say, we tell the police/fraud people ASAP (IE Thursday), and let them take one scammer (Capable of scamming lots of people) out of the system, at least for a while. Not only that, but I'm sure we could alert a few papers in this country, too.                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:09 DodgeballJoined: Sep 24, 2003  "Of all the forums on all the sites in all the internet, she posts in mine."                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts quote:<hr/> Sputnik came out of the closet to say:<hr/> ...trust him to club you with a nightstick, sodomize you and steal you wallet?<hr/> Or as I like to call it, "Tuesday"... EDIT:Fed-Ex. This Thread Delivers. Dodgeball fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 04:21                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:12 King-O-PorkJoined: Nov 28, 2001 Spread her ass cheeks and have an honest look. Just you and the asshole. Describe the colors to yourself, describe the textures in your mind. See that fucking tiny joint-looking roll of toilet paper on her asshole? Remember it. | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts This thread has me giddy like a schoolboy. Everything just seems to be falling into place. I really hope the guy pays up and scams you. It'll be too fucking funny.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:15 DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001 I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote:<hr/> Refugee came out of the closet to say:Actually I've been thinking. We know when the delivery will be. We have evidence of everything for the deliver, including how we know it's a scam. So (as a UK Goon) I was thinking of just telling the police about the delivery address, including the Fed Ex number, the delivery address and time. We're not going to stop him, this is fun, but from the looks of it we're either going to do one of two things; 1)Lose the package in Europe2)Not get any form of money shot So I say, we tell the police/fraud people ASAP (IE Thursday), and let them take one scammer (Capable of scamming lots of people) out of the system, at least for a while. Not only that, but I'm sure we could alert a few papers in this country, too.<hr/> Unfortunately, the only way to prove that this was actually a scam is if the laptop was actually shipped and this guy didn't send the money. Maybe see how this goes and then possibly involve the police and ship the real laptop and if he doesn't pay then the police can deal with it. | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:42 Cheesemaster200Joined: Feb 11, 2004  Guard of the Citadel                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote:<hr/> DarkLotus came out of the closet to say:<hr/> Unfortunately, the only way to prove that this was actually a scam is if the laptop was actually shipped and this guy didn't send the money. Maybe see how this goes and then possibly involve the police and ship the real laptop and if he doesn't pay then the police can deal with it.<hr/> What if he gets the package and then does send the money to make his part in it legit?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| XakEpJoined: Dec 20, 2002Don't hate me because I'm gay      | quote: Cheesemaster200 came out of the closet to say:  What if he gets the package and then does send the money to make his part in it legit?  Unless the "buyeR" is mentally retarded this wont happen.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:52                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| overseer07Joined: Mar 30, 2003giggitygiggitygiggitygiggity! | quote: Pipski came out of the closet to say:No-one else turned up there for a haircut. When I arrived (and when I left) a big black guy (who looks just like the cook who has a heart attack in Crimson Tide) was listening to banging choons on one of the PCs and a pasty, ginger sort was on one of the others. While I was there a rather skanky looking Kappa-slapper came down from upstairs - she was clearly a regular btw, a bunch of schoolkids arrived and went straight upstairs - also well known to the owner. In fact, now I come to think about it, everyone there but me seemed to be a regular. Oh, and a dude in a red t-shirt (photo'd - badly) also came d'stairs and left the place.The street itself is - well, it's the Edgeware Rd. Rub-a-tug shops, takeaways, pool halls, minicab firms and dodgy boozers. There is a Wetherspoons pub right next door to the shop. That could be handy if - on the day of arrival, and assuming the package didn't arrive before opening time - we could occupy seats by the window with a good view. Waiting in the warm with a beer sounds infinitely preferable to shuffling about on the pavement in the pissing rain. Not sure about local parking restrictions but it ought to be possible to park up in a position with a good view of the entrance too, at reasonable times of day.  I don't know what you just said, but I love it! Last time I checked this thread, it was only at page six! This is just brilliant. I can't wait to see how it turns out. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:52                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| TLAJoined: Jun 24, 2003                                                                                                                                           | Just a thought - if a UK goon would FedEx something - anything, to reach before Friday, one could observe how incoming FedEx packages are handled.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:52                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Kay0909Joined: Jan 03, 2003PLAGERISMIS HAWTGUYZ,donate plz?                                                                             | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:UPDATE: Ok, I've decided to play along as the helpless new ebayer who is very eager to sell him the laptop.UPDATE: Response sent. Page 3 (Yes I'm making you read awww)Update: Response received Not what I was expecting - reply sent- Page 4Update: He's replied! I am to send laptop to him, and his money willgo to escrow. Page 4Update: Another email sent including A+ + + + ebay lingo, strong digital defense, and, Hey! It looks lke I'm selling an Amanda Real Doll on that escrow site! Added-My response from Ebay after I reported him and his fake escrow site.Added-My reply to ebayUpdate: Email saying he sent it express to escrow - few hours later - ESCROW RECEIVED! WELL SHIT! BETTER SEND THAT 'OL LAPTOP ON OVER! (Page 6)Update: The plan has been set. See page 8 for details.Update: Pics of his new laptop on page 9Update: Thanks to all the goons who helped raise the money to send our scammer his new laptop! Tracking Number coming within a few hours.Update: Ringer has been sent. Tracking number is on page 14. You had better start reading from page 1. I personally guarantee you will not be dissapointed.  Hey dude, not all of us use the same post per page setting. Let us know what you use, so I can match up page numbers. Thanks!                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:59                                                                                                                                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lacool Joined: Jun 18, 2002  I am not a liar.        | Looks like a couple people in this thread are quickly climbing the hit list of the Romanian mob!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 03:59                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Piglet Joined: Jan 22, 2002  ZUB! ZUB!                      | Maybe Pipski would be willing to disguise himself as a bum and plant himself somewhere near that back door with a hidden cam buried somewhere in his shabby clothing.Or do they not have bums in UK?                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 29, 2004: 04:01                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                         |
| andrzejpw Joined: Jul 28, 2003 has a headphones fetish.                                                                                                | Personally, I'm guessing that the guy won't respond because of the shame. But here's hoping!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 29, 2004: 04:05                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| wargasm Joined: Mar 04, 2004 [M] village drunkard                                                                                                      | whenever a covert operations is underway, I always want to hear someone on either side yell "Alamo! Alamo! Alamo!" at some point. I can always hope if one of you BritONs swaggers yourself a gitty camcorder, right-o, this can be reality and I also learn new british 'words', if you'll call them that.                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 04:06                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Cheesemaster200 Joined: Feb 11, 2004  Guard of the Citadel | quote: <hr/> andrzejpw came out of the closet to say:Personally, I'm guessing that the guy won't respond because of the shame. But here's hoping! <hr/>I have a gut feeling that he is going to be kinda pissed, and we all know how people vent their anger on the internet. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 04:07                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Gravitee Joined: Nov 20, 2003  Crumbs!                    | What about this?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 04:27                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Iblys Joined: Sep 23, 2003 disconnect and self destruct one bullet at a time                                                                           | This thread has reminded me why I paid US$10 for these forums. You guys rock an awful, awful lot.I eagerly await the thread's conclusion.                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 04:32                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

Quote

H
S
C M e t e r a l p l u

Quote

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                   |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| GraviteeJoined: Nov 20, 2003Crumbs!Apr 29, 2004: 04:46User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Better?EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |  |
| MariusJoined: Aug 13, 2003Apr 29, 2004: 04:46User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts The problem is I dont think the police care about this. Its the higher up agencies and they really have nothing to go on. Yes the site is lying about being verisign certified and there are some scams reported from this address. But they will just put it in with their other scams probobly. The key is I bet this guys earlier scams gave his address in Romania and now that he sees it works he is using a launderer in UK. Like what if when the owner or whoever gets the package and goes to FedEx you just walk up and take a picture of where it is being sent. Is that illegal? He cant really hurt you and I dont think its illegal.Like someone above said. If we accuse them what do we say? Well see we figured out it was a scam so we decided to actually send a joke so technically there is no proof he is an actual scammer. And basically if this UK guy is the scammer than its easy to report but if its romania then there is no real reason to do anything to the cafe guy.And I like the barbershop one because Its vague enough so its an injoke and it doesnt say goon.Marius fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 04:49User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                   |
| ddddJoined: Sep 11, 2001Apr 29, 2004: 04:47User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts best thread ever.EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                   |
| Ridgely_FanJoined: Aug 02, 2003Apr 29, 2004: 04:49User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts quote:Kay0909 came out of the closet to say:Hey dude, not all of us use the same post per page setting. Let us know what you use, so I can match up page numbers. Thanks!Why don't you always assume 40?EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                   |
| MrTeatimeJoined: Aug 08, 2003Apr 29, 2004: 04:58User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts I think this looks cool too:PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Bravo Leader:UK Goon Recon↑↓HSstCMeitteitcaio'pluiUser's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                   |

Joined: Apr 08, 2003

quote:

Ridgely_Fan came out of the closet to say:

Why don't you always assume 40?

That would make sense, because after all, only like 99% of forum members leave it on the default setting.

Apr 29, 2004: 04:59

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Apr 16, 2004

Mynameisjeff, you are a god among men.

I spent 2 hours reading this, giggling all the while.

Voted 5 and subscribed

Apr 29, 2004: 05:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

quote:

MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:

I like the way this looks:

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Pipski
Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop.
Pity I wasn't invited.

PERFECT

Apr 29, 2004: 05:05

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Apr 15, 2003

quote:

Gravitee

MMmm Scully

Apr 29, 2004: 05:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MrTeatime
Joined: Aug 08, 2003

Here's the connery picture. It's the max allowed preportions and just under the size limit.
edit: I tweaked the saturation/contrast in the one on the right.

MrTeatime fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 05:17

Apr 29, 2004: 05:14

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Aeolius
Joined: Jul 16, 2003

Über Lord of Time and Space

quote:

---

MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:
I like the way this looks:

Love it. Though, you should consider adding a thin black border, to sharpen up the image (like you did with the image for the "bravo leader" one).

Apr 29, 2004: 05:15

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MrTeatime
Joined: Aug 08, 2003

MrTeatime fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 05:36

Apr 29, 2004: 05:19

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Aeolius
Joined: Jul 16, 2003

Über Lord of Time and Space

No need to make it thicker; I think it works perfectly as a subtle touch.
Ultimately, though, the decision is in the hands of whoever's buying it.

Apr 29, 2004: 05:21

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Halvor

Joined: Aug 17, 2003

The black cards all look the same to me...

They write an angry letter to Lowtax to shut down SA? I know that's what I'd do, at least.

Apr 29, 2004: 05:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

logical fallacy

Joined: Mar 16, 2001

This scammer does have a way of getting Mynameisjeff's real address. I don't know how much "revenge" he would be interested in though.

Since the scammer has Jeff's ebay username he could legitimately bid on a future auction and when the package is sent, he has Jeff's address because Jeff thinks it's a regular ebayer (if there is such a thing).

I don't think he's insane enough to do this, just my $.02 worth

Apr 29, 2004: 05:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

mizzoutigers

Joined: Feb 03, 2004

When we hear the Tiger War Song, And when the fray is through, We will tramp, tramp, tramp around the columns with a cheer for ol' Mizzou!

quote:

Halvor came out of the closet to say:

They write an angry letter to Lowtax to shut down SA? I know that's what I'd do, at least.

Shall we call Leonard J. Crabs?

Apr 29, 2004: 05:41

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

logical fallacy came out of the closet to say:
This scammer does have a way of getting Mynameisjeff's real address. I don't know how much "revenge" he would be interested in though.

Since the scammer has Jeff's ebay username he could legitimately bid on a future auction and when the package is sent, he has Jeff's address because Jeff thinks it's a regular ebayer (if there is such a thing).

I don't think he's insane enough to do this, just my $.02 worth

I doubt this would ever happen. In the event that he does bid on one of my auctions, (assuming I have another here in the future,) He would bid and win. He would then have to paypal me money, and I'm pretty sure he stays away from legit paypal accounts, being a bastard scammer. Also, any european address would raise an eyebrow for sure.

Now that you do mention it, I bet he will be watching my other auctions in an attempt for get back at me some how. Any attempt will fail.

Apr 29, 2004: 05:45

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:
I like the way this looks:

H
S st
C M er
th er to al
o pl u

Apr 29, 2004: 05:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Ridgely_Fan
Joined: Aug 02, 2011

MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:
Here's all of them, take your pick:

I like the bottom left the best.

Apr 29, 2004: 05:51

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Richtofen

Joined: Oct 09, 2003

I've had every kind of account

subscribed. this is by far the most convoluted and bizarre thing i've ever seen coalesce on these forums. gg all.

Apr 29, 2004: 05:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

triple clutcher

Joined: Jul 10, 2003

Richtofen came out of the closet to say:

subscribed. this is by far the most convoluted and bizarre thing i've ever seen coalesce on these forums. gg all.

Los quernos, the triple clutcher!

I think the thread about the kid who caught his uncle on a gay chat site still has this beaten, but this definitely has the potential to surpass it and everything else by far.

Apr 29, 2004: 06:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Rocksee Joined: Apr 10, 2003  my boyfriend got me addicted. | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Here is his email with his tracking number:Since I screwed up, I will share the cost with you. Please let me know how much it was, and just have the escrow service refund you half of the amount. Can they do that? If not I will gladly send you how ever much you spent on it. You can even have the escrow hold my payment until I send you money for what you pay.Jeff Listen, Jeff. I'm sure you are a nice, sweet guy, but for the love of god, STOP TELLING THIS GUY YOU WILL PAY HIM MONEY BACK! You already gave him a break on the value you listed. I know you aren't really going to pay him, but he's an asshole scammer. And even if this was a legit deal, you didn't "screw up", you were being honest and it's their problem if they can't afford the taxes on an expensive notebook. So some future advice, don't offer to shave some of the price off just because they don't want to pay taxes. You'll just get walked all over.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:13                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| no v.20 Joined: Jun 26, 2002 It's Random! Random! RandomRandom! Random! RANDOM!                                                                   | quote: Rocksee came out of the closet to say:Listen, Jeff. I'm sure you are a nice, sweet guy, but for the love of god, STOP TELLING THIS GUY YOU WILL PAY HIM MONEY BACK! You already gave him a break on the value you listed. I know you aren't really going to pay him, but he's an asshole scammer. And even if this was a legit deal, you didn't "screw up", you were being honest and it's their problem if they can't afford the taxes on an expensive notebook. So some future advice, don't offer to shave some of the price off just because they don't want to pay taxes. You'll just get walked all over. Oh sweet christ.In the future, I'm sure Jeff wouldn't mind claiming a lower value if the buyer isn't a scammer.You see, what our friend Jeff is doing is, replying to the scammers emails in a hilarious way that seems to imply he is a naive ebayer. In reality, jeff is on to his act and has concocted this perona with the help of some people who also post on the same internet forum as himself. Apr 29, 2004: 06:20 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| SLOSifi Joined: Aug 10, 2002                                         | quote: MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:Here's all of them, take your pick:[imgs-matrix_of_connery] The Chinese puppy's my favorite so far. (cookie for the reference you veal-fuckers)So what do we do until the package arrives? How about Go Fish? Do you have a 4?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:21                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Crazy685 Joined: Jun 17, 2002 a swing and a miss                                                                                                       | quote: Rocksee came out of the closet to say:Listen, Jeff. I'm sure you are a nice, sweet guy, but for the love of god, STOP TELLING THIS GUY YOU WILL PAY HIM MONEY BACK! You already gave him a break on the value you listed. I know you aren't really going to pay him, but he's an asshole scammer. And even if this was a legit deal, you didn't "screw up", you were being honest and it's their problem if they can't afford the taxes on an expensive notebook. So some future advice, don't offer to shave some of the price off just because they don't want to pay taxes. You'll just get walked all over. You're very lucky you are so hot in your profile pic..                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                      |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:25 Rocksee Joined: Apr 10, 2003  my boyfriend got me addicted. | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts quote:<hr/>no v.20 came out of the closet to say:You see, what our friend Jeff is doing is, replying to the scammers emails in a hilarious way that seems to imply he is a naive ebayer. In reality, jeff is on to his act and has concocted this perona with the help of some people who also post on the same internet forum as himself.<hr/> That may be, however, I'm just concerned that he may do it outside of providing entertainment. I'm just looking out for him.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:28 duon Joined: Jun 28, 2002                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts quote:<hr/>no v.20 came out of the closet to say:Oh sweet christ.In the future, I'm sure Jeff wouldn't mind claiming a lower value if the buyer isn't a scammer.You see, what our friend Jeff is doing is, replying to the scammers emails in a hilarious way that seems to imply he is a naive ebayer. In reality, jeff is on to his act and has concocted this perona with the help of some people who also post on the same internet forum as himself.<hr/> Plus there really isn't any money. It's a fake escrow site. So, he is telling the guy he can keep some of his fake money. I found it funny. | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:30 Raukowath Joined: Jul 05, 2003 Wreaker of Havoc                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Beautiful, absolutely beautiful. I may have to make a site paying homage to this thread and this thread alone.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:34 Kreez Joined: Oct 18, 2003                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Is there a "reception party" organized for the delivery already? I would think more than one goon would be needed for prime viewing of this delievery. Plus you could have walkie talkies and code names...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:35 dietcokefiend Joined: Apr 28, 2004                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Awesome thread. Insto-Subscribe time 😊 I can only hope for this much fun if I ever get scammed on ebay.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Landslide Joined: Sep 02, 2003                                                                                                             | quote: dietcokefiend came out of the closet to say:Awesome thread.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:37 MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuotequote:no v.20 came out of the closet to say:Oh sweet christ.In the future, I'm sure Jeff wouldn't mind claiming a lower value if the buyer isn't a scammer.You see, what our friend Jeff is doing is, replying to the scammers emails in a hilarious way that seems to imply he is a naive ebayer. In reality, jeff is on to his act and has concocted this perona with the help of some people who also post on the same internet forum as himself.Exactly.Rocksee, good lookin out, but I would never do that in a serious sale. I don't think I'd even lie about the value in a real sale. Unless the person made it worth my while. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:47 Vorpai Bunny X Joined: Nov 11, 2003  If this is about my T-Shirt, I got it off a comedy Website | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuoteI love these threads. I hope someone is keeping an archive of all of this to be torrented once everything is over.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:48 Rocksee Joined: Apr 10, 2003  my boyfriend got me addicted.                                    | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuotequote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Exactly.Rocksee, good lookin out, but I would never do that in a serious sale. I don't think I'd even lie about the value in a real sale. Unless the person made it worth my while.Ok good. I'd hate to see you get fucked over, especially after you actually did include those pencil shavings. I knew I was going to get shit for saying that anyway. 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:51                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

|                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SLOSifi Joined: Aug 10, 2002                                       | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Exactly. Rocksee, good lookin out, but I would never do that in a serious sale. I don't think I'd even lie about the value in a real sale. Unless the person made it worth my while. Back in the old days, if someone wanted to rob you, and you caught wind of it in advance, you'd just sit behind the couch with a shotgun waiting for them to walk in. Not only is what you're doing civil, but entertaining. Kudos to you, 20+ page thread alchemy is rare.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:53                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| sig Joined: Jul 15, 2003                                           | waiting for pics of him opening it!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:56                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | quote: Vorpal Bunny X came out of the closet to say: I love these threads. I hope someone is keeping an archive of all of this to be tormented once everything is over. Is there a better way of saving this other then going to each page and clicking file &gt; save as?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 06:59                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Jaiph Joined: Mar 13, 2004                                       | There so needs to be a level above 'gold' for threads like this. Also, more threads like this.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:02                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| eShep Joined: Dec 03, 2003 Be a little more proactive about the things you should start thinking about doing                                       | I've been loving this thread since page 1, but this will be my first time posting. I'm enjoying this whole goon-justice sting operation, but I think we need to go a step or two further; we need to do some more goon recon. If there is anyone in the UK who would be willing to talk to the police about a hypothetical situation exactly matching the description of this episode, maybe they would let us know the best course of action to maximize both hillarity and justice. In the case that: 1) The scammer is in fact the barbershop owner/patron (unlikely), we could get them involved in the bust and have a metric assload of evidence against the dude. 2) The scammer is somewhere in romania, they could get the barbershop guy out of the operation (and charged if he's a willing participant), and possibly get the appropriate authorities working on tracking down the guy in romania. Either way, if we knew what would happen if we involved the authorities, we could involve them at the correct point for great goon justice. Just my two cents. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:08                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ® Joined: Nov 20, 2002                                                                   | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Is there a better way of saving this other then going to each page and clicking file &gt; save as? If you have Adobe Acrobat (not Reader) , there should be a little "Convert web page to PDF file" button to the right of the Address Bar, that's usually what I use. I can't wait to get more updates, this is one of the best threads I've ever seen.😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:14                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Sputnik Joined: Jul 21, 2003  I felt like a ninja, and my Kung-Fu was strong. | quote: eShep came out of the closet to say: maybe they would let us know the best course of action to maximize both hillarity and justice. In the case that: I doubt the police will offer 'hillarity' other than suggest that all information is brought to them and the sheenanigans stopped, fellow goon.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:14                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| IndyPunkOne Joined: Aug 05, 2002  Got a tattooed tit, say Number 13.          | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: I doubt this would ever happen. In the event that he does bid on one of my auctions, (assuming I have another here in the future,) He would bid and win. He would then have to paypal me money, and I'm pretty sure he stays away from legit paypal accounts, being a bastard scammer. Also, any european address would raise an eyebrow for sure. Now that you do mention it, I bet he will be watching my other auctions in an attempt for get back at me some how. Any attempt will fail. add him to your blocked bidder list and he won't be able to bid on your auctions |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:17                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| eShep Joined: Dec 03, 2003 Be a little more proactive about the things you should start thinking about doing                                                             | quote: Sputnik came out of the closet to say: I doubt the police will offer 'hillarity' other than suggest that all information is brought to them and the sheenanigans stopped, fellow goon. What I mean to say is that if we asked them what would happen if we came to them with such a tale, what they would do about it.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:17                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Oz
Joined: Sep 10, 2003

Minion Of Relin

quote:

MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:
I like the way this looks:

Pipski
Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop.
Pity I wasn't invited.

L
H
S sl
C
M ei t† ei tc ai
o· pl ui

definatly this one. totally awesome.

I can't wait for the final thread result.

Apr 29, 2004: 07:20

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Leka
Joined: Apr 02, 2004

Life is a disease, sexually transmitted and fatal. -- Neil Gaiman

quote:

Lucifer came out of the closet to say:

[Edit] Also, this thread will be made into a major motion picture which will win four Academy Awards.

Starring Tom Hanks as MyNameIsJeff and Hugh Grant as Pipski.

Apr 29, 2004: 07:22

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Soos
Joined: Mar 03, 2004

Soos you neeb

quote:

IndyPunkOne came out of the closet to say:

add him to your blocked bidder list and he won't be able to bid on your auctions

Chances are he wouldn't be stupid enough to use the same stupid ebay account (which was deleted already, wasn't it?) to bid on a future item. The problem is that the scammer could steal other accounts and use those to bid.

Edit:

Because my only purpose on this planet is to mirror, here is the current list:

Laptop:

- <http://www.soosed.com/images/righthand.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/laser.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/bluetoothmouse1.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/bottomright.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/leftmenu.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/topmenu.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/functionkey.jpg>
- <http://www.soosed.com/images/touchpad.jpg>

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| http://www.soosed.com/images/topclosed.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/back1.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/back2.jpg Receipt: http://www.soosed.com/images/itisdone.jpg All the Recon Pics: http://www.soosed.com/images/Averyd...fightscopy1.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/InsidetheSpiderHole.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/bin.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/PrettyShittyCity.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/SARobe...dInTheSting.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/SamFisherIsAFagcopy.jpghttp://www.soosed.com/images/stealt...eleonsghost.jpg Soos fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 07:39 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:25                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| ® Joined: Nov 20, 2002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | quote: <hr/> IndyPunkOne came out of the closet to say: <hr/> add him to your blocked bidder list and he won't be able to bid on your auctions <hr/> That's what I thought at first, too, but that would only work for one account. Remember, this guy was already kicked off of the account that he used to contact Jeff from. Who knows how many others he has. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:26                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| jhnrxsn Joined: Mar 07, 2003  OL LOL LOL LTacticalPenis bought me this title because he is a worthless bastard and i have to help him do shit all the time.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | quote: <hr/> Leka came out of the closet to say: <hr/> Starring Tom Hanks as MyNameIsJeff and Hugh Grant as Pipski. <hr/> Based on a true story! subscribed for the 5th time, I cannot get enough of this thread                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:26                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| smitz Joined: Nov 05, 2003                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Oh crap, so beaten, beaten hard by Pipski. Its 7:30 in the morning and I was about to leave for the address for recon 🤔 I need to go to London anyway, and I need to go again tomorrow, shall I bother getting more pics today? What are my orders for tomorrow? Anyone else want to go?                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:28                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | quote:smitz came out of the closet to say:Oh crap, so beaten, beaten hard by Pipski. Its 7:30 in the morning and I was about to leave for the address for recon 😊I need to go to London anyway, and I need to go again tomorrow, shall I bother getting more pics today? What are my orders for tomorrow? Anyone else want to go? Any additional intelligence is greatly appreciated. If you are going to be there, see if you can get any better pics.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:33                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| G. HosafatJoined: Apr 16, 2003I WANT TO RAPE YOUR FACE                                                                                          | This is freakin cool on so many levels.It's like the metis thread, but with a payoff!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:37                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| permafriedJoined: Sep 22, 2003                                  | Just another "awesome thread/idea" post.Fuckin' awesome.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:38                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! |  We have another recon mission underway! Smitz has some buisness in London and will be stopping by for a haircut. While there he is also going to take some time to check his email and looking up some info on his new digital camera. While checking his camera out he will be taking a few test pictures, perhaps video. I told him to be discreet.Smitz, another thing, if a lot of his friends are over you must be very discreet. Don't take too big of a risk!Good luck!(Not to upstage you Pipski. You rock.)MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 07:53User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote |
| Raz-DietJoined: Apr 21, 2002Forum Doctor           | quote:Rocksee came out of the closet to say:Listen, Jeff. I'm sure you are a nice, sweet guy, but for the love of god, STOP TELLING THIS GUY YOU WILL PAY HIM MONEY BACK! You already gave him a break on the value you listed. I know you aren't really going to pay him, but he's an asshole scammer. And even if this was a legit deal, you didn't "screw up", you were being honest and it's their problem if they can't afford the taxes on an expensive notebook. So some future advice, don't offer to shave some of the price off just because they don't want to pay taxes. You'll just get walked all over.Ugh. Ignore this, Jeff, you've performed admirably.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 07:52                                                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MizkifJoined: Nov 18, 2002Borfo's non-gimmick account. Apr 29, 2004: 07:53                      | Wow, this thread will go down in history. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| deeboJoined: Jan 21, 2004 Apr 29, 2004: 07:55                                                              | Keep a look out for stacked packages or bunches of envelopes etc :P User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| IonizedJoined: Nov 13, 2003WHOA, it's a Star Destroyer!!! Apr 29, 2004: 07:59                                                                                                              | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Smitz has some buisness in London and will be stopping by for a haircut. While there he is also going to take some time to check his email and looking up some info on his new digital camera. Smitz, while you're there, do whatever you have to (hit up a web site, email something, etc) to grab the IP address. It's worth some more investigation. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| BjergenJoined: May 21, 2003short, fat prick Apr 29, 2004: 08:01                                                                                                                            | quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Is there a better way of saving this other then going to each page and clicking file &gt; save as? My suggestion would be change the URL (http://forums.somethingawful.com/showthread.php?s=&amp;threadid=1016390&amp;perpage=40&amp;pagenumber=1) so the posts per page is something huge (http://forums.somethingawful.com/sh...00&amp;pagenumber=1) So that the whole thread shows on one page, then get acrobat or some other pdf generator as suggested above and convert thread to a pdf for sharing. You use a mac right? Does OSX already have a PDF printer? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote |
| im_afraid_of_clownsJoined: Nov 28, 2000Play dat funkay music white boi!!! Apr 29, 2004: 08:01 | should the fuzz be notified if any evidence is found? User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                | quote:  Bjergen came out of the closet to say:  My suggestion would be change the URL (http://forums.somethingawful.com/sh...40&amp;pagenumber=1) so the posts per page is something huge (http://forums.somethingawful.com/sh...00&amp;pagenumber=1) So that the whole thread shows on one page, then get acrobat or some other pdf generator as suggested above and convert thread to a pdf for sharing. You use a mac right? Does OSX already have a PDF printer?  I don't really use OSX. Edit - You were right. I changed the post count to 900 per page it its all on one page. I'll be saving it. MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 08:07 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 08:04                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004 Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | Wow, morning all. Smitz, when you go in the place head upstairs and use one of the PCs up there if at all possible. That way we have an idea what the first floor looks like, plus you can see if there are any doors up there that might lead to residential accommodation (i.e. flat 9B). Oh, and on your way out you might want to ask the proprietor if it's possible to set up webcams on his PCs for you to have some facetime with your girlfriend in Indochina. 😊 Good luck mate.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 08:05                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                | Ok, I'm going to bed. It's midnight over here. I look forward to your intel Smitz. I'm pretty sure I'm just going to stare at my ceiling in anticipation all night.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 08:11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| BjergenJoined: May 21, 2003 short, fat prick                                                                                                                    | quote:  MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:  I don't really use OSX. Edit - You were right. I changed the post count to 900 per page it its all on one page. I'll be saving it.  I just used PDF995 to make a pdf of it, 11.8Mb and 281 pages!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 08:18                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| DragobichJoined: Jan 05, 2001 fuck, being banned sucks                                                                                                          | No! I must know more now! Damn sleep.. good luck on the new recon.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 08:24                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| deebo Joined: Jan 21, 2004  Apr 29, 2004: 08:52                                                    | Hey! ask him his name too User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Yossarko Joined: Jan 22, 2004  The little Armenian boy who could... Apr 29, 2004: 08:53 | smitz, I wish you all the best of luck. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Hoffbonics Joined: May 12, 2003 Can a brother get a hoagie? Apr 29, 2004: 08:57                                                                                                    | So the laptop's being delivered to the barber shop? It would be absolutely delicious to have a goon stake the place out and get any possible reaction photos. Probably not possible...but oh the thought of the pictures.... Also, this thread is one of the funniest and most well-played I've ever seen on these forums. FUCKING BRAVO User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| DLCinferno Joined: Feb 22, 2003  Apr 29, 2004: 09:02                                               | quote: Rocksee came out of the closet to say: Listen, Jeff. I'm sure you are a nice, sweet guy, but for the love of god, STOP TELLING THIS GUY YOU WILL PAY HIM MONEY BACK! You already gave him a break on the value you listed. I know you aren't really going to pay him, but he's an asshole scammer. And even if this was a legit deal, you didn't "screw up", you were being honest and it's their problem if they can't afford the taxes on an expensive notebook. So some future advice, don't offer to shave some of the price off just because they don't want to pay taxes. You'll just get walked all over. Your posts make me cringe. Just stop already. edit: \\\ We're cutting back on your caffeine. DLCinferno fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 09:22 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| pooper scooper Joined: Oct 23, 2003                                                                         | I would like to just make some observations. Consider these points: As someone pointed out earlier "Scont" is a romanian verb for "getting a good deal" or something.. Also, as I pointed out in an earlier page, this guy is originally from the eastern part of europe. He speaks English and German, but his mother tongue 3rd slavistic/romantic language. I have studied linguistic morphology and deal with this kind of analysis quite often. I am willing to bet this third language Romanian. Now here explains the German connection: Many many people in Romania speak German.. I won't get into the history at this point, but believe me. In Romania, open up a phonebook and you will see many many German last names. Conversely, there are lots of eastern european people living in Germany. We have already seen on Ebay that this Scont06 person speaks a convoluted form of German. This explains that connection. As for English, well that part is quite obvious. Speaking English today is required for basic school education in many countries, especially those in the EU. But what are the chances this guy lives in London? London is land of foreigners. There are so many diverse ethnic groups in London that everyone is a minority. I believe it is possible that this guy lives in London, and has connections to Germany with an extended family from Romania. What it boils down to is this: THAT BARBER SHOP IS SUSPECT. This guy bounces his IP address off a hacked box to make it look like it originates in Romania. Why Romania? Why not? He knows Romania, but he is far from it. Pipski wondered why the Barbershop is still in business.. it's a front. Plain and simple. The black barber dude probably has no idea what is going on. Also consider this: The barbershop has an internet cafe. They probably have enough hardware and technical know-how right there to do ALL THEIR scamming.. all their hacking, all their IP bouncing, and all their packetsniffing.. ALL THEIR KEYLOGGING to fuck with stolen accounts, and all the infrastructure in place to conduct ID theft. |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 09:08                                                                                                                                                                             | In short: There is no reason to be anywhere else. I think its more than likely that this Barbershop has something to do with it. I bet this scammer is a friend of the owner, if not the owner himself. Oh and did I mention this.. That guy's name.. the scammers name is Romanian.. whether or not it is real, who knows. But it's Romanian. Find out the name of the owner of the shop. If it sounds strange, ask "Is that Italian, or Romanian?" If you get a positive, ask if this shop is also his home, or just a place to work. Casual barbershop conversation. You will want to grab those IP addresses.. I recommend taking a floppy disk with a program like ALCHEMY Inventory that will dump EVERYTHING about the network and hardware into an HTML format. Alchemy works fast, and is an awesome prog, and can be found here: http://www.alchemy-lab.com/products/atn/ You will have all their network settings, everything. And you can remove it easily when you are done. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote |
| doyle-sanJoined: Feb 24, 2001Nipple... or guinea pig?               | I read this far in one hit. Would kill for an ending. A + + + User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| DogWelderJoined: Jan 15, 2001"Monsters?"                            | I need closure on this anecdote. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| schmuckfeaturesJoined: Oct 27, 2003This avatar needs more Rumsfeld | This thread is fucking legendary, and reaffirms my deep love for the SA forums. 5 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| TreeSquidJoined: Jul 24, 2003Tentacle rape from above.            | quote:5:30 pm Left FedEx Origin Location BOTHELL WA Bothell goons represent 🤪 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Viper1360 Joined: Feb 04, 2004 loan.late.lean. Apr 29, 2004: 09:50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | OMG OMG, Jeff u are the man just read this in liek an hour. So worth it. If only we could put a camera in the box and have it motion sensitive with live feeds. The look on his face. Oh man i cant wait. P.S. Go British INEL may you take clear quality pics, and shoot some pigeons on the way.O ya, the P-P-P-Powerbook PWNS!! User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| J-[ate_Sandwich Joined: Nov 27, 2000 Apr 29, 2004: 09:55                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | ^ ^ ^ what. Is that supposed to be a joke. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Decapod73 Joined: Jan 04, 2003 FUCKINGCHRISTI Don't Belong Here Apr 29, 2004: 09:55                                                                             | quote: DogWelder came out of the closet to say:I need closure on this anecdote. heh. You have any idea how long it takes for shipments to arrive overseas? Another thread, another day. Or some serious forums necromancy. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| TheKevman Joined: Dec 13, 2003 I AM GAY FOR RUSHLIMBAUGH!!! Apr 29, 2004: 10:03                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | quote: Viper1360 came out of the closet to say:OMG OMG, Jeff u are the man just read this in liek an hour. So worth it. If only we could put a camera in the box and have it motion sensitive with live feeds. The look on his face. Oh man i cant wait. P.S. Go British INEL may you take clear quality pics, and shoot some pigeons on the way.O ya, the P-P-P-Powerbook PWNS!! wtf is this jumble? P.S. Good Luck Jeff and crew, our thoughts and prayers are with you 🇺🇸🇬🇪🇵🇪 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |
| Thursday Next Joined: Jan 11, 2004 everFUCK THE ISLE OF APPLES.FUCK THEM IN THEIR STUPIDASSES.KirklandKirklandKirklandApr 29, 2004: 10:06 | quote: TreeSquid came out of the closet to say: Bothell goons represent 😏 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

Kan

Joined: Oct 23, 2003

Meep! Meep! Meep!

Loving this thread. Congrats to all involved.

Apr 29, 2004: 10:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

sven523

Joined: Dec 18, 2003

Best thread I've read in a long time. I hope this works out and we get to see some evidence of his frustration. Pics/video would be nice but I would settle for a miffed email calling you a scammer.

catpot

Apr 29, 2004: 10:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Interocitor

Joined: Jun 26, 2003

Posting in [REDACTED] legendary thread!

Great going, guys. Just hope this thing doesn't blow up your face.

No no, farther TOWARD the kill zone please!

Apr 29, 2004: 11:04

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Turkish

Joined: Feb 06, 2002

quote:

MrTeatime came out of the closet to say:

I like the way this looks:

It's tip top.

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop.
Pity I wasn't invited.

Custom title bought.

Apr 29, 2004: 11:05

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| JoeSchmoe Joined: Jul 17, 2003                                    | You know what, I don't think I'm working tomorrow... P.S. - Superb thread of justice!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 11:05                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Schroe Joined: Feb 06, 2004                                       | quote: Apr 29, 2004 2:02 am Left FedEx Sort Facility MEMPHIS TN Hoorayness.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 29, 2004: 11:29                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Kekeke! Joined: Nov 05, 2003 I'm not Korean                                                                                                       | Im considering postponing my trip up to San Fransisco just to see the conclusion to this amazing thread. Its stuff like this that allows me to say SA was the best $10$ I have ever spent.... evar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 29, 2004: 11:33                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| SHITBOX Joined: Jul 28, 2003                                      | HAHAHA this is the best "scammer justice" thread ive seen in a while. Damn i love these forums                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 11:34                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Philovirus Joined: Nov 23, 2002  This space for rent | It's 4am and I just spent the last 2 hours reading this entire thread. Looking forward to it's stunning conclusion. I Really hope that goon policing stories like this can be added as front page material. Also next time I'm up in Seattle I'm buying you lunch/beer Jeff. You sir are an artist at antiscamming. Also I want one of your artistic abstract computer designs. I shall pay you $5000 via my escrow service that will be up and running in a day or so. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 11:58                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                    | quote: pooper scooper came out of the closet to say:Some Shit That's quality, providing you're right, it means we've stumbled over an enormous operation, so what we need is IPs of the computers, and to find other scams originating from this location. It it turns out to be a scam HQ then we definitely need to alert the authorities.                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 12:24                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

mrouth
Joined: Aug 31, 2001

This is beautiful. Just beautiful. I eagerly await the updates.

Apr 29, 2004: 12:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

The package has now arrived at Stanstead, it's in the UK!

Apr 29, 2004: 12:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gevalt
Joined: Apr 15, 2003

quote:

Refugee came out of the closet to say:

The package has now arrived at Stanstead, it's in the UK!

You posted while I was cropping and uploading...

Detailed Results

| Tracking number         |          |                                |             |
|-------------------------|----------|--------------------------------|-------------|
| 846563452310            |          | COLINDALE GB                   |             |
| Ship date               |          | Apr 28, 2004                   |             |
| Estimated delivery date |          | Apr 30, 2004 by 12:00 pm       |             |
| Service type            |          | International Priority Service |             |
| Date/time               | Status   | Location                       | Comments    |
| Apr 29, 2004            | 11:03 am | Package status                 | STANSTED GB |
|                         | 2:02 am  | Left FedEx Sort Facility       | MEMPHIS TN  |
|                         | 1:17 am  | Arrived at Sort Facility       | MEMPHIS TN  |
| Apr 28, 2004            | 7:11 pm  | Left FedEx Ramp                | SEATTLE WA  |
|                         | 6:42 pm  | Arrived at FedEx Ramp          | SEATTLE WA  |
|                         | 5:30 pm  | Left FedEx Origin Location     | BOTHELL WA  |
|                         | 3:10 pm  | Picked up by FedEx             | BOTHELL WA  |

Apr 29, 2004: 12:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

-jp-
Joined: Jan 15, 2004

^ ^ ^ ^ ^ ^ ^ ^

The clock is ticking! This thread occurs in real time.

Avant Guardian Angel

Apr 29, 2004: 12:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

quote:

Gevalt came out of the closet to say:

You posted while I was cropping and uploading...

Detailed Results

| Tracking details               |                          |                            |                                |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------|--------------------------------|
| Tracking number         | 846563452310             | Delivery location   | COLINDALE GB                   |
| Ship date               | Apr 28, 2004             | Service type        | International Priority Service |
| Estimated delivery date | Apr 30, 2004 by 12:00 pm |                            |                                |
| Date/time                      | Status                   | Location                   | Comments                       |
| Apr 29, 2004            | 11:03 am                 | Package status             | STANSTED GB                    |
|                                | 2:02 am                  | Left FedEx Sort Facility   | MEMPHIS TN                     |
|                                | 1:17 am                  | Arrived at Sort Facility   | MEMPHIS TN                     |
| Apr 28, 2004            | 7:11 pm                  | Left FedEx Ramp            | SEATTLE WA                     |
|                                | 6:42 pm                  | Arrived at FedEx Ramp      | SEATTLE WA                     |
|                                | 5:30 pm                  | Left FedEx Origin Location | BOTHELL WA                     |
|                                | 3:10 pm                  | Picked up by FedEx         | BOTHELL WA                     |

That's a pretty big ramp, took them half an hour to go up it.

Apr 29, 2004: 12:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Char
Joined: Mar 09, 2002

GAY FOR KIEFER
"fap fap fap"

I've read through most of the back pages of this thread trying to figure out what the fuck is going on but it seems to be pages and pages of "This is awesome! Best thread ever!". Can someone recap so I don't have to wade through everything again? I heard London goons.

Apr 29, 2004: 12:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski
Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

Jesus, it could conceivably arrive today! Stansted ain't so far. Damn it, I wish I didn't have to work tomorrow. We need a list of UK goons who can turn out and photo the drop-off (and any consequences) or follow chummie if he goes to repost it. 10m people in London, some of them must have the day off!

EDIT : if all else fails we could just wait for him to e-mail (bonus points for pics of him typing it!) but "I prefer the personal touch that you only get with hired goons."

Pipski fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 12:40

Apr 29, 2004: 12:37

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
Jesus, it could conceivably arrive today! Stansted ain't so far. Damn it, I wish I didn't have to work tomorrow. We need a list of UK goons who can turn out and photo the drop-off (and any consequences) or follow chummie if he goes to repost it. 10m people in London, some of them must have the day off!

It'll arrive tomorrow, they'll be phoning him now to ask for ZEE MONEY for the tax.

Apr 29, 2004: 12:40

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gevalt
Joined: Apr 15, 2003

quote:

-jp- came out of the closet to say:
^^^^^^^^
The clock is ticking! This thread occurs in real time.

Someone with gif/Flash animation skills should make a "red line traversing the map" thing like in Raiders of the Lost Ark.

Apr 29, 2004: 12:40

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Crazy Achmed
Joined: Mar 13, 2001

quote:

Char came out of the closet to say:
I've read through most of the back pages of this thread trying to figure out what the fuck is going on but it seems to be pages and pages of "This is awesome! Best thread ever!". Can someone recap so I don't have to wade through everything again? I heard London goons.

Check the original post on page 1: it tells you which pages to look for for the crucial posts. The "Laptop" being sent is pictured on page 9.

As far as I'm concerned, the only thing I have to say is:

[edit]weeIII, yeah, provided it's set to 40 posts per page. But that only takes a few clicks to do, and another few to get rid of once you're done reading the thread and have got up to speed on things, right? It's a small effort for so much hilarity.

Crazy Achmed fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 12:47

Apr 29, 2004: 12:41

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Refugee
Joined: Apr 08, 2004

quote:

Crazy Achmed came out of the closet to say:
Check the original post on page 1: it tells you which pages to look for for the crucial posts. The "Laptop" being sent is pictured on page 9.

As far as I'm concerned, the only thing I have to say is:

Provided you've got it set for 40 posts/page.

Apr 29, 2004: 12:42

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| girlmechaJoined: Mar 17, 2004IM A RETARDED DOUCHE, ASK ME ABOUT MY CLEANING PROPERTIES                                                                     | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say: Provided you've got it set for 40 posts/page. We get it. You're very cool and unique and set your pages to a higher or lower number than the default. Have a cookie.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 12:45                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004STUPIDNEWBIE   | quote: girlmecha came out of the closet to say: We get it. You're very cool and unique and set your pages to a higher or lower number than the default. Have a cookie. No, I've got it set to 40, someone a few pages back was complaining about him saying the page numbers didn't match his because he had a different number. And he wanted Jeff to fix it for him.                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 12:50                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| girlmechaJoined: Mar 17, 2004IM A RETARDED DOUCHE, ASK ME ABOUT MY CLEANING PROPERTIES                                                                     | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say: No, I've got it set to 40, someone a few pages back was complaining about him saying the page numbers didn't match his because he had a different number. And he wanted Jeff to fix it for him. My apologies, then. I saw someone else complaining in the thread and mistook them for you as I was being a lazy bitch. Will you accept 😊 as my apology? |
| Apr 29, 2004: 12:52                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| RefugeeJoined: Apr 08, 2004STUPIDNEWBIE | quote: girlmecha came out of the closet to say: My apologies, then. I saw someone else complaining in the thread and mistook them for you. Will you accept a 😊 as an apology? I will, but watch your step in the future, or I'll e-smack you. You've be warned!                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 12:53                                                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| marwoodJoined: Jan 19, 2004I LOVE the cock! Apr 29, 2004: 12:54User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote Uk goon reporting, and seriously tempted to shimmy on down to lahndarn tahn tomorrow, if only to drink in the spoons and watch the shit go down. anyone else up for impromptu goonmeet?5 to the maximum degree. 5 like you wouldn't believe.                                          |
| girlmechaJoined: Mar 17, 2004IM A RETARDED DOUCHE, ASK ME ABOUT MY CLEANING PROPERTIES Apr 29, 2004: 12:55User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote quote:Refugee came out of the closet to say:I will, but watch your step in the future, or I'll e-smack you. You've be warned!--I can't wait to see this thing play out. |
| CRO200Joined: Jul 19, 2003im nice, honest Apr 29, 2004: 13:01User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote When i travel to Europe in 2 weeks, the first thing ill do whe i reach the UK is to take a photo of the NEW landmark we call 9B. Fuck big ben, when you have the barber shop.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| ynosarianJoined: Jan 22, 2002"A chicken in every pot and a cap in every ass" Apr 29, 2004: 13:08User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote I stumbled into this thread via one in SH/SC about powerbooks....absolutely awesome.Looking forward to the climax.                                                                                                                       |
| FofRJoined: Aug 25, 2003Wow, look at me. I'm not even listening to a word you're saying. Apr 29, 2004: 13:08User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote Just a note to say his website is now "temporarily unavailable". Anyone have an archive of it to post?Been watching this topic from the beginning, loving it unfold.                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| swiss Joined: Jan 29, 2004                                                     | quote: Site Temporarily DisabledThis site has been temporarily disabled. If you are the owner of the site, please contact customer care. I think this will finally dispel any doubt anyone has that this is a scam. I guess this means he won't be receiving any more 'laptops' D: There is an archive of the website, it's posted waaay furthur back iirc. Edit: Found it: Link. Thanks Sejanus for originally posting/hosting it. swiss fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 13:18 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 13:14                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Yossarko Joined: Jan 22, 2004  The little Armenian boy who could... | I think Jeff should email and say "what's going on? I cannot log on to the escrow website!" and act very innocent / worried about the whole affair. We can't afford to have Scammer get suspicious.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 13:18                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                   | E-Mail him "The escrow site reports that it is temporarily disabled, I just want to make sure everything's still ok."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 13:19                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Shii Joined: Feb 17, 2004                                                    | I don't think you need to e-mail him just yet... Anyway, here's our package tracking link again just to be useful 😊 http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310 Shii fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 13:24                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 13:22                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| -jp- Joined: Jan 15, 2004 Avant Guardian Angel                                                                                                                 | Tracking number 846563452310 Ship date Apr 28, 2004 Estimated delivery date Apr 30, 2004 by 12:00 pm Oh yes! The clock really is ticking.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 13:25                                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| sven523 Joined: Dec 18, 2003  catpot                                                                 | quote: Shii came out of the closet to say:I don't think you need to e-mail him just yet... Anyway, here's our package tracking link again just to be useful 😊http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310 I agree. Jeff is playing the part of the naive ebayer, but there is such a thing as overkill. The guy's getting fucked either way but we want him to be as surprised as possible when he gets his "powerbook." I think asking him why the escrow site is down so early is pushing it. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                       |
| Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | quote: sven523 came out of the closet to say: I agree. Jeff is playing the part of the naive ebayer, but there is such a thing as overkill. The guy's getting fucked either way but we want him to be as surprised as possible when he gets his "powerbook." I think asking him why the escrow site is down so early is pushing it. Agreed. With a real escrow service, you wouldn't be getting money until after the buyer decided the goods were okay anyway. It's premature to be complaining about www.iswearstogodsthisisrealescrows.ro being down. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |
| maus Joined: Jul 25, 2003  Amigos! Look! It is El Macho...The Thief of Hearts!!          | Man, turn your back for an instant, and a new twist (however small it may be) reveals itself. What a great read. F5, time to earn your keep! User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Rib Feast Joined: Feb 18, 2003  Half the peanuts, but double the corn!                             | This is truly something fantastic. I have gym at 5:30 in the morning, yet it's already creeping on 1am - and it is well worth it. Having been ripped off myself, this feels doubly good!! Excellent work gentlemen! 😊 User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| deep square leg Joined: Sep 16, 2003  retired hurt                                                 | I've been following this from the start but had nothing useful to say. But I thought I'd add a reply before it's goldmined 😊 Has been fun, looking forward to the conclusion. User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| YossarkoJoined: Jan 22, 2004The little Armenian boy who could...Apr 29, 2004: 14:00 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>lagerdrinkerJoined: Jan 12, 2004quote:Rib Feast came out of the closet to say:Having been ripped off myself, this feels doubly good!!This feels twice as good as being ripped off!?Agreed - a truly magnificent thread!Apr 29, 2004: 14:01User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!quote:Yossarko came out of the closet to say:You guys are probably right on the email. The delivery is only a day away now anyway and by the time he notices the escrow site is down, he probably already paid tax.The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.Apr 29, 2004: 14:01User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr></td></tr></td></tr> | lagerdrinkerJoined: Jan 12, 2004quote:Rib Feast came out of the closet to say:Having been ripped off myself, this feels doubly good!!This feels twice as good as being ripped off!?Agreed - a truly magnificent thread!Apr 29, 2004: 14:01 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!quote:Yossarko came out of the closet to say:You guys are probably right on the email. The delivery is only a day away now anyway and by the time he notices the escrow site is down, he probably already paid tax.The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.Apr 29, 2004: 14:01User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr></td></tr> | DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!quote:Yossarko came out of the closet to say:You guys are probably right on the email. The delivery is only a day away now anyway and by the time he notices the escrow site is down, he probably already paid tax.The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.Apr 29, 2004: 14:01 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr> | shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr> | PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote |
| lagerdrinkerJoined: Jan 12, 2004quote:Rib Feast came out of the closet to say:Having been ripped off myself, this feels doubly good!!This feels twice as good as being ripped off!?Agreed - a truly magnificent thread!Apr 29, 2004: 14:01 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!quote:Yossarko came out of the closet to say:You guys are probably right on the email. The delivery is only a day away now anyway and by the time he notices the escrow site is down, he probably already paid tax.The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.Apr 29, 2004: 14:01User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr></td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!quote:Yossarko came out of the closet to say:You guys are probably right on the email. The delivery is only a day away now anyway and by the time he notices the escrow site is down, he probably already paid tax.The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.Apr 29, 2004: 14:01 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| DarkLotusJoined: Sep 30, 2001I Haven't Been Fucked Like That Since Grade School!!!quote:Yossarko came out of the closet to say:You guys are probably right on the email. The delivery is only a day away now anyway and by the time he notices the escrow site is down, he probably already paid tax.The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.Apr 29, 2004: 14:01 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote<tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr></td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| shepJoined: Aug 31, 2003I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.This is awesome guys, if I didn't live so far away from London I'd be the first one setting up my camera in the building opposite and drinking tea from a thermos.Can't wait to see what happens 🤪Apr 29, 2004: 14:02 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote <tr><td>PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote</td></tr>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| PhalexJoined: May 14, 2002If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread.Apr 29, 2004: 14:15 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Joined: Jan 22, 2004

quote:

DarkLotus came out of the closet to say:

The tax has nothing to do with the escrow site. No matter what happens, unless he finds out he is being shipped a fake laptop, he will pay that tax. He thinks he won and successfully scammed another ebayer.

I know this, I just meant to say, if he found out his fake escrow site had been pulled, he may have been suspicious and not wanted to pay the tax for the incoming "laptop"...that's all. 😊

But I'm sure he won't connect the two together, AND has probably already paid FedEx the tax.

Apr 29, 2004: 14:16

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Feb 06, 2004

Goddamn this is great. Vigilante street justice gets me hot

Every time you touch yourself an Angel loses her wings :-)

Seriously though, why don't we inform the police that the scammer is going to pick up this laptop? I would have thought they'd be pretty keen on meeting the fella...

MIKetheMERCILESS fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 14:40

Apr 29, 2004: 14:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Aug 18, 2000

quote:

Viper1360 came out of the closet to say:

OMG OMG, Jeff u are the man just read this in liek an hour. So worth it. If only we could put a camera in the box and have it motion sensitive with live feeds. The look on his face. Oh man i cant wait.

P.S. Go British INEL may you take clear quality pics, and shoot some pigeons on the way.
O ya, the P-P-P-Powerbook PWNS!!

How have you been here for three months without realizing that we don't talk like AOL retards?

Apr 29, 2004: 14:40

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Jul 07, 2002

willing to go to london town tommorw if anyone else wants to?

Should we ring whoever delivers Fedex here in the UK what the approximate time they will get to that address on thier run? Because then we can time the meeting time perfectly

Apr 29, 2004: 14:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Apr 20, 2004

quote:

kdevil II came out of the closet to say:

How have you been here for three months without realizing that we don't talk like AOL retards?

wouldn't any use of lol, lmao, o rly, omg and all those other little acronyms being used equate AOL speak. Not to troll the thread but I don't think I've gone a day without seeing a goon use it (sarcastically or in a serious manner). It's pretty much become the internet standard now-a-days

Apr 29, 2004: 14:50

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| kdevil IIJoined: Aug 18, 2000 Forum Veteran                                                                                                                                                                            | quote: Helpplease came out of the closet to say: wouldn't any use of lol, lmao, o rly, omg and all those other little acronyms being used equate AOL speak. Not to troll the thread but I don't think I've gone a day without seeing a goon use AOL speak. I don't want to derail it any further, but excessive AOL speak like he was using is frowned upon. Send me an instant message if you would like to discuss further.                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 14:52 MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003 P-P-P-Powerbook.com! Apr 29, 2004: 15:02 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts I'm pretty sure this is single-handedly the greatest thing I've ever done. (With the help of all your ideas and shipping donations) User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| OtokodateJoined: Jan 15, 2004 All your nuts are belong to me                                                                      | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: If you really feel like donating, you can still buy Pipski a custom title. We decided on "Bravo Leader: UK Goon Recon" I dont like the picture i found though. I will edit the conenry one down to size. Lets use that one. EDIT - Nevermind. Doen't look good at the right size. How about this for an avatar http://www.imagedump.com/index.cgi?pick=get&amp;tp=67101. Sorry for the link, I don't have my ftp password at work. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:07 kdevil IIJoined: Aug 18, 2000 Forum Veteran                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts quote:MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I'm pretty sure this is single-handedly the greatest thing I've ever done. (With the help of all your ideas and shipping donations) This might possibly be the greatest thing anyone has ever done. Though the robot protest was pretty damn nifty too.                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:12 ewileyJoined: Jul 09, 2003 I am constantly bored.                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Voting for http://img9.imageshack.us/img9/9392/connery.jpg or some variation thereof! EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:14                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| down1nit Joined: Jan 09, 2004 Title text (optional; no images are allowed, only text, buttmonger)                                                                                  | quote: Otokodate came out of the closet to say: How about this for an avatar http://www.imagedump.com/index.cgi?pick=get&amp;tp=67101. Sorry for the link, I don't have my ftp password at work. no worries about the link sugah. everyone here uses WEB BROWSER brand. Very sexy image. I'd bang 'm. edit to add: WITH URI "PARSING" Technology. LAME. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:14                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Stefan Prodan Joined: Jan 07, 2002  Gee, I wish we had one of them doomsday machines.   | quote: Phalex came out of the closet to say: If you took the Isass.bat thread, to the power of the ABlix thread, then divided by 1x10^-100000, it would still not match the epic greatness of this thread. What's the ABlix thread? Link please. Sorry to derail for a sec.                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:42                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Refugee Joined: Apr 08, 2004                                                                       | The Dictionary is your friend.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:49                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Stefan Prodan Joined: Jan 07, 2002  Gee, I wish we had one of them doomsday machines. | quote: Refugee came out of the closet to say: The Dictionary is your friend. Oh shit, okay, I remember that. I just didn't know the guy's name was ABlix. That makes sense now.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:52                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Kilted Yaksman Joined: Sep 25, 2003 your neon lights will shine                                                                                                                    | quote: FedEx came out of the closet to say: Tracking number: 846563452310Ship date: Apr 28, 2004Estimated delivery date: Apr 30, 2004 by 12:00 pm Is the time zone used from the source or the destination of the package, or is each time listed local? In other words: Tomorrow at noon or at 7AM (EDT)?                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 15:55                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

Dr.SchadenFreud

Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

quote:

Kilted Yaksman came out of the closet to say:

Is the time zone used from the source or the destination of the package, or is each time listed local? In other words: Tomorrow at noon or at 7AM (EDT)?

Delivery date should be local time.

Apr 29, 2004: 16:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Apr 29, 2004: 16:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Wrong Igor

Joined: Feb 22, 2004

I'm getting too old. Kill me.

Way to go guys. This is awesome. Good luck!

Awaiting further planning from London goons.

Apr 29, 2004: 16:20

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

lostsailor

Joined: Jan 28, 2004

The desires we deny will find us in fate.

its getting very close to delivery time. i have seen a couple goons post that they will be available to go. i think there needs to be more organization. need to contact each other and set up some meet times, trasportation, etc... just so we can try to cover all the angles. GD, wish i live over there. would love to see all this unfold live. nevertheless, way to come together on all this and provide such a entertaining-edge-of-seat-anticipation thread. it's UBERGOLD. would hate to see it peter out at the end because not enough people communicated well enough to organize the sting.

Apr 29, 2004: 16:41

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Fufo

Joined: Apr 24, 2002

UNEXPECTED!

I have managed to read through this whole thread in a bit under two hours, up to this point.

A-Fucking-Mazing job, all.

Now I will have to leave the office, but I will stay tuned come tomorrow morning. Please, please londoner goons, be there and come back alive loaded with sacrilicious pics of endless laughter.

Jeff: If only for those fake powerbook pics, this thread has already delivered.

Apr 29, 2004: 16:43

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joined: Oct 02, 2002

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Quote

Joined: Sep 11, 2001

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Quote

Joined: Feb 04, 2004

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Quote

Joined: Aug 13, 2003

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Quote

Joined: Jan 05, 2001

I have and always thought that it lacked respect. Sometimes it start out funny but the goatselol crew always comes in and post useless unfunny garbage a few thousands times.

Apr 29, 2004: 16:59

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Quote

Joined: Oct 04, 2000

I will answer your questions about Gore-Tex

Apr 29, 2004: 17:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Saint Joined: Mar 05, 2002                                         | Hey, I can't even get his "escrow" site to load. Did he take it down after getting his use out of it?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:00                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| MyNameIsJeff Joined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | quote: Saint came out of the closet to say:Hey, I can't even get his "escrow" site to load. Did he take it down after getting his use out of it? Perhaps. I did report it to ebay. Someone else reported it to Verisign. It may have been suspended. MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 17:06                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:03                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| CygnusTM Joined: Oct 11, 2002  Ka-BONGGG!!!             | While I was out at lunch I spotted a FedEx truck, and thanks to this thread, I giggled like a schoolgirl. Once again SA proves to be the comedic center of the universe. EDIT: quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:I think the time on the status updates are for the time zone it is in at that scan point, and delivery time are for the London time zone. Can't be. Unless they managed to get it from Memphis to the UK in 1 hour, 9 minutes. CygnusTM fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 17:14                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:09                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Muti Joined: Oct 20, 2003                                         | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say: Perhaps. I did report it to ebay. Someone else reported it to Verisign. It may have been suspended. Also been reported to Yahoo! abuse.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:16                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| esky Joined: Apr 15, 2003                                        | quote: pooper scooper came out of the closet to say: (Good points) ... Also consider this: The barbershop has an internet cafe. They probably have enough hardware and technical know-how right there to do ALL THEIR scamming.. all their hacking, all their IP bouncing, and all their packetsniffing.. ALL THEIR KEYLOGGING to fuck with stolen accounts, and all the infrastructure in place to conduct ID theft. In short: There is no reason to be anywhere else. I think its more than likely that this Barbershop has something to do with it. I bet this scammer is a friend of the owner, if not the owner himself. Oh and did I mention this.. That guy's name.. the scammers name is Romanian.. whether or not it is real, who knows. But it's Romanian. |

|                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                    | Find out the name of the owner of the shop. If it sounds strange, ask "Is that Italian, or Romanian?" If you get a positive, ask if this shop is also his home, or just a place to work. Casual barbershop conversation. You will want to grab those IP addresses.. I recommend taking a floppy disk with a program like ALCHEMY Inventory that will dump EVERYTHING about the network and hardware into an HTML format. Alchemy works fast, and is an awesome prog, and can be found here: http://www.alchemy-lab.com/products/atn/ You will have all their network settings, everything. And you can remove it easily when you are done. <hr/>                                                                                                              |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:19                                                                                                                                                                | Someone has to do this User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| AeoliusJoined: Jul 16, 2003 Über Lord of Time and Space                                                                                                  | quote: <hr/> pooper scooper came out of the closet to say: Find out the name of the owner of the shop. If it sounds strange, ask "Is that Italian, or Romanian?" If you get a positive, ask if this shop is also his home, or just a place to work. Casual barbershop conversation. You will want to grab those IP addresses.. I recommend taking a floppy disk with a program like ALCHEMY Inventory that will dump EVERYTHING about the network and hardware into an HTML format. Alchemy works fast, and is an awesome prog, and can be found here: http://www.alchemy-lab.com/products/atn/ You will have all their network settings, everything. And you can remove it easily when you are done. <hr/>                              |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:27                                                                                                                                                                | Oh, man. Your mission, should you choose to accept it... 😏 Who will our operating agent be? Come on, British goons, here's your chance to be James Bond for a day! User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| iwinatinternetJoined: Mar 03, 2004 Illiterate!!!                                                                                                         | this thread wins at internet. Wish I'd been on it sooner, read the whole thing today. Good going guys. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| RajaKumarJoined: Jun 13, 2002 Dr RajakumarI AM I DON QUIXOTE | quote: <hr/> Pipski came out of the closet to say:Jesus, it could conceivably arrive today! <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:31                                                                                                                                                                | It could, but it won't 😞. Also, for all UK folks thinking of heading over to this place, that Delivery time is not an estimate (unless they do things differently in the UK than in the US). That's a delivery by time. If it's delivered after that, the shipper can demand a full refund (or whatever FedEx's policy is--it may be different for int'l deliveries). However, it may be delivered pretty much any time 8am-12pm by FedEx (most likely somewhere in the middle, depending on distance from their Hub). I just don't want anyone expecting to see this go down at noon, and it was already delivered at 8:30 when no one was there. User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Curufin Joined: Oct 06, 2003 Fifth Son of Féanor                                                                                                                                                                                 | quote: iwinaatinternet came out of the closet to say:this thread wins at internet. But I thought you win at internet?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:37 dig Joined: Mar 22, 2004 binary devil                                                                                                                                                             | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Just read through this whole thing this morning. Best use of half a work day ever. I was going to mention contacting the Terre Haute (my hometown) prof but I imagine if the site was being investigated for fraud and was brought down, he probably already knows about it. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:40 Ransom Joined: Jan 08, 2001                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts I read the first page of this back when it was posted and didnt really pay it any attention. Now I've gone back and read through it and all I can say is holy shit. If you get in any trouble I'll personally help pay for your lawyer because this is just too fucking funny. EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:43 Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Complete derail here, but I've got a question. I want to get a complete ebay sale/feedback history on this guy; http://cgi6.ebay.ca/ws/eBayISAPI.dll?GetFeedbackHistory&amp;sort=2&amp;rows=25 I want more than what's shown there... any way to get more info? Reason being is that this guy is a co-worker who works in our purchasing department, and he looks to be stealing stuff and selling it on ebay (mmm... personal goon justice) and I'd like to get more detail on this. I'm also posting in here as I want to keep this hush hush, no msg'ing him or anything okay folks? I want this guy to burn (and maybe have an option of splitting my "reward" for catching internal theft with a few other coworkers). edit + addition - This guy has worked for us for over ten fucking years too, and he's blamed everyone else in the store (almost) for theft, yet has never had the knife to his throat... so I want to make absolutely sure our list of loss matches his sold items so we have proof! Lukano fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 17:50 EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:43 Dr.SchadenFreud Joined: Jul 16, 2003  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts quote: Lukano came out of the closet to say:Reason being is that this guy is a co-worker who works in our purchasing department, and he looks to be stealing stuff and selling it on ebay (mmm... personal goon justice) Oh MAN is this the best thread ever! Now it's gonna spawn ANOTHER eBay crook thread! Bonus, voted 5! EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

lushka16

Joined: Apr 08, 2003

quote

Lukano came out of the closet to say:

Complete derail here, but I've got a question.

I want to get a complete ebay sale/feedback history on this guy:

<http://cgi6.ebay.ca/ws/eBayISAPI.dll...&sort=2&rows=25>

I want more than what's shown there... any way to get more info?

Reason being is that this guy is a co-worker who works in our purchasing department, and he looks to be stealing stuff and selling it on ebay (mmm... personal goon justice) and I'd like to get more detail on this.

I'm also posting in here as I want to keep this hush hush, no msg'ing him or anything okay folks? I want this guy to burn (and maybe have an option of splitting my "reward" for catching internal theft with a few other coworkers).

If you guys do any investigating, maybe start a new thread to keep this one uncluttered?

Apr 29, 2004: 17:51

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edi

Quot

Space Robot

Joined: Mar 09, 2004

The only conceivable way this could be better is if there just happened to be a Goon working in FedEx in London who could deliver it whilst wearing a secret camera embedded in his forehead.

Pak, chooie, UNF UNF UNF!

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edi

Quot

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2001

P-P-P-Powerbook.com

quote

Space Robot came out of the closet to say:

The only conceivable way this could be better is if there just happened to be a Goon working in FedEx in London who could deliver it whilst wearing a secret camera embedded in his forehead.

Words cannot express how incredible that would be.

Apr 29, 2004: 17:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edi

Quot

kiimo

Joined: Jul 24, 2003

quote

lostsailor came out of the closet to say,

its getting very close to delivery time. i have seen a couple goons post that they will be available to go. i think there needs to be more organization. need to contact each other and set up some meet times, trasportation, etc... just so we can try to cover all the angles. GD, wish i live over there. would love to see all this unfold live. nevertheless, way to come together on all this and provide such a entertaining-edge-of-seat-anticipation thread. it's UBERGOLD. would hate to see it peter out at the end because not enough people communicated well enough to organize the stinq.

Pipski, as Bravo Leader, needs to assemble his team. He needs to make a thread with "Attention all UK Goons: Her majesty's secret service needs you!" ...your mission, should you choose to accept it...

Might want to clear it with Mother (Rich) first.

I'd go but I'm stuck here at SA headquarters (Kansas City). Seems like agents in the field get all the good assignments.

Apr 29, 2004: 17:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edi

Quot

|                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                            | quote: lushka16 came out of the closet to say: If you guys do any investigating, maybe start a new thread to keep this one uncluttered? I want to keep it a little under the radar (for now at at least) just incase he finally bought an account, or some goon who's not too savvy on ebay sleuthing (as we've all become thanks to this thread) who might tip him off. Not trying to derail or clutter though.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 17:55                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| yosarian Joined: Jan 22, 2002 "A chicken in every pot and a cap in every ass" | He may have shut down his "escrow" site after he saw the gazillion hits from us with the referrer of "somethingawful"...or maybe it was just a coincidence it came down now and was actual brought down by his ISP due to the number of complaints they were getting... hmmmmm...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:04                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Totswot Joined: Jun 17, 2003                                                             | Isn't it also possible that the barbershop has nothing to do with it, and the guys address, 9B, is just upstairs. Wouldn't the Fedex just come in, ask where 9b is, and then just head to the residential part of the building (if I read pipski's post correctly)? In any case, we definitely need someone to stake the upstairs and discover it's magical secrets, preferably before package is delivered.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:11                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Pipski Joined: Apr 18, 2004 Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.       | quote: kiimo came out of the closet to say: Pipski, as Bravo Leader, needs to assemble his team. He needs to make a thread with "Attention all UK Goons: Her majesty's secret service needs you!" ...your mission, should you choose to accept it... Might want to clear it with Mother (Rich) first. Actually a good idea `cause of how time's getting short and everything. Prob'ly a good idea to get permission too. However, my PM's are kaput at the moment, I can't send any and I can't receive any. I will shoot off an e-mail to Mother and hopefully he will check it fairly soon. I did consider reporting kiimo's post to the moderators, with an added msg requesting permission, as the fastest way, but I'm pretty sure that would get me b&amp; in double quick time. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:20                                                                                                                                                                            | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Hellafied4Joined: Jun 05, 2003Your freedom of speech does not mean I'm obligated to listen. Now get the hell out of Broad Street you dirty hippies.                                                                                                         | quote:Totswot came out of the closet to say:Isn't it also possible that the barbershop has nothing to do with it, and the guys address, 9B, is just upstairs. Wouldn't the Fedex just come in, ask where 9b is, and then just head to the residential part of the building (if I read pipski's post correctly)?In any case, we definitely need someone to stake the upstairs and discover it's magical secrets, preferably before package is delivered. Is there any kind of standard in London for what the letter in the address means? Does B always mean second floor?                                                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:24Dr.SchadenFreudJoined: Jul 16, 2003I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..." | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsHow many floors in the building? Recall that the stairs went to a second floor in the Intarweb bistro.EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:31PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.                               | quote:Hellafied4 came out of the closet to say:Does B always mean second floor?No. Could just as easily mean basement.EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:31FofRJoined: Aug 25, 2003Wow, look at me. I'm not even listening to a word you're saying.        | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More Postsquote:yosarian came out of the closet to say:He may have shut down his "escrow" site after he saw the gazillion hits from us with the referrer of "somethingawful"...or maybe it was just a coincidence it came down now and was actual brought down by his ISP due to the number of complaints they were getting...hmmmm...Or he has shut it down as part of the scam procedure. i.e. It's not his fault, he sent the money but the escrow went bankrupt/died.EditQuote |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:44benhamtrollJoined: Mar 08, 2004                                                                                       | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsPipski, the new avatar rocks.(I had a shrine to Sean Connery Bond in my apartment in college . . .)EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| indeed Joined: Mar 06, 2004                                                               | no, b just is an alternate address, could be anything. I used to live in a completely detached house that was 11a, just because it was built between 11 and 12.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:45                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| yosarian Joined: Jan 22, 2002  "A chicken in every pot and a cap in every ass" | quote: FofR came out of the closet to say: Or he has shut it down as part of the scam procedure. i.e. It's not his fault, he sent the money but the escrow went bankrupt/died. true.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:45                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                             | quote: benhamtroll came out of the closet to say: Pipski, the new avatar rocks. (I had a shrine to Sean Connery Bond in my apartment in college . . . ) That has to be the official nerdiest thing I've ever heard. Kudos, as I'm pretty damned nerdy too... and that tops anything I've ever done/seen/heard-of.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:46                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| TheKevman Joined: Dec 13, 2003 I AM GAY FOR RUSHLIMBAUGH!!!                                                                                                          | quote: Lukano came out of the closet to say: Complete derail here, but I've got a question. I want to get a complete ebay sale/feedback history on this guy; http://cgi6.ebay.ca/ws/eBayISAPI.dll?sort=2&amp;rows=25 I want more than what's shown there... any way to get more info? Reason being is that this guy is a co-worker who works in our purchasing department, and he looks to be stealing stuff and selling it on ebay (mmm... personal goon justice) and I'd like to get more detail on this. I'm also posting in here as I want to keep this hush hush, no msg'ing him or anything okay folks? I want this guy to burn (and maybe have an option of splitting my "reward" for catching internal theft with a few other coworkers). edit + addition - This guy has worked for us for over ten fucking years too, and he's blamed everyone else in the store (almost) for theft, yet has never had the knife to his throat... so I want to make absolutely sure our list of loss matches his sold items so we have proof! Get out! You are cluttering the beauty. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 18:51                                                                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Rate thread:                                                                                                            | PostReply                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Powered by: Our hacked version of vBulletin
Copyright ©2000-2002, Jelsoft Enterprises Limited, although we did more work on the software than they did.
<http://www.somethingawful.com>

Something Awful Forums - Forum Archives - Something Awful Website - Buy SA Merchandise! - Shop Through SA Affiliates

*** LOG IN *** - Change Your Custom Title - Change a User's Custom Title - Change Your Username - Buy a Banner Ad - Register an Account - Donate to SA
- Upgrade User to Platinum - Remove All Ads - Purchase Bonus Features

User Control Panel - Search the Forums - Member Directory - Private Messages - Download the SA Forums PSD tag - Calendar - Forum Rules - Dictionary/FAQ -

YOU HAVE NOT REGISTERED A SOMETHING AWFUL FORUMS ACCOUNT!

(Or you have not logged in yet. If you do have a forums account and something does not appear to be working correctly, please email forumsaccount@somethingawful.com and we'll try to get you fixed up.)

This annoying message will appear on every screen until you register an account! Please get rid of this annoying message by registering your own SA Forums Account and joining us in our putrid rollercoaster ride to hell. You're only seeing a small slice of the SA Forums, and trust me, there are a ton of other exciting forums you currently lack access to, ones full of wonder and people who enjoy the forbidden Internet fruits of pleasure (pictures of dead fat people). So do us all a favor and join us for the low, low one-time price of \$9.95! We charge money to register because it can cost us up to $2,000 per month for bandwidth bills alone, and since we don't believe in shoving popup ads down your throats, we try to make the money back through forum registrations. The SA Forums are one of the last friendly, troll-free popular communities left on the Internet, and we'd love it if you could become another honorary SA Goon. We've got over 20,000 highly active members yet maintain a strong community full of exciting and moderately psychotic people who may or may not stab you if you meet them in real life. So, in conclusion..

>>> JOIN US! <<<

The Awful Forums > Archives > Comedy Goldmine > This guy is trying to rip me off on ebay. How should I respond to his email

(4): « 1 2 3 4
 »

Author

Thread

Post

Reply

Str8Dog

Joined: Apr 07, 2004

01010101010

Jeff,

I'm in Olympia. If you ever come down here, I want to buy you a beer.

Apr 29, 2004: 18:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Piglet

Joined: Jan 22, 2002

ZUB! ZUB!

quote:

Space Robot came out of the closet to say:

The only conceivable way this could be better is if there just happened to be a Goon working in FedEx in London who could deliver it whilst wearing a secret camera embedded in his forehead.

That would be great if it wasn't so suspicious if the FedEx guy stood there waiting for the guy to open the package while wearing a big, shit-eating grin.

Apr 29, 2004: 18:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kripes

Joined: Aug 14, 2002

BRRRRRAAAAIIIIINNNNSSS

Just spent like 80 minutes reading this entire thread. It was worth it.

I fear the climax will be disappointing (or nonexistent). I mean, all we're going to get at this point is an update in Fedex that says "Delivered".

Apr 29, 2004: 19:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Chromis

Joined: Feb 04, 2004

Never give explosives to a monkey, no matter how tempting

Just for a little additional comedy value while we're awaiting the payoff, has anyone noticed what's about half a mile north of Scammer HQ? Only Hendon, the Metropolitan police's main training college and driving school. I wonder how many of the customers in that barber shop are trainee coppers?

Attachment: cop central.jpg

This has been downloaded 2339 time(s).

Apr 29, 2004: 19:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

quote:

benhamtroll came out of the closet to say:
Pipski, the new avatar rocks.

lol, embarassed to say I hadn't noticed it! Cheers whoever that was! Sure is decidedly cool.

Still no response re recruitment thread. Anyone with fully functional p-m capability fancy following it up? This is prime-time recreational `Net browsing time in the UK right now.

Apr 29, 2004: 19:03

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lukano

Joined: Apr 28, 2003

Ungood's Disciple

quote:

TheKevman came out of the closet to say:

Get out! You are cluttering the beauty.

read the rest of the info before you post.. I wasn't trying to derail or clutter.

Apr 29, 2004: 19:04

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Sinless

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

quote:

yosarian came out of the closet to say:
He may have shut down his "escrow" site after he saw the gazillion hits from us with the referrer of "somethingawful"...

If he saw that, perhaps he would begin looking around the site. Perhaps he would join. Perhaps he may even be in our midst right this very minute... photoshopping... laughing at the same funny... planning his revenge. I trust no one.

<http://forums.somethingawful.com/me...what=datejoined>

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:05 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                 | ChromisJoined: Feb 04, 2004  Never give explosives to a monkey, no matter how tempting | quote: <hr/> Pipski came out of the closet to say: lol, embarassed to say I hadn't noticed it! Cheers whoever that was! Sure is decidedly cool. Still no response re recruitment thread. Anyone with fully functional p-m capability fancy following it up? This is prime-time recreational `Net browsing time in the UK right now. <hr/> I'm just wondering if there's any way I can get a few hours off work tomorrow morning. I have a car and a nice digital camera with a big-ass zoom lens (450mm equiv), and I live in London. This is could be worth the amount of shit I'd have to put up with from my Production Editor. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:07 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                 | MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003  P-P-P-Powerbook.com!                                | quote: <hr/> Str8Dog came out of the closet to say: Jeff, I'm in Olympia. If you ever come down here, I want to buy you a beer. <hr/> Hah, i got there a lot. Almost every weekend. I'm going to take you up on that soon!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:08 User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote | iwinatinternetJoined: Mar 03, 2004 illiterate!!!                                                                                                                                   | quote: <hr/> Chromis came out of the closet to say: I'm just wondering if there's any way I can get a few hours off work tomorrow morning. I have a car and a nice digital camera with a big-ass zoom lens (450mm equiv), and I live in London. This is could be worth the amount of shit I'd have to put up with from my Production Editor. <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                            |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                 | Yes, I grant you time off, you'll have to take it as unpaid or a holiday though.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:09                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Edit Quote |
| respawn22Joined: Jun 18, 2003You silly faggot! Dicks are for chicks!                                         | Tracking Info Updated:Apr 29, 2004 6:55 pm Arrived at FedEx Ramp STANSTED GBLooks like the package is at the terminal for delivery - not suprised that it won't get delivered till tomorrow sometime.                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:12                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Edit Quote |
| SinlessJoined: Jun 18, 2003 | Holy Fuck I hope I am wronghttp://forums.somethingawful.com/me...fo&amp;userid=53764Dofka in a Romanian word, and Dofka joined today.Edit: Custom title: G.ood E.nough T.o S.tealFuck, ban him                                                                                                                   |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:13                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Edit Quote |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                  | quote: <hr/> respawn22 came out of the closet to say:Tracking Info Updated:Apr 29, 2004 6:55 pm Arrived at FedEx Ramp STANSTED GBLooks like the package is at the terminal for delivery - not suprised that it won't get delivered till tomorrow sometime. <hr/> wow... that's only been discussed for the previous 4 or 5 pages 🏠 |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:14                                                                                                      | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Edit Quote |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| hotkarl Joined: Jan 30, 2004  are you for sale too? because you're just precious | It's likely he'll have to pick it up... unless he keeps the ~500$ on him in cash when it's delivered.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:14                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Pipski Joined: Apr 18, 2004  Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.           | quote: Chromis came out of the closet to say: I'm just wondering if there's any way I can get a few hours off work tomorrow morning. I have a car and a nice digital camera with a big-ass zoom lens (450mm equiv), and I live in London. This is could be worth the amount of shit I'd have to put up with from my Production Editor. "Hi, it's me. Yeah, I'm afraid my back's playing up, there's no way I'll be able to make it in this morning. Yeah, I know, I think it's just a pulled muscle. I'm going to take some anti-inflammatories, hopefully they'll kick in and it won't be so bad by this afternoon. Absolutely, I'll call you back at lunchtime and let you know. I will. OK, bye." ??? 😊 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:14                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Lukano Joined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                | quote: Sinless came out of the closet to say: Holy Fuck I hope I am wrong http://forums.somethingawful.com/me...fo&amp;userid=53764 Dofka in a Romanian word, and Dofka joined today. custom title of "G.ood E.nough T.o S.teal " doesn't give much of a clue tho.... uh oh.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:14                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                              | quote: <hr/> hotkarl came out of the closet to say:It's likely he'll have to pick it up... unless he keeps the ~500$ on him in cash when it's delivered. <hr/> or they call him in advance for his credit card # to pay that way.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:15                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | quote: <hr/> Sinless came out of the closet to say:Holy Fuck I hope I am wrong http://forums.somethingawful.com/me...fo&amp;userid=53764 Dofka in a Romanian word, and Dofka joined today. Fuck, ban him <hr/> Er, what happened to Smitz? Wasn't he planning on going there today? Visions of him tied to a barber's chair with a straight razor held to his bollocks. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:17                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| SinlessJoined: Jun 18, 2003                                           | Can Lowtax check to find out where the Payment method Dofka used to join?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:18                                                                                                                                                  | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

Chromis

Joined: Feb 04, 2004

Never give explosives to a monkey, no matter how tempting

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

"Hi, it's me. Yeah, I'm afraid my back's playing up, there's no way I'll be able to make it in this morning. Yeah, I know, I think it's just a pulled muscle. I'm going to take some anti-inflammatories, hopefully they'll kick in and it won't be so bad by this afternoon. Absolutely, I'll call you back at lunchtime and let you know. I will. OK, bye."

??? 😊

LOL! The voice of experience! Sounds like you've got your first recruit. Where/when do you want to meet? Remember "In Moscow, April is a spring month".

EDIT: I've got to head home now, and my home internet connection is fucked. Text me on ***** (edited to prevent abuse torrent, txt ya l8r pipski) to arrange meets, otherwise I'll try to be outside the place with a camera at about 10am. Unfortunately I can't make it there any earlier.

Chromis fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 19:35

Apr 29, 2004: 19:18

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

hutch

Joined: May 30, 2001

Call me Mr. Football

quote:

Sinless came out of the closet to say:
Holy Fuck I hope I am wrong

You don't get an account for free and you have to give a valid paypal address to join. I'm curious as to how this one plays out.

Apr 29, 2004: 19:21

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Jadz

Joined: Jan 08, 2004

"When you know not of what you speak, your mouth is best used for chewing." - Walter Slovotsky

quote:

Sinless came out of the closet to say:

If he saw that, perhaps he would begin looking around the site. Perhaps he would join. Perhaps he may even be in our midst right this very minute... photoshopping... laughing at the same funny... planning his revenge. I trust no one.

<http://forums.somethingawful.com/me...what=datejoined>

Anyone else notice that Mike G joined from the future?

Apr 29, 2004: 19:22

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

respawn22

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

You silly faggot! Dicks are for chicks!

quote:

Lukano came out of the closet to say:

wow... that's only been discussed for the previous 4 or 5 pages 🗨️

Wow sir you know nothing... 🐶 that package was in transit to STANSTED GB - when it hit the ramp was when the package actually got to the hub. From the hub it will either get routed to a local terminal or actually leave from that hub and go out for delivery...

Since it's now evening there I highly doubt it will get delivered tonight...

Apr 29, 2004: 19:23

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Raz-Diet

Joined: Apr 21, 2002

Forum Doctor

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

I'm pretty sure this is single-handedly the greatest thing I've ever done. (With the help of all your ideas and shipping donations)

Without a doubt. Even should you eventually cure cancer while simultaneously finding Osama Bin Laden hiding in your closet.

Apr 29, 2004: 19:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Jadz

Joined: Jan 08, 2004

"When you know not of what you speak, your mouth is best used for chewing." - Walter Slovotsky

quote:

Raz-Diet came out of the closet to say:

Without a doubt. Even should you eventually cure cancer while simultaneously finding Osama Bin Laden hiding in your closet.

LOLOLOLO

Apr 29, 2004: 19:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

im_afraid_of_clowns

Joined: Nov 28, 2000

Play dat funkay music white boi!!!

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

Hah, i got there a lot. Almost every weekend. I'm going to take you up on that soon!

Des Moines here, I'll buy you a pint as well

Apr 29, 2004: 19:33

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Sinless

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

I may have been too quick on the gun. The translation I can find for Dofca, may or may not be a Romanian word. From the Romanian Bible, Numbers, Chapter 33 verse 12

12 Au pornit din pustia Sin, wi au tqbqrkt la Dofca.

13 Au pornit din Dofca, wi au tqbqrkt la Aluw.

Translates to:

12 They traveled from the wilderness of Sin, and encamped in Dophkah.

13 They traveled from Dophkah, and encamped in Alush.

Apr 29, 2004: 19:37

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Walked

Joined: Apr 14, 2003

Add me to the skipping school/work crew for this tomorrow.

cant. fucking. wait.

Apr 29, 2004: 19:38

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

deebo

Joined: Jan 21, 2004

Can people just tell the post office they have a B address? Maybe the 9B is mail to be forwarded to scammer in 3rd world country, and 9 or 9A is just mail for the barbershop?

Apr 29, 2004: 19:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

HypeTelecon

Joined: May 19, 2003

I AM GAY AND I DON'T CARE
WHEN SOMEONE'S DOG DIES

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

lol, embarassed to say I hadn't noticed it! Cheers whoever that was! Sure is decidedly cool.

Glad you like it 😊. Although for some reason it didn't pickup the new line character to make the 2nd sentence on it's own line, my bad. Still damn funny though, enjoy!

Apr 29, 2004: 19:47

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

RajaKumar

Joined: Jun 13, 2002

Dr Rajakumar

I AM I DON QUIXOTE

quote:

respawn22 came out of the closet to say:

Since it's now evening there I highly doubt it will get delivered tonight...

No, it absolutely will not be delivered today. As a second (and last) warning, to all UK folks planning on going there: 12pm is a delivery by time. This means can/may be delivered at any time up to (and including!) noon. That is FedEx's commitment. If delivered after said time, shipper can be refunded (which wouldn't be all bad for MyNameIsJeff). They can deliver it at 8am. Or 11:59am.

Again, 12 noon is not an approximate del time, it is delivery by time. Most likely, it will be delivered between ~9am and noon, but they can attempt delivery at 8am if they please, and still make commit (in which case they don't have to try again until next business day, if no one is home).

Apr 29, 2004: 19:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

quote:

Walked came out of the closet to say:

Add me to the skipping school/work crew for this tomorrow.

cant. fucking. wait.

good man. OK, that's two.

I've set up a throwaway e-mail account : th3st1ng@hotmail.com

|                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                          | That way, anyone who wants in doesn't have to put any personal stuff in the forum. Post here, so it's obvious to everyone who's coming, but it would be handy if you also fired off a quick e-mail to that address just stating how you'll be arriving (tube, car etc.), what kind of gear you have, if any, (digital / ordinary cam, mobile `phone, Wifi laptop [yeah, right], walkie talkies, zoom lenses, anything that might be useful) and, to be on the safe side, roughly what you look like. (lol, Chronos just SMS'd to say that he wished he'd seen the thread yesterday - his office is next door to Web User and he reckons he could have arranged an `interview' with the shop's proprietor! lol) I know a few people on previous pages have already said they are willing to ante up as well but it'd be good if they'd repost and mail as well. At this point I should reiterate that there is no way I can make it along for tomorrow morning's shenanigans. Sadly, it would quite definitely get me sacked. I will do whatever I can to help remotely though. So come on boys and girls. The long arm of international goon justice is reaching out - will you be the tip of it's finger and apply the coup de grace? |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:56                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| TheHotCarlJoined: Dec 14, 2003 Bulk Male Playmate of the Month: January, 1967                                                                  | shouldn't someone campout the fed-ex location in case he goes to pick it up instead? I.E. if he wants to pay in person in cash so there is no real record                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 19:57                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Gizmo_GunJoined: Mar 21, 2004  Pow! Bang! Smack! Kablooeey! | Why doesn't someone act like a "neighbor" with mail for box B, call the barber shop (or some other place near it as it might be safer that way) and say, "hey! What is your address? I'm squatting at my friend's flat and I got a letter that was put in the wrong mailbox. Do you know where this address is exactly?" Edit: Even easier, you can call up the barber shop posing as a customer, ask for directions to their place. And then have them give you the address. It would suck to infiltrate the shop when its not the right place. Gizmo_Gun fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 20:04                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 20:00                                                                                                                                        | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Locus Joined: Feb 28, 2004  But you were dead a thousand times. Hopeless encounters successfully won. | Been said before, but this is a beautiful thread. I have this mental image of him starting to open the box and looking up to see a huge crowd of strange people staring at him with bated breath. 🤪                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 20:16                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Dr. Feelgood Joined: Jan 26, 2004 I understand that a lot of the members are lacking a heart (and a brain), but there should be a time when common decency comes in.                              | LO I can see him opening the package only to be blinded by camera flashes from the "bums" digging through the garbage can. Great work men, you made my day. (you also made me get a bad grade on the paper that I decided to postpone for two hours)                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 20:19                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| hotkarl Joined: Jan 30, 2004  are you for sale too? because you're just precious                    | quote: <hr/> TheHotCarl came out of the closet to say:shouldn't someone campout the fed-ex location in case he goes to pick it up instead? I.E. if he wants to pay in person in cash so there is no real record<hr/> This seems like a likely scenario, even if someone with a mobile phone camped out at the FedEx place they could see what car he drives for the benefit of those waiting at his address. |
| Apr 29, 2004: 20:22                                                                                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

Otokodate

Joined: Jan 15, 2004

All your nuts are belong to me

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

Er, what happened to Smitz? Wasn't he planning on going there today? Visions of him tied to a barber's chair with a straight razor held to his bollocks.

Is it safe?!

Apr 29, 2004: 20:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

phikl

Joined: Oct 19, 2003

gunna have to withdraw offer, forgot about a tutorial phikl fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 20:47

Apr 29, 2004: 20:32

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

lostsailor

Joined: Jan 28, 2004

The desires we deny will find us in fate.

hope this isn't SMITZ right now!

Apr 29, 2004: 20:32

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Bluecobra

Joined: Sep 11, 2001

Cobra Commander

Whats going to be funny is if the scammer tries to sell the fake laptop on Ebay.

Attachment: pwrbook.jpg

This has been downloaded 2466 time(s).

Apr 29, 2004: 20:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr. Feelgood

Joined: Jan 26, 2004

I understand that a lot of the members are lacking a heart (and a brain), but there should be a time when common decency comes in.

quote:

Bluecobra came out of the closet to say:

Whats going to be funny is if the scammer tries to sell the fake laptop on Ebay.

Way too much time on your hands but still, hilarious. 😊

Good work.

Apr 29, 2004: 20:41

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Hopefully Smitz gets back with those pictures.

Are any of you willing to spend a few hours to go chill out around there, keeping an eye out for the fedex truck? Once one is in the area then you can go to the shop.

I think Smitz will be down. He will need back up.

Apr 29, 2004: 20:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

inset

Joined: Sep 20, 2003

Secretly plotting your demise..

I've been on the edge of my seat reading through this for the better part of an hour, gonna save this thread for a rainy day, this is the best thread on the internet, ever. Eagerly awaiting an end to this.

Apr 29, 2004: 20:49

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DaTroof

Joined: Nov 16, 2000

quote:

Otokodate came out of the closet to say:

Is it safe?!

Eesh. Good thing he's a barber and not a dentist 😊

Apr 29, 2004: 20:53

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

solorca

Joined: Mar 29, 2004

Just a suggestion (that may have been mentioned before)...but once the package goes through, someone should send a picture of the barber shop, as well a photo of the P-P-P-Powerbook! directly to his address in Romania.

Apr 29, 2004: 20:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

I was just thinking - The FedEx tracking should say "Out for Delivery." How far away from the shop are you London spies? If you're close enough, you can judge what time you need to leave by that.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:03

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

solorca

Joined: Mar 29, 2004

You hit on this earlier...but be careful about future ebay sales. If this guy is really part of a crime organization or something like that, he could easily bid on one of your auctions, under a fake name, in an effort to get your real address.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:03

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TheRedEye

Joined: Sep 10, 2003

You're making me very unhappy.

Losing soldiers in the line of duty comes with the territory. Smitz knew this. If his lifeless, razorburned body wasn't slumped against a wall in one of the many elaborate catacombs of 9B, he'd tell us he had no regrets, and that we shouldn't either.

He was a good man, and one of our most valued operatives. He had total faith in these forums, and I'm positive that his final act was not submitting to The Barber's aftershave-on-open-wounds torture.

Let both his life and death be an inspiration for us all.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:04

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

solorca came out of the closet to say:

You hit on this earlier...but be careful about future ebay sales. If this guy is really part of a crime organization or something like that, he could easily bid on one of your auctions, under a fake name, in an effort to get your real address.

Yeah something that I'll have to watch out for. If that is the price, I pay it gladly.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:05

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Bluecobra

Joined: Sep 11, 2001

Cobra Commander

quote:

TheRedEye came out of the closet to say:

Losing soldiers in the line of duty comes with the territory. Smitz knew this. If his lifeless, razorburned body wasn't slumped against a wall in one of the many elaborate catacombs of 9B, he'd tell us he had no regrets, and that we shouldn't either.

He was a good man, and one of our most valued operatives. He had total faith in these forums, and I'm positive that his final act was not submitting to The Barber's aftershave-on-open-wounds torture.

Let both his life and death be an inspiration for us all.

Attachment: 03-04-18militaryfuneral03.jpg

This has been downloaded 2153 time(s).

Apr 29, 2004: 21:06

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr. Feelgood

Joined: Jan 26, 2004

I understand that a lot of the members are lacking a heart (and a brain), but there should be a time when common decency comes in.

Or you can just turn him in for fraud and get him sent away, then you don't have to worry about getting killed until much later in life. 😊

Apr 29, 2004: 21:07

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Amish Retard

Joined: Jan 27, 2004

Taking the short wagon since 1885

quote:

dumbass king came out of the closet to say:

The Isass episode was a hacker who posted a couple shareware games in GBS and Games. He tried to pass off a game called Godwars that contained a trojan that imitated the Isass.bat service on Windows machines. It allowed him to control those computers and hijack SA accounts. Several goons tracked him down with their own I33t hacking skillzors and brought his actions to the attention of his school, the local PD and his poor grandparents.

First they found the Isass.bat program. Then they decompiled the source and found ICQ and e-mail accounts that were drop points. From there they were able to find a string of e-mail accounts and also trace his IP. The perp ended up giving himself away majorly when he began chatting with his victims over ICQ. Given the user information of various e-mail accounts and ICQ accounts he was, as I said, eventually cornered and ratted out. It was A+ detective work that will never be topped on these forums.Edited, sorry.

Except when Punker99 was saved from a LSD inebriated suicide attempt while babysitting his friends' kids. It was in vain though, that moron is dead.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:18

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ewiley

Joined: Jul 09, 2003

I am constantly bored.

9:19 pm Package status STANSTED GB Package available for clearance

Does this mean FedEx is calling him now?!

<http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310>

Apr 29, 2004: 21:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Marius

Joined: Aug 13, 2003

I dont think you could pick up a package this late but I guess that does mean the package will be going out on their truck in the morning...

Apr 29, 2004: 21:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

protactin

Joined: Jul 19, 2001

quote:

deebo came out of the closet to say:

Can people just tell the post office they have a B address? Maybe the 9B is mail to be forwarded to scammer in 3rd world country, and 9 or 9A is just mail for the barbershop?

The postbox in that picture did look like it could have just been stuck to the wall at any time.. According to the Royal Mail, 9B doesn't actually exist, though I have no idea how up-to-date their information is.

Interesting.. sort of creates an untraceable address really, as you could take the postbox down and there'd be no evidence of 9B having existed.

Anyway, good luck to the London spies. About 12 hours to go... 😊

Apr 29, 2004: 21:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lukano

Joined: Apr 28, 2003

Ungood's Disciple

quote:

ewiley came out of the closet to say:

9:19 pm Package status STANSTED GB Package available for clearance

Does this mean FedEx is calling him now?!

<http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310>

Jeez that's fast! He just called with the phone # to get it moving yesterday around this time.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

OK, at the moment we have TWO bodies on the ground for tomorrow, Chronos (who is offline, but whose mobile number I have) and Walked (who didn't e-mail, but did post to say he's available earlier). Smitz is offline according to MSN, and presumed KIA. We need more peeps!

Apr 29, 2004: 21:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

syphon

Joined: Jan 01, 2001

Forum Veteran

I'd be careful it judging when it will be delivered by the website.

One time I ordered a new graphics card, and had time to open it up and install it in my computer before I looked on FEDEX's website to see that it was still "out for delivery". Those arent always updated on the fly.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:36

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

OK, at the moment we have TWO bodies on the ground for tomorrow, Chronos (who is offline, but whose mobile number I have) and Walked (who didn't e-mail, but did post to say he's available earlier). Smitz is offline according to MSN, and presumed KIA. We need more peeps!

Well, I think SMitz had other stuff to do in London. I talked to him on AIM and he said that he would go because he was already going to be there today and tomorrow.

At which point should I send another email so ask if he has received it? I think I'll just leave it alone. . . Until he emails me.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:38

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ewiley Joined: Jul 09, 2003 I am constantly bored.                                                       | I've had an opposite experience.. Sitting in front of my computer, waiting for my new laptop to be delivered, refreshing fedex's site. As soon as he delivers it, i go right back to the computer and it says "delivered". I think they've got some kinda (GPRS, proprietary?)wireless on their trucks/signature doohickies. Too bad they don't have GPS on the trucks, so you could get lat/long on where your package is (though that'd probably be a security risk, huh?)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 21:39                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| ® Joined: Nov 20, 2002  | quote: Sinless came out of the closet to say:Holy Fuck I hope I am wrong http://forums.somethingawful.com/me...fo&amp;userid=53764 Dofka in a Romanian word, and Dofka joined today. Edit: Custom title: G.ood E.nough T.o S.teal Fuck, ban him Well, does anyone know what 'Dofka' means? We are probably just being way, way too paranoid, but what are the odds that someone would use a Romanian word?? Also, there is nothing that I hate more than waiting for a package to arrive when i order something online. The anticipation for this one is so much worse, though!!! |
| Apr 29, 2004: 21:50                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

ChlamydiaJones

Joined: Sep 27, 2002

quote:

---

G. Hosafat came out of the closet to say:
It's like the metis thread, but with a payoff!

---

The movie got made and it's currently in goon edits. Shut up.

I wonder if someone should call FedEx UK and ask if the package has been 'cleared' yet. Maybe with the story; "I'm supposed to wait at home for the delivery and I want to be sure it's today so I don't take time off of work."

Personaly I've called on packages for exactly that reason and been told which DAY it's going to be delivered. You just need the tracking number afterall.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:51

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Otokodate

Joined: Jan 15, 2004

All your nuts are belong to me

quote:

---

ewiley came out of the closet to say:
9:19 pm Package status STANSTED GB Package available for clearance

Does this mean FedEx is calling him now?!

<http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310>

---

No, I think that means Customs has to look it over. I Googled the phrase "Fedex package available for clearance" and found this link <http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=844302040109> On it you can see what some of the next steps will be. Hopefully there won't be any delays like this guy had.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

quote:

Chlamydia Jones came out of the closet to say:

I wonder if someone should call FedEx UK and ask if the package has been 'cleared' yet. Maybe with the story; "I'm supposed to wait at home for the delivery and I want to be sure it's today so I don't take time off of work."

Personaly I've called on packages for exactly that reason and been told which DAY it's going to be delivered. You just need the tracking number afterall.

Opinions? I'm happy to do that (with 141 prefix to be on the safe side). In fact, would it be worth asking them to delay delivery until Saturday for the sake of manpower? Would they do it?

EDIT: If so, would I need more than the tracking no. to persuade them?

Apr 29, 2004: 21:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Sinless

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

quote:

@ came out of the closet to say:

Well, does anyone know what 'Dofka' means? We are probably just being way, way too paranoid, but what are the odds that someone would use a Romanian word??

Also, there is nothing that I hate more than waiting for a package to arrive when i order something online. The anticipation for this one is so much worse, though!!!

Dofca is the Romanian translation for Dophkah. This is a location from the Bible next to the Forest of Sin. Whats more his title is G.ood E.nough T.o S.teal.

BTW this was stated by me earlier in the thread.

Apr 29, 2004: 21:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ewileyJoined: Jul 09, 2003I am constantly bored.                                                                                            | Woha, 3 days? I can't wait that long! I need gratification NOW!Eating through keyboardThen again, shipping to Jamaica (as in the example) might subject a package to a little more scrutiny then to the UK (*cough*cough*)..Edit: der, learning to spell                                                                                                     |
| Apr 29, 2004: 21:58                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| ZoopyJoined: Aug 31, 2002"HAT."                 | SHIT I AM SO EXCITED                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 21:59                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| noddy1190Joined: Feb 20, 2003                             | I wanted to be one of the hundreds that have said that this thread is fucking stunning. gg all directly involved. SA is going to be hammered tomorrow as is my F5 key. 🤪 [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:00                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! | I have no idea how to use the program, but when I get home I am making an animated gif of this. Something like:package handed over counter > fedex truck > red dot on seattle on US map > red line grows to TN > then theads to UK > flash hand holding lots of money > show map of shop location > zoom in > zoom again > show box > Real pic of fake laptop > scammer crying |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:00                                                                                                                                     | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                         |

solorca

Joined: Mar 29, 2004

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

Opinions? I'm happy to do that (with 141 prefix to be on the safe side). In fact, would it be worth asking them to delay delivery until Saturday for the sake of manpower? Would they do it?

EDIT: If so, would I need more than the tracking no. to persuade them?

In the states, I think FedEx only delivers on weekdays.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:01

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

Opinions? I'm happy to do that (with 141 prefix to be on the safe side). In fact, would it be worth asking them to delay delivery until Saturday for the sake of manpower? Would they do it?

EDIT: If so, would I need more than the tracking no. to persuade them?

No, don't delay it.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:01

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Raz-Diet

Joined: Apr 21, 2002

Forum Doctor

quote:

Zoopy came out of the closet to say:

SHIT I AM SO EXCITED

Apr 29, 2004: 22:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

solorca

Joined: Mar 29, 2004

Pipski, be prepared for them to ask you about the fee's due though, since they are surely not getting him on the phone.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dudley

Joined: Feb 24, 2003

I am the Walrus. I am not on speaking Terms with the eggman

And the only winners in this entire saga are the UK government who will no doubt use their hard earned windfall to pay for todays 600 random Afghans to sneak into britain.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Sinless

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

quote:

solorca came out of the closet to say:

In the states, I think FedEx only delivers on weekdays.

2-3 day mail delivers Saturday in the States.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:03

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

solorca came out of the closet to say:

Pipski, be prepared for them to ask you about the fee's due though, since they are surely not getting him on the phone.

It might be a risk calling them. Since he gave me a bum number, I'm sure he is going to have to call them, or go there to clear it.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:05

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ChlamydiaJones

Joined: Sep 27, 2002

Yeh, don't try to delay it - I was just trying to get someone over there to find out if he's paid his taxes yet. Actually, as was suggested earlier, if he uses a fake credit card to pay for international shipping, isn't that equivalent to defrauding the postal system? That's a pretty big no-no in the US anyway.

If Dofca is him, he'll find this thread and not pay the taxes. Then he can be persued as notanothername was through the SA and PayPal records.

Dofca needs to post somewhere by the way.

Apr 29, 2004: 22:07

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Ionized

Joined: Nov 13, 2003

WHOA, it's a Star Destroyer!!!

quote:

yosarian came out of the closet to say:

He may have shut down his "escrow" site after he saw the gazillion hits from us with the referrer of "somethingawful"...

No. I REALLY doubt this is what happened. First off, the domain was hosted on yahoo.com:

devastator: ~# host set-ltd.net

set-ltd.net has address 66.218.79.165

set-ltd.net has address 66.218.79.166

set-ltd.net has address 66.218.79.157

set-ltd.net has address 66.218.79.158

set-ltd.net has address 66.218.79.159

set-ltd.net has address 66.218.79.164

devastator: ~# ping set-ltd.net

PING set-ltd.net (66.218.79.158) 56(84) bytes of data.

64 bytes from p2w2.geo.scd.yahoo.com (66.218.79.158): icmp_seq=1 ttl=34 time=74.1 ms

|                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                    | I don't know how much control over the access_log yahoo gives, but even If they allowed you to view it, the standard Apache loglevel "common" doesn't log referrals. And even if they DID...this guy is too wound up in scamming that I doubt he has time (or interest) in taking a close look at the logs. Bottom line...the chance that this happened is SO slim, that I don't think we need to worry about it. (BTW, the IPs were cached here at my college. set-ltd.net no longer resolves)                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:09                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| LocusJoined: Feb 28, 2004                                                                                                                               | Dofca is most likely a gimmick who's going to post a "This guy ripped me off on ebay and sent a fake laptop!" thread. If he is the real scammer though, I hope he doesn't see this thread. 😞 At least not until he's already opened the package. 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|  But you were dead a thousand times. Hopeless encounters successfully won. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:12                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| TheHotCarlJoined: Dec 14, 2003                                                                                                                          | yahoo probably shut the site down immediately after it was reported, or maybe it hit the bandwidth limit for his hosting package                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Bulk Male Playmate of the Month: January, 1967                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:12                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Dr.SchadenFreudJoined: Jul 16, 2003                                                                                                                     | quote: <hr/> Gizmo_Gun came out of the closet to say: Why doesn't someone act like a "neighbor" with mail for box B, call the barber shop (or some other place near it as it might be safer that way) and say, "hey! What is your address? I'm squatting at my friend's flat and I got a letter that was put in the wrong mailbox. Do you know where this address is exactly?" Edit: Even easier, you can call up the barber shop posing as a customer, ask for directions to their place. And then have them give you the address. It would suck to infiltrate the shop when its not the right place. <hr/> |
|  I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Google confirms barbershop address: "Jean Climax 9b Varley Parade London NW9 6RR" edit: There's also a phone number. FOR THE LOVE OF GOD, NONE OF YOU IDIOTS CALL THE BARBERSHOP BEFORE THE PACKAGE ARRIVES, OKAY? Kthx. Dr.SchadenFreud fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 22:17                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:13                                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003                                                                                                                                                  | Poor Dofca. He just joined and the first time he posts he is going to be bombarded with "who are you?" and "where do you live?" and "what the fuck does your username mean you scamming fuck?!" Unless, of course it IS the greasy bastard. Second the notion he needs to post we should all start pm-ing this guy. kiimo fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 22:30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:17                                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Gizmo_GunJoined: Mar 21, 2004Pow! Bang! Smack! Kablooey! | quote: <hr/> Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: Google confirms barbershop address: "Jean Climax 9b Varley Parade London NW9 6RR" <hr/> Ahh, I thought there was some type of mix up or confusion about the correct address.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:17                                                                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| ChlamydiaJonesJoined: Sep 27, 2002                                | Our boys at set-ltd.net made at least one consumer scam list; http://www.carbuyingtips.com/fraud.htm quote: <hr/> The Dirty Dozen Common Fake Escrow Site Designs There are many designs of escrow frauds you'll encounter, but these screen shots below are the 12 most common fake escrow designs we shut down. Once we get them shutdown, they usually carbon copy the site design over to a new name and start all over again days later. We have shut down over 300 sites. The dirty dozen escrow frauds below have appeared about 20 times each under various domain names. Study these fake escrow screen shots, see how slick they look. If the other party tells you to use a site that looks like these, it's a scam for sure, no question about it, no doubt at all. <hr/> |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Wasn't it something like this; http://www.carbuyingtips.com/pics/escrow-fraud18.jpg or maybe this one; http://www.carbuyingtips.com/pics/escrow-fraud21.jpg                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:18                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| FrozenEntreeJoined: Jun 11, 2001 God helped me fuck over my creditors so I can continue spending like the selfish dumbfuck I am! Blessed are the spendthrift, my ass! Hallelujah! Praise to Jesus! | This is the best of everything all rolled up into a single thread. I work for FedEx, so this is extra happy for me. Unfortunately I live in Ohio (near Uniontown), so I can't help with the delivery.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:25                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Dell_ZinchtJoined: Nov 05, 2003  I eat Chaos Emeralds.                                                    | Just checking in again, came back to read 10 more pages since last night..wow. This is going to be so awesome, I just hope the scammer hasn't actually signed up and read this thread. Best of British 2moro guys, lets get pics/video 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:42                                                                                                                                                                                                   | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| rottingcorpseJoined: Dec 12, 2003 you forgot to renew your domain.com                                      | quote: <hr/> Ionized came out of the closet to say: I don't know how much control over the access_log yahoo gives, but even If they allowed you to view it, the standard Apache loglevel "common" doesn't log referrals. <hr/> quote: <hr/> http://smallbusiness.yahoo.com/bzinfo/prod/wh/compare.php Access logs record data about who visits your site. The logs include information such as the referrer, IP |

|                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                         | address, and type of browser. You can specify the number of days logs are kept before they are deleted. Offered in Standard, Professional. <hr/>        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:43                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                   |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004  Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited. | Smitz just signed in.                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:43                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                   |
| Dell_ZinchtJoined: Nov 05, 2003  I eat Chaos Emeralds.               | Lets just hope we dont get a post saying 'WE KNOW WHAT YOU'RE UP TO YOU AND THIS SA WE WILL HUNT YOU DOWN AND KILL YOU SMITZ WAS JUST THE FIRST TO GO ' |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:44                                                                                                                                                              | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                   |

Sinless

Joined: Jun 18, 2003

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
Smitz just signed in.

Yay!

Apr 29, 2004: 22:45

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Zoopy

Joined: Aug 31, 2002

"HAT."

quote:

Dell_Zincht came out of the closet to say:
Lets just hope we dont get a post saying 'WE KNOW WHAT YOU'RE UP TO YOU AND THIS SA
WE WILL HUNT YOU DOWN AND KILL YOU SMITZ WAS JUST THE FIRST TO GO "

NEVER FORGET SMITZ
WE LOVE YOU XXOXXOXOXOXX

Apr 29, 2004: 22:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Apollo_Creed

Joined: Aug 04, 2002

I am the Master of Disaster.

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
Smitz just signed in.

Eagerly awaiting recon info!

Apr 29, 2004: 22:46

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| PigletJoined: Jan 22, 2002ZUB! ZUB!                                                                                                                | quote:FrozenEntree came out of the closet to say:This is the best of everything all rolled up into a single thread. I work for FedEx, so this is extra happy for me. Unfortunately I live in Ohio (near Uniontown), so I can't help with the delivery. Talk to your boys in London and make sure the person responsible for this delivery is wired up like a fucking cyborg.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:47User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| madcosbyJoined: Mar 04, 2003*                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | quote:Pipski came out of the closet to say:Smitz just signed in.Cool. And I just wanted to reiterate that Pipski is the shit.In America, being the shit is a good thing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:51User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| PipskiJoined: Apr 18, 2004Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.                                                                              | Pipski says:Smitz!Pipski says:That you?Pipski says:Jesus, we'd given you up for dead!ITALY RULSE! says:shit man, I was afraid to check SA / the internet before tomorrowITALY RULSE! says:The reason I was in london today was to pick up a passport from the old german embassyITALY RULSE! says:but thanks to german red tape,Pipski says:lolITALY RULSE! says:as I exepectedx, I have to go back tomorrow for fucking 9 o'clockITALY RULSE! says:to pick it up, but that leaves me in london, at 9:30, free to do what I wantPipski says:that is VERY useful! |

Pipski says:
the situation is ...
ITALY RULSE! says:
having already posted on sa, and fearing the toxx clause, you can guess what I will be doing
Pipski says:
at the moment we have ONE goon who can put feet on the ground at 9B, but not before 10a.m.
Pipski says:
More bodies urgently needed.
smitz says:
I can do it, I have my nerd buddies camera, records crystal video in 30second chunks, size = smaller than a post card
Pipski says:
I am giving serious consideration to throwing a sickie, getting up at 5 (ffs) to commute in, standing in the rain on a street for four hours, commuting back and then going back to work.
Pipski says:
that would be outstanding!
Pipski says:
you'd best have a shufty at the thread, there's all kinds of theories flying around about what this guy's gonna do.
Pipski says:
when he takes receipt of the p-p-powerbook.
smitz says:
I reckon I will get a haircut, have a chat, then use the internet cafe till about twelve, "researching" my new digi cam that I just bought through loot
Pipski says:
lol
Pipski says:
dyk how to get there?
smitz says:
Colinwood station, second last station on the northern line, 40 minutes from central london
Pipski says:
Yup. Just make sure you get the right branch of the northbound Northern Line - there are 2
Pipski says:
Then, out of the station, turn right, walk to the Edgeware Rd, turn left and walk until you see it.
smitz says:
Im unable to post at SA at the mo, some kind of cookie thing, if you want to post this chat log / condesation, feel free. you have no idea how scary it is promising 2000 goons some pics and not delivering on time
smitz says:
but I will tomorrow god damnit
Pipski says:
lol, i wouldn't worry. i still reckon tomorrow is only about 30% likely to go even vaguely according to plan.
Pipski says:
less, in fact, as we will be short of manpower.
smitz says:
When I get there, I can easily hang around for 2+ hours surfing the web, no prob
Pipski says:
bear in mind, you will be paying for your online time ...
smitz says:
£2/3 quid an hour for this? money well spent I reckon
smitz says:

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | right, I nneed to let g/f on the web, beck in 30 minutes. Will check on SA when I get back.Pipski says:too right. ok, my mobile number is , in case you need it.smitz says:will you be around? wait dont answer that I will be back in a bitPipski says:k                                                                    |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:54                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| I EAT BABIESJoined: Sep 11, 2001                                                                                       | I have never, ever, EVER read such a massive thread in its entirety before this. GOOD SHOW!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:56                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| LukanoJoined: Apr 28, 2003 Ungood's Disciple                                                                                                                                                     | smitz, you rock... no way anyone would ever call a Toxx on you for that, so don't worry.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Apr 29, 2004: 22:58                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| StinkyWizzleateatsJoined: Mar 21, 2004  Third Quartermaster of theNew England CalvinballCombination | I was SUPPOSED to translate six pages of Spanish for tomorrow. Instead my eyes are firmly glued to this damned screen. I salue MyNameIsJeff, Pipski, and current Goon Operative Smitz. Best of luck to you all. edit: wtf was I thinking. Ignore the noob. StinkyWizzleateats fucked around with this message at Apr 29, 2004 around 23:09 |
| Apr 29, 2004: 23:04                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

savinis_acolyte

Joined: Mar 24, 2003

Say hello, Bub! Say hello to your Aunt Alicia!

This thread is an awesome testament to the power of technology. Affecting action on the other side of the world entirely via the internet, knowing exactly when to perform said action owing to the FedEx tracking system...

This is just one of those moments I sit back and say to myself "Whoa. Internet."

Apr 29, 2004: 23:06

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ayb

Joined: Sep 12, 2003

Kills Drifters for erections

if he opens it up and decides to throw it away, you should retrieve it smitz!

Apr 29, 2004: 23:06

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Corundum

Joined: Mar 08, 2004

rock hound

quote:

Wrong Igor came out of the closet to say:
Way to go guys. This is awesome. Good luck!

Break a leg!

Hope you get some nice Paparazzi Shots!

Apr 29, 2004: 23:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Potassium

Joined: Oct 05, 2003

Cream > you

quote:

ayb came out of the closet to say:
if he opens it up and decides to throw it away, you should retrieve it smitz!

Ahaha, that would be priceless.

A bit late to this thread, but fuck, is this amazing. I will definitely be glued to this thread later.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

-=Buzz=-

Joined: Mar 27, 2004

quote:

if he opens it up and decides to throw it away, you should retrieve it smitz!

yeah, we know there's a bin round the back! 😊

Great thread, sorry I can't help (I'm 200 miles north of London) but I'm there in spirit!

GO GOONS!

Apr 29, 2004: 23:13

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Yossarko

Joined: Jan 22, 2004

The little Armenian boy who could...

Fuck, I have to go to bed, when I wake up tommorow morning it's straight off to work, I'll probably be turning my workstation on around 9:30 GMT which is seriously fucking cool. No work done tommorow, I can guarentee it. Fuck deadlines.

Oh, and if my company firewall decides to randomly block SA tommorow (like it has done before) I will quit and move to england to hang out with Pipski & Smitz. They are 🐸

Apr 29, 2004: 23:19

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

jaymeekae

Joined: Aug 30, 2003

Fuck, if it's wasn't my birthday tomorrow i would so be on the train down to london.

Awesome show. Good luck guys.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:24

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ChlamydiaJones

Joined: Sep 27, 2002

quote:

jaymeekae came out of the closet to say:

Fuck, if it's wasn't my birthday tomorrow i would so be on the train down to london.

Awesome show. Good luck guys.

What a way to celebrate! Get on down there you!

Apr 29, 2004: 23:26

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TheRedEye

Joined: Sep 10, 2003

You're making me very unhappy.

quote:

ChlamydiaJones came out of the closet to say:

What a way to celebrate! Get on down there you!

No shit, man. This is exactly how I'd be celebrating.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:32

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kiimo

Joined: Jul 24, 2003

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:

ENCRYPTED SPY CONVERSATION

Attachment: cloak.jpg

This has been downloaded 1816 time(s).

Apr 29, 2004: 23:33

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

jaymeekae

Joined: Aug 30, 2003

quote:

ChlamydiaJones came out of the closet to say:

What a way to celebrate! Get on down there you!

But if i stay up here, there'll be cake and presents. It's a tough call, you gotta admit.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:36

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Pipski

Joined: Apr 18, 2004

Lovely barbershop. Pity I wasn't invited.

Smitz asked me to post `cause he still has a cookie problem (not the edible kind). He will be on site by 10-10.30. I'm about to txt Chromis and apprise him of the situation. I have agreed to risk getting myself totally fucking unemployed by covering the 8-10 slot. That is not attention whorage, that is a serious fucking concern, and if it happens I expect to be re-employed by goons. That means 1-2 people covering the site depending on when the package arrives. Oh, and no transport unless a convenient black cab passes by. So don't get your hopes up. This will PROBABLY NOT ACHIEVE THE DIZZYING HEIGHTS WE HAVE ANTICIPATED. And now I'm going to snatch a few hours kip.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:38

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

Perhaps I can get into London but its a trek from Plymouth, is this barbers near any underground stations?

Apr 29, 2004: 23:45

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

donny_paycheck

Joined: Sep 11, 2001

Clean my area.

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
And now I'm going to snatch a few hours kip.

Love your anglo lexicon. We're all behind you!

Apr 29, 2004: 23:48

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Scotsman

Joined: Jun 09, 2002

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
Smitz asked me to post `cause he still has a cookie problem (not the edible kind). He will be on site by 10-10.30. I'm about to txt Chromis and apprise him of the situation. I have agreed to risk getting myself totally fucking unemployed by covering the 8-10 slot. That is not attention whorage, that is a serious fucking concern, and if it happens I expect to be re-employed by goons. That means 1-2 people covering the site depending on when the package arrives. Oh, and no transport unless a convenient black cab passes by. So don't get your hopes up. This will PROBABLY NOT ACHIEVE THE DIZZYING HEIGHTS WE HAVE ANTICIPATED. And now I'm going to snatch a few hours kip.

You are a god.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:49

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Pipski came out of the closet to say:
Smitz asked me to post `cause he still has a cookie problem (not the edible kind). He will be on site by 10-10.30. I'm about to txt Chromis and apprise him of the situation. I have agreed to risk getting myself totally fucking unemployed by covering the 8-10 slot. That is not attention whorage, that is a serious fucking concern, and if it happens I expect to be re-employed by goons. That means 1-2 people covering the site depending on when the package arrives. Oh, and no transport unless a convenient black cab passes by. So don't get your hopes up. This will PROBABLY NOT ACHIEVE THE DIZZYING HEIGHTS WE HAVE ANTICIPATED. And now I'm going to snatch a few hours kip.

How is this going to risk your job?
Is this a pretty rural area? Lot's of people around?

|                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                      | I know that it will be hard to get photos of him opening it. At least be there to hear it. Record it even. We need Smitz there because he has a rad camera and video capabilities.                                                                                                                                                             |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 23:51                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                            | Edit Quote |
| fourwoodJoined: Sep 09, 2001Damn I'll bring them to their knees. | I just had the depressing realization that this will all be over by the time I wake up tomorrow.Edit: Or maybe it's a happy thought that it may have reached an unprecedented level of hilarity.                                                                                                                                       |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 23:51                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Edit Quote |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com!             | quote: <hr/> fourwood came out of the closet to say:I just had the depressing realization that this will all be over by the time I wake up tomorrow. Edit: Or maybe it's a happy thought that it may have reached an unprecedented level of hilarity. <hr/> Don't Sleep. |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 23:53                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                            | Edit Quote |
| Dell_ZinchtJoined: Nov 05, 2003I eat Chaos Emeralds.           | quote: <hr/> MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:How is this going to risk your job? <hr/> I think he means by not going to work. I may be wrong, but that's the way I read it.                                                                                                     |                                            |
| Apr 29, 2004: 23:54                                                                                                                                           | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Edit Quote |

fourwood

Joined: Sep 09, 2001

Damn I'll bring them to their knees.

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

Don't Sleep.

Good call.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Philovirus

Joined: Nov 23, 2002

This space for rent

Now that I think about it, isn't London totally peppered with video surveillance cameras? If you do manage to get a shot or two of him and then immediately head over to a local police station you can probably get them to check their video as well as use your pix. If it is a pass through point that'd be a case for Interpol too. I know I just read something about Interpol starting to crack down on these kinds of cases but I don't have any recollection of where I just read that.

I hope at least a few of you London goons make it over to Gooncon where we can welcome you as heroes. We need a Goon medal of merit or something for people going above and beyond the call of duty to these forums.

Apr 29, 2004: 23:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

sig

Joined: Jul 15, 2003

ha since we are 12h ahead of england it will only be evening <3

Apr 30, 2004: 00:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

nic0

Joined: Dec 28, 2003

quote:

Philovirus came out of the closet to say:

Now that I think about it, isn't London totally peppered with video surveillance cameras? If you do manage to get a shot or two of him and then immediately head over to a local police station you can probably get them to check their video as well as use your pix.

On the off chance there is a CCTV camera covering the front of the shop, there's always the Data Protection Act to get footage for a princely 10 quid. The law in the UK maintains that you can request recorded footage from CCTV cameras that have your image on them. Fedex will have recorded the time the package was delivered, so you just request the footage for around that time and pretend you are the Fedex deliveryman. The Data Protection Act also says the most you can charge for sending you this footage is 10 pounds. Anyone going along tomorrow care to check if there are surveillance cameras?

Apr 30, 2004: 00:07

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

I will not be sleeping tonight. Its going to be 12am here when its 8 am there. I will most likely be up until 4 am.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:09

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

I can be at this barbers ~10-10:30 with a camera if it will be any help but I imagine the package will be delivered by then.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:11

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

rhig came out of the closet to say:

I can be at this barbers ~10-10:30 with a camera if it will be any help but I imagine the package will be delivered by then.

How far away from the shop are you?

Apr 30, 2004: 00:13

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

Couple of hundred miles but I need to go to London in the next couple of weeks so I don't have a problem getting the coach at 3am or whatever but I think Pipski is offline now, if there are any other goons involved in the stakeout please e-mail me any details of plans so far. I also need a haircut so I can go into the barbers a while.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:17

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

solorca

Joined: Mar 29, 2004

Well, if the barber is an unwitting accomplice, at least SA is giving him plenty of business.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:17

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

vegaji

Joined: Apr 14, 2004

Owned by Hawk989s

Okay, let's do a quick thing of math. Let's say the package is there at 8-11 AM British time. About what time would that be for those of us on the other side of the Atlantic? I have a feeling it'll be a little too late for me.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:18

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TheRedEye

Joined: Sep 10, 2003

You're making me very unhappy.

I swear, I'd spend the entire day in that neighborhood if I were anywhere near London. The adventurous spirit of you maniacs is admirable. If for any bizarre reason you need some sort of recon or crazy feats accomplished in Las Vegas, I am your e-whore. You can Toxx that if you want.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:18

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

Were about 5 hours ahead plus time between anyone getting back to post, I'd just get up early and check the thread
☹

Apr 30, 2004: 00:19

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dell_Zincht

Joined: Nov 05, 2003

I eat Chaos Emeralds.

Dammit i'm at work for 11 so I wont be able to check out the results of all this effort until ages after it's happened
☹

Apr 30, 2004: 00:20

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rayray00_00

Joined: Mar 27, 2003

whee.

quote:

vegaji came out of the closet to say:

Okay, let's do a quick thing of math. Let's say the package is there at 8-11 AM British time. About what time would that be for those of us on the other side of the Atlantic? I have a feeling it'll be a little too late for me.

Add 8 hours if you're PST, 6 if you're CST, and 5 if you're EST.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:20

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

charliemaul

Joined: Jun 07, 2003

quote:

rayray00_00 came out of the closet to say:

Add 8 hours if you're PST, 6 if you're CST, and 5 if you're EST.

LOL, luckily I anticipated this and put in to get off work at 12pm so at 2pm my fun should start (fun=sitting at home reading this)

Apr 30, 2004: 00:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Potassium

Joined: Oct 05, 2003

Cream > you

quote:

rhig came out of the closet to say:

Couple of hundred miles but I need to go to London in the next couple of weeks so I don't have a problem getting the coach at 3am or whatever but I think Pipski is offline now, if there are any other goons involved in the stakeout please e-mail me any details of plans so far. I also need a haircut so I can go into the barbers a while.

I believe the whole plan is detailed a page or two back in a few of Pipski's posts, including directions to the place. I think the plan is just to stake the place out, but I'm not exactly sure.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

shep

Joined: Aug 31, 2003

I am sad because I am stuck in a bucket in the middle of the ocean.

quote:

Dell_Zincht came out of the closet to say:

Dammit i'm at work for 11 so I wont be able to check out the results of all this effort until ages after it's happened 😞

I have to be in for 12:30, so hopefully I'll just catch it. Fuck you Safeway with your stupid fucking shifts.

Actually if you want I'll text you or something, let you know how it went down? I know that's what I'm going to request if nothing happens by the time I leave.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:33

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lukano

Joined: Apr 28, 2003

Ungood's Disciple

I just had a sudden thought of the scammer peeping out his window, drinking his morning coffee, and noticing the barber shop (whom normally has a casual but slow traffic level) suddenly teeming with activity. He then checks the internet cafe, and see's a larger than normal of individuals with roaming eyes... Check again for a few unknown strangers wandering the street and gawking at the sights.

Cut scene to out scammer freaking the fuck out thinking it's an FBI/Interpol/Metro/Whatever-your-agency-of-choice setup and running like a baby.

That would also be very amusing.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Lukano

Joined: Apr 28, 2003

Ungood's Disciple

quote:

shep came out of the closet to say:

I have to be in for 12:30, so hopefully I'll just catch it. Fuck you Safeway with your stupid fucking shifts.

Well I have to be at work at 12:00pm CST tomorrow, and have plans (FUCK FUCK FUCK) all morning so I won't see any of this until well after the aftermath.

*sigh*

Apr 30, 2004: 00:34

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

RSPsych0

Joined: May 22, 2002

Anyone seen Super Joe?

quote:

rayray00_00 came out of the closet to say:

Add 8 hours if you're PST, 6 if you're CST, and 5 if you're EST.

I thought it was subtract. Isn't PST just GMT: -0800?

Apr 30, 2004: 00:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

quote:

Potassium came out of the closet to say:

I believe the whole plan is detailed a page or two back in a few of Pipski's posts, including directions to the place. I think the plan is just to stake the place out, but I'm not exactly sure.

Cheers, I left my computer for a few minutes and completly missed those pages, I'll probably be heading off to London at 4am although its very likely I'll be early enough for the parcel.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:37

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TheHotCarl

Joined: Dec 14, 2003

Bulk Male Playmate of the Month: January, 1967

you guys need to not give this prick any more business by letting him cut your hair

Apr 30, 2004: 00:37

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kindermord

Joined: Jun 05, 2003

quote:

RSPsych0 came out of the closet to say:

I thought it was subtract.

I agree with you. I'm willing to be mocked into oblivion if I'm wrong, but I believe 11am in London is 6am in New York (give or take an hour what with the DST crap and all).

Apr 30, 2004: 00:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TheRedEye

Joined: Sep 10, 2003

You're making me very unhappy.

quote:

TheHotCarl came out of the closet to say:

you guys need to not give this prick any more business by letting him cut your hair

I disagree. Each haircutting endeavor is an opportunity for both hilarity and information. One of you should casually mention getting ripped off on eBay by a scammer while he cuts your hair.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

quote:

TheHotCarl came out of the closet to say:

you guys need to not give this prick any more business by letting him cut your hair

Good point, maybe I will just go on his computers for a bit and see if I can find any dodgy keylogging programs.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:42

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ChlamydiaJones

Joined: Sep 27, 2002

quote:

TheRedEye came out of the closet to say:

I disagree. Each haircutting endeavor is an opportunity for both hilarity and information. One of you should casually mention getting ripped off on eBay by a scammer while he cuts your hair.

You're a funny funny man and I wish I were in London to do just this thing. Someone PLEASE take along a recorder so we can hear the vibrant discourse in this lovely tonsorial establishment.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:42

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Scratch2k

Joined: Jul 30, 2002

( . ) ( . )

quote:

TheRedEye came out of the closet to say:

I disagree. Each haircutting endeavor is an opportunity for both hilarity and information. One of you should casually mention getting ripped off on eBay by a scammer while he cuts your hair.

You want to piss of a guy who's got you trapped in a chair and is wielding some kind of sharp bladed implement? I think not.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:43

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Potassium

Joined: Oct 05, 2003

Cream > you

quote:

RSPsych0 came out of the closet to say:

I thought it was subtract. Isn't PST just GMT:-0800?

It's add if you're trying to go from US - UK time, subtract the other way 🤪

Apr 30, 2004: 00:43

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud

Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

WARNING:

The barbershop is almost definitely in on the scam.

REASONING:

This scam has been pulled multiple times with product shipped to the same address. Google shows that some names used have been Lipmeris Kostas, Benone Takini, and Gianluca Whatever. I seriously doubt that the proprietor would continue signing for packages after hearing about fraud--and he'd surely have heard about it. The theory that he's doing a favor for a regular is out the door as well, based on the fact that at least three different names have been used.

MORE INFO:

Is this guy our man?

Domain Name..... pungaruv.com
Creation Date..... 2003-08-10
Registration Date.... 2003-08-10
Expiry Date..... 2004-08-10
Organisation Name.... Pungasul Viteaz
Organisation Address. 4210 Ginghamburg-W.Charleston Rd.
Organisation Address.
Organisation Address. Tipp City
Organisation Address. 45371
Organisation Address. OH
Organisation Address. UNITED STATES

Admin Name..... Pungasul Viteaz
Admin Address..... 4210 Ginghamburg-W.Charleston Rd.
Admin Address.....
Admin Address..... Tipp City
Admin Address..... 45371
Admin Address..... OH
Admin Address..... UNITED STATES
Admin Email..... pungaruv@yahoo.com
Admin Phone..... +1.8007797993
Admin Fax.....

Note that pungaruv@yahoo.com was used in one of the scams!

Dr.SchadenFreud fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 00:46

Apr 30, 2004: 00:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

DLCinferno

Joined: Feb 22, 2003

edit: oh hell, get out the pitchforks and torches. /\

quote:

kindermord came out of the closet to say:

I agree with you. I'm willing to be mocked into oblivion if I'm wrong, but I believe 11am in London is 6am in New York (give or take an hour what with the DST crap and all).

You are correct.

DLCinferno fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 00:48

Apr 30, 2004: 00:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kiimo

Joined: Jul 24, 2003

quote:

fourwood came out of the closet to say:

Good call.

This day is called the P-P-Powerbook Justice of the Goons:
He that outlives this day, and comes safe home,
Will stand a tip-toe when the day is named,
And rouse him at the name of Something Awful.
He that shall live this day, and see old age,
Will yearly on the vigil thread to his forum,
And say 'To-morrow is Goon Justice.'
Then will he strip his sleeve and show his scars.
And say 'These wounds I had on P-P-Powerbook Justice day from a straight razor in a barbershop.'
Old men forget: yet all shall be forgot,
But he'll remember with advantages
What feats he did that day: then shall our names,
Familiar in goon mouths as household words
MynameisJeff, Pipski, Smitz, Starbucks and Rhig,
Be in their flowing cups freshly remember'd as Team Bravo.
This story shall the good goon teach his son;
And PPP-J Day shall ne'er go by,
From this day to the ending of the world,
But we in it shall be remember'd;
We few, we happy few, we band of goons;
For he to-day that loses sleep and ignores his job with me
Shall be my brother; be he ne'er so punkass,
This day shall gentle his condition:

|                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                  | And gentlemen in England now a-bedShall think themselves accursed they were not here,And hold their avatars cheap whiles any speaksThat fought with us upon PPP-J Day. kiimo fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 02:56                                                                                                                   |                                            |
| Apr 30, 2004: 00:46                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Edit Quote |
| WJoined: Sep 18, 2003 Winner                                                                                                                           | quote: <hr/> Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say: Note that pungaruv@yahoo.com was used in one of the scams! <hr/> That's a vital bit of evidence right there, good work! Followed this thread from the start, will watch to it's beautiful conclusion.                                                              |                                            |
| Apr 30, 2004: 00:47                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Edit Quote |
| TheRedEyeJoined: Sep 10, 2003  You're making me very unhappy. | quote: <hr/> Scratch2k came out of the closet to say: You want to piss of a guy who's got you trapped in a chair and is wielding some kind of sharp bladed implement? I think not. <hr/> Yes, I do. My hilarious daredevil antics will be made into an HBO series after my mom sells the rights to pay for my funeral. This will be my chosen legacy. |                                            |
| Apr 30, 2004: 00:47                                                                                                                                                       | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Edit Quote |

The Big D

Joined: Oct 03, 2002

whew, finally just got through all the pages, started last night, then after work today just now i finished, good job on this and i cant wait to see what happens tomorrow.

you guys are like internet heroes only without capes... well... maybe a few of you have capes.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:47

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

vegaji

Joined: Apr 14, 2004

Owned by Hawk989s

Okay, thanks. It's add 6 hours for me. If it's 10 AM (just an average between 8 AM and Noon), then 4 PM is very reasonable. I'd really like to see this go down as it happens.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:51

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kindermord

Joined: Jun 05, 2003

quote:

TheHotCarl came out of the closet to say:

you guys need to not give this prick any more business by letting him cut your hair

Since whoever ran the phony escrow site probably investigated the 800 bazillion referrals from SA, they're likely to get more than their hair cut.

Parsing stealth/discipline should have been a high priority earlier in this thread. The probability that our escapade has been detected is quite high.

RIP Pipsky and smitz. We salute your uncommon valour.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:52

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

It's very likely the barber has a connection to the original scammer or is in fact the scammer; the best solution is probably if someone comes in a car to pick up the Powerbook and someone gets a picture of the car with the registration. It's also very likely the guy will open his parcel inside the car if it is delivered to the barbers.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:53

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

amputee

Joined: Aug 05, 2003

i might be wrong...

ive been a fan of this thread since page 8. we've had a lot of good times, and well...

i would like to marry this thread.

so... if all this is supposed to go down between 8 and 12 london time, that means i need to be reading this between 2am and 6am (cst). looks like sleep will have to wait.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Potassium

Joined: Oct 05, 2003

Cream > you

quote:

kindermord came out of the closet to say:

Parsing stealth/discipline should have been a high priority earlier in this thread. The probability that our escapade has been detected is quite high.

Someone mentioned that earlier in the thread, and if the person did register, then Lowtax could track their paypal.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:56

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rayray00_00

Joined: Mar 27, 2003

whee.

quote:

Potassium came out of the closet to say:

It's add if you're trying to go from US - UK time, subtract the other way 🤖

Correct!

Apr 30, 2004: 00:59

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dell_Zincht

Joined: Nov 05, 2003

I eat Chaos Emeralds.

quote:

shep came out of the closet to say:

I have to be in for 12:30, so hopefully I'll just catch it. Fuck you Safeway with your stupid fucking shifts.

Actually if you want I'll text you or something, let you know how it went down? I know that's what I'm going to request if nothing happens by the time I leave.

It's alright dude, i've subscribed to this thread so i'll just catch up with it whenever. I'll get up at 8am and come on SA though and keep refreshing this thread right up till I leave about 10am.

Apr 30, 2004: 00:59

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

®

Joined: Nov 20, 2002

quote:

amputee came out of the closet to say:

ive been a fan of this thread since page 8. we've had a lot of good times, and well...

i would like to marry this thread.

so... if all this is supposed to go down between 8 and 12 london time, that means i need to be reading this between 2am and 6am (cst). looks like sleep will have to wait.

Thanks for the CST conversion, I was wondering what time it would be here for me in Chicago. Good thing I don't have to work until 4pm tomorrow!!

Apr 30, 2004: 01:01

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

paper pope hat

Joined: Sep 27, 2000

quote:

Dr. SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say:

WARNING:

MORE INFO:

Is this guy our man?

Domain Name..... pungaruv.com

Creation Date..... 2003-08-10

Registration Date.... 2003-08-10

Expiry Date..... 2004-08-10

Organisation Name.... Pungasul Viteaz

Organisation Address. 4210 Ginghamburg-W.Charleston Rd.

Organisation Address.

Organisation Address. Tipp City

Organisation Address. 45371

Organisation Address. OH

Organisation Address. UNITED STATES

Admin Name..... Pungasul Viteaz

Admin Address..... 4210 Ginghamburg-W.Charleston Rd.

Admin Address.....

Admin Address..... Tipp City

Admin Address..... 45371

Admin Address..... OH

Admin Address..... UNITED STATES

Admin Email..... pungaruv@yahoo.com

Admin Phone..... +1.8007797993

Admin Fax.....

Note that pungaruv@yahoo.com was used in one of the scams!

I have no idea how this guy relates to anything and I have to leave home right now. However, I live about a half hour from that address. Just sayin'

Apr 30, 2004: 01:02

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Powercrazy

Joined: Feb 15, 2004

I am become death, the destroyer of worlds.

Robert Oppenheimer

quote:

TheRedEye came out of the closet to say:

I swear, I'd spend the entire day in that neighborhood if I were anywhere near London. The adventurous spirit of you maniacs is admirable. If for any bizarre reason you need some sort of recon or crazy feats accomplished in Las Vegas, I am your e-whore. You can Toxx that if you want.

GoonCon

HEAR THAT GOONS ACROSS THE POND, COME TO GOONCON SO I CAN BUY YOU A BEER/WHORE!

Apr 30, 2004: 01:04

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ChlamydiaJones

Joined: Sep 27, 2002

quote:

paper pope hat came out of the closet to say:

I have no idea how this guy relates to anything and I have to leave home right now. However, I live about a half hour from that address. Just sayin'

Which brings us back to AuctionBlackList.com;

Screen Name: italian

Name: LIPMERIS KOSTAS

E-mail: pungaruv@yahoo.com

Phone: 3203862645

Address: 9B Varley Parade

City: COLINDALE State: Unknown Zip: NW96RR

Country: UK

Description:

I bidded on a watch, won the bid for $440.00 and the seller wants me to pay $2400.00. Bidder Info nutcase609 (2) Winning Bid $440.00 Auction Closed At 12/02/2003 13:56:37 Starting Price $340.00 Quantity 1 Listing Type Standard Item ID 35141 Dear sir, You have to pay 2400 usd for the watch!! Here is my mailing info: name: LIPMERIS KOSTAS address: 9B Varley Parade city: COLINDALE county: LONDON zip: NW96RR U.K

Posted By: L Charles

E-mail: *****

Apr 30, 2004: 01:06

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Tala

Joined: Jun 17, 2002

i want tomarry tony and live in a big house and have his babies and maybe apony

I am about an hour away from London, and I am very very tempted to head up there in the morning to witness Goon Justice in action. I could even bring along my WiFi enabled laptop and digicam! On the spot updates! Except I am supposed to be seeing someone about a job tomorrow. Argh, dilemma. If I do decide to head up there, keep an eye out for a girl toting a black laptop backback and looking scared and uncomfortable being all alone in that part of London. If I can't get there, then godspeed for our Goon Agents.

24 GIMMICK APPRECIATION SIG

Apr 30, 2004: 01:21

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Otokodate

Joined: Jan 15, 2004

All your nuts are belong to me

quote:

Scratch2k came out of the closet to say:

You want to piss of a guy who's got you trapped in a chair and is wielding some kind of sharp bladed implement? I think not.

Good point. So everybody take guns when you go. Oh wait, that's illegal. Um, wear track shoes so you can run faster?

Also, I'm not thrilled about people risking jobs over this. Lives and personal injury, yes, but not jobs.

Apr 30, 2004: 01:35

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud

Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

Fucking Romanians. No offense intended to any non-eBay scamming Romanian goons.

Apr 30, 2004: 01:37

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DaNzAJoined: Sep 11, 2001 what? | quote:<hr/>Otokodate came out of the closet to say:Good point. So everybody take guns when you go. Oh wait, that's illegal. Um, wear track shoes so you can run faster?<hr/> That was what I was going to post before the forum being tweaked.... but yeah, be prepared for everything... and nothing.Hope everything will go down well in the next 6~12 hours 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:37                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003                  | quote:<hr/>Powercrazy came out of the closet to say:GoonConHEAR THAT GOONS ACROSS THE POND, COME TO GOONCON SO I CAN BUY YOU A BEER/WHORE!<hr/>Yes, bring us back the glorious pictures we desire and maybe we can all contribute to your tickets to Gooncon. You would be fucking heroes, worshipped. Of course, that's what they say to all soldiers before they go to war, and many of them don't come back.Attachment: razor.jpgThis has been downloaded 1913 time(s).kiimo fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 01:47 |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:38                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| kiimoJoined: Jul 24, 2003                  | grr dp                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:39                                          | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| nepthoJoined: Dec 09, 2001                                        | Just an FYI, to those still harping upon the professor: He's likely had his credit card stolen. When my credit card was stolen by a less-than-above-the-board waiter at a local establishment, I was not entirely shocked to find that $500 worth was spent on phone cards, and aout another $100 was spent on porn, and a domain registration in MY name. That said, go kick the cheeky bastard's ass. 😊                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:43                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| StarbucksJoined: Jul 07, 2002Strong Coffee Drinking!   | Ok. Im thinking of going, train will get in at paddington at around 6:45, then I have to take the circle line to queensway then the central to tott. court road and then northern line for services terminating at edgeware. Am I right? Looks like its also zone 4. That will mean I will be availible pretty soon Tube Journey Duration: 47 mins. This means I will be there at 8 at the latest Starbucks fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 01:47                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:44                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| vegajiJoined: Apr 14, 2004Owned by Hawk989s                                                                                                        | What is funnier than 10-20 goons sitting outside a barber shop, with digital cameras/laptops in hands waiting for a FedEx truck? Okay, so there are things funnier, but it's good still.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:47                                                                                                                                                      | User's Profile / ImageSend a Private MessageUser's HomepageSearch For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| rhigJoined: Jul 14, 2002bitches can't hide from this | quote: <hr/> Powercrazy came out of the closet to say: About our operation being uncovered. Think of it from his side, he gets a lot of referrals from SA.com. What does that mean to him? I'm sure he gets lots of refferals from a lot of web sites. The only problem I foresee is the additional traffic the "ESCROW" has gotten. The real doll, etc. That would definetly smell more than fishy. If we want this to have the climatic finish that we all crave. The UK Goons will have to organize en masse. We will need lots of details, and pictures. As has been speculated before, the barbershop is almost certainly not the final address. Jeff has he e-mailed you since? If not he mat not have paid the taxes, and thus our scheme has met an unfortunate demise. If the taxes have been paid we need someone to stake out the FED-EX pick up station. Unfortunetly that will be hard to do as I'm sure there are many parcels that will look identical to jeffs. The barber shop I'm thinking will not happen. It is quite easy for the actual buyer to pick up the package before it even goes out to the address. The address is just a dummy address while the real culprit just picks it up at the FED-EX place. Then he drives to wherever to either drop off the package, or back to his house. I |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | think the FED-EX station is the key, not the barbershop. Godspeed to all that are involved. <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | I fear it's likely you are right but even if someone stakes out the FedEx there will be far too many parcels to tell which one. Unless the software updates signatures on the internet straight away and a goon outside the place could be told to photograph everyone coming out with a package that size. I will do a look for FedEx places but without more goons on this it will probably not be possible. MyNamelsJeff is the package inside one of those fedex bags or did they not use one? It's highly unlikely it is but I've had stuff from the US come just with a label, any clue of the boxes description could help it be singled out if it is actually delivered to the barbers and it gets left opened somewhere. If the barbers isn't visited the only lead we have is this phone number but it would be highly unlikely to be able to get the guys location over the phone. Edit: Starbucks and Tala, it might be a good idea to exchange phone numbers to confirm when we get to the place so we know if any other goons are there. rhig fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 01:52 |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:48                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| fuckingtestJoined: Mar 31, 2001We can rebuild him. but I don't wanna spend alot of money. | quote: <hr/> vegaji came out of the closet to say: What is funnier than 10-20 goons sitting outside a barber shop, with digital cameras/laptops in hands waiting for a FedEx truck? Okay, so there are things funnier, but it's good still. <hr/>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Apr 30, 2004: 01:48                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More PostsEditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

Ionized

Joined: Nov 13, 2003

WHOA, it's a Star Destroyer!!!

quote:

Otokodate came out of the closet to say:

Also, I'm not thrilled about people risking jobs over this. Lives and personal injury, yes, but not jobs.

Right, don't risk your job over this. If you can get out of it without any repercussions, then great. Otherwise just wait it out and see what happens.

If you're a college student: THIS would be the time to skip class.

Apr 30, 2004: 01:51

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gizmo_Gun

Joined: Mar 21, 2004

Pow! Bang! Smack! Kablooeey!

If he has been scamming for awhile, wouldn't it make sense that people who he scammed would go to some authority and say: "Yeah, I mailed it at this address".

So wouldn't the scammer then use a fake address and intercept the package at FedEx by calling them and saying, "Hello, yes, it seems that I have an emergency business meeting but I have a package that was delivered to your station. May I come and pick it up myself?"

Or fuck. What if the guy works at Fed Ex?

Damn. You should have had the package sent with a request to see I.D.

Apr 30, 2004: 01:53

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Package Molesto

Joined: Aug 05, 2002

It trained them to shoot skeet.

I'm going to laugh when a bunch of you wait and wait and wait only to see the package delivered with no reaction. Or he gets a slip to pay the taxes and pick it up or something.

Apr 30, 2004: 01:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

rhig came out of the closet to say:

I fear it's likely you are right but even if someone stakes out the FedEx there will be far too many parcels to tell which one. Unless the software updates signatures on the internet straight away and a goon outside the place could be told to photograph everyone coming out with a package that size. I will do a look for FedEx places but without more goons on this it will probably not be possible.

MyNameIsJeff is the package inside one of those fedex bags or did they not use one? It's highly unlikely it is but I've had stuff from the US come just with a label, any clue of the boxes description could help it be singled out if it is actually delivered to the barbers and it gets left opened somewhere.

I put it in a box, and then in a bigger plain white box.

Apr 30, 2004: 01:58

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Starbucks

Joined: Jul 07, 2002

Strong Coffee Drinking!

UPDATE: I AM CONFIRMED AS A MEMBER OF THE RECON SQUAD, I WILL BE AVAILABLE TO LOOK AROUND THE PLACE FROM AROUND 8 AM, I WILL STAY UNTIL 12AM. IF ANYONE WANTS TO MEET AT AROUND 8AM I WILL BE IN THE NEAREST CAFE WITH A COFFEE

Apr 30, 2004: 02:00

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

CornHolio

Joined: May 20, 2001

this thread is the most amazing thread I have ever seen in my entire fucking LIFE.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:03

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Joe-Randomosity

Joined: Sep 21, 2003

YOUR STALKER IS WATCHING YOU

I can see the Fed Ex interception being an issue IF he specifically requested it sent via Fed Ex. Did you have multiple shipping options Jeff, or was fedex required?

Apr 30, 2004: 02:05

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Joe-Randomosity came out of the closet to say:

I can see the Fed Ex interception being an issue IF he specifically requested it sent via Fed Ex. Did you have multiple shipping options Jeff, or was fedex required?

In his first email he listed lots of shipping companies.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:07

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

dietcokefiend

Joined: Apr 28, 2004

Someone whould have chipped in for one of those bird tracking beacons... track the package and find out exactly who has it... and follow them 😊 Just would need someone within about 10 miles to have a receiever for it.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:09

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

poppingseagull

Joined: Apr 12, 2004

I too think someone should hang out at the nearest fedex. I doubt a repeat scammer such as this guy would be stupid enough to associate himself with an address. He probably has some trick up his sleeve such as going to the fedex and picking up thae item, as mentioned before, and this barbershop is just another fake address used by the scammer. If he does go to the fedex, what would he need to pick up the item? Credit card and id?

of course we would still want people at that address if he doesnt pick it up at the fedex place

poppingseagull fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 02:16

Apr 30, 2004: 02:11

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Starbucks

Joined: Jul 07, 2002

Strong Coffee Drinking!

Watch out Sweeney Todd

Apr 30, 2004: 02:12

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

Watch out Sweeney Todd

LOLO

Apr 30, 2004: 02:13

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

vegaji

Joined: Apr 14, 2004

Owned by Hawk989s

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

Watch out Sweeney Todd

That's awesome, man. (or woman? I didn't check)

Apr 30, 2004: 02:14

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Curufin

Joined: Oct 06, 2003

Fifth Son of Féanor

You guys really rule.

Here's to hoping this all goes down as planned.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:14

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Dr.SchadenFreud

Joined: Jul 16, 2003

I'm going to have to give you some of my "special medicine..."

quote:

poppingseagull came out of the closet to say:

I too think someone should hang out at the nearest fedex. I doubt a repeat scammer such as this guy would be stupid enough to associate himself with an address. He probably has some trick up his sleeve such as going to the fedex and picking up thae item, as mentioned before, and this barbershop is just another fake address used by the scammer. If he does go to the fedex, what would he need to pick up the item? Credit card and id?

He would have to present ID. Would it be worth it to him to have fake ID made just for this package? I'm sure he's smart enough not to have used his real name. I'm still figuring that the barber is in on it and that someone will sign for the package at 9B.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:15

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

|                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| vegajiJoined: Apr 14, 2004Owned by Hawk989s                                                                                                            | It almost seems too perfect if it worked. But what is the possibility of getting pictures of the guy opening the package? That would just be too good, and something that good just can't happen. |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:16                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote    |
| Crazed_Capybara_RiderJoined: Oct 22, 2000Yo, she-bitch. Let's go. | I just read this whole thread, awaiting the thrilling conclusion 🤔🤔                                                                                                                               |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:16                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote    |
| StarbucksJoined: Jul 07, 2002Strong Coffee Drinking!       | oh, I am going to bring my USB stick with Hijack This on it, any other programs reccomended to get evidence?                                                                                      |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:17                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote    |
| truavatarJoined: Mar 03, 2004                                       | I should've registered years ago. This is beautiful, guys. Simply beautiful.                               |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:19                                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                    |

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

I would put that as my signature but I can't see anyones anyway except in FYAD. 😞

Apr 30, 2004: 02:20

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MrTeatime

Joined: Aug 08, 2003

quote:

MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:

I would put that as my signature but I can't see anyones anyway except in FYAD. 😞

They're off by default everywhere except FYAD because people don't want the forum cluttered with signatures. It's against the rules to use a picture signature outside of FYAD I think.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Jap10

Joined: Mar 10, 2004

My mom is bom. She gives tite dome.

Its probly too late for this, but shouldnt the london area goons on the stakeout wear something so that they can be spotted by all the other stakeout goons and coordinate?

Maybe a red ribbon around your wrist or something. If any london goons have a CN/ST jersey they should probly wear that.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

AnnoyingWoman

Joined: Dec 02, 2003

*has unhealthy obsession with Swedish Metal bands

quote:

CornHolio came out of the closet to say:

this thread is the most amazing thread I have ever seen in my entire fucking LIFE.

Same here. I've been biting my nails with anticipation all day for more details. I'm parked on this thread for the night. Eeeeeeeee!

GO RECON SQUAD! *waggles pompons*

Apr 30, 2004: 02:27

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

TheHotCarl

Joined: Dec 14, 2003

Bulk Male Playmate of the Month: January, 1967

quote:

<http://www.fedex.com/cgi-bin/tracki...rs=846563452310>

so people can track it easier

Apr 30, 2004: 02:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

paper pope hat

Joined: Sep 27, 2000

quote:

Dr.SchadenFreud came out of the closet to say:

If you were interested in looking it up in Mapquest, and not saying you would be, you'd enter it as:

4210 Ginghamburg W Charleston Rd Tipp City, OH 45371-9007, US

I'd be curious to see what's at that address. It's a dead-end side road. Just sayin'.

edit: I called the phone number on the domain reg entry and it's Providian's credit card number automated service line.

Ok, I see the connection with this guy now. I looked the address up.. hard to say if there would even be anything there. I won't bother going at this point because it seems that the real action has been focused in London. If any crazy new information on the Ohio address turns up, though, I'll check it out.

I bet the folks at this barbercafe will be rather perplexed to have so much business at 8am tomorrow morning. 😊

Apr 30, 2004: 02:28

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

chizarlie

Joined: Oct 12, 2003

For shizzle

omg... I just read (for me 30) pages of this thread!! WHY DONT I LIVE IN LONDON?!?!?! AAAAARGGG!!! Haha this is my first post in this thread, but I feel like I know you all already! Especially you Jeff, and you Pipski!

Apr 30, 2004: 02:29

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

oh, I am going to bring my USB stick with Hijack This on it, any other programs reccomended to get evidence?

Theres a network analyser program that was mentioned pages back I'm trying to find, no luck so far though but its here somewhere.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:30

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kindermord

Joined: Jun 05, 2003

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

oh, I am going to bring my USB stick with Hijack This on it, any other programs reccomended to get evidence?

quote:

pooper scooper came out of the closet to say:

You will want to grab those IP addresses.. I recommend taking a floppy disk with a program like ALCHEMY Inventory that will dump EVERYTHING about the network and hardware into an HTML format. Alchemy works fast, and is an awesome prog, and can be found here: <http://www.alchemy-lab.com/products/atn/>

You will have all their network settings, everything. And you can remove it easily when you are done.

|                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:33                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                     |
| KoalaReReJoined: Apr 20, 2003The Breast Plate of Righteousness | {bitch} Ok, please read before you comment, PLEASE. And don't comment "this is the best thread ever" that has already been established...no need to second or thirty-fourth it. {/bitch} anxiously awaiting closure. |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:34                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                     |
| bruinfixJoined: Sep 06, 2003                                       | I just wanted to wish everyone in England goodluck!                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:35                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                     |
| Azrael EngelJoined: Apr 07, 2004                                 | Wow... Just seeing the pictures of the P-P-P-POWERBOOK! was worth my $10. Long time subscribed. Itching to see the outcome. (This thread is never-ending.)                                                          |
| Apr 30, 2004: 02:37                                                                                                                                         | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                     |

Ionized

Joined: Nov 13, 2003

WHOA, it's a Star Destroyer!!!

quote:

TheHotCarl came out of the closet to say:
so people can track it easier

Fedex is going to take a look at the amount of hits this ONE package is getting and probably think there's a bomb in there or something. Then they will send the authorities to investigate and find a barber receiving the package along with a ton of people taking pictures and running the hell out of there.

It will be glorious!

Apr 30, 2004: 02:38

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

grzydj

Joined: Oct 04, 2000

I will answer your questions about Gore-Tex

quote:

Azrael Engel came out of the closet to say:
Wow... Just seeing the pictures of the P-P-P-POWERBOOK! was worth my $10.
Long time subscribed. Itching to see the outcome. (This thread is never-ending.)

It's like the first  thread. This one is awesome though.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Starbucks

Joined: Jul 07, 2002

Strong Coffee Drinking!

I got that piece of software, and a piece of software that allows me to remotely control the PC I install that particular software onto.

Whats that NT Password recovery tool, im assuming most PCs will be running windows XP, if i can get admin rights I can set up remote desktop

Apr 30, 2004: 02:39

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

ChemicalWarfare

Joined: Jul 15, 2003

I wonder who's Kissinger now!

Apr 30, 2004: 02:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Anaclisis

Joined: Apr 18, 2003

ceci n'est pas une grenouille

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

I got that piece of software, and a piece of software that allows me to remotely control the PC I install that particular software onto.

Whats that NT Password recovery tool, im assuming most PCs will be running windows XP, if i can get admin rights I can set up remote desktop

SAFM- WHERE THE HITS NEVER STOP

Apr 30, 2004: 02:44

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

I got that piece of software, and a piece of software that allows me to remotely control the PC I install that particular software onto.

Whats that NT Password recovery tool, im assuming most PCs will be running windows XP, if i can get admin rights I can set up remote desktop

I doubt any remote access programs would work, its pretty certain the guy will be behind a router - having multiple computers online together. Some type of keylogger might work if its just e-mailing logs but i would think its probably a bad idea, if the barbers is investigated by police etc we dont want a keylogger sending logs where they could be traced to one of us.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:47

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Starbucks

Joined: Jul 07, 2002

Strong Coffee Drinking!

ntpasswd and all other tools loaded

my housemate has come back camera in hand, its a 3.2 MP Sony cybershot with 3x Optical zoom 😊, also with a mpeg movie option. My next post will be from London Paddington, good luck guys, any info SMS me or call me

07736229696

I dont care about anyone crank calling, it will help keep me awake and amuse me

Apr 30, 2004: 02:51

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Gatsby

Joined: Dec 11, 2003

Hail Doros.

quote:

KoalaReRe came out of the closet to say:
{bitch}

There is a problem with your vb code. Please read the FAQ. 😊

Apr 30, 2004: 02:54

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

kiimo

Joined: Jul 24, 2003

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:

UPDATE: I AM CONFIRMED AS A MEMBER OF THE RECON SQUAD, I WILL BE AVAILABLE TO LOOK AROUND THE PLACE FROM AROUND 8 AM, I WILL STAY UNTIL 12AM. IF ANYONE WANTS TO MEET AT AROUND 8AM I WILL BE IN THE NEAREST CAFE WITH A COFFEE

added you to Saint Crispin's Day speech, soldier.

Apr 30, 2004: 02:55

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

rhig

Joined: Jul 14, 2002

bitches can't hide from this

OK I'm just leaving for my coach at 3:45, I arrive in London at 9:20 and should be at the barbers by 10:00 - 10:30

Apr 30, 2004: 03:08

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

KoalaReRe

Joined: Apr 20, 2003

The Breast Plate of Righteousness

quote:

Gatsby came out of the closet to say:

There is a problem with your vb code. Please read the FAQ. 😊 thank you all knowing vb master.

Apr 30, 2004: 03:14

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Anaclisis

Joined: Apr 18, 2003

ceci n'est pas une grenouille

trouble

quote:

Apr 30, 2004 3:19 am

Package status

STANSTED GB

Regulatory Agency Clearance Delay

Apr 30, 2004: 03:23

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

rhig came out of the closet to say:
OK I'm just leaving for my coach at 3:45, I arrive in London at 9:20 and should be at the barbers by 10:00 - 10:30

quote:

Starbucks came out of the closet to say:
ntpasswd and all other tools loaded

my housemate has come back camera in hand, its a 3.2 MP Sony cybershot with 3x Optical zoom 😊 ,also with a mpeg movie option. My next post will be from London Paddington, good luck guys, any info SMS me or call me

07736229696

I dont care about anyone crank calling, it will help keep me awake and amuse me

You both are good men. I know you will do a good job.
If you feel the heat, or think they are on to you, get out!

Why do I feel like I am actually sending solders out on a mission?

Apr 30, 2004: 03:23

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff
Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

quote:

Anaclisis came out of the closet to say:
trouble

SHIT
SHIT
SHIT
SHIT
SHIT

|                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:27                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Dolorous DecayJoined: Aug 12, 2003Global Warming                                                                                           | This is exciting 😊edit: ^ ^ ^ ^ uh oh                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:28                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| down1nitJoined: Jan 09, 2004Title text (optional; no images are allowed, only text, buttmonger)                                            | it's just customs... if they choose to open it they will.oh.http://www.fedex.com/us/government/...ns/customs.htmlquote:<hr/> fedex.com was quoted as saying:This U.S. Customs Service requirement applies to U.S. import shipments with a declared value for customs in excess of US $2,000* <hr/>down1nit fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 03:31 |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:29                                                                                                                                    | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| MyNameIsJeffJoined: Dec 05, 2003P-P-P-Powerbook.com! |  Apr 30, 2004 3:19 amPackage statusSTANSTED GBRegulatory Agency Clearance DelayWTF DOES THAT MEAN!!!!??                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                   | I'm going to mexico.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:29                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| ScotsmanJoined: Jun 09, 2002  | quote: <hr/> Anaclisis came out of the closet to say:trouble <hr/> This is apparently normal for Powerbooks. There's a thread about it here Edit: Reading a bit more on some other forums. Here was a quote that might ring true.... "OK, I just called Fedex. They said that customs rejected my forms because of the price that was declared." Goes on to say "I just emailed her my paypal receipt and the url of the auction. Hopefully now they will release it. So there was damn near a weeks delay just to tell me that! " Scotsman fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 03:32 |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:30                                                                                                 | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

batphantom

Joined: Mar 24, 2001

DAMN YOU REGULATORY AGENCY

Apr 30, 2004: 03:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

Anaclisis

Joined: Apr 18, 2003

ceci n'est pas une grenouille

Well that's certainly something that should've been brought up earlier L O

Apr 30, 2004: 03:31

User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts

Edit

Quote

MyNameIsJeff

Joined: Dec 05, 2003

P-P-P-Powerbook.com!

Maybe its the bum phone number?

Whould they try to call him at 3am?

I think I just instantly became diabetic.

EDIT:

Anyone near north seattle. Please come fast. I am going to be needing CPR.

quote:

---

Scotsman came out of the closet to say:

This is apparently normal for Powerbooks. There's a thread about it here

Edit: Reading a bit more on some other forums. Here was a quote that might ring true.... "OK, I just called Fedex. They said that customs rejected my forms because of the price that was declared." Goes on to say "I just emailed her my paypal

|                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                    | receipt and the url of the auction. Hopefully now they will release it. So there was damn near a weeks delay just to tell me that! "  ok . . . ok . . feel a little better . . .no . . . . PANICING!  I need to lay down. MyNameIsJeff fucked around with this message at Apr 30, 2004 around 03:34                                                                                                                    |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:31                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| down1nit Joined: Jan 09, 2004 Title text (optional; no images are allowed, only text, buttmonger) | let's hope customs works well into the wee hours and simply held it up as per regulation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:32                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Syntonica Joined: Aug 28, 2003 Lynza loves me so she bought me this account                       | Not to rain on the P-P-P-P-Powerbook! parade float here, but I believe it's possible to file a request with Fedex to hold all packages for pickup. The mark may never even go near the bogus address. They just file the request and since they have the tracking number, they know when to go collect it at the Fedex branch office. Fedex may leave a "You have Package!" note at the door to 9B, but the occupant promptly chucks it because it's not them. Please tell me I am wrong, because I want pix in Technicolor of the finale! |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:33                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message Search For More Posts EditQuote                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| down1nit Joined: Jan 09, 2004 Title text (optional; no images are allowed, only text, buttmonger) | quote: MyNameIsJeff came out of the closet to say:Maybe its the bum phone number?Would they try to call him at 3am?I think I just instantly became diabetic. quick question:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Did d00der email you back after you sent the email worrying about the non-existence of the set-ltd.com site?                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Apr 30, 2004: 03:34                                                                                                                                | User's Profile / Image Send a Private Message User's Homepage Search For More Posts Edit Quote                                                                                                              |
